Chaplaincy services in hospitals and institutions continue to be a growing service and concern of the churches. The year 1962 was the second year of the full-time services of a Protestant Chaplain at Grant Hospital. A donation from a citizen who underwrote the program for a year initiated the service, and this year another citizen made a memorial gift which helped to continue the program.

Presently chaplains are serving the Juvenile Detention Center, Mercy Hospital, Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital, Franklin County Home and Alum Crest Hospital, and the Court of Domestic Relations under the auspices of the cooperating churches.

Among the hopes for 1963 is that of instituting services in additional hospitals where no chaplains are now serving.

Strengthening Cooperation

Churches of the Columbus area made noteworthy advances during the year in their spirit and degree of cooperation. As indicated above, eight more churches came into membership in the Council, and advances were made in organizational matters and financial support. The spirit of cooperation is growing as well as the trend toward unity.

It is noteworthy that the current president of the Council of Churches is a layman. He is Henry C. Ruegg, trust officer in the Ohio National Bank, and a member of the Westgate EUB Church.

Ruegg's term of service is concurrent with that of an industrialist who is president of the National Council of Churches, Irwin J. Miller, of Columbus, Ind., a member of the Christian Church, Disciples. I might also add, that a laywoman heads the Ohio Council of Churches. She is Frances Kapitsky, of Strasburg, a member of the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

For the first time, the Council of Churches designed and adopted an official emblem this year. It is a drawing of the city of Columbus, with a cross against the sky above the skyline, within a frame which is the outline of Franklin County, the normal community which the Council serves. Around the picture are two concentric circles within which is the name of the Council.

Throughout the years of its use, the symbol will identify the Council and its concern for the city and the metropolitan area which it serves.

Some insects have been brought into the United States purposely, then released in order to control harmful insects, say Ohio State University Extension entomologists.

Inheritance Taxes Hit New High

Inheritance taxes collected in Ohio this year amounted to $27,367,324.53 according to a tabulation of tax settlements filed with State Auditor James A. Rhodes by county auditors.

This is a new record for one year, Rhodes said, exceeding by more than three million dollars collections in 1961 totaling $24,200,234.

One-half of the tax goes to the municipality or township where it originated. The other half is paid into the state's general revenue fund after deducting the fees allowed the offices of the county auditor and the county treasurer. These fees amounted to $926,976 this year, leaving $12,756,433.99 as the state's share.

The inheritance and estate taxes collected in the largest six counties of the state amounted to more than $17.7 million, or almost two-thirds of the total state collections. Cuyahoga county led as usual with $6,468,437.32, followed by Hamilton with $5,264,704.84; Franklin, $2,148,363.19; Lucas $1,532,862.12; Montgomery, $1,185,863.99; Summit, $1,148,926.26.

Inheritance taxes collected in Franklin County in 1962 were $2,148,363 and in 1961, $1,917,536.

Three Major Expansion Steps Slated At Huntington

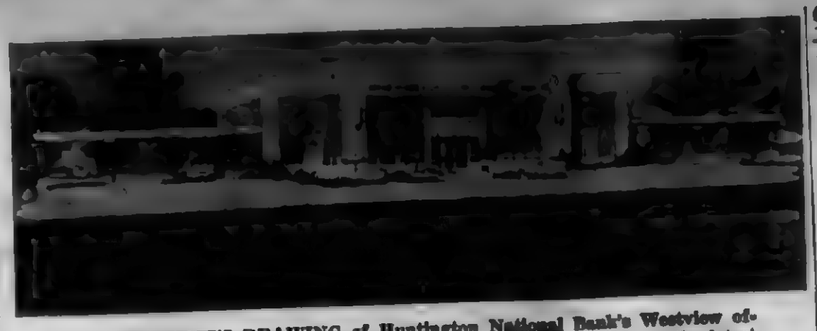
A list of progressive moves scheduled for 1963 has been announced by John E. Stevenson, chairman, and Clair E. Fultz, president, of the Huntington National Bank of Columbus.

The list includes:

Ground-breaking ceremonies for Huntington West, Columbus' newest multi-story office building to be constructed at Broad and Third-sts.

Opening of the bank's ninth office, on Georgesville-rd, south of W. Broad-st.

Addition of still more elements of the Huntington's electronic computer system, the first such "brain" to be operated in a central Ohio bank.



These steps, designed to further increase the Huntington's capacity to serve Columbus and central Ohio families and businesses, follow on the heels of a particularly busy year.

During 1962 Huntington opened a new office at 1531 W. Lane-av; extended its services to Grove City through a merger with the First National Bank of Grove City; built a new office in the Amos Shopping Center on Cleveland-av, and added offices in Canal Winchester and Groveport through the merger with the Peoples' Bank of Canal Winchester.

In 1962 the first units of the bank's Burroughs electronic computer system were installed in a special air-conditioned and sound-proofed room. The sorter-reader unit has been thoroughly "field-tested," operators have been trained, and the errorless "brain" is processing more than 1500 checks a minute.

"Our 97th year has been the busiest and most productive in history," said Stevenson and Fultz, "but we confidently expect 1963 will see still greater progress.

"The Huntington National Bank has one purpose, to provide helpful service to the families and businesses of Columbus and central Ohio. So long as the demand for these services increases, we will continue to expand to make them available."

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of Huntington National Bank's Westview office located on Georgesville-rd near W. Broad-st. This office represents the latest addition to Huntington's rapidly expanding operations.

School Drop-Out Rate Decreased Last Year

By Joseph L. Davis and Lyle H. Hamilton

Columbus Public Schools

January

Columbus Public School teachers received an across-the-board salary hike, the first of two increases in 1962 made possible by the passage of a school tax levy in November, 1961. The starting salary of a bachelor's - degree teacher was boosted to $4400 and of a master's - degree teacher to $4700.

Frank S. Williams was elected president of the Board of Education and Paul R. Langdon, vice-president. Dr. Watson H. Walker began serving his freshman year on the board and Mrs. Ralph H. Davidson was appointed to fill the unexpired term of William R. Fornof, who resigned to assume new duties as a city councilman.

Another $5000 check — the ninth in the past nine years — was sent to Columbus Superintendent Harold H. Eibling by an anonymous donor. As in the past, the money was granted to 10 teachers selected by the school system for projects to improve education.

Columbus Public Schools continued their amazing growth pattern as enrollments hit 88,499, more than double the 1948 enrollment. The growth rate has made Columbus the second largest school system in Ohio and twice in recent years the second fastest growing system in the nation. Continued increases of 4,500 pupils or more are expected for the near future.

February

During a month-long Festival of Freedom, special attention was given to the development in every child of a better understanding of his rights and freedoms. Teachers encouraged students to engage in activities that made them think about and express themselves on the privileges of American citizenship.

The dropout rate in Columbus Public Schools was announced as being reduced from nearly 50 per cent to about 37 per cent, according to a study made by H. M. Williams, director of pupil personnel. Using the current fifth-grade class as a base, this means that 63 out of every 100 pupils can be expected to finish high school.

March

A district - wide emergency alerting system was initiated. The system makes use of the facilities of the Board of Education's FM radio station, WCBE. In case of an emergency, small monitors attached to FM radio sets in each school are energized by a signal from the WCBE transmitter.

April

The Board of Education lengthened the elementary school day by 30 minutes and thereby added the equivalent of 18 days to the school year. Increased time resulted from changing the elementary schedule to 8:45 to 11:45 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. The schedule had been 9 a.m. to noon and 1:15 to 3:15 p.m.

Effective Apr. 1, Board of Education granted salary increases to many civil service and unclassified personnel of the school system.

Contracts totalling $884,964 for the construction of Eastmoor Junior High School were awarded.

The Board of Education adopted a new science textbook series for grades three through six; two new music textbook series, one for kindergarten and the first grade and one for grades two to four; and a new history book for grade four. The new history text was "Columbus, the Buckeye Capital," by Miss Anamae Martin, a supervising principal of the Columbus Public Schools.

May

Contracts for the remodeling of East High School were awarded.

Contracts were awarded for the construction of Kenwood and Salem elementary schools. Total amount of all contracts for both buildings was $620,944.

June

Superintendent Harold H. Eibling was named as one of the 14 winners of the American Educators Medal awarded by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in nationwide competition.

The Board of Education adopted eight textbooks for use in secondary schools. The adoptions included new texts for third - year Latin, third - and fourth-year German, eleventh-grade health education, modified English (grades seven to 11), seventh - grade modified geography, and ninth-grade modified general science.

Remodeling of North High School was started. Contracts for the summer work amounted to $323,000.

July

The budget of the Columbus Public Schools for 1963 totalled $40,049,810.88, an increase of just under $1 million over 1962. The slight increase was due to normal growth of enrollment. The net operating budget proposed for 1963 was $33,729,795, compared to $33,466,889.77 in 1962.

September

The Board of Education passed a resolution encouraging the instructional staff "to continue in every reasonable way to make such use of classroom, assembly room or other types of prayers as they in their own good judgment shall deem proper, fitting and appriate to the occasion."

Columbus Public School issued a teaching guide entitled "Americanism Versus Communism" for use in the senior high school Principles of Democracy course.

October

The personnel office of the Columbus Public Schools reported it held 4,025 interviews before recommending a record of 617 new teachers. The expanded staff of teaching per-management methods and concentration of hog production in larger units appear to be leveling out the traditional "hog cycle."

Milk production was nearly 1 billion pounds greater than 1961. This increase has caused the CCC purchase of about 8 percent of the 1962 product as compared to 6.5 percent in 1961 and 3 percent in 1960. With lowered supports, prices for early 1963 may be below the same period in 1962, but after April 1 are expected to run about the same as 1962.

Bulk tank and super pool premiums are likely to continue to disappear, affecting producer income.

Local Taxes May Rise

There seems to be a better than even chance that some kind of a federal tax cut is due for the nation in 1963.

But state and local governments are under pressure to raise their taxes in order to support their public facilities.

Several economists say if local governments do not immediately raise taxes, they will turn to debt financing—meaning more taxes in the future.

Forty-seven counties produce two-thirds of the potatoes raised in the United States, says the Agricultural Marketing Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Boy Scout Council Served 131,391 Youths Last Year

By R. W. (Roe) Lutz
Central Ohio Council

In the nine-county area of Central Ohio Council over 25,000 boys were on rolls during 1962 in one of the three programs: Cub Scouting (ages 8-10); Boy Scouting (ages 11-13); and Exploring (ages 14-17). We have 131,391 boys in the council territory between ages 8-17.

The year ended with a total of 660 Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Posts, Ships and Squadrons. This is a net increase of 70 units.

More than 7,500 men and women gave thousands upon thousands of hours as leaders, assistants, commissioners, den mothers and committeemen.

Four hundred two sponsors (churches, PTA's, lodges, schools, service clubs and similar organizations), use the scouting program as part of their total program in achieving their ovarall youth objectives. This is a net increase of 42 sponsors.

The 2110 boys and adults completed council conducted nationally approved training courses during the year.

There were 9214 rank advancements during the year (Wolf, Bear, Lion, 2nd Class, 1st Class, Star, Life and Eagle) Over 6,700 merit badges were earned with a noticeable increase in the outdoor and physical fitness groups.

A record 2550 scouts plus leaders were in summer camp at Lazarus, the largest in the council's history in one season. Fifty-one Scouts, Explorers and leaders took the Council Philmont trek. One hundred sixty-four Scouts and leaders participate in wilderness canoe trips and almost 6000 Scouts and leaders took part in the district camporees throughout the area.

Assistance was given to town and city government and to such organizations and activities as Ohio State University, toys for tots, museums, united funds, blood banks, community chests, hospitals, Sabin on Sunday.

Seventy-three per cent of operating budget comes from the above sources. The balance must be raised through individual adult sustaining membership enrollments.

Highlights of 1962

Through the efforts of a dedicated group of scouters and with the help of a sympathetic public a camp capital development fund campaign for $750,000 was oversubscribed at the victory dinner in March of '62.

Camp development has already begun in Greenhills Reservation, south of Logan, and will be in operation in June. An additional 1000 Scouts can go camping during the eight-week summer period, This is a 40 per cent increase in boy opportunity.

"A Together Plan," to interest more institutions and clubs to provide greater opportunity for boys to belong to scouting, was held last fall. Again, people were interested, and over 60 institutions took it upon themselves to become sponsors and provide the scouting program to their boys and those of the community.

Lake Shore System Increased Number Of Buses By 17 Percent

The Lake Shore System, a passenger bus carrier, with offices in Columbus, provides travel service to and from points in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Service includes frequent schedules to Circleville, Chillicothe, Lancaster, Logan, Athens, Pomeroy, Granville and Newark. Long distance schedules operate through Zanesville, Cambridge, Steubenville, Wheeling and Weirton, W. Va., to Pittsburgh. Connections are made in all the larger cities for transfer to points nationwide.

In line with a progressive modernization program, 17 per cent of the fleet of buses in regular and charter service were purchased in 1962. New General Motors and Flexible buses were added at a cost of nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

One of the services offered by Lake Shore System is its charter bus service which allows the chartering group exclusive right to the bus. The bus route and itinerary are also planned by those contracting for the bus.

Many organizations charter buses for inter-church visitations, sporting events, flower shows, ski trips, industrial plant tours, family reunions, choral group singing tours and a host of other reasons.

The Lake Shore System says its equipment is the finest, and the rates reasonable. Arrangements have been made to answer all inquiries regarding the service.

In addition to regular passenger and charter service, the system provides for package express service. Small packages of less than 100 pounds may be shipped to any community in the United States served by bus. Packages are carried on the regularly scheduled runs.

Officials at Lake Shore said the recent cancellation of the federal transportation tax makes traveling by bus more reasonable than ever.

A soil test, when properly done, can help eliminate most of the guesswork of soil fertility management on Ohio farms, according to Ohio State University Extension agronomists.

150,000 EMERGENCY CASES HANDLED

110,000 Patients Were Admitted To Columbus Hospitals Last Year

By Grant Drennen
Columbus Hospital Federation

Hospitals are an important segment of the economic life of the Metropolitan Columbus Area. More than 8,000 employes are on the monthly payroll of the 11 hospital members of The Columbus Hospital Federation, and operating costs were in excess of $32 million during 1962.

Approximately 110,000 patients were admitted to the general hospitals for an average stay of 7.9 days, and nearly 20,000 new citizens were born in Columbus hospitals. An estimated 150,000 emergency room cases were treated and 350,000 out-patient visits were recorded.

Special forms are used to provide an orderly transfer from the hospital to the nursing home or to the hospital from the nursing home when the physician determines that a transfer is advisable. Such transfers have increased from 210 in 1961 to 399 during the first 11 months of 1962. This program, developed under the leadership of the late Frances G. Hoffman of the federation staff, is expected to expand to additional hospitals of the city in the coming year.

St. Anthony Hospital completed new surgical and laboratory facilities, and added 28 beds in the new Frances Schervier Memorial wing. Mt. Carmel Hospital is currently modernizing and air conditioning its west wing patient facilities.

Grant Hospital placed its entire new facilities for 399 patients in full service during 1962. Mercy Hospital converted its small maternity section to services for medical and surgical patients.

Children's Hospital has improved its laboratory and out-patient facilities and continues to serve patients from 87 of the 88 counties in Ohio and patients from other states.

University Hospital serves as the medical center for the surrounding region, caring for more complicated cases transferred from various parts of the state, as well as providing hospital care for citizens of Franklin County.

Alum Crest Hospital at the Franklin County Home continues to serve the older citizens of Franklin County. Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital has a reduced number of patients; and unfortunately, the voters of Franklin County defeated a levy for appropriations which would have made possible the conversion of part of the hospital for chronic care patients. Studies of the use of both Alum Crest and Benjamin Franklin Hospitals will be continued in 1963.

St. Ann's Hospital for Women continues to serve maternity and gynecological patients in the facilities which were modernized in 1960.

During October, 3000 beds were available in the accredited general hospitals of Franklin County and they were 81.7 per cent occupied during the entire month. In addition 330 beds were available for pulmonary disease patients at Benjamin Franklin Hospital and 207 beds for geriatric patients were available at Alum Crest Hospital.

The excellent cooperation of physicians, prominent citizens, industries, labor, religious leaders, educators, insurance companies, and governmental agencies in achievement of this objective is an outstanding feature of progress in Columbus and Franklin County.

Expansion, New Facilities Highlight 1962 Progress At The Electric Company

The end of the year 1962 finds business activity holding at the record levels reached earlier in the year. Thus there has been a gradual increase in the economy of the nation as a whole, and the service area of the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co.

One of the reasons for this increase and steady growth, according to the electric utilities, is the amount of electricity consumed per customer. Home building has remained steady throughout the year. Residential construction is running at slightly above 1.5 million units a year, well above a year ago.

Americans now have more electricity than the next five nations of the world combined. For example, we have three times as much as Russia. The average American home uses twice as much electricity for lighting alone as the typical Russian home uses for all purposes.

The electric company, whose budget and plans for construction are already scheduled for the next decade or more, welcomes the nation's growth and prosperity as a challenge. During the year just passed, the company continued its expansion of facilities with the installation of new distribution equipment, transmission lines, and the completion of the newest generating unit at its Conesville plant.

This latest addition at Conesville makes a total of more than a million kilowatts of electric power capacity for the Columbus and Southern Ohio area. Yet it is but one phase of the company's improvement and expansion program which has required expenditures of almost $200 million the past 10 years.

Last year the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. initiated a long-range study of the economy of Central and Southern Ohio and its probable growth over the next 25 years. The study is being conducted by Battelle Memorial Institute and will run another year. The results will provide guideposts for use by the company and by various communities of the region for stimulating economic and cultural growth in the area.

As company officials see the future, it is in a period of sound and steady growth and 1963 should be a firm year moving steadily toward future progress and prosperity for Central and Southern Ohio.

Superintendent Harold H. Eibling assumed a new "Meet the Press" type format on his monthly TV teachers' meeting. The new format permits four teachers to fire unscreened questions at the superintendent.

Five-minute Board of Education news summaries were started over Radio Station WCBE-FM. Reports feature a summary of actions and are broadcast the morning following a board meeting.

Official tabulation of enrollment hits 93,666, another new high for the Columbus Public Schools.

Ohio State Supreme Court held on Oct. 17 that boards of education can ban fraternities and sororities in high schools. The court dismissed appeals of lower court decisions which uphold the ban. The Supreme Court ruled 4 to 0 that a constitutional question was not involved.

November

Contracts totalling $1,104,000 were awarded for the construction of Buckeye Junior High School. The school is scheduled for occupancy in September, 1963.

Whetstone High School and Walnut - Ridge Junior - Senior High School were dedicated.

December

T. H. Mayer, principal of Eastmoor High School, was named first principal of Brookhaven High School. Gordon K. Harris, vice-principal at North High, was named to succeed Mayer at Eastmoor.

Woodcrest Elementary School was dedicated.

A new music textbook series for fifth and sixth grades was adopted by the Board of Education.

Superintendent Harold H. Eibling said Columbus Public Schools will not hire new cadet teachers starting next fall. At the present time, only 33 of the 3,237 Coumbus teachers are in the cadet program.

Annual soil erosion loss in the U.S. is estimated at three billion tons. This is equivalent to the top six inches from three million acres of land.

Saxbe Disappoints Sunday Sales Enforcement Backers

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Any preliminary ground- rk laid by ex-Attorney Gen- l Mark McElroy in this te's Sunday sales law en- cement battle has seeming- been tossed to the winds h the recent change of ad- nistration.

As a result, there's plenty evidence in the capital city hard feelings between the ater Columbus Sunday As- iation and newly-elected At- ney General William B. xbe.

The association, in essence, ims that Saxbe took "shock- g and disappointing" action en he dismissed 11 corpora- n suits filed through "quo rranto" writs by McElroy ortly before he left office.

Actually, McElroy filed 12 its but one, Arlan's, agreed a change in their corporate licy and chose to close on nday voluntarily.

The other 11 were dismiss- by Saxbe "five minutes ter he came into office," As- ciation Secretary Gene King almed Tuesday, "and, with- t even consulting those con- cerned, including the church and labor groups depending on the attorney general's aid in this fight."

The association official fur- ther charged that Saxbe had agreed to a meeting Jan. 22 with Sunday Association of- ficials, church, labor and re- tail merchant groups before taking any terminal action.

Saxbe, on the other hand, reported Tuesday that he hadn't "heard a word" from the association. He did con- cede that his first assistant, Jerry Donahue, had received a letter about the meeting.

When asked why he took such quick and direct action, Saxbe said, "I have no doubts that these people are violating the law but I don't think we should take over the powers of prosecution unless the legis- lature wants us to."

Saxbe said he had promised to dismiss the suits if he was elected, "and I just moved ahead with plans," he added. He also maintains that his basic reason for this is that he doesn't feel that the Mc- Elroy act was within the "role of the attorney general of any state."

As to the "role" of the at- torney general, Ted Saker, first assistant to McElroy, for- mer attorney general, defend- ed the action of his adminis- tration by saying:

"We have used quo war- ranto on several occasions in of course, we have followed the pattern of prior attorney generals and this type of suit has been filed in Ohio courts for the last 100 years or more.

"The Ohio constitution gives authority for this type of suit," Saker commented, "and authority is also given in an entire chapter in the Ohio Revised Code."

McElroy had issued quo warranto action (law suit against large corporations) Dec. 28 against Whitehall Dis- count City and Arlan's of Co- lumbus, Econo-Fair of Cincin- nati, Uncle Bill's of Cleveland, Shoppers' Fair of Dayton, On-

NEW WRINKLE IN BLUE LAW?

A Columbus municipal judge is forgetting the "sales" part in Sunday sales and is obtaining convictions of per- sons merely engaged in "common labor" on the Sabbath.

Judge Kenneth Sater handed down his most recent conviction Tuesday when he found Barney Baxton, produce manager of Whitehall Dis- count City, guilty on this "common labor" charge, re- ported Whitehall Solicitor Paul Haytcher, prosecutor for the case.

"Up until now," Haytcher commented, "we've been hav- ing a lot of trouble proving the actual sale. We can elimi- nate this now."

The statute on Sunday clos- ing, Judge Sater pointed out, is that it is illegal to engage in common labor or sell non- necessary merchandise on Sunday.

"This man was arranging heads of lettuce in a display," Judge Sater said. "It doesn't take a skilled mechanic to put heads of lettuce on a counter

Financial Reports Are Aired; Zoning Tabled At Whitehall

Mayor Report Shows $1.90 Tax Decline

Two reports—one from Mayor Walter B. Moling and the other from Treasurer Francis E. Shaeffer—brought smiles to Whitehall council- men meeting is regular ses- sion Tuesday night.

The mayor's report noted that taxes in the city were down $1.90 over last year— showing the city's tax rate at $30.60 per $1000 valuation.

"I am very pleased with the progress that our city made in 1962," the mayor beamed. "Especially am I very happy that the city could pay for its share of North and South Yearling-rd and our new mu- nicipal building."

Total receipts from all de- partments in the city stood at $524,375 for the year. The city paid out a total of $282,- 460 in capital improvements, and $132,629 of that figure went for the Yearling-rd im- provement.

Other highlights from the mayor's report showed that $36,061 was paid out for new equipment. Biggest item on this list was $9,321 for new furniture used in the munici- pal building. The $380,000 municipal building will be paid for by a 10-year note.

The mayor reported that in 1962 Whitehall completed 2572 lineal feet of concrete streets, 4623 lineal feet of sanitary sewers, 2200 feet of

ANOTHER BEXLEY POOL 'BLITZ' SLATED

THIS PICTURE (taken last week) shows Bexley city officials checking over plans for the city's first and only swimming pool to be built on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds. The men are, from left, Mayor William A. Schneider, Council President C. J. Kurtz, Jr., and Solicitor Howard Park. They approved the plans and gave the association the go-ahead for another "blitz" drive for funds. The drive was announced by Civic Improvement Chairman William Birch and will be held Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 19-20, on a house-to-house basis.

'Hot Potato' Problem Is Dropped

Meeting in special caucus during intermission time Tues- day night, Whitehall council decided to table a "hot potato" zoning issue until Feb. 19.

The legislation would re- peal a controversial zoning classification and the solons shied away from it when they learned that there were still zoning change applications pending under the classifica- tion.

J. Craig Wright, former city safety director and zon- ing board member, who aided in drafting the commercial, apartment and office zoning classification, told the solons the intent of the classification was to bring office-type build- ings into the city.

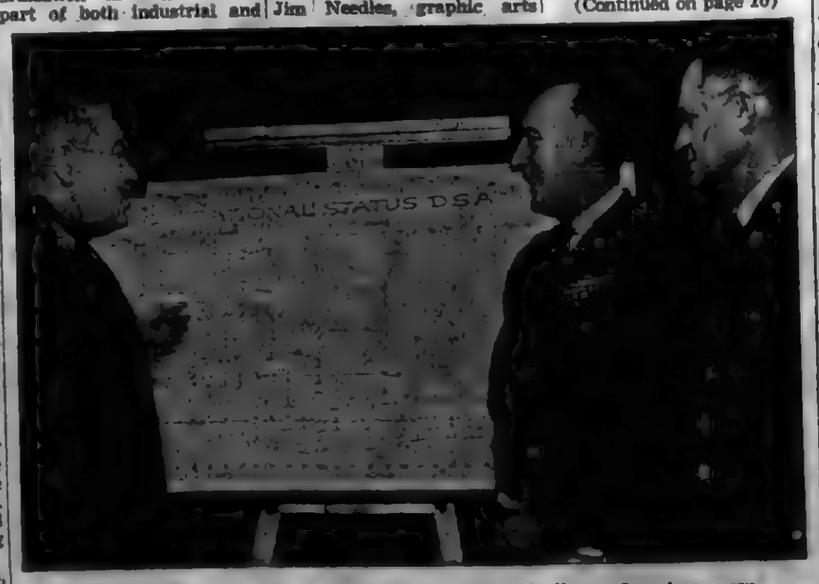
Wright pointed out that since the C-A-O classication was adopted about two years ago, the percentage of apart- ment dwellers in the city went from 20 to 50 per cent. Wright pleaded with council to repeal the classification.

In other action, council:

- Passed an ordinance changing the zoning map re- garding the Ruben-Ebner property located on the east side of Maplewood-av between Doney and E. Broad-st.
- Passed legislation au- thorizing Safety Director Richard Moling to advertise for bids and enter into a con- tract for certain alterations and additions to the police de- partment building.
- Passed an ordinance per- mitting the use of city hall for group meetings.
- Passed a resolution au- thorizing Service Director Robert Mickey to tear down two outbuildings on the mu- nicipal property at 3588 E. Main-st.
- Heard a representative of English Village unveil plans for a 168-unit apart- ment development at E. Broad-st and Beechwood-rd.

Standardization Is Sought For Depot

Representatives from the newly-organized Supply De- pot in East Columbus are currently attending a "Stand- ardization and Customer Conference" in Detroit.



Purpose of the meeting, which began Jan. 14 and runs until Friday, Jan. 18, is to obtain a clearer concept of the size and scope of the De- fense Supply Agency stand- ardization mission on the part of both industrial and military supply centers and their customers.

Those representing the De- pot are Lt. Col. Joseph C. Dyer, director of technical operations; LCDR Douglas Kitterman and Ernest Sweet of the standardization divi- sion; John J. Burgbacher of the quality control division; Ralph Saeger, directorate of office procurement; Ted Krebs, Homer Thomas and Jim Needles, graphic arts division and Gilbert Cotton of the public affairs office.

The conference coincides with the huge Society of Automotive Engineers Con- gress and Exposition in De- troit at which both the sup- ply agency and several of its field centers such as the de- pot in Columbus, have large exhibits.

A portion of the Congress is devoted to "Advances in

Board Says 'No' To Art Degree Plea

The State Board of Educa- tion rejected Monday a bid by the Columbus College of Art and Design to become a degree-granting institution.

Action stemmed from a re- port of a special committee which offered no hope that the parent Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts Board of Trus- tees was prepared to under- take the burden of qualifying for certification.

The entire incident reach- d its high point some months ago when art school students did battle with gallery offi- cials and charged they were mislead into believing they could get degrees by attend- ing the school.

Art Gallery sources re- port that the decision hasn't sourred any similiar action. "The students are doing what they've always done," the source reported.

One of the student leaders in the demonstrations said that he wasn't sure how the decision would be taken.

BEXLEY SCHOOLS Superintendent E. D. Jarvis glances over newsletters representing 14 years of edu- cation—a project that he started in October, 1949 and which, just recently, has grown to community-wide proportions.

Jarvis Jargon Is Popular In Bexley

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Bexley Schools Superintendent E. D. Jarvis prob- ably will never be another William Randolph Hearst, but his fantastic success in the "publishing" business is being heralded by residents of Bexley.

Jarvis, whose pet philosophy calls for a well-in- formed public, launched a "Newsletter" project in Octo- ber of 1949. The pamphlet was sent home each grading period in report cards of students in the Bexley system.

Now, 14 years later, Jarvis is branching out. He went community-wide with his Newsletter in December and plans to continue this, what he terms a "new tack," as long as the money holds out for printing expenses and stamps.

The amazing thing is that every word in the pamphlet (sometimes as much as eight pages) is writ- ten by the superintendent himself who shyly admits he never had formal journalistic training.

"I just want to help people understand our prob- lems," commented Jarvis who has been experiencing said "problems" since he took over the superintendency fifteen years ago. "When issues come up, our residents are ready for them."

Of course, Jarvis feels he can hit more people by distributing throughout the community.

In announcing his expanded coverage, Jarvis said:

"Hereafter, an effort will be made to prepare ma- terial of general interest for use in the Newsletters. We hope you will understand that we cannot compete with other news-gathering agencies or larger school systems where complete public relations departments are organized and working in this type of activity. We will still operate with the superintendent's office as editor-in-chief, and use no other formal machinery for gathering news or preparing material."

Oh, yes. Mr. Jarvis exceeds his publishing ability by just one thing. That's "modesty."

Did You Ever Hear The Warning Bell?

If you saw the televised showing of "The Warning Bell" over WLW-C on Mon- day evening you must agree that this new public service production by the Nation- wide Insurance Company is one of the best yet.

It was my pleasure to wit- ness a preview of this movie this past week and I must admit that now I have heard the "Warning Bell."

This film is available for showing to groups by mere- ly contacting any Nation- wide representative. It car- ries no commercials and is meant to merely show every individual how he fits into a picture of safety in his com- munity and his home. The nice part is that it makes a point without spilling any blood. It strikes hard at the accident problem: careless- ness, indifference, and irres- ponsibility.

Gallagher Explains Sign Nix

City Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher reported that con- troversial stop signs along Gould-rd will be taken down, and cited the following rea- sons for his action:

"First," he said, "our re- port shows that during peak hours 218 cars travel east and west on Dale-st and that 303 go north and south on Gould. This means that 70 per cent of the traffic goes north and south."

The stop signs were located on Gould to stop motorists both at Dale and at Bryden-rd.

Gallagher's survey further showed that 86 per cent of the traffic went on Gould as only 118 cars used Bryden during peak hours.

The engineer said it was also noted that the stop signs weren't being heeded. In a one-hour check, he said, 78 per cent of the motorists violated the Bryden-rd sign while 72 per cent ignored the one at Dale-st.

Speed checks, Gallagher concluded, showed that the average speed between Dale and Broad-st was 36 m.p.h. for northbound cars and 34 m.p.h. for vehicles heading south.

Speaking on the signs, Gallagher said, "It's very dif- ficult to fool a motorist. They soon catch on. They see right through speed control meas- ures and "second-gear-it" through the intersection. That's how accidents are caused."

Franklin Board Slates Meeting On New Budget

Franklin County's Child Welfare Board will hold a special meeting Friday, Feb. 1 to determine how to cut last year's expenditures by about $25,000 for the 1963 budget.

Among possible alternatives the board may consider, would be carrying over its 1962 deficit another year, sharply curtailing the organization's medical program and closing Franklin Village, said Charles Canton, executive secretary.

Canton said last week that the agency's income this year, including a $75,000 county general fund appropriation, will not match the amount the board spent last year under a curtailed program.

The agency, which ended up 1962 with $84,000 in unpaid obligations, will have about $1,436,000 to operate with.

This amount, coupled with the deficit, leaves the welfare board with $134,000 less than it spent in 1962.

California Markets Something To See

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapes, California navel oranges.

Vegetables — Lettuce, carrots, potatoes, tomatoes, green peppers.

Meats — Fryers, ground beef, steak "specials," pork roasts, large eggs, cheese.

On my first day in Ohio after a glorious vacation in southern California, I feel much better qualified to tell you about the markets there than here at home. The vegetable displays everywhere we visited were beautiful but the fruits were truly spectacular.

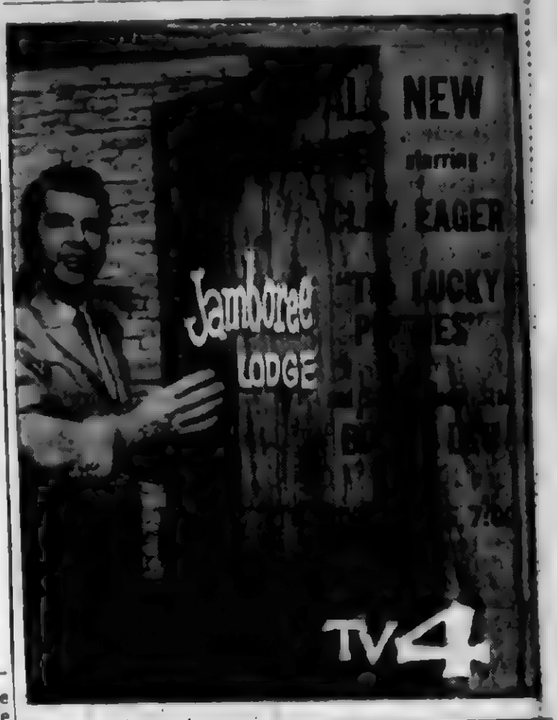
Mrs. Franks

Perhaps the best of both fruits and vegetables were the ones we saw at famous Farmers' Market in Pasadena — larger navel oranges than we ever see here and stacks of many fruits that are specialties in our markets, such as persimmons, "sweet" winter pears, several varieties of tangelos and tangerines, many varieties of fresh dates and many avocados. How Californians do love avocados! They prepare them in dozens of ways, even eat them just as we would eat an apple. Prices on these high quality fruits are not low, even with the abundance; vegetables generally, are cheaper than in our markets.

Tourists appreciate California's dry, warm weather this winter far more than the producers. They badly need rain. However, a trip through the fertile Cochella Valley showed how lush vegetables grow under their modern irrigation system without rainfall. Beautiful lettuce, tomatoes and other vegetables will be coming our way all winter from these irrigated valleys.

Latest On The Florida Citrus Situation

Marketing specialists say that estimates are still being made to determine the exact extent of the freeze damage. Most of the Florida oranges now on the market are from the Indian River area which missed most of the freeze. Regulations have been relaxed to permit No. 2 grade oranges to be shipped out of Florida.



The Valencia orange crop is about ready for harvest and will start moving on the market near the end of January. U.S.D.A. inspectors report that two-thirds of the Valencia crop showed no apparent damage below one-half inch at the stem.

With additional supplies soon to appear on the market and store shelves replenished, orange prices likely will decrease and approach normal prices, but will not reach the exceptionally low prices you paid before the freeze. At present, California navel oranges may be a comparatively good buy, when both quality and price are considered.

As to be expected, there's a wide variance in the quality of oranges and you will be wise to shop very carefully. Look for oranges that are firm, heavy for their size and have a fine-textured skin for the variety.

As has been reported earlier, many of the oranges hit by the freeze have been diverted to juice. There is some indication that the juice supply may be large enough, coupled with the unusually large carry-over from last year, to have considerable effect in returning juice prices to near normal levels.

Coming Right Up—4,000 Double Orders Of Sperm Whale

KID-GLOVE HANDLING isn't enough when Roger Higgins, Groveport, takes a couple of mink out of the cages to show them off. It takes extra heavy mitts to ward off the sharp teeth. "Never trust a mink," he warns. "You can make pets of them, but you never know what they will do next."

It's A Lot Of Chow For One Man's Kits

By JANE ROBINSON

Question: Why did Roger Higgins at Groveport order a whale last week?

Answer: What would you do if you had thousands of kits to feed?

Question: You mean blubber is good for kits?

Answer: No, just the red-muscle meat, and then it has to be mixed in a formula.

The formula he goes by would give a pediatrician fits. Higgins starts out conventionally enough with a cereal resembling Pablum. But from there he departs far from the beaten path.

He tosses in a few barrels of chicken heads and entrails along with several hundred pounds of beef stomachs and lungs. (Are you still with me?)

Not yet satisfied with the mess he has concocted he adds a wheelbarrow or two each of liver, fresh fish and whale meat, presumably seasoning to taste.

Only then does the part-time chef view his gourmet item with pride. He has prepared the near-perfect recipe.

Recipe for what, though? To feed thousands of mink he raises year after year at the Big Walnut Mink Ranch on Groveport-rd.

Higgins, who owned a grocery store at the time, really started something back in 1945 when he bought about a dozen of the small members of the weasel family. His back-yard hobby soon began to grow.

The following year with his father Ralph and brother Robert as partners he moved the operation to its present site north of Groveport. Although Robert Higgins later sold his interest in the business, the older Higgins retained his partnership after retirement eight years ago.

The rancher who claims he likes the business "just as well as the day I started," says one must be careful what information he gives out about mink habits and personality

"Some mink will always make a liar out of you," he laughed, referring to their individual quirks.

Some things appear fairly consistent about the business, however.

The adult mink which are kept in individual cages to protect their pelts except during supervised breeding in March, whelp in May.

The average litter of five "kits" (actually the number of cigarette-size off-spring vary from one to 12) remain with their mother until the first part of July.

The youngsters are then placed two to a cage until September when they are considered grown-up. Though some terrific arguments occur occasionally between the cagemates, Higgins thinks they enjoy playing together and that their competitive nature leads them to eat more and grow faster than when alone.

In December when the mink have grown their winter coats in place of the worthless summer coat they are ready to be pelted and shipped to the New York City auction house.

In New York the skins are made ready for the monthly sales from January through June when buyers from all over the world bid on the lots.

Before the buyers sees them they have been dressed, graded according to clearness of color, size, fur density and other technicalities, and bundled into matching lots.

Only after the bidding is over and the receipts are in does the rancher know whether he's been working for fun or money all year.

Last year the 16 million skins sold over the world brought an average price of $18 per skin.

Higgins pointed out that during the past 15 years, while demand has increased more than 500 per cent, the average price has dropped from $26.

Mentioning that it takes about 80 skins to make up a full length coat, Higgins stated that relatively few skins are used for that purpose. Not too many husbands pick up a coat ranging from $3,000 to $25,000 as a token of their affection for their wives.

Instead, he said, the furs largely go into other garments such as stoles, boas, jackets and scarves.

Hats, muffs and collars for dresses, suits and cloth coats use many more.

And of course there is always the mink necktie, the mink seat belt and the mink-lined "potty" respectively for the man, woman and tot who have everything.

Asked whether a "do-it-yourself" project in growing a mink coat had any possibilities, Higgins was most discouraging.

To this one of the uninitiated it seemed a simple matter of mathematics.

With an initial purchase in March of five females and one male (the usual ratio of sexes) one could sit back and let nature take its course for about 20 months.

In theory it looked wonderful—a $10,000 coat for $75 and a little patience.

These calculations, according to Higgins, left out a few rather important items.

It seems it takes about 400 mink skins to get enough that would match reasonably well. He also claims, logically enough, that sheds, cages, straw, labor, coolers, walk-in freezers, food preparation machinery and especially whale meat aren't for free.

And he warned against anyone forgetting it costs at least $1,000 to have a furrier make up a coat.

The "letting-out" process in which each skin is cut into tiny one-eighth inch strips and resewn is a highly skilled, time-consuming process that is extremely well paid.

Oh well, maybe some of us could settle for this year's rage, the two-skin boa.

One project that Higgins has in mind, if he ever finds time, is to build a pen about 10 feet square and leave an entire litter in it until adulthood.

He has heard of such a cage which was equipped with swings, wheels and other gymnastic equipment.

"Those mink had more fun than a barrel of monkeys," said Higgins.

It's obvious that Higgins has a job that to him, though involving a lot of hard work, is also always interesting, challenging and sometimes just plain pleasure.

FOUR LITTLE MINK, ALL IN A ROW stand up to find out just what's going on. Instinctively active and curious animals, they entertain themselves on warmer days by dropping their straw bedding, piece by piece, through the floor of the cages. When the weather gets cold their owner has the job of giving more bedding to the extravagant characters.

West Sider Uses Norwegian Elkhounds To Track Black Panther In S. Solon Area

By ED CHURCHILL

Panther hunting may seem like an unusual sport around Columbus, but David Foughty, 739 Campbell-av and his brother Chuck of Westerville think they have just the ticket for "cat catching."

The former Foughty is the proud owner of two Norwegian Elkhounds he purchased last year in Montana where they are used for hunting mountain lions and he seems confident his dogs can track down the black panther reported running loose in the South Solon area.

No one knows where the panther came from, but a circus camped in Lafayette for the winter has offered $1,000 reward for capture of the cat—alive.

A large search party is being organized in South Solon, but the Foughtys plan to go after the animal alone.

In fact they have already been out once (last Saturday) but had no luck.

They had planned to go out Wednesday night (Jan. 16) if there was any snow on the ground so the beast could be tracked.

The Elkhounds are very similar, in size and appearance, to Huskies, used in the Arctic countries as sled dogs.

The male, "Duke," is 18 months old, weighs about 60 pounds and is "very powerful," according to his master.

Lady, the "better half" of the pair, is a year old, and slightly smaller than Duke.

Foughty said he is expecting a litter of pups in about another month.

He believed the dogs were on the panther's track last Saturday, but couldn't catch up with him, so the Foughty brothers decided to try the hunt again at night.

As for the $1,000 reward—Foughty said he is interested in it, but placed the welfare of his brother, himself and the dogs above that of the cat.

State Board Transfers Land To Whitehall School Group

The State Boad of Education transferred one half acre along Fifth-av from Mifflin School District to Whitehall, Monday, but delayed shifting 50 acres from Jefferson to Whitehall at the former's request.

The half acre of land is valued at $10,260.

Whitehall Supt. Robert Crabbs said the transfer is primarily a bookkeeping transaction to simplify the county auditor's task of assigning taxes to the area.

The largest plot, valued at $59,910, is still an island, separated from the parent school districts by the annexation and transfer of territory, which includes the sprawling North American plant, to Columbus in 1952 and 1955.

Two Stores Robbed

Burglars escaped with $1,588.50 worth of appliances and cash in two Whitehall robberies, police reported Friday.

Twelve tape recorders, seven television sets and seven radios were hauled out of the Goodyear Service Store, 917 S. Hamilton-rd, by thieves who forced open a heavy steel rear door. Loss was estimated at $1,547.

The Hobby Den, 3746 Town and Country-rd, lost $41.50 in cash to burglars who also smashed out a rear door.

Service Pins Awarded At Motor Lodge

Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, 5000 E. Main-st, has awarded Eloise Jones, 4514 San Jose-ln, a five-year recognition pin for service in the restaurant.

Charles Kirkbride, 1880 Holburn-av, received a similar pin for three years' service as restaurant manager.

William R. Smith, general manager of the East Side facility, made the awards.

MASON JARS

Loren F. Mason, former Whitehall councilman, announced his candidacy for councilman-at-large. Mason, a staunch member of the Whitehall Democratic Club, was undecided as to what office he would seek and was thus surrounded by much speculation. Actually, he was expected to run for a higher post than councilman.

JohnsonPark Sponsoring Safety Month

January is safety month for the students at Johnson Park Junior High School. Student Council is sponsoring this school-wide program. Co-chairmen of the drive are Tom Cooper and John Wymer.

The slogan is "From Accidents We'd Be Free, If Safety Were Our Key."

With the help of the art department and the Photo Club, the building is decorated with posters and pictures about safety measures.

All students will take part by cleaning their lockers, conducting a bicycle check and helping to clean off the windshields of the teachers cars.

Sgt. Steve McDonald from the police department addressed Student Council about traffic safety. The home economics classes were addressed by Lt. Hennesy from the fire department on the subject of fire safety and by Policewoman Mrs. Jean Bray on child care.

The display case in the main hall will hold safety projects and will help remind students that this is safety month.

Last month the ninth grade students at Johnson Park were asked by the American Legion to write a 400 to 600 word essay entitled "What Can I Do To Preserve American Democracy." The school was to select the essays of one boy and one girl to represent Johnson Park in the contest which included high school students throughout Columbus.

Glenn Mara and Marna Distelhorst wrote the winning essays.

Another essay contest has also been in progress recently at Johnson Park.

It is sponsored by the Franklin County Tuberculosis Society on the subject of tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

Two boys and two girls represent Johnson Park eighth graders, David Roach and Anita Shapiro, and ninth graders Jerry Nathan and Jane Farson. These winning essays appeared in the Johnson Park "Gazette" and then were submitted to the TB Society for judging.

Free chest X-rays spot contagious tuberculosis and other serious respiratory diseases. The society offers free X-ray services to any firm employing 40 or more people.

The cruiser last visited the company in 1961 when four employes were notified about conditions suggesting need for medical follow-up.

HAIR LOOK 'RATTY,' UNCOMBED? IT'S SUPPOSED TO, FELLOWS

If someone says your hair looks "ratty" and you're a member of the fairer sex, then smile. It's a compliment and, more important, if it's been a long time for you since the ivy halls of high school, no one can say you aren't keeping up with the times.

In a by-lined article, appearing in the South High "Optic," student writers Pauline McCoy and Sandra Hurley report that "ratting" or "teasing" hair is the most popular trend in forming femme hairstyles.

After the ratting process, local high school lasses are shaping their coiffures into styles bearing such names as "Flip," "Angel Wave" and "Date Setter."

The gals explain that ratting hair is done by holding the strands up from the scalp and brushing downward. It makes the hair fluffy and soft looking, they say, but, alas, it's off limits for guys.

Try it with a crew cut, men, and you'll just end up with sore fingers and your crew cut will probably look like the crew balled out.

Now the hairdos.

The South High writers say that the "Flip" is for the gal who has short hair and is described as the "soft, angel style." It's "real cute" the female scribes penned and "gives that easy look."

They describe forming it thusly:

"The hair in front should be away from the forehead and brushed down over both ears. The ends of the hair should be fluffed up and a dainty bow could be pinned on one side.

Next, they write, for the girl who has medium short hair, "we have the 'Angel Wave'."

In this one, hair is combed down over the ears and a little curl or two combed down over the forehead. Bows can also be pinned on either side of this one. See?

"For the girl who has long hair, we have the 'Date Setter'," the article says. (This one, incidentally, was called the "Holly Look" during the holiday season but has been adapted so that it's appropriate at anytime—even Bastille Day.)

First, comb the hair into a page boy and then take part of the hair at the crown and fluff and secure with hair pins. Also, comb down a few airy bangs (air is sold in most neighborhood drug stores) and place two or three colorful bows between the crown and bangs.

For cynical men reading this, it might be pointed out that many of the fashion trends are set on the high school level. Don't be surprised if Mama comes home some evening with her hair ratted, or flipped, or teased or pouffed.

In which case your role will be to smile, compliment her and be careful not to get close to the hair spray shellac. Those face burns can really smart.

SCRAMBLED LEGS—Funny things happen when a half dozen arms and legs try to reach the same point at the same time. Everybody got into the act on this rebound try following a misguided West Jeff field goal attempt Saturday night at Hartley. The Rough Riders' Gary Pelphrey (11) battles Randy Rodich (center) and another unidentified Hawk cager for possession of the elusive round-ball while Hartley's Tom Schlager (50), Jack Diamond (42) and Mark Lang (right) join with Jeff's Dick Rice (21) in waiting for developments.

HAWKS 'SADDLE' RIDERS

Tiger String Cut; Lions Claw Rams

No area cage quintet could do better than gain a split during a heavy weekend of hardwood play. The area also lost its last unbeaten five as East's Tigers became Dayton Chaminade's tenth straight victim, 50-49, Saturday night.

The Tigers had maintained their share of the City League lead the evening before by clobbering North, 68-44 while co-leader Central handled Walnut Ride, 70-41.

BEXLEY PULLED ahead in the second half to down CBL opponent Whitehall, 60-54, but the Lions couldn't find the handle Saturday night, dropping a 66-34 decision to Mt. Vernon.

In the Central Catholic circuit, St. Charles squeaked by Hartley, 53-51, to maintain its CCL lead but the Hawks rallied Saturday night to bypass visiting West Jefferson, 66-59.

Academy snapped its County League losing streak with a 66-36 win over Rosary but the Vikings couldn't extend their success to the following evening as Reynoldsburg went home with a 59-44 victory.

NORTH'S POLAR Bears kept pace with East until the Tigers got started in the second period, leading by nine at intermission. East turned on the jets in the second half, however, leaving the Polar Bears at the gate. Four Tiger starters hit the double figures with Bob Calloway's 19 markers setting the pace.

Bob Halfer's long jump shot in the final quarter minute of play snapped the Tigers' eight-game winning skein. East held leads of 11 points throughout the first half but Chaminade's persistence paid off in the second half as the Dayton quintet closed the gap and set the stage for the last second goal.

Calloway, Ed Waller and Mike Hammond scored 14 points apiece for the Tigers.

BEXLEY OVERCAME an early Whitehall lead to hand the Rams their tenth setback in 11 tries this season. The Lions led by only one point at intermission but they increased their margin in the final two periods, although Whitehall was never really out of contention until the final minutes of play.

Jim Hoyer's 17 markers paced the Lions but Whitehall's Jeff Robinson took scoring honors with 23 points.

Mt. Vernon took an early edge and then slowly built up a commanding lead as the Jackets downed the Lions, Saturday. Hoyer and Jay Maunin each scored 10 points for the losers.

CENTRAL PICKED up steam as the game progressed Friday to pull away from Walnut Ridge's scrapping Scotties, W-R trailed by five at the first-period break but the Pirates doubled their margin at intermission and were never in trouble thereafter.

The Buc's Tom Fullove led all scorers with 20 points while Scotties Jim Pyles and Ken Evans paced Walnut Ridge with 11 and 10 points respectively.

HARTLEY'S HAWKS almost disproved the old theory about lightning striking twice in the same place Friday night before St. Charles slipped by with its two-point victory.

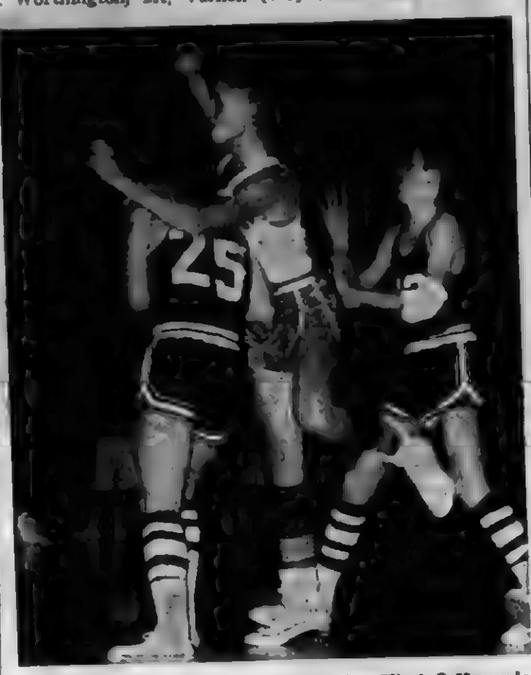
The Hawks, who downed the Carolians in a holiday tourney earlier this season, held the upper hand in the first half, leaving the floor at intermission with a six-point lead.

The Cards, current CCL leaders, narrowed the gap in the third period but never could pull away from the scrambling Hawks. Dick Ferris, the area's leading scorer, provided most of the winner's punch, looping in 27 points.

Tom Schlager and Jack Diamond split Hartley's point honors with 14 markers apiece.

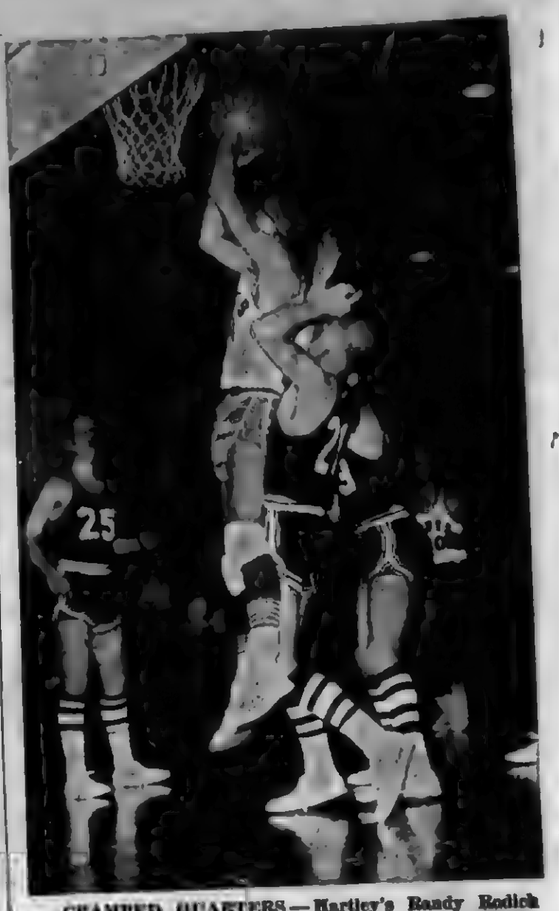
THE HAWKS PULLED a reversal Saturday night as they made up a nine-point halftime deficit in the third period and went on to down the Rough Riders.

Elsewhere around the area, Academy applied the brakes to its County League skid with Rosary's Crusaders taking the short end.



THE VIKINGS JUMPED off to a 14-6 first-period lead and were never seriously challenged the rest of the way as Terry Larrimer keyed th offense with 16 points. Ken Holzman and Ed Laws also chipped in with 12 and 11 points respectively.

It was a different story the following evening, however, as Reynoldsburg's Raiders increased their lead period-by-period to sink the Vikings.



Laws notched 11 points for the losers but Academy couldn't contain the Raider combination of Jon Heischman and Gale Bryant, who scored 40 points between them.

THIS WEEK'S schedule finds Eas (8-1) a Linden, Eastmoor (3-4) at Marion-Franklin (2-8), Walnut Ridge (1-8) at South (3-6), Bexley (2-8) at Worthington, Mt. Vernon at Whitehall (1-10), Academy (2-9) a New Albany (1-10), Hartley (4-7) at Watterson (8-2) and DeSales (2-7) at St. Charles (7-4). All are Friday games.

Two more area cage games are on tap for Saturday night as St. Charles entertains Aquinas (7-2) and Dublin (7-3) visits Walnut Ridge.

APPLYING THE "STOPPER"—West Jefferson's Steve Johnson (25), an All-Darby League halfback during football season, appears to be using a cross-body block to put the brakes on Hartley's Dick Stopper (center) as the Hawk cager passes off to a teammate under the basket. Screeching to a halt to avoid Stopper is the Rough Riders' Ray Boucher (right).

No Place Like Home?? Fish Record Proves It

Here's a fisherman who added to his angling pleasure by keeping a record of his catches during 1962. He fished the Scioto River in Franklin County and its O'Shaughnessy Reservoir in Delaware County, so he didn't travel far for his sport. Yet, he caught 931 fish.

Arthur Hegedus, 9364 Dublin-rd, Shawnee Hills, Dublin, gave his fishing data to Clarence Clark, fish management staff specialist for the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

Crappies were most abundant in his creel. He caught 761, probably most of them in the reservoir. Hegedus took 88 largemouth bass, probably also from the reservoir, and 31 smallmouth bass, these from the shallowest portions of the river. He also listed 18 bullheads, 13 bluegills, 10 channel catfish, two walleyes, three quillbacks, three rock bass and two carp.

Hegedus' records show that May was his best month when he landed 471 fish. In September he caught 223, April-133, June-46, August-41, July-10 and October two. His success per hour of fishing was highest in May when he averaged 7.9 fish; September-five, April-4.2, August-2.9, October-2, June-0.9, and July-0.5.

Clark pointed out that while Hegedus added to his angling pleasure by keeping records, he also added something to fish management knowledge, especially on fishing success.

"This angler's record shows that by persistent effort fishermen can catch a lot of fish close to home," said Clark.

Suburban Loop Situation Remains At 'Status Quo'

The situation in the newly-organized Suburban League remained unchanged this week after the charter members — Pleasant View, Franklin Heights, Teays Valley and Hamilton Township — concluded their "constitution" meeting last week.

President Theodore Dagg announced that no new schools submitted applications for entry at the meeting but the business conducted revolved around the application of finishing touches to the league constitution.

DAGG ADMITTED that six schools had representatives at the meeting and that two additional schools have shown interest in the new circuit.

"We're trying to speed up work on the constitution," Dagg said. "We don't expect any further action from other schools until we set up league policy."

Dagg said the Suburban loop's constitution committee had just about finished the constitution and were halfway through the by-laws.

"THERE ARE IMPORTANT points such as financial breakdown, eligibility and admission prices to be settled before we have a solid base of league policy to present to the interested parties," Dagg concluded.

The league's next meeting has been set for Feb. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at Pleasant View High School. All schools interested in the league should have a representative at the meeting.

Pro Woe—You Can't Tell The Players Without A Spotcard

"I'm not so naive to think that in any league of this kind, with so many players, that there may not be a few boys who would have some contact or association with people who might be considered tainted."

Such were the words of AFL Commissioner Joe Foss on the suggested infiltration of the pro football ranks by the forces of evil.

FOSS PROBABLY has taken the most sensible stand on the situation. This way bossman Joe isn't dressing his boys in cherub's robes, which would look a little ridiculous, but on the other hand he isn't chancing any motor tuneup, gangland-style either.

Ever since the old-time White Sox had their hose dyed black after the baseball fix, people have been going Sherlock Holmes every time a whiff of scandal stinks up the sporting atmosphere.

Of course, basketball was hit twice and boxing has been saddled with shady implications for as long as we can remember. But the fuss that George Halas has stirred up can do little more as far as we can see than cause too many people to slap a "blanket condemnation" on the sport and start overworking that "one apple rotting the whole barrel" adage.

LIKE A CANCEROUS growth, the spy system spread from the Bears to the Lions with even "Golden Boy" Paul Horning's name linked with the undesirables.

It's getting to a point where you might expect the lineup vendors to start shouting, "You can't tell the players without a spotcard."

As far as personal associations go, it's hard enough for a high school coach to dictate rules of company-keeping to his boys, much less general managers shaking a finger at a 245-pound tackle and telling him not to run around with "Mac the Knife."

THE WHOLE THING boils down to one unsoluble point. As long as there are big-time athletic events and big-time gamblers with patrons willing to chance a buck, there's going to be the implication of a "fix."

There are those who believe that publicity on a scandal helps to keep the wolves at bay but we wonder if this type of psychology doesn't do more harm than good.

Our only suggestion to Pete Rozelle (NFL commissioner) and Foss, if the inquiry hurricane doesn't blow itself out soon, is to contact Sam Huff, Big Daddy Lipscomb and Joe Schmidt and set up shop in Eliot Ness' old "Untouchables" office.

SPEAKING OF "UNTOUCHABLES," Paul Brown got the word that no mortal man is indispensable even after 16 years in a move that probably wasn't quite as "shocking" as it seemed at first glance.

It wasn't a very well kept secret in Cleveland that too many people have been dissatisfied with the Brown operation for too long a time. Rumors of strained player relations were confirmed by reliable sources after the season and something had to give.

It's always been the accepted practice in athletic echelons to bring in new blood, coachwise, when success afield became too obviously elusive.

BUT WITH BROWN it was different, or so most people thought until last week. We only met Paul once, following him around six holes on a Mansfield golf course in our infancy as a sportswriter.

All we can remember about Brown was our amazement at how he could talk pro football and stay out of the rough all at the same time.

Perhaps the most shocking part of Brown's dismissal, at least to us, was the report of the small share of Brownie stock that Paul possessed upon release as head coach.

IT WILL SEEM rather strange not to see the little man in the dark overcoat and characteristic hat pacing up and down in front of the Brown's bench next season.

But it was the only way Brown could go. We don't feel he would have ever retired — at least not until he had rebuilt the dynasty that had made him and his Cleveland team a legend in pro football history books.

Maybe pro football had "outgrown" Paul Brown. This is often the case as pupil excels teacher. We were not unaccustomed to "second-guessing" the veteran mentor on many a Sunday afternoon over the past few seasons.

But now that Brown has been given his cup of hemlock, we don't feel it's "sour grapes" at all in feeling that Paul's 16-year tenure has added a special touch to the professional football spectacular.

BITS OF WIT(T)—Columbus St. Mary has come up with a new look at the Rams' home games. Not only do the players warm up to the tune of "Sweet Georgia Brown" but there's also a new mechanical addition to the scorers' table that electronically informs fans when the one-and-one ruling goes into effect on four shots.

Whitehall wrestling coach, Vince Gonino, has high hopes for his 122-pound entry in the Rams' mat corps this year. Gonino looks for Al Rosenblum, captain, to follow in the footsteps of former Whitehall wrestling stars Mike Beery and Gary Joseph and gain some state-wide honors for the Rams.

Versatile Machine Is Announced By NAA

The Columbus Division of North American Aviation has announced the installation of a new $235,000 Milwaukee-Matic milling machine believed to be so versatile that it is described as the first completely integrated production ....

The first machine of its kind in the Columbus area, it is transistorized and operated automatically by a General Electric Mark II numerically controlled system using preprogrammed punched tape and featuring a turret tool changer, capable of storing and using 31 different tools without changing set-ups during the milling, drilling, reaming, lapping and boring operations when commanded by the numerical controls.

The machine is being used initially to produce components for hydraulic systems installed in the A-3 Vigilante.

The machine is said to maintain a production average of better than three to one over conventional machining methods, which involve a number of different machines.

In brief, the machine reverses the conventional milling operation by bringing the tools to the fixed part rather than transporting the part from machine to machine.

NURSING HOME HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

MURRAY HILL MANOR, 880 Greenlawn-av, non-sectarian nursing home was officially opened last Friday. Open house was held Sunday with some 3000 visitors touring the building. Built by Virginia Homes, Inc., the manor cost more than $500,000. It is affiliated with Mt. Carmel Hospital and is supervised by Robert W. Stuart. The one-story three-wing structure will accommodate 98 persons. Shown here is part of the manor's comfortable dining area.

Final Date Nears For Cost-Sharing On Tree Planting

Final date for requesting cost-sharing for ACP practice A-7, tree planting for forestry purposes is Friday, Feb. 1, according to Carl W. Schacht, Franklin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee Chairman.

The cut off date has been established, Schacht said, to enable the County ASCS office to process requests and the farm forestor to make necessary determinations before the most favorable date for planting trees.

The farm forestor is required to visit each farm which requests cost-sharing under the practice and approve both the proposed planting site and species.

The county ASCS office will furnish information on ACP practices for 1963.

Don't Force Yourself, But Visit 'Forcing House' Soon

Planning to visit the Franklin Park Conservatory soon? Visit the growing or forcing house while you are there.

At the present time, they are forcing roses for the Flower and Garden Show to be held at Veterans Memorial this coming March.

Lantana is another plant being forced and there are are some in bloom at present.

These plants can be grown inside and out. If they are kept inside they should be kept in a south window. Outside Lantana is used for a low growing border plant and the spent blooms must be pinched off regularly.

There happens to be a weeping variety in bloom, also, in the conservatory.

Armed Forces Technology," and is designed to promote an interchange between defense engineers and scientists and key people from industry and research organizations.

Emphasis is being placed on standardization at the depot.

Fully authorized by the Congress, real standardization will come about through the coordination of requirements, engineering analyses, and industrial cooperation.

Standardization includes not only items between the four military services, but within each service as well.

The industrial supplier can standardize his approach to selling to the Defense Supply Agency centers, can standardize his production lines and purchases of raw materials and sources of supply.

In the coming year, one of the aims of the depot will be to install more uniform and simplified procurement procedures to eliminate much paper work and delays.

Automatic data processing techniques applied to bid evaluation and data flow will also play a prominent part.

There will be increased emphasis on industrial quality control built into all procurement.

The agency's distribution system is expected to shrink the number of locations at which wholesale stocks are now maintained. This is now in progress through attrition of stocks.

Farm Bureau Campaigns For 1963 Members

More than 3500 Ohio farmers began their jobs Jan. 14 as voluntary membership workers for the 1963 membership campaign of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The farmers, membership captains and workers, will be active in all of Ohio's counties from Jan. 14 through 18.

tario's of Toledo and Miracle Mart of Akron.

He took similar action Jan. 8 against Giant Tiger of Cleveland, Ontario of Cincinnati, Mason's Discount Store of Toledo, Big City, Inc., of Columbus and Clarkin's of Akron.

Saxbe also criticized McElroy's office for its "timing" in issuing the legal action, feeling that it was "dropped" right into his lap when taking office.

"I feel that we were charged with our responsibilities until noon Monday," Saker said in reply.

Saxbe said he's still looking forward to the Jan. 22 meeting. "They can come to my office anytime," he said. The groups were to meet there at 10:30 a. m. but, according to King and the association, it's doubtful that the meeting will transpire.

"We have nothing to say to him now," King said. "We're extremely disappointed and feel that he's taken a swipe at not only the association but also at the church, labor and business factions.

"We thought we had an understanding with Saxbe," King continued. "If we can't count on him to file action against corporations, who do we count on?-Nobody. This is the proper function of the attorney general's office."

If the meeting does go on as scheduled, Saxbe's office said it would "probably just be a general discussion of the problem and he (Saxbe) will set forth his views."

It was pointed out, also, that even though Saxbe asked the Supreme Court to dismiss the civil suits, the court still has to accept the proposal. In the past, the court has usually upheld action by the attorney general, however.

storm sewers and 4530 feet of water lines.

The balance shown in Treasurer Shaeffer's report was less than that remaining at the end of 1961 but, he explained, this is due to the municipal building funds.

Shaeffer's figures showed a balance of $515,322 in all funds while the 1961 balance was $1,056,836.

Total expenditures in 1962 were $2,647,179.

The report also indicated that there was $90,550 built up in the firefighter relief and pension fund and $86,991 in the police fund.

One interesting item on the report was a 10-cent listing for a "Canadian Check Bank Credit." Shaeffer explained that he had received a $1.10 check from the Canadian Railway Express and, when depositing it in the bank, he listed it as a $1 check.

"I've been carrying that 10 cents for five months now," Shaeffer grinned. "I've got to carry it on my books until I receive a bank debit."

Despite the cold weather, 128 Scouts and Scouters participated in the White Oaks District winter camporee this past weekend at Edgewater Park.

On Saturday afternoon the district held activities for patrols from each troop. The first was a scavenger hunt, to test the Scouts ability in observation.

Smaller Cities Can Provide Elbow Room For Colleges

By 1964 the bumper baby crop of the postwar era will have become of age to enter our colleges and universities.

"The number of freshmen alone who will try to enter college in Ohio from 1963 to 1965 will increase 50 percent," said Dr. Novice G. Fawcett, president of the Ohio State University. The number during the years of 1960 to 1970 will increase from 39,335 to 75,102, or 91 percent, he also predicted.

It thus becomes obvious that the competition to get into the nation's 2,000 colleges and universities is taking on a keener edge every year.

Part of the needs will be met by the growing number of two-year community colleges and branch universities. The six state-supported universities maintain 28 branches in towns satellite to the home campuses. Admittedly, these branches may not provide all the "atmosphere" of a more traditional college. But, for many students the live-at-home advantages and the opportunities for part-time employment outweigh the disadvantages. The students later are able to spend their final two years on the main campus.

The towns themselves benefit from the presence of the branches, which also offer adult education and community cultural activities.

The 104th Ohio General Assembly failed to provide money for college capital improvements. And, according to the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges, business firms are contributing only slightly more than half the needed gifts to maintain its 32 colleges.

The General Assembly did for the first time provide authority for the formation of local taxing districts which may set up independent community colleges or may build physical facilities within which such university branches may operate.

Especially interesting is a current effort of local individuals, associations and industry in Chillicothe. The community is in the midst of a lively $200,000 development fund designed to secure 80 acres for the location of permanent facilities for the Ohio University branch there. The branch opened in Chillicothe High School for night classes during World War II and has had a successful run since.

Dr. Vernon Alder, Ohio U. president recently told Chillicothe Rotarians that the branch, given this encouragement, could grow to some 3,000 or 4,000 students in a short time. He foresees a two-year college with faculty-in-residence that "may even become a four-year institution in time."

It appears, therefore, that communities such as Grove City, Reynoldsburg, Canal Winchester or Hilliard, may some day provide a good climate for two years of higher education or of a community college such as Westerville has in Otterbein.

Our largest campuses ultimately will reach a limit, and neighboring residential communities may be called on to help solve the space problem.

It's not too soon to think about it.

SAVINGS

In these hectic days of high prices and taxes, who can save a buck for the proverbial "rainy day"? But, remembering Benjamin Franklin's maxim about saving, many know it can be done and are doing it.

There are many modern ways of saving assets, not always in cash. Home investment and life insurance are examples. Trust funds and securities are attractive to some, but sound advice is needed there.

In rural southern Ohio half a century ago, farm and highway laborers earned $1 for a 10-hour day. A man with a team of horses or a span of ox received $2.50 and one meal for man and beasts.

Of course, prices were in proportion. The variety of consumer goods was limited and the quality usually poor. Frozen foods were unknown and perishables were not obtainable out of season.

One must save more dollars today to make it worthwhile because they have more of them. A man can save something unless he has had to endure too many of "the slings and arrows" after supporting himself and his family and sharing properly with others.

It says here . . .

The dollars you save work for you after you've worked for them.

Blue Skies? We Think So!

Bleak weather prevented Governor-elect James A. Rhodes' inauguration from being held outside of the State Capitol Monday, but to those who jammed into the rotunda and to thousands of others throughout the state it was a bright day for Ohio.

Just as we change from one season to the other, so are we shifting governors. What makes us look forward to a new season? Usually it's how we felt about the preceding one.

Will James A. Rhodes' administration be like going from winter to summer? Time will tell. Certainly, the people of Ohio are expecting this for it's in Governor-elect Rhodes—and his impressive new cabinet members—that they've placed their confidence for the next four years.

At this point we see a fine administration ahead.

Brevity Of Life Should Lead Us To Wisdom

"So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." Psalm 90:12

It was a great moment in the history of painting when men learned how to give the effect of the third dimension to what is essentially a two-dimensional medium — that is to say, when they learned the art of perspective. By means of perspective we are able to convey an impression of depth and distance to a landscape, and relative size and shape to objects in still-life pictures.

Rev. Everson

Some such discovery is necessary if we are to understand, to live, and to represent this human life of ours truly and accurately also. It was something of this nature which the psalmist was talking about when he prayed, "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." Wisdom is something very different from knowledge, the mere accumulation of information. The lust for knowledge may very easily crowd out wisdom. We may easily turn out to be among the best-informed but least-wise among the generations of men.

The psalmist put his finger on the consideration which ought to lead us to wisdom — the brevity of life. It is when we measure our little lives against the immensity of the ages that we see them in their true perspective. It is then that we realize how little time we actually have, and that we can only afford to spend it on the things that matter most. "The bird of time has but a little way to flutter, and the bird is on the wing."

"We live life forward and understand it backwards," wrote a very wise man in the 19th century, and if we would be wise unto salvation, we will give considerable time to surveying the past — our own past — and assessing its accomplishments. When we realize how much of the journey of life lies behind us, and how far we yet are from attaining its goal, we may with greater wisdom apply ourselves to that which remains to us of life. Only a fool in his folly will turn his back upon the past, as if it had nothing to teach us for the living of the future.

The best wisdom to which any human being can come is to know that he is a child of God, made in His image, made to think God's thoughts after Him. It well may be that before this decade is over, men may stand upon the surface of the moon, but we would be well-advised to acknowledge that this is not what he was made for. It is of much importance for us to be kind and loving parents and children, honest and trustworthy workmen and citizens, rejoicing in the humble joys and triumphs of ordinary life, being able to endure sickness and disappointment, to be able to comfort one another in bereavement, and to face each day with courage and hope. The wisdom of life is shown much more in its ordinary humdum routine, than in its spectacular exceptions.

We need this element of perspective to save us from a shallow optimism or a shallow pessimism about the future. Men who have no perspective are likely to vacillate between high hopes and deep despair about the human situation. But those with perspective know that the human race has been around for a long time: the probabilities are that it will last a long time yet. Not even its own devilish cunning will be able to bring about its destruction, until the purpose of God to create for Himself a faithful people shall have been accomplished.

Stomp Out Trading Stamps? Just Try!

"I didn't know women were so gullible," said Mrs. Clarence Hunter in a recent letter in which she lambasted trading stamps.

McPeek

Disregarding for a moment the evils of trading stamps, it is obvious that Mrs. Hunter has not been taking my earlier columns serious—columns in which I repeatedly focused on the gullibility of women. Needless to say, this lack of confidence brought heavy tears to my eyes.

But because I wholeheartedly agree with Mrs. Hunter's views on trading stamps, I shall cooperate and devote this column today to the "Stomp Out Trading Stamps" movement.

Mrs. Hunter went on in her letter to say that perhaps men are just as gullible as women (a questionable contention).

"A lady wants a new lamp," said Mrs. Hunter. "Her husband says, "We don't need it." But the lady replies, "What if I get it free?" The husband then agrees a new lamp is needed."

But is it free? said Mrs. Hunter. Someone has to pay for those stamps. And you can bet it won't be the storekeeper. He has to earn a profit. So the cost of the stamps will be absorbed by increasing prices on certain items. Result: the customer pays. Nobody gets anything for free. When will people learn this?, Mrs. Hunter puzzled

Then there is the nuisance angle, Mrs. Hunter continued. "For example, we shop at several different stores, each of which offers trading stamps. This has resulted in cluttering up our drawers with seven different kinds of stamps and accompanying books and catalogs. They are a complete pain in the neck."

Most everyone will agree with Mrs. Hunter.

Even most merchants complain about them. But they have been forced into issuing stamps because a competitor offers them and if they expect to retain their customers they have to do likewise.

Remember the recent gasoline station stamp wars in Columbus? Those wars were started by the station owners themselves in an effort to wipe out the parasitic stamps.

Many other grocers and merchants also have made efforts to get rid of trading stamps.

But alas, it seems stamps will stay with us until all people learn they can't get anything for nothing.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

No successful man or woman, who has done better than average in life and is still "on the way up," ever pays in full the goodwill debts he owes to so many.

Individuals with healthy ambitions learn early in their careers that taking care of their own "public relations" is a vitally important part of achievement.

Those who never pay goodwill debts, and think and strive only for acquisitive results, miss the bus tragically, no matter how successful they may appear to be. Success, without also finding the secret of happiness, is too often, a hollow sham. By failing to take care of the "put-out" as well as the "take-in" they are wide open to the charge of being ungrateful, and the ingrate is always the most miserable of humans.

The ideal of service rendered "out of the heart" as well as from skills and experience is the catalyst that makes decent people honestly successful.

There are a few words that are never overworked by those who have not the slightest desire to pay any goodwill debts. They are "thanks," "please," "excuse me" and "I'm sorry." No one ever completely forgets such recognition and appreciation honestly expressed.

Many top rated, successful people are beloved by many because success has gone to their hearts instead of to their heads. Too many who are ambitious and possess great talent, energy and tenacity of purpose, are still willing to "climb up on the necks and bruised hearts" of others.

One thing for sure — the most delightful persons are those who never lose the quiet and polite "common touch" in life. Obscure, unknown and unsung men and women have repeatedly been important in the rise to prominence and success of exceptional individuals.

Success built solely on the stand of "everyone for himself and to hell with the hindmost," is false as plastic sleighbells, and never give off a real tinkle of joy and genuine happiness.

The practice of good manners, goodwill and good fellowship is the formula for success and happiness. The most important big shot is the man who knows how to take worthy and deserving people up the ladder with him. No one ever achieves real success and happiness without taking care of the humanities, as well as "taking care of his job."

Hits Government's Processing Of Information

To The Editor:

The "generation" of news lies with the event, and not in the province of executive authority. The admission, on the part of Mr. Kennedy, of his having "generated" news becomes more serious after the facts are "in."

No authority vested in the President of the United States may be considered to have given him the right of decision concerning our access to a factual accounting and subsequent evaluation of the Cuban situation.

Our survival as a free nation depends upon our ability to properly weigh the circumstances in any vital area of national concern. Our Constitution expressly forbids the very action undertaken by Mr. Kennedy and his hirelings.

"Generated" news is as good as no news, and is in fact another way of describing propaganda. Propaganda concerning our national survival is unwarranted, and such an act is in violation of the fundamental precepts of freedom as we know it.

"Generated" news is the tool of tyranny, now or in the future, and should be shunned by our leaders as unworthy.

Rabbit Pie Provides Mid-Winter Feast

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

It's the season for meetings of the Hot Stove League, and with few exceptions all the hunting and fishing going on nowadays takes place in barbershops, sporting goods store and conservation club meetings. Creature comforts are difficult to resist, as the wind blows and snow piles higher.

Rugged ice fishermen are out, mostly on weekends. This is a growing sport in this area, and each year a few more try it. But it's sedentary fishing, and can not take the place of a hike in the snow. Rabbit season is open through January, and this may be the excuse you've been looking for to get outdoors.

If a hunt on a cold winter's day does not tempt you from an easy chair, perhaps a rabbit pie will. All avid sportsmen take great pleasure in preparing fish and game for the table, and a rabbit provides the makings for a mid-winter feast. Here is one recipe you might try:

Cut rabbit into serving pieces. Soak in equal parts vinegar and water for 12 to 24 hours. Drain and wipe dry. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Sear quickly in frying pan. Add water to cover and simmer slowly in covered pot for one to one and one-half hours. Add two onions, two medium-sized carrots and two or three potatoes, all cut into pieces. Cook until vegetables are done. Thicken the stew with flour. Put in greased baking dish and cover top with pie crust. Return to oven and bake until dough is done, about 15 to 20 minutes. Ring the dinner bell.

It is a long time until next fall by any hunter's calendar, and unless you have some game in a freezer you will have to hunt, and hunt quickly, for your dinner. Snow will help you collect a rabbit or two. The white background makes them easy to see as they bound away from brushpiles or other hiding places. Also, rabbits seem to like to sit out in the snow. You can find more of them crouched down in some shelter more often than at other seasons.

The fact that rabbits are our No. 1 game animal has been known for many years. Since they are so common, I'm afraid that a lot of hunters do not prize them. A cock pheasant or some quail have more "trophy value." But when it comes to sport and table fare, Mr. Cottontail takes its rightful place high on the list. We are lucky to have the rabbit.

Now, that wind doesn't seem so cold after all, does it? If you brave the elements, you might very well find me out after a rabbit pie too.

AT JEWISH CENTER

Educators Assemble To Launch Institute

Columbus rabbinate and Ohio State University faculty members will serve on the Jewish Center's new Institute of Jewish Studies faculty which will hold discussions starting Monday evening, Jan. 21, at the Jewish Center, 1125 College-av, according to Walter Robinson, institute committee chairman.

"We are most pleased to assemble a brilliant group of educators," said Robinson, "to help us launch our first institute since 1961."

The institute will be an adult activity of informal education planned to offer "insight and enjoyment by exploring the panorama of Jewish existence," planners said.

During the first three-week session, Monday evenings will be devoted to "What Are Basic Jewish Values?" Rabbi Harry Kaplan, Jewish college youth leader, and Rabbi Martin Kowal, Jewish Theological Seminary of America graduate and former student at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, will lead discussions at the meetings. They will discuss historic Jewish values, their survival in the non-Jewish world and their future in America and Israel.

The topic, "Contemporary Jewish-American Novelists," will be presented by Milton Kessler. He is a teacher, poet and author of "A Road Came Once," a book of poetry to be published later this month. Kessler will introduce, read and discuss the works of Bernard Malamud, Saul Bellow, Phillip Roth and Herman Wouk.

Dr. Mark Lefton, teacher and research specialist in mental health, will speak on "The Jewish Dilemma — Identification," Thursday evenings. Lefton, author of numerous professional publications, will discuss the effects of historic prejudice, discrimination, "second class citizenship" and external influences on the mentality and behavior of Jews in America.

The Institute of Jewish Studies faculty will include Matthew Eli Baigell, Russell R. Dynes, Rabbi Jerome D. Folkman, Rabbi Harry Kaplan, Milton Kessler, Rabbi Martin Kowal, Martin Lefton, Bernard Mehl and Rabbi David Stavsky.

Meetings are open to all interested persons.

The institute committee consists of Dr. Simon Dinitz, Dr. Samuel Globe, Mrs. Bernard Yenkin, Benjamin Zox, Dr. Norman Shiff, Dr. George Ornstein, Mrs. Harold Kayne, Richard G. Fisher, Dr. Martin Keller and Walter Robinson, chairman.

Capital Rug Cleaning Enters 75th Year

The Capital Rug Cleaning Co., 366 Zimpfer-st, will celebrate its 75th anniversary this year.

The firm was founded by Gustav Poenisch, grandfather of present owner, Richard O. Poenisch, in 1888. Since that time it has specialized in rug and furniture cleaning, remodeling and repairing rugs and pads, dyeing and wrapping rugs for storage.

Capital also offers carpeting installation, and has portable equipment for in-the-home carpet cleaning.

Gustav Poenisch, a rug weaver in Germany, came to America in the late 1800's to establish the business. At the time there were only three rug cleaning establishments in Columbus.

In 1923 Gustav's three sons, Otto, Oscar and Fred, took over the company. Originally known as Gustav Poenisch Sons, the name was changed to Capital in the mid-1920's. Richard joined the organization in 1949 and assumed control in 1954. Since that time he has been assisted by his wife, Mary.

Today the firm offers county-wide pick up and delivery service, free estimates, unconditional guarantees on its work, and complete insurance coverage.

When a newlywed stopped the milk man to pay him, she said: "I hope you keep your cows in a pasture." Of course we keep them in a pasture," replied the milk man. "I'm so glad," said the bride, "I've been told that pasteurized milk is the best."

'Festival of Lights' Planned at St. Paul's

L. Craig Bergman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Bergman, 895 Ruby-av, will play the role of Great Candle Bearer in the "Festival of Lights" service, commemorating the season of the Epiphany, to be presented for the 48th time Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 787 E. Broad-st.

The traditional service is the only known American duplicate of the ceremony held at London's Westminster Abbey.

The service here originated after one of the congregation, the late George C. Dunbar, witnessed the feast at Westminster Abbey. He helped organize a replica of the ceremony upon returning home.

The cassocks and cottas he purchased from an ecclesiastical costumer in London are still being used in the present service.

He also imported special crosses and banners, and later bought in France a gold wire-embroidered cape, lined with red satin, for the rector to wear.

Rev. Robert Lee Bull, Jr., rector of St. Paul's, explains that each candle used in the feast has great significance. The great candle stands for Christ, the light of the world.

The 12 lesser candles, placed in the form of the cross during part of the service, represents the light spread by the 12 apostles. Candles of the choir stand for the Christian churches.

The service is conducted by the rector and Rev. F. Allyn Walker, assistant minister.

Kenneth Fosnaugh is director, assisted by Charles Slagle, Mike Thompson, Robert Tinklepaugh and Frederick W. Wright.

Also taking part in the service will be Jack White, first crucifier; Fred White, Jr. and Mike Broome, first taperbearers; Bill Munyon, second crucifier; Doug Bergman and Ricky Tully, second taperbearers.

Bruce Walker, third crucifier; Jay Altmaier and Logan Schultz, third taper-bearers; Tom Brown, American flag, and Jerry Claggett, church flag.

Portraying the apostles will be Fred Elder, Newman Smith, Tommy Williams, Lester Gardner, Marshall Smith, Jr., Stephen Prout, Artie Cosler, Fred Schultz, Lorenzo Baker III, Paul Claggett, Lacie Walker and T. J. Wright.

Walking with the rector will be Doug Kennedy, Gregg Hamilton, Jack Launer and Chuckie Slagle.

Dear friends,

A Radiant CLEAN LIFE

The housewife cleans her home until it shines with a radiance that gives contentment and joy to those who view it.

It pleases God to see our lives clean and wholesome. We all need help, to keep our lives clean. David prayed to God for help in this matter. "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me."

Lean upon the Lord. Seek his help and he will not deny it. Attend church this Sunday and let your life be centered in the Lord.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

News Boy First 'Cupid' Contributor

TOM PRICE

Tom Price, 805 Lawsdale av, was the first contributor to Hartley Newspapers' giant Cupid edition to be distributed Feb. 6-7.

A South Side Leader carrier boy for the past five years, Tom, 14, takes the attitude "the papers must be delivered."

Last June he suffered a broken ankle and enlisted the help of his sister to help distribute the Leader. Several weeks ago, when both he and his sister became ill, his mother, with the help of a South Side businessman (who is one of Tom's customers) delivered the papers.

Tom is active in Scout Troop 511 and enjoys writing as a hobby. The poem he contributed was written as a tribute to his customers.

Hartley Newspapers' circulation manager Jack Schluep said Tom is one of the outstanding carriers in the city.

HINTERLANDS SEEK RECOGNITION

Suburban Press Called New Communications Skyrocket

By JERRY WOLFROM
Business Editor

A year ago when two giant Los Angeles newspapers ceased operations, so-called experts in mass communications were quick to say, "I told you so — the newspaper business in America is anemic and swiftly becoming a secondary news vehicle."

Apparently these "experts" overlooked one item in making their rash generalizations —the suburban press, truly a modern mass communications skyrocket.

In the Los Angeles area where the two newspapers with a total circulation of more than a half-million collapsed, 27 suburban newspapers are thriving.

In the past 10 years, the number of dailies in the United States has shrunk from 1761 to 1731, but in the same period the number of suburban newspapers has increased by 2000!

Suburban papers are finding their popularity going higher each week. Residents of Suburbia are clamoring for more local news. They want to know who's who in local government; they are interested in tax levies and municipal issues; and they like to know what their neighbors are doing. Suburbanites ask that two-paragraph stories in large dailies be supplemented.

Separate Entities

The potential growth of the press in the suburbs is staggering. As decentralization continues at a record rate accompanied by super-high ways, airports, offices, industrial plants, and shopping centers, suburbs are becoming more self-sufficient. As separate entities, each slowly is acquiring a separate identification.

These communities represent more growing pains, more news, more social, economic, and political problems than any other geographic area. There are decisions to be made and the suburban press, once merely a bulletin board, is rising to help explain and solve the problems.

Marketing Changed

Not to be overlooked is the changing marketing pattern. Food chains, especially, are becoming less and less identified with the central city. Marketing is becoming more selective because of new purchasing habits dictated by the exodus to the outlying areas.

The suburban press is an effective contact with this exploding market. This communications medium provides the information and leadership necessary to help suburbanites understand, appreciate and adjust to a different way of life.

"In booming communities, weeklies are becoming dailies, and weeklies are being established to fill the gaps left by metropolitan dailies," commented Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times.

Professional Journalism

With the demise of the dailies comes an expanding pool of professional newsmen who are discovering the suburban press. One Ohio publisher recently reported a flood of job applications from men with [illegible] and 30 years' experience, all left jobless by folding newspapers in Cleveland, Detroit, and Pittsburgh.

With this influx of professional journalists suburban newspapers swiftly are adding quality and depth to their editorial format. For 13 million households there is no substitute for the suburban press.

It is estimated that by 1970 at least 70 per cent of our population will live in what is now the hinterlands.

With this in mind, it can correctly be assumed that today's suburban newspapers have hardly scratched the surface in this "new journalism."

Well - balanced editorials, civic boosterism, human interest features, personalized as well as "hard" news, and responsible coverage of "hot" controversies are only a few areas in which suburban newspapers will excel in the immediate future.

WEATHER SIGN An icicle is one sign that real winter cold has arrived. Another is when you notice it takes more heat to keep you comfortable inside the house.

To provide this extra warmth your gas furnace works longer and harder. During the winter months, and especially during severe cold, you will be using more natural gas to heat your home. Your gas bill will be higher.

To meet winter demands your gas company has developed a precisely engineered delivery system. That's why so many people in this area can enjoy the comfort and convenience of gas heat for their homes — no matter how cold the weather.

Give Generously . . To Help Prevent Crippling Diseases

Every dollar you give helps to protect human life through scientific research, helps to give dignity to lives shattered by polio, arthritis, certain birth defects.

Help speed the New March of Dimes on its way to solving two other great medical problems with the same skills that were brought to bear against polio and produced the Salk and Sabin vaccines . . . on its way to do the job that needs doing against birth defects and arthritis.

You gave, and your dimes made polio prevention possible. But what about those who already suffer from polio or from arthritis, birth defects?

Give . . . to help the thousands of polio victims still fighting disability. Give . . . to support research for causes and cures, study and treatment of arthritis, birth defects. Give generously!

RAPID READING and word study is one of the courses offered at Central Evening High to meet popular demand. Charles H. Thompson, 622 Wrexham-av, teacher and reading specialist, explains to students the charts he keeps on each, showing their rate of reading and comprehension progress. From left are, Elizabeth Gurney, director, School of Practical Nursing; Paul F. Wiese, 1788 Weiler-av, teacher of the beginning course; Thompson; Kermit Bailey, inspector Jeffrey Manufacturing Co.; Fred Cordts, who will enter Ohio State University in the spring quarter, and Mary Ann Fabyan, who will enter Miami University in February.

Improved, Enlarged Curriculum Ready For New Evening High School Term

Anyone interested in completing high school, or in continuing education, will find almost unlimited opportunities in the subjects offered at Evening High School.

The school is operated in the Central High School Building, 75 S. Washington-blvd. Most classes meet one period on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, and a few meet for three periods on Monday or Wednesday evenings only.

Registrations will be received Thursday, Jan. 24, and Monday, Jan. 28, 5:45 to 9 p.m., at the school. The semester will begin Tuesday, Jan. 29.

A variety of courses in the fields of English, sciences, languages, social studies, mathematics and business, including accounting, are listed.

Two newest courses in the curriculum are creative writing and great literature.

The popular word study and rapid reading course is designed to step up reading ability and increase vocabulary, reading speed and understanding. It also improves spelling.

The program contains readings from eighth to 14th grade levels, and through it the rate of speed is increased, and comprehension skills and vocabulary are improved.

Those interested may call the Evening School at CA. 4-3243. G. B. Newton is principal.

Jewish Center Starts Ballet, Judo Courses, Fencing Club Forms

A new series of two ballet courses is slated on Tuesday, Jan. 22 at the Jewish Center, 1125 College-av.

An intermediate group will meet at 4 p.m. and beginners group at 5:15 p.m.

Both courses will run for ten weeks. Tatjania Smith, well known Columbus ballet instructor, will again be in charge of both courses.

Mrs. Smith, born in Russia, began her formal ballet training at the age of six, studying under such internationally famous ballet instructors as Elena Polyakova and Nina Kisanova.

She worked with the Belgrade National Opera for fifteen years, seven years as a soloist and eight years as a prima ballerina and has performed in such famous ballets as the Nut Cracker and Swan Lake.

Mrs. Smith also instructed ballet in Trieste, Italy. Her instruction is in classical ballet, using internationally known terminology.

The fee for such course is $15 for Jewish Center members payable upon registration.

Further information may be obtained by calling Howard Banchefsky at BE. 1-2731.

JUDO COURSES

The second session of the Jewish Center Judo program is slated to start on Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 7 p.m.

A new set of foam rubber mats guarantee an "easier" way to go for participants.

Jim Paxton, Jewish Center Judo instructor, will work with boys and girls ages 10 and up in this program.

Paxton concentrates on physical conditioning, falls and self defense.

The course will be composed of eight one-hour sessions. Fee is $4 for Jewish Center members.

Further information may be obtained by calling Howard Banchefsky, at BE. 1-2731.

FENCING CLUB

The Physical Education Department of the Jewish Center, 1125 College-av, is forming a club for people interested in fencing.

Call Howard Banchefsky at BE. 1-2731 for further information.

WANTS "VACATION"

Don Watson hates swamps. The 5109 Teddy-dr property owner in the East Side said he would ask City Council to vacate a dedicated portion of Teddy-dr east of Gertrude-rd because it's nothing but "mud and water." Says, too, he didn't get any satisfaction from contacting the city on the matter. He's still waiting on a phone call from them supposed to be made last September, he says.

TANZILLO AT CENTER

Frank Tanzillo, 19, son of Mrs. Hope E. Stein of 239 Ross-rd, is undergoing nine weeks of basic recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

INSTANT RESULTS

The Whitehall Democratic Club took out an advertisement in this paper last week to seek candidates for political offices in that suburb. The day after the ad appeared (Friday), Hugh T. Parker, 389 Collingwood-av, took out a petition for First Ward Councilman. Parker is a retired North American Aviation employe and a 17-year Whitehall resident.

ACTIVE RETIREE

Col. Paul E. Haines, USA, retired, 1156 S. Cassingham-rd, a member of the administration staff of Capital University, has been elected president of the Retired Officers Club of Columbus.

TO REMODEL STOREROOM

Don Casto, 42 S. Fourth-st, has received a building permit to remodel a frame storeroom at 832 S. Hamilton-rd. Valuation is $1,500. Buckeye Optical Co., 3410 Cleveland-av, is the contractor.

TO BUILD DWELLINGS

J. E. Metcalf Builders, Inc., 1047 Bernhard-rd, has received building permits to construct two one-story frame dwellings on Devonhurst-rd. Valuation of the structures is $17,000 each.

TO REVIEW CASE

County Prosecutor Earl W. Allison will take the long-delayed Andred Koscho slaying case to an all-day session of the grand jury on Jan. 22, he said Saturday. Koscho, 38, of 4197 Powell-av, has been free under $1,000 bond since Oct. 20, one day after he admitted he killed his wife on Dec. 22, 1961, and buried her body on the Boys Industrial School grounds.

Bexley Residents Say Traffic Situation Not Good On Gould

The Spectator
By C. C. Hartley

Public Vs. Private Utility Service

We have long been advocates of private business handling all jobs pertaining to the welfare of the public insofar as is possible.

It was interesting to note that the development of Telstar seemed to be headed in the direction of government control. It is hoped that any benefits forthcoming will come via private business operation. It will be necessary if the utmost in accomplishment is to be realized and passed on to our people.

Back in 1920 the telephone companies started installing dial phones. Now the automatic phone system is spread from coast to coast and the company employs 2½ times as many people as back in 1920.

In this same time the post office has made so very few improvements in handling the mail that it stands out as the prime example to demonstrate the merits of the private system over that of the government operated program.

Today we are all paying another penny for the delivery of a letter. This price can and will go higher unless something is done to reduce actual costs of handling the mail. This can come about only through the use of greater mechanization of the system.

It would appear that this country needs a postal system as modern as the rest of the country. We have good men in the postal service. But they need the proper tools for their profession.

'Eye Sore' Building Tift Brews

A battle over a building termed an "eyesore" by Whitehall officials is brewing this week.

The issue was brought to the attention of this newspaper when Robbie Review, the Hartley Newspaper civic improvement expert, reported that the building — located at Beechwood and E. Main-st — was in a run-down condition.

Whitehall Service Director Robert Mickey reported Wednesday that the building department had ordered the owner, Earl M. Wolfe, to tear down the structure and said it had been condemned.

Wolfe, irate over the order, placed the blame on the Whitehall Police Department and criticized them for not "protecting" the building. He added that vandals had "virtually destroyed it so that it is now unrentable."

H. J. McBride, of the Whitehall police force, said he remembers hearing "complaints" of vandalism in the area but added, "no one filed any formal complaints" that would indicate legal action.

Wolfe said one of the reasons that building department officials ordered the building unsafe was that they had seen people sleeping on the prem-

ROBBIE REVIEW, the Hartley Newspapers' civic improvement expert spotted this run-down building at the corner of E. Main-st and Beechwood-rd. Whitehall Building Department officials say they've condemned it but the owner Earl Wolfe, places the blame on vandals and says he doesn't plan to tear it down. As it now stands, it's a definite eye sore and Robbie hopes some settlement will be reached soon.

Whitehall's Student Council 'Adopts' Viet Nam Youth

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Whitehall High School's never-say-"diet" student council has "bitten" off another main course project this week.

Mrs. Luella Compton, faculty advisor, reports that students there have "adopted" a Vietnamese boy through Foster Parents' Plan.

Reportedly, it's the first time a student council anywhere has carried out such an undertaking, although several schools across the country — as a body — have done it.

The boy, which a Foster Parents' news release describes as "thin and pale but very ambitious," is named Pham Van Be, a second grade student who "wants to be a teacher."

Although this is a student council project, Mrs. Compton reports that the entire student body is urged to lend hands in the effort. She explained that financial contributions for "special holiday boxes and birthday presents" would be welcomed.

The council has paid the necessary $180 for his basic support. Besides the planned packages, the council will post information about Pham on the bulletin board so that students will have some material for writing letters to the youth.

The project is part of the council's desire for "international understanding," Mrs. Compton added.

The case history of "Whitehall's boy" is anything but en-

Eastern Jaycees Cancel 'Young Man' Award Plans

Eastern Jaycee President M. Rogers Vien announced this week that plans to pick a "Young Man of the Year" in East Columbus has been cancelled.

"We had hoped for a greater response from the civic-minded individuals and firms in our area," Vien said in making the announcement. He reported that he received "only a few" nominations for the honor.

Roland Gilbert, chairman for the event, added "We'll keep our surplus nomination forms to use again next year. Maybe we will have more nominations then."

East Siders Nominated By Jaycees

The ten "Outstanding Young Men" of the Greater Columbus area have been announced by the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce. All will be honored at the annual Jaycee Distinguished Service Award Banquet Saturday, Jan. 26, at the Fort Hayes Hotel.

One of the ten will be named "Outstanding Young Man."

East Side residents nominated are:

- Robert Lazarus, Jr., 35, 2094 Parkhill-dr, is vice-president and general manager basement store, F. & R. Lazarus Co. Lazarus is a member of the Board of Trustees

St. Mary's To Receive Funds

The College of St. Mary of the Sorines will share in over $1,000,000 in unrestricted gifts from "corporate citizens" contributing funds through the Ohio Association of Independent Colleges.

Sister M. Angelita, O.P., president, reports that St. Mary's share, based on autumn full time enrollment, is $22,810. Through the distribution at the end of last school year, the college had received a total of $159,949 since the beginning of its affiliation with OFIC.

Although this report covers the calendar year, St. Mary's share may run as much as 10 per cent higher, since distribution will be made for the fiscal year ending May 31, instead of the calendar year.

Bexley residents let loose some of their emotions Tuesday night during regular session of the city's council and lashed out against a proposed move by the City Traffic Department to reverse Gould-rd stop signs.

Some 20 residents jammed into the small Bexley council chambers and, armed with petitions, sought a settlement to the prospective problem which they claim will "endanger children," among other things.

Columbus Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher in a letter to the solons listed the reasons why his office decided to reverse the signs which, as they stand now, cause motorists to stop at Bryden and Dale-rds when traveling on Gould.

A reversal would mean that motorists would stop at Gould when traveling on either Bryden or Dale. This, then, would make Gould a through street and carry, by law, a 35-mile speed limit. It's posted with Bexley signs now at 25 m.p.h.

Gallagher's main reason for reversing the signs was that the "bulk of the traffic" uses Gould—not Bryden or Dale.

Spokesman for the residents was Marvin Brown, a Gould-rd resident and reportedly an "award-winning writer on traffic safety."

Brown said that the need is not for fewer signs on Gould but, rather, for more.

"If the stop signs were taken off Gould," he pointed out, "drivers would abandon any caution they're now using and make a speedway out of the thoroughfare."

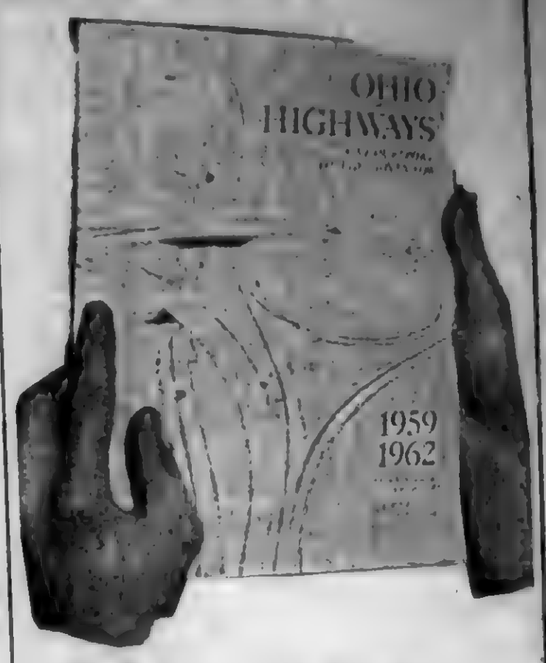
Singer Spicer Sets Concert At Capital

The performer known to have the reputation of singing "Frankie and Johnny" better than anyone on the concert stage will appear at Capital University's Mees Hall on Lincoln's birthday.



Baritone balladeer Earle Spicer, considered to be "the most re-engaged singer by colleges," is scheduled for an 8 p.m. performance Feb. 12, under the auspices of the university's Concert-Lecture Series.

Spicer is also a trained concert singer who has sung Bach, Handel and Mozart.

Along with his program, Spicer usually engages his audience in an entertaining Shakespeare "quiz."

Spicer has been engaged for a total of 1,250 performances at 470 colleges in 47 states. This will be his first appearance at Capital.

Ticket information may be obtained by writing the Office of Public Information, Capital University, Bexley 9.

'WASTE OF MONEY'

Highway Department Book Frowned Upon By Administration

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Many eyebrows in the cut-expense-conscious new state administration are raised this week over some governmental spending done during the last reign of power.

Case in point is a 247-page paper back book entitled "Ohio Department of Highways Four-Year Report to the Governor," bearing the name of former Highway Director E. S. Preston and directed to Ex-Governor Michael V. DiSalle.

The booklet was attacked by both the present Highway Director P. E. Masheter and Governor James Rhodes' administrative assistant, Dean Jauchius.

Total cost of the project was reported at $8,732.35. The highway department was provided 5,000 copies.

"They were given pretty wide circulation," Masheter pointed out. "One went to each of the highway officials in the 50 states, a copy went to the Better Highways Information Corp. in Washington and all public sub-division, county, city and state officials received one. In addition, all public libraries were supplied with one and a number of copies went to the Ohio Contractors Association."

Still, Masheter said that some 240 of them were left over and are now stored in the highway office at 450 E. Town-st.

"This administration is opposed to it completely," Jauchius said. "It was obviously done in an effort to exhaust available surpluses in the Finance Department and put out for political purposes."

Jauchius also pointed out that it "duplicates a job done at private expense" which covers basically the same material.

Masheter said that his office is "still studying" the contents of the booklet to see if it "took credit" for work done by him while he was director of Design and Construction up until 1959. The book says that it covers 1959 to 1962.

The printing date listed on the back cover reads Dec. 31, 1962. It reached the offices of most press media throughout the state with a Jan. 8, 1963 postmark.

"It's certainly a waste of public money," said Masheter, who added that his department may have problems getting out any reports at all due to "the financial position we've been left in."

Masheter, who also termed the book a "propaganda report," said that he hadn't gone over one section of it — entitled "Looking Ahead To 1980" — to see if it agreed with the program he plans to pursue.

A statute in the Ohio Revised Code provides that each state department publish an annual report on its progress. Jauchius said that the Highway Department had published annual reports during the last four years and that this book represented an "unnecessary rehash."

The professional-looking book contains a number of pictures and includes a 177-page "Appendix" listing every county in the state and the projects done by the previous administration in each.

Besides this, there are five "pull out" double-page maps in the back which depicts such items as "Scenic Highways" and "Correction of Accident-Prone Portions."

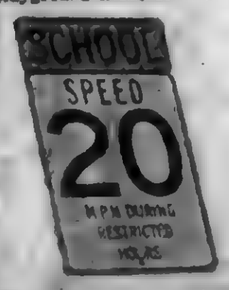
Ex-Highway Director Preston was vacationing in Puerto Rico this week and unavailable for comment on the project. Former Governor DiSalle could not be reached, either, at his Park Towers apartment address.

Let's See Now... Thirty Days Hath September And It's Now 8:24½ a.m., and... Oh, Boy!

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A calendar and a stop watch would be helpful and, if you're a traffic engineer that's all the better—when it comes to traveling through school zones marked with the traditional sign saying "During Restricted Hours Only."

Actualy, City Traffic Engineer Jack Gallagher even had some trouble interpreting a portion of the state law regarding those "restricted hours."



The law reads: "20 miles per hour when passing a school building or the grounds thereof during school recess and while children are going to or leaving school during the opening or closing hours when appropriate signs giving notice of the existence of a school are erected."

In case you're not a Philadelphia lawyer, this passage —when interpreted—plainly indicates that there are times when you can ignore that 20-mile per hour limit in school zones and still be within the law.

It's deciding when those times occur that might cause you an executive-sized headache.

For example, that word recess is about as dated now as high-buttoned shoes, Gallagher theorized. "The changing times have created this defect," he pointed out.

"Back when the law was put on the books," Gallagher continued, "recess time meant that children would be playing near the street area. All Columbus schools have chain-link fences and playground areas back from the road. Recess now is confined to these 'safe' areas."

So much for recess. The "restricted hours," when school opens and closes are not actually hours at all. They're 20-minute periods according to Gallagher. That is, you must observe the 20 mph limit 20 minutes before school opens in the morning and 20 minutes after it lets out at night.

This wouldn't be so bad except for the fact that the Columbus School Board doesn't start school until the odd time of 8:45 a.m. This means that (taking 20 minutes from 8:45) you'll be expected to slow down beginning at 8:25 a.m.

School lets out at 3:30 p.m. and the 20-mph limit is in effect until 3:50 p.m. See?

Now then, you can forget the 20 mph signs if a couple of classes are walking from the school on, say, a nature

IN DEFENSE OF THE CUBE . . .

by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

A great deal of interest was generated on this page last March when Hartley Newspapers published a speech, "Who Is Tampering With 'The Soul Of America?'," by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune.

Jones will speak in Columbus this Friday (Jan. 25) at noon in the Ohio Union. He is appearing at the invitation of the Clintonville Women's Club. Reservations already are closed.

Readers who have asked to hear more from Jones should enjoy this condensation of a talk he gave last October at the national gathering of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society. The speech, in part, was a rejoinder to a letter protesting Jones' part in the program. The letter, and Jones' speech (abridged) as published in Sigma Delta Chi's magazine "The Quill," follow:

In the October issue of Sigma Delta Chi's magazine, The Quill, there appeared the following letter, and I quote it in its entirety:

"Why has Jenkin Lloyd Jones been invited to give the keynote speech at the Sigma Delta Chi convention? For laughs?

"Are we going to take a place alongside the American Society of Newspaper Editors in displaying the miserable state of the American press? Are we going to settle for cliches and stereotyped thinking?

"Why do we have to settle for a man who has become a hero by coming out against sin and for (legitimate) motherhood?

"As a member of Sigma Delta Chi, I protest the selection.

(Signed) Elwood W. Landis
Mt. Pleasant, Mich."

It's flattering to learn that I have become a hero, although the word apparently hasn't yet reached Oklahoma. But since your convention committee doubtless felt too embarrassed to withdraw their invitation at that late date, I suppose Brother Landis' letter might just as well serve as a text for my brief remarks.

Alas, it is true. Perhaps it is a symptom of creeping decrepitude, but as I have grown older I have grown increasingly intolerant of many forms of sin. And legitimate motherhood looks better all the time.

In short, you are looking upon a square John, a cube, a cornball, one who is plainly not with it. And I am d—— glad I'm not with it. Because it seems to me that the man in the communications business who has achieved a state of complete tolerance or complete cynicism is a zombie.

There is, of course, what might be called the police reporter syndrome. Many of us went through it in our callow youths. It is heady wine for any youngster to be on speaking terms with all the madames in town. It marks you as a man of the world and you hope people will forget that you only have to shave every other day.

Your girl might be impressed if you point out the local hoodlums and talk sneeringly and knowingly to the effect that every office holder has his price. You are a man above the thundering moralists. You are a commentator of vast sophistication and great tolerance. You look upon the strugglings of men from a high eminence and you observe the scene with a yawn or a curled lip. At least, that was me—once.

And then a few great truths gradually began to dawn. The more I thought about it the more I realized that the average madame is not particularly glamorous and her average employe is so stupid and so ungifted that she can't even qualify as a dancer in a burlesque. And if you are a burlesque buff you know how little talent it takes to qualify.

Most hoodlums are bums with over-inflated egos and a spastic understanding of the rights of others. The only truly interesting people in any penitentiary are that tiny minority with good minds who, due to a rare twist of fate or a twist of personality, have wound up on the wrong end of the chase. The majority of penitentiary inmates are sad individuals who due to laziness or congenital inadequacy will not or cannot compete with honest men.

As I grew older in the newspaper business I kept meeting what, in my immaturity I had denied existed, namely, pretty sincere politicians. And I met a lot of politicians who would have been more honest if the public, and, parenthetically, the press had been more inclined to cry out at sleazy practices and to praise dedicated public service.

In the hospital emergency rooms I came to be less cynical about doctors. In the jungles of Africa I learned not to sneer quite so readily at missionaries.

On a Navy aircraft carrier I used to watch the young pilots lying on their bunks staring silently at the overhead on the nights before the strikes. You knew they were wondering who wouldn't come back. Some of them didn't, including my roommate. As Brother Landis might point out, the boys suffered from stereotyped thinking. They were full of The Stars and Stripes Forever, and gung ho for victory, and all that jazz. They were also scared, but they laid their lives on the line. . .

My friend, Brother Landis, has warned you that I may say something against sin. I certainly shall. But first, let's see if we can get an intelligent definition of sin. Sin is not the violation of a man-made code, because men can make errors. The code in every dictatorship forbids a citizen from speaking out in an effort to correct his rulers. Few of us in this room would consider this a sin. Custom among peoples forbids the eating of animal flesh on Friday or the consumption of pork at any time or permitting the shadow of an untouchable to fall upon one's food.

Let us not confuse custom with sin. So-called moral codes are subject to widely-conflicting human interpretations. In Puritan New England it was a sin to wear a silver buckle, and among many Eskimo tribes you commit sin if you do not lend your wife to the stranger staying overnight. Let's forget these puzzlements.

I would like to define sin as that behavior which endangers human happiness and smothers that which is best in human beings.

The case of legitimate motherhood was made long before Moses brought the tablets down from Mt. Sinai. For primitive human beings discovered, quite pragmatically I'm sure, that those who produced children without assuming the responsibility for their support and their training endangered the convenience and the welfare of all who did assume that responsibility.

That is why I look with something less than enthusiasm upon a relief system that subsidizes illegitimacy. I am unmoved by the plea among the welfare staters that illegitimacy is not the child's fault. Of course it isn't the child's fault. The child must be cared for. But in our own self-protection we may soon find it necessary to remove the children from disorderly houses and stop the subsidies of these brood sows who call themselves mothers. . .

Let me make it plain that I am no admirer of the perpetual and professional angry young man. If you are going to stay righteously indignant all the time you are soon driven to misinterpreting people's motives in order to keep your anger at white heat. Before long you lose touch with reality altogether.

And we should avoid, as a plague, the "liberal" or "conservative" self-image. I am saddened when young reporters look upon themselves as liberals or conservatives, for this means that they have checked their brains. They will put on colored glasses of one hue or another in an attempt to make their image of the world conform to what they regard as their philosophies.

When old John Nance Garner used to retire to his capitol office with some of his cronies for a short snort he used to say as he tilted the bottle, "Let us strike a blow for freedom."

I can't think of a better motto for the modern American journalist. Freedom implies the right to do as we will, provided that in so doing we don't abridge the general welfare. True freedom is not the freedom to make a left turn from a right hand lane. This imposes an unnecessary peril. It threatens the freedom of movement of others by a needless and heedless act.

Similarly, freedom is not a license to commit murder or robbery or even libel, nor is it the freedom to live in idleness on the fruits of the work of other men. These manifestations of irresponsibility make life less secure or less happy for men of good intentions. We must find freedom somewhere in the middle zone between the approaching welfare state which crushes liberty with the plea that it is dedicated to the security of all, and the 19th Century laissez-faire state in which the powerful and the able rode rough-shod over the weak and the slow-witted.

To achieve sensible positions on these issues requires the exercise of brainpower. They will not be achieved by formula thinking. We will be sad communicators, indeed, if new ideas and the realization of changing conditions can only batter their way into our brains over the quivering bodies of our "liberal" or "conservative" preconceptions.

We will serve very little if we worship either the novel or the old. Our aim should simply be the promotion of those attitudes and institutions and behaviors which will lead to the greater effectiveness and, ultimately, to the greater happiness of the human animal.

If we are in the communications business for any other purpose we will be, not artisans, but mere mechanics and we will miss all the fun.

Reader Takes Issue With McPeek, Letter

To The Editor:

In reference to reader Emma Johnson's letter praising John McPeek's article "Fear Knowledge and You Block Truth," I would agree that Jesus would never have used force — physical force, that is.

However, I believe that in giving us the Ten Commandments we are bound by force of conscience to obey them. He gave us no alternative.

In answer to the question "Are we obligated to obey the Commandments of God?" Bishop Morrow explains in his book, "My Catholic Faith," the following: "God has imprinted the substance of the Ten Commandments in the human heart and mind, and they have therefore binding force. Even if they had never been revealed, we should still be obliged to keep them, for they are dedicated by reason, and taught by natural law."

I too, read John McPeek's article with much interest, but not with much pleasure. He readily admits that the book, "Tropic of Cancer," contains much obscene filth, but implies that reading one illuminating passage justifies wading through 50 pages of smut.

It would seem to me that a quote from "The Sermon on the Mount" which you published last year in your paper would apply here, i.e., "Do men gather grapes from thorns, or figs from thistles? Even so, every good tree bears good fruit, but the bad tree bears bad fruit A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit."

Frosting On The Cake

By

"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Show me any man or woman who is "having the time of his life," doing the best he can at something he would rather do than anything else in this world, and I will show you a sane, happy, oriented individual who has "found that magic and priceless something that puts colors in the rainbow instead of bunions on the soul."

Show me a man or woman who lives simply and wisely in matters of good health habits, sane and modest diet, and — above all else — ownership of some Faith greater than any self-possessed powers of mortal wisdom. I will show you men and women who are getting some "frosting on the cake."

They are young for their years and don't weigh too much, or suffer from hypertension or insomnia because because they are at peace with themselves and the world. They are "in the world" but not of it or seduced into folly by the hypocritical pretenses that pass for success and STATUS today.

If millions of otherwise fine people would just stop saying things that hurt other humans, what a sweet world it would be. Thousands of marriages every year are winding up in bitterness and violence (and in the divorce courts) solely because one or both marriage partners never learn how to take the vinegar out of his voice.

No wonder millions of people have ulcers and migraine headaches and "fluttery tickers" solely because they have never learned how to control their feelings. Such people are always being slighted, or insulted by someone who would be nobody if he didn't have money. Keeping up with the Joneses is the most insane mania that ever enslaved this yet-free land. Morbid self-consciousness has become almost a mass psychosis today for millions of people who are still "adult infants" in mental capacity or emotional maturity. There is a way out, work, faith, love, infinite patience, and finally, growing up!

Must Guard Morals

To The Editor:

Congratulations to you for the article your papers carried about the smut movies. I thought the article by John Auble, Jr., was very timely and well presented, and I know that you did a tremendous service to our community when you published this article for the public. I only hope that it lights a fire that will burn the obscene movies off the screen.

—Clark P. Pritchett, M.D.

Stamp Fan Speaks

In answer to John McPeek's article of last week concerning trading stamps:

Who is gullible, the man or the woman? Not all women, but a great many get comforts for the home with trading stamps that their penny-pinching husbands deny them and at the same time enjoy. In that way they needn't humiliate themselves or expose the fact they are married to such a stupid ox. Why put up with it?

Stamp Licker

'Article Is Service'

John McPeek stated in his article "Fear Knowledge and You Block Truth" that he hates "all who have the unmitigated gall to set themselves up as 'protectors' of their neighbors," and Emma Johnston reiterated his thoughts by saying "no Christian would set himself up as keeper of his brother's morals."

Mr. McPeek might just as well have said he hates all who have the unmitigated gall to tell us we must give our fair share to the United Appeal, or that it is our duty to fight polio, cancer, heart disease, etc., or that the standard of living of those living in slum areas must be raised, or that we must aid underdeveloped countries by giving them foreign aid.

I do not understand how one can be unconcerned about his neighbor's moral well-being and at the same time have an almost insatiable desire to alleviate all the physical and material ills in the world. History has proven that the material and physical well-being of man do not alone constitute the answer to peace of mind and heart.

To have genuine charity toward our fellow man we must consider his moral well-being.

Editors Perpetuate Work Of Astrologers

For shame!

What is it with my journalistic brethren who labor in the magazine vineyards?

McPeek

In recent weeks they have launched a concerted attack (obviously inspired by some evil force) upon newspapers' starry-eyed astrologers — the official keyhole-peepers into the "House of Life."

Tumbling almost one upon the other, they have been dashing off tongue-clucking exposes on the duplicity of America's newspapers in pandering to the public's desire to be hoodwinked.

Apparently basing their malicious accusations on facts in the encyclopedia which term astrology as "one of man's oldest superstitions, practiced only by quacks," they charge that it is a multi-million-dollar racket.

Righteous editors stoutly deny this vicious charge, contending that astrology columns are amusement features, not taken seriously by readers . . . at least not most readers.

I don't know about that! I for one am four-square behind the astrologers. Nobody who has been in business as many centuries as they have could be entirely disreputable . . .. could they? After all they were going great way back in ancient Babylonia. By the Fourth Century B.C. they had become the darlings of the Greeks. And it wasn't much later that the Indians and Chinese got into the act with their own astrologers.

But there was a spell in the early days when it looked like the astrologers had had it. That was when many of the Babylonia priests went off on a liver kick. Inasmuch as liver contained life's blood, the priests naturally figured it also contained the answers to life's problems.

So they took to studying the contours and bumps on the livers of sacrificial animals to ascertain the will and intention of the gods.

But it was a messy task at best and within a few centuries lost favor with many finicky customers who strayed back to the more tidy stargazers. And any chance that hepatoscopy (official name of the liver prognosticating business) had for a comeback went down the slaughterhouse drain with the advent of packaged meats and today's high prices.

(A few years ago there was some talk that A&P was considering inserting fortune cookie-type messages in their packaged livers, but nothing came of it).

Unlike most astrology disciples who have one favorite swami, I enlist the aid of three. Why be one-third safe?

That way I can heed the astrologer whose advice is the most appealing.

For instance, take today. One of the local papers advises those born under the sign of Gemini (that's me) that "there is vast opportunity for romance today." Well, right off I can see this guy won't be of much help because it's been two days since my wife has spoken to me, and the last time we tried to balance our joint checking account she didn't speak to me for four days.

A Chicago paper's soothsayer cautions: "Avoid wishful thinking, don't jump at overtures from strange women." That obviously cancels out the first advice in total.

So I'm left with only the other local paper's oracle who warns: "What you want to convey today may not be easy, but this should not deter you."

Furthermore, it's too late to go get another out-of-town newspaper.

Where Shall I Look? Psalms Have Answer

Unto Thee Lift I Up Mine Eyes, O Thou That Dwellest In The Heavens; Psalms 123:1.

A few nights ago bells rang and whistles blew, to mark the end of 1962 and the beginning of 1963. The hour which ties two years together found more people engaged in merriment than any other single hour of the year.

Why must that be . . . ?

Rev. Payden

It is very evident that the world would like to forget something. It arranges loud parties, in the hope of drowning out the quiet whisper of an approaching eternity.

"Time flies on silent wings." That silence becomes oppressive for those who fear eternity. But, time waits for no man. We see it in the faces of friends whom we have not met for some time; they are older. We see it in every falling leaf and every drooping flower. We are reminded of it every time a merchant hands us a new calendar. Whenever the Bible refers to the passing of time, it speaks in solemn words. God wants us to think serious thoughts whenever the truth forces itself upon our attention, that "we spend our years as a tale that is told."

What kind of thoughts does God want us to think? On the basis of the first verse of Psalm 123 and with Annie Johnson Flint's beautiful poem as a guide, we ask, "Where shall I look at the turning of the year . . .?"

On that New Year's evening you and I wrote the last words of another chapter in our life's record. That midnight we placed the last period after the last sentence. When I take this last chapter and read it with Jesus looking over my shoulder, there are certain sentences I am ashamed of. I have made many mistakes in 1962; many good and noble deeds that I might have done to the Glory of God and to the welfare of my neighbor, still remain undone.

This last chapter records these sins of omission. Ugly blots are scattered all over the page. Some day the very last chapter in the book will still read the same.

An old man, lying on his death bed, summed up the situation when he told his pastor, "I am about to stand trial for eighty-five years of sinning." What shall I do . . . Where shall I look today?

We cannot look back. We can only ask God to cover the past with his mercy and forgiveness, in Christ. We come at the dawn of this year to receive the assurance of pardon for all that has been wrong in 1962.

The poet says:

I don't look back; God knows the fruitless efforts,
The wasted hours, the sinning,
the regrets;
I leave them all with Him who blots the record,
And mercifully forgives,
and then forgets.

Welfare Workers Handed Pay Raise; 193 Affected

County commissioners approved pay raises last Thursday for 193 County Welfare Department workers.

Cost will be about $18,100 for 1963, Welfare Director Richard H. Cassidy said.

Employes will receive hikes ranging from $10 to $50 a month on the anniversary date of their employment, he said.

The department had 12 other employes who will not be affected in 1963 because they were hired after Jan. 1.

The joint City-County Relief Committee approved the raises last month.

Commissioners also agreed to meet with the joint committee Jan. 24 to discuss the department's proposed budget which will be about $14 million—a $1.5 million increase, Cassidy said.

To complicate things, the building is situated on two lots and the Boat House (a Whitehall cafe just west of the building and across Beechwood) uses the lot to the west of the building for customer parking.

Boat House owners have erected a sign on the building saying "Boat House Parking—Others Will Be Prosecuted" and Wolfe says he didn't give them permission to put the sign up.

"I think some of the Boat House patrons added to the damage," Wolfe theorized and added the bulk of it was probably "done by teenage vandals."

Wolfe said "If they (the city) make me tear that building down, they'll get the biggest fight they've ever had."

The building was previously used as an Industrial Steam Coals garage until two years ago when Wolfe purchased it.

Good Selection

Announcement of the selection of Kline L. Roberts as president of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce with executive capacity, and that of Clyde Mcbee as assistant, foretells a fine program ahead for the C. of C. in our opinion.

We have long had a high regard for Mr. Roberts as a civic leader in this area and a gentleman who has demonstrated his abilities as well as his interest in service while a member of the Ohio Senate.

His knowledge of the needs of Columbus and the background of Mr. McBee with the Chamber of Commerce for many years will certainly provide a good team in this vitally important organization in our Central Ohio Area. We wish them well.

He has six sisters and a brother through two succeeding marriages by his mother.

They all live in a small, dilapidated hut, Foster Parents' Plan explains, whose roof is of woven palm leaves and whose floor is the naked earth. Rent for the hut is $1.37 a month.

The Parents' Plan also says, "This bare outline hardly says what it means to live in such squalor and privation day in and day out, without hope."

This is no longer entirely true. "Thin and pale" Pham now has that hope in the person of a box-car load of interested Whitehall students.

We do not live to extenuate the miseries of the past nor to accept as incurable those of the present.—Fairfield Coborn.

JANUARY IS the first month of the year and these two Whitehall High School students were "first" in January. by the residents was that a "number" of school children cross Gould. Closest school in the vicinity is St. Catharine which is located right off of Gould on Bryden.

Some of the residents asked that a "School Crossing" sign be erected and checks with Columbus Traffic Department officials indicate that this may be a possible solution to the traffic woes.

These troubles are doubly compounded by the fact that the east half of Gould-rd is in Columbus and the other half in Bexley. A suitable agreement must be worked out by both municipalities before any positive action can be taken.

hike around the neighborhood. Even though there are children in and near the street, they're not there during "restricted hours."

"The best rule of thumb," added Gallagher, "is to slow up whenever you see traffic patrol boys on duty."

But, maybe it would be a better rule—if not a thousand times simpler—just to let up on that gas pedal around schools all the time. This saves finger-nail biting, too.

A lady shopper asked a salesgirl: "Do you think you are my equal?" Clerk: "Yes." "Then why don't you treat me like one?", retorted the lady.

Returning Police Inspector To Run For City Council

A 25-year veteran of the Columbus Police Force has announced plans to run on the Republican ticket for a City Council post.

Harvey H. Alston, the highest ranking Negro policeman in a major U. S. city and second highest officer in the Columbus Police Division, tendered his resignation from the force Monday, effective Feb. 1.

Alston, who lives at 1893 Greenway S, drew high praise from his superiors.

Safety Director Albert G. Giles accepted the resignation and called the veteran policeman an "extremely valuable man dedicated to the service of Columbus and the city's people."

Police Chief George W. Scholer referred to Alston's career as outstanding and said, "I'll miss him."

Alston revealed he had been thinking about running for the council seat for a year or two but his decision for action came when his 25 years were up last September.

His endorsement by the County Republican Committee last week powerfully influenced his decision, said Alston.

First Mass For Spanish-Speaking Residents Planned Next Sunday

For the first time in this area, Spanish-speaking residents will be able to attend a Roman Catholic mass conducted in their native tongue.

The first monthly mass and sermon for Cubans and all other Spanish-speaking residents of the Greater Columbus area will be offered at Holy Cross Church, Fifth and Rich-sts, on Sunday, Jan. 27, at noon.

The innovation was prompted by Columbus Bishop Clarence Issenmann who made the suggestion Jan. 6 in the K of C Hall during a party for Cuban refugees brought to this country through the Catholic Welfare Bureau.

Confessions in Spanish will be heard before the special mass, beginning at 11:30 a.m.

The services — to be held regularly on the last Sunday of each month — will be conducted on Jan. 27 by Fr. Robert O'Brien of St. Charles Seminary.

Other Spanish-speaking priests in the area will lend assistance during succeeding months, according to Joseph Gibboney, director of the Cuban Placement Program of the Welfare Bureau.

The Fabric Doctor

"Can Imitation Leather Trim Be Drycleaned?"

—Mrs. M. J. D.

Dear Mrs. M.J.D.:

Your question is most timely because large quantities of the heavy knitwear which is being placed on the market this Fall will be trimmed with either leather or imitation leather Vinyl. In anticipation of this the laboratories of the American Institute of Laundering have been testing such garments for their cleanability. It was learned that some of these Vinyl products cannot be drycleaned. In some cases that is because of the effect of drycleaning solvents on the material or the dyestuff. It was learned that some Vinyl could be laundered safely if temperatures were not too high and they may be tumbled only in low temperatures not to exceed 140-150 degrees. It was also learned that Vinyl could be pressed, but only on a steam press.

When selecting a Fall wardrobe remember that garments with leather or imitation leather Vinyl trim will require special care from your drycleaner or launderer. He will have the latest laboratory information about handling these garments and be able to clean and return them to you just as you would like to have them.

Be assured that as you become excited over new styles and fabrics your drycleaner and launderer is planning far ahead to care for those garments when you bring them to him.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Kraut-Frankfurter Week Brings Savings

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapefruit, winter pears, Emperor grapes.

Vegetables — Red potatoes, yams, carrots, white cabbage (old crop), celery, leaf lettuce.

Meats — Frankfurters, pork roasts, beef "specials," fryers.

Other — Kraut, large eggs, dairy products, canned vegetables.

One glance at the food ads this week will remind you that National Kraut and Frankfurter Week begins Jan. 24 — a time when retailers offer you the makings of some good meals at exceptionally low prices. Natural "go-withs" for pork and kraut are mashed potatoes and apples in some form to add tartness — and, note that both potatoes and apples are also on the list of good buys.

Mrs. Franks

As for other meats, market men say that slightly lower retail prices are likely on beef since marketings of fed cattle are on the increase. Recent price weakness at wholesale level on ribs and loins, combined with the seasonally good demand for roasts, make steak cuts likely prospects for retail specialing in the weeks ahead. However, for strict economy, ground beef and liver are probably your best bets.

Market reports also indicate that pork supplies have dropped from peak levels of late fall and are likely to decline a little more this month and next. Retail prices are are not expected to change much for several weeks, but you'll likely see fewer specials on fresh pork.

Broiler marketings from January through March are expected to be about 13 per cent above a year ago, so broilers will keep their low price tags whether they are featured by the store or not. Egg prices, which have been relatively strong during the past several months, moved a little higher as a result of the recent cold weather, which temporarily cut egg production. Even so, there's no better protein buy offered than eggs; the large sizes continue to be the best values by weight.

At produce counters, the weather still is playing a dominant role. The cold wave that hit fruit and vegetable areas on Jan. 14 — this time in Texas, Arizona and parts of California — did considerable damage to such crops as tomatoes, lettuce, peppers, green onions and leafy green vegetables. The navel orange crop and other fruits also suffered from the cold temperatures. Official estimates of damage are not available at this writing.

You will notice price advances on many western vegetables this week, including green cabbage. However, increases are expected to be only temporary, barring another weather upset.

Florida's vegetable crops are recovering rapidly, although supplies can't be called abundant. A few snap beans are in markets now — only cucumbers and corn seem to be in short supply.

Again this week a number of canned vegetables are being suggested as economical substitutes for the higher priced fresh items. Tomatoes, snap beans, corn, peas, lima beans and kidney beans are a few of the good values; we suggest you scan the grocery shelves for others. The heavy stocks of frozen green beans are resulting in good buys at the frozen food chests, while fresh beans are scarce.

Park Federal Total Assets Hit $32 Million Mark In '62

Outstanding growth in assets, reserves, and members, along with major expansion of facilities, highlighted Park Federal Savings and Loan Association's 73rd year of continuous service in the Columbus area.

Total assets reached a new high of over $32 million as of Dec. 31. Reserves, keeping pace with the dynamic growth of the association, now stand at more than $1,900,000.

Carl F. Fergus, president and director of Park Federal, said the association has been making sound advancement in Greater Columbus ever since 1890.

Today, Park Federal serves 22,480 persons in the Columbus area.

Fergus said Park Federal has played an important part in community progress over the years. Since its founding in 1890, the association has provided more than $82 million to finance the building or purchase of homes in greater Columbus.

In 1962 the firm celebrated the opening of its new branch office for the West Side. Known as Park Federal West, the office is at 4770 W. Broad-st in Lincoln Village.

Manager there is Harry Hewson, a graduate of the school of Business Administration of Franklin University. Hewson was formerly with the city attorney's office in the department of fund acquisition.

The new branch in Lincoln Village, which was made necessary to meet the requirements of increasing numbers of members, brings the number of Park Federal offices in the Columbus area to four. The association's main office is at 1885 Northwest-blvd, the downtown office at 20 E. Long-st, and the Worthington office at 777 High-st.

One hundred forty-six consecutive dividends have been distributed, and Fergus pointed out that in 1962 the largest total dividends for any 12 months in the association's history were paid.

Present officers in addition to President Fergus and including new officers elected at Park Federal's recent annual meeting are: Jacob C. Baas, vice-president and director; H. W. Brinker, vice-president and director.

Jack W. Chilcote, vice-president and secretary; John C. Fergus, attorney and director; Richard C. Addison, general counsel and director; T. F. Hambleton, treasurer; James D. MacAulay, assistant vice-president; Harry W. Hewson, manager of Park Federal West Alexander Gray, manager Home Improvement Department.

William F. Meyer, assistant treasurer; Gerald Knose, assistant treasurer, and Jerry Tilton, assistant treasurer.

Rounding out the association's directors are Frank T. Sayers, Dr. Charles W. Harding, and Walter E. Barr.

Use Of Sporting Firearms Is Defended

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

The information in this column today is by no means exclusive or original. Indeed, I hope you read the same or similar material several times in the near future. The subject is this, the number of "anti-gun" articles and editorials that have appeared in national publications.

While these articles may reflect the best of intentions and honest conviction, the logic involved is somewhat difficult to understand. In most cases, the evidence presented in support—and even abolition—of privately-owned firearms is extremely ill-conceived and dangerous, to you individually and to our society.

This week the "pro-gun" argument is being stated at the fourth annual Seminar of Firearms and Ammunition Development, Alton, Ill. Lowell E. Krieg, vice-president and general manager, Winchester-Western Division, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., is making a speech entitled "The Private Ownership of Firearms in the United States."

Here are some of Krieg's points:

"No responsible person — in or out of the firearms industry, sportsman or not — wants firearms to be freely used by criminals or other maladjusted members of our society."

"By the same token, no responsible person should desire or attempt to limit the free use of sporting firearms by other responsible members of that same society.

"A gun never killed anyone, robbed a bank, threatened or molested a defenseless individual. It is an inanimate object that is as harmless as a lump of metal until the moment a human being provides the energy to give it action.

"It is nothing short of ridiculous to assume that the criminal intent on armed robbery will register his gun before he commits a crime.

"It is the criminal himself who provides the secret to the prevention of crime. Society is misleading itself when it trys to punish a knife, rope, gun or the proverbial 'blunt object.'

"There is only one way to restrict the use of firearms by criminals: make the penalty for the use of guns or any deadly weapon in the commission of a crime so severe that criminals will be afraid to use them. In other words, the deterrent penalty will far outweigh any possible criminal gain. The criminal is penalized and not the honest citizen.

"Education, proper supervision and preventive safeguards are the answers to safety problems concerning household objects that hold a potential danger for any member of the family.

"Sporting firearms — and there are literally tens of millions of them in the United States — hold a huge potential for recreation, pleasure, sport and applied skill. They hold a very small potential for danger relative to their use, numbers and in comparison to other sports."

The next quotation is not from Krieg's speech, but from the U.S. Bill of Rights, Article II: "A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

Copies of the Krieg paper are available free on request: Winchester News Bureau, 460 Park-av, New York 22, N.Y.

ACADEMY'S 1963 VARSITY SWIMMING SQUAD

City Showdown Set; Bexley Wins, 40-39

East's rampaging Tigers warmed up for their City League "showdown" Friday against unbeaten Central by means of a hard-earned 59-42 w'n over Linden's Panthers.

The fast-breaking Tigers led by single point at halftime and had their hands full in the second half with the persistent McKinley quintet until the Panthers ran out of gas in the final period.

Bob Calloway paced the East offense with 17 points but got a 14-point assist from teammate Mike Hammond.

IN THE AREA'S other headliner, Bexley called on an all-court press to unnerve Worthington and deal the Cards a severe CBL setback with a tight 49-39 win.

The Cardinals appeared to be off to the races as they pulled ahead 11-1 after one period but the Lions roared back to even the count at intermission and forge ahead to a slim lead in the second half.

Rick Harbold's 15 points keynoted the Bexley win—the Lions' third against five reversals in the Central Buckeye League.

EASTMOOR PULLED away from Marion-Fr nklin after a "nip and tuck" first half to score a 62-52 City League win over the Red Devils.

Steve Howell and Nick Geldis popped in 20 points apiece to pace the Warriors' offensive attack.

SOUTH RAN away from Walnut Ridge after a tight first period, piling up a 77-50 decision over the Scotties. John McQuaid dropped in 21 points to pace W-R while teammate Jim Pyles added 11 more.

The Scots rallied from a ten-point deficit to give Dublin a run for its money before becoming the Shamrocks' seventh straight cage victim, 52-50. Pyles and McQuaid switched their high-point roles in this one, the former collecting 20 markers, the latter 16.

WHITEHALL BATTLED M. Vernon down to the wire Friday before losing to the Yellow Jackets, 58-57. The Rams led by four at intermission but Mt. Vernon came back in the third period and then hung on for the win.

Bill Dildine poured in 19 points to spark Whitehall's near-upset while teammate Rick Ford added up 15 additional markers.

ST. CHARLES built up an early margin and then coasted to a 64-41 win over DeSales as the Cards maintained their Central Catholic League lead.

Dick Ferris dropped in 23 points to set the pace for the Cards while Nick Baumann chipped in with 15 more.

The Carolians avenged an early season loss to Aquinas Saturday night, trimming the Terriers, 59-45. Baumann topped all scorers in the game with 19 points.

H O T-SHOOTING Watterson canned 51 per cent of their floor attempts to run away from Hartley, 71-41, in another CCL game Friday.

Jack Diamond and Randy Rodich were the bright spots for the Hawks, collecting 17 and 14 points, respectively.

ACADEMY WAS also a victime of its opponent's hot-handed accuracy from the field as New Albany hit an idential 51 per cent en route to a 59-49 upset win over the Vikings.

The Academy quintet tied the Eagles 28-all, at intermission but couldn't match Albany's hot shooting in the second half. Ken Holzman paced the Vikings with 13 points.

All area teams jump back on the cage merry-go-round this weekend. The headliner is set for 4 p.m. Friday at East as the Tigers (9-1) entertain Central (8-1).

OTHER FRIDAY games find North at Eastmoor (4-4), West (6-5) at Walnut Ridge (1-10), Mt. Vernon at Bexley (3-8), Whitehall (1-11) at Delaware, Dublin (8-3) at Academy (2-10), St. Charles (9-4) at Newark Catholic and Hartley (4-8) at Springfield Catholic.

Four additional games are on the Saturday evening docket as Arlington visits Whitehall, Bexley travels to Urbana, East journeys to Portsmouth and Eastmoor stops off at Hartley.

OHSAA Studying State Champ Plan

Ever since a certain Southern eleven whose name we have since sworn never to to mention again beat out Ohio State's 1957 Big Ten champions in the final football polls, we have always scoffed at and refused to recognize national ratings as any accurate measurement of gridiron greatness.

Our biggest argument was that the ratings were no more than popularity polls that helped to promote one-sided routs and never really proved anything in the final reckoning.

THE BIGGEST LOOPHOLE in the "top ten" parade seemed to lie in the apparent disregard for the quality of opponents. It didn't matter "who" you played. You topped the ballots by accumulating the most points in the "How many did you beat" and "by how much" categories.

The same basic principles of selecting top teams are also applied to the high school level. But the present plan is no more foolproof among the school-boy set than it is on the collegiate scale.

However, Lee Strang, head football coach at Massillon High School and chairman of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association's committee to select a plan for determining the Ohio football champion, is presently working on a new setup that could correct the situation—at least locally.

ASSISTING STRANG on the three-man committee are Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon and Marv Morehead of Upper Arlington.

The plan, which works on a point system, evaluates the quality of competition and provides for playoff games at the end of the season to determine the state champion.

As far as the point system goes, two points would be awarded for each win over an opponent. Ties provide one point and losses no points. Winning teams then receive two points each time the team they defeated wins a game and one point per opponent's victory if the two teams should tie.

THIS SYSTEM WILL encourage teams, hopeful of state ratings, to schedule tougher competition, e.g. teams that are capable of winning seasons.

Eeach team and/or local news media would keep a count of the individual point totals. The playoffs would take place at the close of the regular season with the top four teams in the state in each classification opposing each other.

Team one (highest point total) would play team four and team two would play team three, with the finalists battling for the undisputed state title.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for the playoffs a team would have to compete 80 per cent in or above its own class, with school enrollment determining the breakdown of classes (AA-1, AA-2 and A).

In case of point ties, the team with the least average points scored per game against them would be selected for the playoffs. All point totals for the playoffs would be certified by the OHSAA who would also make all playoff and game arrangements.

We had a chat with Marv Mourhead last week in regard to committee's progress on the proposal.

THE "MAKE OR BREAK" decision, according to Moorhead, won't come until the first week in March. At that time the Ohio High School Athletic Association's board of directors will act on the proposal and either accept or reject the plan.

"You might say the proposal's in the 'incubation period' right now," Moorhead said. We're trying to anticipate the "bugs" in the plan. We know there's going to be problems but we don't feel they'll be insurmountable."

In reply to our question about public response, Marv admitted that he has been encouraged by the favorable acceptance the plan seems to have achieved locally.

"THE PLAYOFF GAMES seems to appeal to a lot of people. This type of thing has never been attempted in Ohio but there are many other states that have a similiar setup which has worked out very satisfactorily."

Moorhead felt that the plan, if accepted, would help correct some of the inconsistencies evident in the present rating setup and make a "better game for the kids."

But as Moorhead pointed out, there will be problems. Even though the pattern of post-season basketball tournament has been okayed by the secondary schools, we wonder if the post-season grid playoffs would be met with the same benevolent nod.

ALSO, IF ENOUGH teams became interested in setting their sights on statewide honors, the present league setups around the state could be disrupted as stronger teams would frown on their loop's "weak sisters" as mandatory opponents and consequently "poor point risks."

Wouldn't everybody want to go "independent" so they might be free to schedule top-flight competition?

Wouldn't every school be forced to play the same number of games?

Wouldn't the plan reduce the number of players participating in a game since the games would probably be closer and substitution consequently less likely?

OF COURSE, the plan, if able to gain wide interest, could go a long way in correcting league imbalance along the same lines.

There are good arguments on both sides of the fence, as there always are on proposals like this. But we do feel this is certainly a step in the right direction as far as the fair and sensible means of determining a state champion is concerned.

Viking Tankmen Split Pair, Richter Sets Two Records

Academy's slick-swimming Vikings lost their first meet of the season over the weekend but the setback didn't slow down their assault on the record books as Henry Richter, Hugh Westwater and Dennis Miller set four new marks between them.

Springfield dunked the Vikings, 63-32, Friday but Academy bounced back the following afternoon in its home waters for a 68-27 decision over new COSL entry, Whetstone.

AS FAR AS the records go, Richter set new school marks in both the 200 free-style and butterfly while Westwater eclipsed the old breatstroke mark and Miller toppled the individual medley record.

Main Auto, Kennys Lead Center Loop

Bill Mackin and Norm Elg with 20 points each led a fast-breaking Kenny Loan team to a 71-to-38 win over Duratile in the Jewish Center Adult Basketball League last week.

Fred Davidorf's 24 points for Duratile couldn't stem a shooting percentage of over 70 per cent from the floor by the Kenny quintet.

Bernie Schutzberg's foul shot with two seconds left gave Bonnie Builders their first win of the season as they defeated Ontario 50-49. Dick Echelman led the Bonnie attack with 19 points while Bud Susil added 10 more.

Bob Grad and Jim Mackin each scored 17 points to lead Ontario's scoring.

Main Auto Parts nipped Raybo Vending, 53-51, to remain undefeated in league lay.

School Boards May Bring Tax Issue To Court

A possible court battle has loomed up in the struggle between the Columbus and Jefferson Local School Boards over school tax control of a 430-acre tract in East Columbus that includes the Western Electric Plant.

Several court fights have preceded the latest contesting of the rights to the taxes, which are now split between the two districts.

Persons involved in the case expect it to go to the State Supreme Court.

ACADEMY'S 1963 VARSITY SWIMMING SQUAD

City Showdown Set; Bexley Wins, 40-39

East's rampaging Tigers warmed up for their City League "showdown" Friday against unbeaten Central by means of a hard-earned 59-42 w'n over Linden's Panthers.

The fast-breaking Tigers led by single point at halftime and had their hands full in the second half with the persistent McKinley quintet until the Panthers ran out of gas in the final period.

Bob Calloway paced the East offense with 17 points but got a 14-point assist from teammate Mike Hammond.

IN THE AREA'S other headliner, Bexley called on an all-court press to unnerve Worthington and deal the Cards a severe CBL setback with a tight 49-39 win.

The Cardinals appeared to be off to the races as they pulled ahead 11-1 after one period but the Lions roared back to even the count at intermission and forge ahead to a slim lead in the second half.

Rick Harbold's 15 points keynoted the Bexley win—the Lions' third against five reversals in the Central Buckeye League.

EASTMOOR PULLED away from Marion-Franklin after a "nip and tuck" first half to score a 62-52 City League win over the Red Devils.

Steve Howell and Nick Geldis popped in 20 points apiece to pace the Warriors' offensive attack.

SOUTH RAN away from Walnut Ridge after a tight first period, piling up a 77-50 decision over the Scotties. John McQuaid dropped in 21 points to pace W-R while teammate Jim Pyles added 11 more.

The Scots rallied from a ten-point deficit to give Dublin a run for its money before becoming the Shamrocks' seventh straight cage victim, 52-50. Pyles and McQuaid switched their high-point roles in this one, the former collecting 20 markers, the latter 16.

WHITEHALL BATTLED M. Vernon down to the wire Friday before losing to the Yellow Jackets, 58-57. The Rams led by four at intermission but Mt. Vernon came back in the third period and then hung on for the win.

Bill Dildine poured in 19 points to spark Whitehall's near-upset while teammate Rick Ford added up 15 additional markers.

ST. CHARLES built up an early margin and then coasted to a 64-41 win over DeSales as the Cards maintained their Central Catholic League lead.

Dick Ferris dropped in 23 points to set the pace for the Cards while Nick Baumann chipped in with 15 more.

The Carolians avenged an early season loss to Aquinas Saturday night, trimming the Terriers, 59-45. Baumann topped all scorers in the game with 19 points.

H O T-SHOOTING Watterson canned 51 per cent of their floor attempts to run away from Hartley, 71-41, in another CCL game Friday.

Jack Diamond and Randy Rodich were the bright spots for the Hawks, collecting 17 and 14 points, respectively.

ACADEMY WAS also a victime of its opponent's hot-handed accuracy from the field as New Albany hit an identical 51 per cent en route to a 59-49 upset win over the Vikings.

The Academy quintet tied the Eagles 28-all, at intermission but couldn't match Albany's hot shooting in the second half. Ken Holzman paced the Vikings with 13 points.

All area teams jump back on the cage merry-go-round this weekend. The headliner is set for 4 p.m. Friday at East as the Tigers (9-1) entertain Central (8-1).

OTHER FRIDAY games find North at Eastmoor (4-4), West (6-5) at Walnut Ridge (1-10), Mt. Vernon at Bexley (3-8), Whitehall (1-11) at Delaware, Dublin (8-3) at Academy (2-10), St. Charles (9-4) at Newark Catholic and Hartley (4-8) at Springfield Catholic.

Four additional games are on the Saturday evening docket as Arlington visits Whitehall, Bexley travels to Urbana, East journeys to Portsmouth and Eastmoor stops off at Hartley.

OHSAA Studying State Champ Plan

Ever since a certain Southern eleven whose name we have since sworn never to to mention again beat out Ohio State's 1957 Big Ten champions in the final football polls, we have always scoffed at and refused to recognize national ratings as any accurate measurement of gridiron greatness.

Our biggest argument was that the ratings were no more than popularity polls that helped to promote one-sided routs and never really proved anything in the final reckoning.

THE BIGGEST LOOPHOLE in the "top ten" parade seemed to lie in the apparent disregard for the quality of opponents. It didn't matter "who" you played. You topped the ballots by accumulating the most points in the "How many did you beat" and "by how much" categories.

The same basic principles of selecting top teams are also applied to the high school level. But the present plan is no more foolproof among the school-boy set than it is on the collegiate scale.

However, Lee Strang, head football coach at Massillon High School and chairman of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association's committee to select a plan for determining the Ohio football champion, is presently working on a new setup that could correct the situation—at least locally.

ASSISTING STRANG on the three-man committee are Bron Bacevich of Cincinnati Roger Bacon and Marv Morehead of Upper Arlington.

The plan, which works on a point system, evaluates the quality of competition and provides for playoff games at the end of the season to determine the state champion.

As far as the point system goes, two points would be awarded for each win over an opponent. Ties provide one point and losses no points. Winning teams then receive two points each time the team they defeated wins a game and one point per opponent's victory if the two teams should tie.

THIS SYSTEM WILL encourage teams, hopeful of state ratings, to schedule tougher competition, e.g. teams that are capable of winning seasons.

Each team and/or local news media would keep a count of the individual point totals. The playoffs would take place at the close of the regular season with the top four teams in the state in each classification opposing each other.

Team one (highest point total) would play team four and team two would play team three, with the finalists battling for the undisputed state title.

TO BE ELIGIBLE for the playoffs a team would have to compete 80 per cent in or above its own class, with school enrollment determining the breakdown of classes (AA-1, AA-2 and A).

In case of point ties, the team with the least average points scored per game against them would be selected for the playoffs. All point totals for the playoffs would be certified by the OHSAA who would also make all playoff and game arrangements.

We had a chat with Marv Moorhead last week in regard to committee's progress on the proposal.

THE "MAKE OR BREAK" decision, according to Moorhead, won't come until the first week in March. At that time the Ohio High School Athletic Association's board of directors will act on the proposal and either accept or reject the plan.

"You might say the proposal's in the 'incubation period' right now," Moorhead said. We're trying to anticipate the "bugs" in the plan. We know there's going to be problems but we don't feel they'll be insurmountable."

In reply to our question about public response, Marv admitted that he has been encouraged by the favorable acceptance the plan seems to have achieved locally.

"THE PLAYOFF GAMES seems to appeal to a lot of people. This type of thing has never been attempted in Ohio but there are many other states that have a similiar setup which has worked out very satisfactorily."

Moorhead felt that the plan, if accepted, would help correct some of the inconsistencies evident in the present rating setup and make a "better game for the kids."

But as Moorhead pointed out, there will be problems. Even though the pattern of post-season basketball tournament has been okayed by the secondary schools, we wonder if the post-season grid playoffs would be met with the same benevolent nod.

ALSO, IF ENOUGH teams became interested in setting their sights on statewide honors, the present league setups around the state could be disrupted as stronger teams would frown on their loop's "weak sisters" as mandatory opponents and consequently "poor point risks."

Wouldn't everybody want to go "independent" so they might be free to schedule top-flight competition?

Wouldn't every school be forced to play the same number of games?

Wouldn't the plan reduce the number of players participating in a game since the games would probably be closer and substitution consequently less likely?

OF COURSE, the plan, if able to gain wide interest, could go a long way in correcting league imbalance along the same lines.

There are good arguments on both sides of the fence, as there always are on proposals like this. But we do feel this is certainly a step in the right direction as far as the fair and square means of determining state champion is concerned.

Childhood PLEASURES

"Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right."

A mother only has to glance at her child to know if his play is pure, or if it is leading to mischief. Our Father in heaven can as easily look on our hearts and judge our ways. "A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things: and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things."

Seek the Lord in his house, so that your heart will be right with God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Dear friends,

Here is a quotation from Gladstone which deserves to be republished:

"Show me the manner in which a nation or community cares for its dead, and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people, their respect for the laws of their land, and their loyalty to high ideals."

Under that test, America should stand high.

Respectfully,

Arthur B. Leach

Drill Team, Cheerleaders, To Give Sock Hop Dance

The drill team and cheerleaders will sponsor a sock hop, after the Walnut Ridge cagers meet West on Friday. The dance will last until 11 p.m. and the admission will be 35 cents per couple. A band will perform.

The Junior High Safety Corps will wash cars at Emile's Restaurant on Main-st Friday, Jan. 25, from noon to 6 p.m. The group will wash the windows of anyone who comes. They will place a card in the window of the car. The event is sponsored by the Columbus Police Department.

Juniors received class rings on Tuesday in room 104. New orders were also taken at that time.

Tryouts were held for all girls interested in dancing in the variety show. The Monday event was for all 10th, 11th, or 12th grade girls.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Walnut Ridge students took their semester examinations. The exams count one eighth of the school grade.

Boyer Chosen Wesleyan Fund Area Chairman

A Bexley resident, Bruce A. Boyer, 400 Stansberry-dr, has been named chairman of his area for the upcoming Ohio Wesleyan Alumni Fund campaign.

He was named at a dinner Jan. 20 given for chairmen and their wives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Brubaker, 2645 Powell-av, Bexley.

The drive is scheduled for Feb. 21 through March 7.

REYNOLDSBURG, GAHANNA

Expansion Brings New Telephone Exchanges

Among the major projects announced by the Ohio Bell Telephone Company's newly appointed president, Frederick R. Eckley is the building of new telephone exchanges for Reynoldsburg and Gahanna.

Also, Eckley said, continued development of new housing and businesses in Worthington, Alton, Bexley, Westerville, and Reynoldsburg requires the addition of 52,000 more lines for customers in these communities. Equipment, and installation to handle this growth will run $481,000.

Construction of the Reynoldsburg building is expected to start in March and is to be completed by the end of the year. Automatic dialing equipment will then be installed so the new facility can be cut into service by mid-July, 1964.

The new building will be located on McNaughten-rd, north of Main-st, near the Reynoldsburg city limits. Initially, 12,000 customers in Reynoldsburg, part of Columbus, and the communities of Blacklick, Taylor Station, Catalpa Park and Brice will be served by the new exchange.

Size of the new one-story, brick facility will be 140x100 feet. Its total cost including land, building and equipment will be $2.3 million, of which $270,000 will be spent this year.

Eckley announced that the telephone company would invest $13 million this year for expansion and service improvements in the greater Columbus district. The local investment was part of a statewide $87.7 million program — an all-time high for the phone company.

Otherwise, the bulk of the $10 million for this district will be spent for routine growth projects such as outside aerial and underground cable extension work plus additional dial equipment at various exchanges.

"Another major project locally," Eckley said, "will be the completion of the new Gahanna Exchange, 2580 McCutcheon-rd, which will provide more telephone service for the rapidly growing northeastern area of the city.

Total expenditures on the Gahanna project alone between now and mid-July when it is scheduled to be cut into service will reach $1,165,000" Some $860,000 will be spent connecting the Gahanna exchange with other telephone switching centers in the metropolitan area. Eventually, all customers served from the Gahanna building will receive telephone numbers starting with "471" plus four digits.

Later this year many more callers in the Greater Columbus area will be able to dial long distance calls without giving their own telephone number to the operator. Equipment that will register the caller's number automatically is to be installed in the Amherst and Hickory exchanges at a total cost of $47,000. This improvement eventually will be extended throughout the company's territory.

Last year saw a gain of 19,800 more telephones in the Greater Columbus calling area, bringing the total to over 398,000. This year, according to company estimates, at least 18,000 more phones will be added.

The only thing worse than making a mistake is not to correct it.

Gas Station Owners Out In The Cold, Too

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

It's winter and a young man's fancy usually turns towards thoughts of gas stations—that haven in the snow where the mehcanics are magicians and the kid working after school pumping gas is a friend, indeed.

This conversation was overhead at a local gas station during the wee hours of the morning. Four cars were stalled outside the warm, one-room station office. The not-so-heated discussion went thusly:

Station owner (on phone) — "Does it turn over at all, ma'm?"

Part-time high school attendant—"Whatza matter, Mr. Killenberger? Is it cold out there?"

Mr. Killenberger—"Wh-h-hat?"

Station owner—"Listen, ma'm. If it turns over maybe it's just flooded."

Second customer, entering—"It was so cold this morning that I went to the closet and my topcoat was wearing my overcoat.

Part-time attendant—"Whatza matter, Mr. Harmon? Is it cold out there?"

Mr. Harmon—"I haven't heard any offers to go swimming this morning, if that's what you mean."

Station owner—"Maybe it just needs a push. Are your neighbors up and around somewhere close . . . ?"

Fourth customer—"Aw, you fellas don't know what cold is. There's was a winter in 1936. . ."

Mr. Harmon—"Seems like I've heard this before somewhere."

Station owner—"What do you mean can I send someone out to boost your battery? How do you think should get my service truck to start?"

Add Winter Enjoyment

Sub zero weather has its compensations and now that we've had a prolonged touch of "old time" winter we have to admit that it has some compensations.

It would be hard to find many youngsters who wouldn't agree that they enjoyed the news that school would be closed.

And what great joy comes to a boy who cuts a 10 inch thick hunk of ice out of his skating pond, thus assuring himself of a long skating period ahead.

You haven't witnessed real appreciation until you watch the birds gather around a freshly-filled feeder. Without this kind of weather you might not have had an opportunity to pay for their cheery songs.

Even a stalled car or one mired down along an icy curb brings out volunteer assistance and you say to yourself, "Gosh, people are human, aren't they?"

And what's more delightful than rosy cheeks and a pleasant smile from a halo of ear muffs on a pretty girl?

Yep! Winter has its compensations!

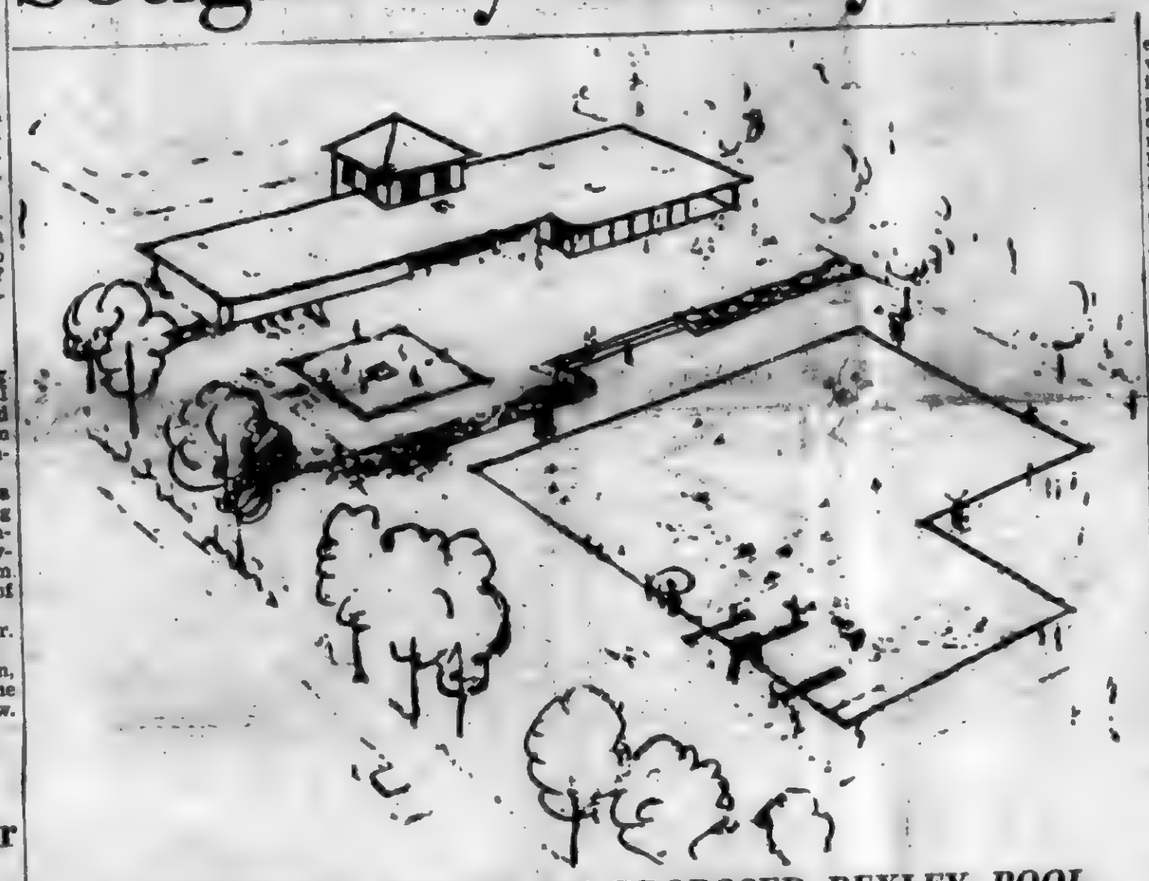
Coming Events

A most delightful thing happened to me Monday. I received a fine full color seed catalog and a nice letter from James Wilson out in Mountain View, Calif.



Mr. Wilson advised that a former Hilltopper and a long time reader of ours, Rex Grabill, president of Ferry-Morse Seed Co. had told him of my winter pastime of reading seed catalogs.

A big "Thank You" to Mr. Grabill and to Mr. Wilson.

As this is being written, the thermometer outside the kitchen door says 5 below.

Tax Deferment Policy Being Sought By Bexley Teachers

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF PROPOSED BEXLEY POOL

THIS IS HOW architect Leon Seligson sees Bexley's first swimming pool to be built on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds. Most significant thing, perhaps, is the design of the pool building which has been visualized to keep with the architecture of the Jeffrey Mansion (note design of ornamental cupola atop the structure). Plans now do not include a "bath house" for changing clothes. Bill Birch, chairman of the Bexley Civic Improvement Association which has pushed the project, explained that all the swimmers will be Bexley residents and that it will be convenient for them to change at home.

Bexley School System teachers announced intentions this week to seek approval to enter into a "tax-sheltered annuity" program — a set-up for tax deferment of school teachers, recently okayed for Ohio by Mark McElroy, ex-attorney general.

Don Stevenson, chairman of the Bexley Teachers Welfare Association, said a meeting has been planned for tonight (Thursday) to discuss the program which, basically, allows teachers to invest 20 per cent of their income in an insurance policy which will be paid upon retirement or leaving the profession.

The move must be approved by the school board making the actual purchase of the policy.

Robert Drury, legal counsel for the Ohio Education Association, said the law starting the program was passed by Congress "a few years ago" but was just okayed for Ohio a couple of months ago.

"Many local school systems are looking into the program," Drury said.

The money put into the policy is, of course, not taxed. Tax is deducted only when the money is taken out of the fund.

"Most of the teachers I know don't have 20 per cent of their income to take out," commented Attorney General William Saxbe, who felt the program might be "a bit impractical" since six per cent of teachers salaries are already taken out for a retirement fund and then matched by state monies.

Civitan Sets Program For Local Youth

Bert Kausek, president of Eastern Civitan, has announced the formation of a committee to develop a program for co-ordination of youth fitness in the community.

"We feel we cannot ignore the physical fitness of our youth as an important part in the maintenance and enjoyment of our freedoms," Kausek commented.

Those named to the special committee include Jack H. Packard, 4390 Chandler-dr; William R. Mnich, 1375 Sunbury-rd, and Frank Barker, 1330 E. Broad-st.

Kausek reported the committee will meet soon to outline a program designed not only for physical fitness of youth but also the spiritual, mental and moral fitness aspects.

This is part of the continuing interest of Eastern Civitan in its current "Speak Up For Freedom" campaign.

Capital University Plans To Open Its $10 Million Fund Campaign Feb. 4

Capital University initiated preliminary plans Tuesday for a $10 million fund-raising campaign but won't "start to broader activities" until after a special dinner Monday, Feb. 4.

That's the word from Capital's President Dr. H. L. Yochum who further announced that Governor Rhodes will serve as principal speaker at the affair scheduled for Trautman Dining Hall at 6:45 p.m.

Those who will eventually head up the drive were named Tuesday by Dr. Yochum. Paul R. Gingher will serve as general chairman of the campaign.

Working under Gingher will be Dr. Harrison Sayre, who will head the advanced gifts committee, and George Snodgrass, chairman in charge of teams of solicitors.

Besides these men, three committee chairmen were named to head up groups who will direct solicitation for industry, individuals and commercial funds.

Everett D. Bivens, vice-president and general manager of Ohio Fuel Gas, will handle the industrial solicitations. Richard Hahn, Borden's ice cream manager, will chair the commercial division with the assistance of Walter English and J. Ralph Riley, president of Suburban Motor Freight,

Smitten Kitten Plays Cat-Mouse Game With Fellow Felines, Dog

By TED BEARDSHEAR

It's quite possible that a cat has nine lives but one lost feline has already involved the lives of five—two humans, two fellow kittens and a dog.

It happened this way:

On Jan. 22, Mrs. Jean Deal, of 4746 E. Livingston-av lost a gray and black striped long haired, tiger male cat with a pink collar.

On the same day, Mrs. Hubert Bowling, of 887 Dimson-dr E., had trouble with a frozen water pipe. A hole about 3½-inches in diameter was drilled into her house to help locate the trouble.

Unrelated?

Not quite. Mrs. Deal advertised she lost her cat. Mrs. Bowling read about it.

Two stray cats meanwhile, had found the drilled hole in the house and proceeded to make themselves comfor-

Suburban Editors Comment On The Youngsters In Next Week's Edition Of Suburbia

"Our Suburban Children — How Coddled Are They?" This is the question that Suburbia Today asked the editors of suburban papers. Paid subscribers will read their answers when the Feb. 7 edition of your Eastern Review brings you the February issue of Suburbia Today.

This round table discussion started when Peter Wyden's book, "Suburbia's Coddled Kids," caused an uproar among parents, with charges that our youth are pampered conformists.

Here is a "second opinion" from the men whose job in life is to cover the doings of these children and their families. You may be surprised at what you think about Wyden's charges, and what they feel is right — and wrong — with the younger generation.

In this issue, too, you'll discover William Saroyan's ideas for "A New Kind of Party." The famous author of "The Time of Your Life" says he's tired of the traditional cock-

CHILDBIRTH OFFICIALS SAY:

If You're Jumpy As Father Who's Expecting, There's Still Hope

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The old story about the jittery papa-to-be grabbing the suitcase en route to the hospital isn't far from the truth according to childbirth authorities.

Mrs. June Kohler, president of the Columbus Association for Childbirth Education explained this week that a good deal of their program is designed for Dad who, they say, has to be taught to relax.

The group, founded by five women in 1954, will expand their program further during the Winter Open House for all expectant parents in Columbus to be held Thursday, Feb. 7, at 8 p.m. in St. Edward's Episcopal Church.

At this time, the association will explain why it's in operation and how it offers comprehensive, authoritative advice to make the ordeal of having children a little less frightening.

"Perhaps 'fear' is the key word with expectant parents," Mrs. Kohler commented. "Much of our work dispels psychological fears that make childbirth so complicated—whethers it's the first child or the seventh."

As stated, the program is slanted, in part, toward the father and even includes such things as a "plan of attack" to get the mother to the hospital and registered with as much ease as possible.

"We take our members (now numbering in the hundreds) on a trip through the hospital," Mrs. Kohler continued. "We show them what door to use and what to say to the desk clerk. This is accompanied by planning ses-

'Well Done' Is Rule For Cooking Pork

Your food market is apt to "special" pork at this time of year. These specials can perk up family meals and your food budget.

When you serve pork, be sure that it is as safe as it is tasty and nutritious, says Mrs. Pauline Hall, extension nutritionist, Ohio State University. That means you must always cook pork thoroughly.

Eating raw or partially cooked pork may result in a serious disease — trichinosis, caused by tiny worms or parasites called trichinae. Even clean, healthy swine can harbor the worm at any time of the year.

Few people die of trichinosis but it is a serious, unpleasant disease. The symptoms vary so greatly that diagnosis is difficult.

The disease is easy to prevent. All that's necessary is to be certain that all pork is cooked thoroughly before eating.

To test for doneness when broiling or frying chops or other thin cuts, cut into the meat near the bone. Pinkness indicates that the pork has not been cooked enough for safety.

Use a meat thermometer for roasts. Pork must be cooked to 137 degrees fahrenheit to kill trichinae. But internal roasting temperature recommended for fresh pork is 185 degrees and 165 to 170 degrees for cured pork cuts.

Dr. Doescher wrote his book in an attempt to help the rising generation—"in a mechanized and technological mass culture"—to recover the consciousness of God at work in the world.

Head of Capital's philosophy department, Dr. Doescher is presently working on the translation of Paul Althaus' 750-page volume of systematic "Die Christliche Wahrheit," a theology, for the Muehlenberg Press.

NAA Division Gets Contract From Navy

North American Aviation's Columbus division was awarded a $6 million contract and also rolled out its first turboprop version of a T-28 trainer this week.

The Bureau of Naval Weapons, Washington, D.C., awarded the contract to the company Tuesday for use in designing, construction and production of the A-5C Vigilante jet.

Officials at the division termed the contract as additional funding under a previous $67 million contract approved last year.

The A-5C, an advanced version of the Navy's A-5A, is used for tactical reconnaissance.

Air Force representatives visited the Columbus plant Wednesday in conjunction with the T-28 rollout.

The Air Force awarded North American a $735,000 contract for the modification of the T128A to a turboprop version last summer.

The aircraft is being instrumented for first flight during February.

The modified plane's engine generates 2,450 horsepower in comparison to 1,425 horsepower in the old version. Increased horsepower will boost speed, range and load carrying capability.

'Cap' Conservatory To Present Handel Show

Capital University's Conservatory of Music will present the oratorio "Samson" by Handel, Sunday, Mar. 3, in Mees Hall auditorium.

Guest conductor, from London, England, will be Dr. Charles Farncombe who conducted "Solomon" when it was presented by Capital four years ago.

Participating in the major production will be Capital's Chapel Choir, Men's Glee Club and Women's Chorus, along with a graduate and faculty orchestra and soloists.

The oratorio, "Samson," was composed in the summer of 1741 and has come to hold a place of importance second only to the "Messiah" which was written during the same two weeks.

"Samson" deals with the section from the Bible which describes Samson as blind and in chains, but still predicting that Dagon will not triumph over the God of Israel.

State Official Listed As 'Fair'

Carl Daubenmire, 69, of 701 Sheridan-av, acting chief of the State Department of Industrial Relations, was reported in fair condition by Grant Hospital Wednesday.

Daubenmire suffered a possible fractured skull, cuts and bruises of the head and nose.

Truck driver, Frank E. Burts, 26, of 846½ Main-st, was not cited.

'. . NOW, TAKE THREE PACES NORTH'

THE MESSAGE ON this car's window—etched in the snow—took on aspects of a treasure hunt. The message is "INSIDE" and an arrow points the way. It doesn't take much imagination to start drawing your own conclusions. Hartley Newspaper Staffer John Auble, Jr., snappened it with a telephoto lens and reported that he was uncertain, also, as to its actual meaning. A notice for ticketing policemen? A memo to his wife? Who knows. Just chalk it up to another mystery of winter.

Change Of Locale May Be In Order!

By JERRY WOLFROM

Contrary to popular belief, our beloved Columbus isn't the only place to live. Not by a long shot!

It may come as a shock to many, but there are a lot of other nice places. Most of them are more exciting than Columbus, O., and many even bear the same name.

For example, what's wrong with Columbus, Ind.? The cost of living certainly must be lower there—it's real close to Economy.

People trying to lose weight and regain their long-lost slim figures should like Columbus, Ga., a city conveniently situated near Tallbottom; and Columbus, Mont., is only about 85 miles southeast of Square Butte.

Adventurers who prefer to live dangerously would enjoy the thrill of residing near Columbus, Ky., just a short missile ride from Moscow. Then there's Columbus, N.D., within easy rifle range of Havana.

Tee totalers will love Columbus, Miss. It's near Reform.

Those who occasionally over-imbide should move to Columbus, Kan., a short shot from Bourbon. And of course, Columbus City and Columbus Junction, Ia., are not far from What Cheer!

For would-be politicians, there's Columbus, Neb., near Kennedy, and Columbus, Tex., less than 50 miles from Nixon.

Animals lovers should investigate Columbus, N.J. It's quite close to Colt's Neck—a grand place to horse around. Then too, there's Columbus, N.M., near Coyote—always a howling place on Saturday night.

If you're the man of the man of the house and frequently find yourself in the dog house, try Columbus Grove, O. It's a brandy place to live because it's within easy driving distance of St. Bernard.

Columbus, Wisc., is nice for unfortunate people with dandruff because it's not far from Embarrass. And if the hair problem gets out of hand, Tomahawk is only a short distance away.

I do not recommend Columbus Grove, Mich., however. That town is usually colder than Hell—a hamlet some 80 miles to the northwest.

But heck, when you think about it, good old Columbus, O. is a fun place to live, too. Where else can you be neighbors to towns with funny names like Hilliard, Grove City, Reynoldsburg, Groveport and Ashville?

East Side Vets Named By Academy

Three East Side men have been elected to offices in the Columbus Academy of Veterinary Medicine, a group made up of small animal practitioners from Columbus and Franklin County.

They are Dr. Albert A. Strouss, 144 S. Drexel-av, treasurer; Dr. Homer R. Monfort, 1957 E. Main-st, director; and Dr. S. L. Weil, 4263 E. Broad-st, immediate past president and ex officio director.

Other newly elected officers of the group include: Dr. George A. Kukor, 59 Hilliard-Cemetery-rd., Hilliard, president; Dr. William R. Miller, 3033 Sullivant-av, vice-president; Dr. Earl A. Grimm, 1360 Oakland Park-av, secretary; Dr. E. Craig DeLong, 2782 Westerville-rd, corresponding secretary.

Also, Dr. Robert D. Jones, 3868 S. Broadway, Grove City, director; Dr. Earl M. Simonson, 3120 Valleyview-dr, director; and Dr. J. H. Knapp, 596 Oakland Park-av, director.

Fire Razes Dwelling

The empty home of the late Neva Jane Collins, 82, who died Sunday in St. Anthony Hospital, was the scene of a two-alarm fire Tuesday, firemen reported. The home is located at 936 Bryden-rd.

Battalion Fire Chief Ralph Mason said the cause of the blaze was undetermined. He said the fire apparently started on the first floor of the three-story frame house and by the time firemen arrived, flames were shooting out the roof.

Moose To March

Moose Lodge 11, for the 20th year, will participate in the Mothers March on Polio.

Veterans of the Mothers March are lodge members Mike Pierce, Past Governor (12 year pin) and C. C. Saltmarsh (15 year pin).

Ruptured Water Main Raises 2½ Foot Mound

A ruptured water main caused a 20-foot section of the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Gary J. Seckel, 3075 Scottwood-rd, to heave to a two and one-half foot high mound Jan. 26.

City water crews made repairs shortly after the oddity was reported.

Apartment Fire Damage Is $3500

A $3,500, extra-company fire broke out at 1182 Kelburn-pl, Apt. B, Jan. 24, firemen reported. The apartment belongs to Mrs. Nadine Tompkins.

Firemen said the blaze apparently began when a plumber repaired water pipes in the living room walls at Mrs. Tompkins' apartment.

Distributive Educaton Class Projects, Activities Given

The Distributive Education class has sponsored two large projects — a dance with a disc jockey and a Christmas tree sale.

The class has taken field trips and had guest speakers. Randy Welsch, former WYHS graduate, spoke concerning Ohio blue laws and their effect on merchandising. Other talks were on window displays and general store displays.

Distributive Education students went on a field trip to Great Eastern Shopping Center to compare the window arrangements of various stores. Such things as color, setting, theme and style were taken into account.

Distributive Education class also went on a field trip to Mr. Ruth's farm, located in Delaware. Mr. Ruth is the class instructor.

For the future, the DE class is planning more field trips and dances. They hope to use the money from the dances to finance a joint banquet with other co-operative education classes. The banquet will be scheduled this spring.

WYHS junior class had a meeting Monday, Jan. 21. The financial situation of the class was discussed. Money for the junior-senior prom is needed.

Whitehall - Yearling High School Chef Class gave the high school teachers a lunch Wednesday, Jan. 23.

BSA 53rd Anniversary Celebration Starts Feb. 7

Members of the 648 scouting units in the nine county areas of the Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, will celebrate the 53rd anniversary of the movement beginning Thursday, Feb. 7 through 13.

Theme will be "Strengthen America . . . Be Prepared, Be Fit." The members will hold open house meetings with parents, prospective members and families of adult leaders.

"By holding these open house meetings," said Council President Arthur D. Bogen, "we hope all our guests and the boys themselves will get a greater understanding of the aims and objectives of the Boy Scout movement.

"Scout Week is the occasion when members show their accomplishments in an exciting and dramatic way," Bogen added. "Parents, we find, take a greater interest in their son's development when they meet his volunteer adult leaders and the boys with whom he associates."

A rededication to the ideals of scouting, the Cub Scout Promise, the Boy Scout Oath and the Explorer Code, is planned by many units.

Scouts are being encouraged to attend in uniform at their own church or synagogue on Scout Sabbath, Feb. 9, or Scout Sunday, Feb. 10.

LT. FRANK GRASHEL, editor of the Columbus Fire Department News, gives instructions to his "dog-watch editor," Rusty. A "dog-watch editor" handles the news when the editorial staff is gone for the day. Rusty, who has filled this slot on the News since the paper was started, has no trouble with the job since he lives in the newspaper office, located in Fire House 12, 3200 Sullivant av. The News was started seven years ago by Grashel and Capt. Ralph Burton, now a fire department battalion chief.

Firemen Read Monthly Paper For 'Hottest News In Town'

By LEE STILLWELL

"The Hottest News In Town" is an appropriate motto for The Columbus Fire Department News published by Local 67, International Association of Firefighters.

Under the guidance of Lt. Frank Grashel, editor, and Lt. Charles Smith, assistant editor, the paper is celebrating its seventh anniversary.

The idea of starting a local paper for firefighters originated during World War II. Fire officials published a monthly paper to send to department personnel serving in the armed forces.

The paper was discontinued at the end of the war.

Firemen pressed for their own paper once again in January 1956 and Grashel volunteered to edit the publication for "only a year." The lieutenant has remained as editor since then.

Grashel takes pride in the paper's record of having never missed an edition.

Local 67 picks up the "tab" for paper expenses and postage is paid through donations from subscribers. Grashel said the postage fund has never been empty during the paper's existence.

The Fire News is distributed throughout Columbus on the first of the month to department personnel and mailed to over 400 persons. The publication is mailed to retired Columbus firemen, city and state officials, local news media and firefighters serving in the armed forces.

One paper is sent monthly to a fire chief in Cholon, South Viet-Nam.

The fire chief spent some time with the Columbus Fire Department under an exchange program.

The paper's nine members, working on their own time, strive to publish an informative paper.

"Our goals are to bring Columbus firefighters closer together," said Grashel.

Promotions, deaths, and news about local firemen are considered "the hottest news in town" by the staff.

"The importance of this information can be shown through the firemen's card system. Each fireman donates $3 to a fireman's widow following his death. The money is taken from the pay checks of retired men living out of Columbus. These individuals would not know why the money was taken unless the death was listed in our paper," said the editor.

Staff members of the paper, in addition to Grashel and Smith, are Ray Beougher, art and cartoons; John Melfi, sports; Bob Throckmorton, reporter.

Dan Bonzo, Bill Bruce and Frank Reeves are responsible for printing the paper.

Marian Grashel, wife of the editor, has handled the typing and stencilling for the paper the past seven years.

Ice Cream Sweet Treat For Valentines Day

Ice cream is an outstanding food to serve at any hour or for any season. It's a flavorful and refreshing food that everyone enjoys.

For something new in ice cream enjoyment, plan to serve Raspberry-Ice Cream Valentine.

The delicate, pink-tinted meringue heart shell, filled with vanilla ice cream and topped with a tasty raspberry sauce is a taste and eye-appealing dessert for memorable occasions.

Children as well as adults will be flattered by such an elegant and pleasing dessert or refreshment item.

Versatile ice cream is just as suitable for elaborate parties as it is for everyday snacks and desserts. Made from nutritious milk, it offers important food nutrients along with good eating pleasure. It is wise to always have a ready supply of this wholesome dairy product in your freezer.

RASPBERRY-ICE CREAM VALENTINE

Meringue Shell

4 egg whites
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
Red food coloring

Sauce

1 package frozen red raspberries in sugar sirup, defrosted (1 lb.)
4 teaspoons cornstarch

Filling

I quart vanilla ice cream

Make meringue shell. Beat egg whites, cream of tartar, salt, and vanilla until mixture holds soft peaks. Gradually beat in sugar, one tablespoonful at a time, and continue beating until very stiff and glossy. Add food coloring as needed to tint the desired shade of pink.

Draw an eight or nine-inch heart on heavy brown paper. Place on baking sheet. Spread mixture onto heart mounding meringue up around outer edge of heart. Bake in very slow oven, 275 degree, until dry and lightly browned. Turn off heat and allow shell to cool in oven. Cool thoroughly before filling with ice cream.

Make sauce. Reserve one cup drained berries to fold into thickened sauce. Mix juice and cornstarch until free of lumps. Add remaining one-half of berries. Cook, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Fold in remaining berries. Chill.

Drizzle over ice cream in meringue shell. Makes six or eight servings.

Movie Industry Still Has Time To Scrub Up

If and when the motion picture industry dies, an appropriate epitaph for its grave marker would be "This is the only stone we've left unturned."

Perhaps it's too inconceivable to imagine a world without motion pictures. "The dream world of a darkened theater can never be replaced," you may think.

So did people think about vaudeville.

The saddest thing about the movie industry, though, is that it seems bell-bent on destroying itself. It's heading at high speed down a dusty, dirty road and there is bound to be a point of no return.

Already this theory is being spotted by members of the industry itself. Most outspoken recently has been Helen Hayes — the first lady in anybody's theater — who reported in an Associated Press article that the industry is 'in an era of terrible trouble."

Clarifying her statement, Miss Hayes pointed out that Hollywood has "lost touch with public taste" and went on to say that "if Hollywood is still in the Tennessee Williams era, the rest of the country isn't."

History shows that "losing touch with the public tastes" isn't a particularly new thing for the motion picture industry. It's happened before. Most critical of these periods was in the Early Thirties. Remember? James Cagney was slapping girls. Mae West was slapping guys and sex and violence reached a then all-time high on the "silver screen."

The public raised protest — strong, verbal protest. Leaders in the industry at the time were saying "Sex and filth has no place in public view" — or words to that effect.

And, an about-face was made. Led by a child—Shirley Temple — motion pictures emerged from the slime of bad taste and, once again, the boom was on.

Times may have changed but the public still seems to desire the same wholesome type of motion pictures. What other explanation can be offered for the success of Walt Disney releases of family entertainment?

Today's sex and violence — a larger dose of the former — makes movies of the Thirties as tame as a PTA meeting. Sure, it provided a definite boost to box office sales following a near-KO punch by television, but the public is growing weary now.

Let's not overlook the fact that movies like "Gorgo," "King Kong" and the rash of science fiction thrillers heightened box office sales.

So did the late Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield.

Now, it appears, a new approach needs to be taken. Just what that is, of course, is a perplexing problem that will require serious consideration by the men making the decisions on motion pictures.

Much of the decision, we feel, will be (and, should be) based on opinions being gathered and formed by such groups as the Citizens for Decent Literature and Motion Pictures and, perhaps even local groups as the Columbus Movie Review Board.

The industry has run the spectrum from the violent to the spectacular to the filthy and neither is now able to click in today's theaters. Hollywood has, certainly, left few stones unturned in its search to please the public. And, in the process, has turned many stomachs.

Cherries Add Sparkle To February Meals

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, small grapefruit, Emperor grapes, canned juices.

Vegetables — Potatoes, carrots, yams, Romaine canned corn, tomato products.

Protein Foods — Beef "specials", Boston butts, sausage, fryers, large eggs, dairy products.

Red tart cherries are on the plentiful foods list for February — a bright note when you remember the many holidays coming up that call for cherry pies and desserts.

Mrs. Franks

Stocks of canned red tart cherries are about 60 percent larger than last year and frozen cherries holding about the same as a year ago.

For the main dish, the man behind the meat counter says beef supplies for February will increase and will be greater than a year ago. Pork supplies for the month will be ample. Of course we must keep in mind that old man winter is still with us, and movement of livestock can be slowed down by lots of snow and extremely cold weather. However, when this happens, it usually means only temporary shorter supplies with fewer featured cuts offered. Fryers and turkeys will continue to be good buys — large eggs are a better buy than the smaller ones.

As for fresh vegetables, it appears you need not worry too much about deleted supplies . . . on the basis of "what to eat" anyway. This has been an unusual year with a number of damaging cold waves hitting practically every growing area in the country at one time or another during December and January.

Economy-minded shoppers will keep potatoes and carrots on the list. Prices on both white and sweet potatoes are low and expected to remain so, with the exception of Idaho bakers. Idaho holdings are 21 percent smaller than in January 1962. New red potatoes are on the increase, priced only slightly higher than the old crop.

Canned corn may add a sunny note to your February meals. It's now in record supply and all styles of pack are economically priced. You'll find bargains in tomato products too — all good to help supply that needed Vitamin C. For a note of spring (not at bargain prices) there is more hothouse rhubarb in the market.

From the fruit bin, apples will probably lead as the best fruit value this month due to weather and supply conditions of other fruit. Regular storage apples are holding good quality and "Controlled Storage" apples will appear in limited quantity. Grapefruits likely will be the best citrus buy — the small ones show best quality at the present time.

What about the price of orange juice? At this writing, it's hard to predict, for much depends upon the Valencia crop — the best orange for juice. In Florida, harvest is under way but juice yield still uncertain, and the California Valencias were badly damaged by the last cold wave. So,

"I'm careful of the words I say,
I keep them soft and sweet;
I never know from day to day
Which ones I'll have to eat."

FUN WITH LIMERICKS

No writer would say his limericks are poetry. They are just another way of trying to say something amusing to himself and, he hopes, to others. Here's what we mean:

There once was a lad from Nantucket
Who put out to sea in a bucket,
And he never came back
To his little old shack
When he heard a nor'easter had tuck it.

There once was a man from Altoona
Who lived on crackers and tuna,
But one time a host
Served him chicken on toast
And now he goes for it soonah.

The form of a limerick need not necessarily be interesting to a reader. Properly, all he looks for is an amusing, nonsensical idea wrapped into a small, disposable package. But it will appear to a reader with a second look that the writer must have more in mind.

Technically, a limerick has a very rigid form as to rhyme and meter or beat. Unless this form is used, you may have a little, foolish verse, but you don't have a limerick.

People must always give most of their time, thought, and effort to their burdens and their problems. Sometimes they wonder if their strength is equal to their tasks. Tension builds up. Reading a limerick or some other foolish verse could be one way to relieve it.

It says here . . .
Fun is where you find it.

'Nerves' Troubling You? Religion Offers Cure

One of the most common phrases today is—"Take it easy."

Rabbi Zelizer

Our doctors advise us to do so. When people greet each other in the street they part company with the phrase — "Take it easy."

It is, however, most difficult these days of turmoil, of tension and anxiety to take it easy. No matter who we are or what we do, we find too many demands that are made upon us. Some of us drive ourselves to exhaustion. Others use drugs or drinks to keep themselves relaxed. Then they become artificially so relaxed, that they are too tired to do anything. The net result is that our hearts and our nervous systems are adversely affected either from physical exhaustion or from stimulants.

We go to the doctor. "Nerves" is the verdict. "Nothing wrong physically" we are told. "Go home and rest" is the advice.

Religion offers another cure. God created the world in six days, we are told, and He rested on the seventh day. The Sabbath for the Jews or the Sunday for the Christians, if properly observed, was designed long, long ago to provide man the opportunity to take a break (not a coffee break) in the tension of the week's drudgery and endeavors.

Through prayer, public and private; through study of the Bible and religious literature; through discussions by the family of subjects other than those which take one's time during the week, one can provide for himself the break in the tension of the week's drudgery and endeavors.

We must do something to take our minds off the worries and the anxieties of the week. We must re-create our spiritual being. Yes, church and synagogues, the Sabbath, the Bible are some of the "pills" which the Great Doctor ordered a long, long time ago. Why not try to dissociate ourselves from the tension of the work-a-day living? Many undiagnosed ailments would disappear.

We are told time and again — "God is our strength." Why not try leaning on Him. Let us not wait for death, trouble, sickness. Let us lean on Him in time of joy, health and serenity. Then life would not drain us so fast of strength and stability.

If only we would learn this truth before it is too late. Life is an ambush. We do not know when the attack may come. Let us learn to utilize the life giving strength that can come from our religious traditions and the sources of strength they provide for us and our loved ones.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

The hour of truth for this once proud, solvent country is much nearer than millions of semi-conscious saps realize. For 30 years the Populists have succeeded in seducing a majority of our adult citizens into the insane belief that "something for nothing" and "everything for free" is possible if they vote right.

The tragedy is that millions have not been voting right. They have been voting left, and from year to year the dollar goes down and the national debt goes up. The country is now on the toboggan of national bankruptcy of the Federal Government and eventual repudiation of the national debt.

The New Deal has become a New Delirium, and the New Frontier is rapidly degenerating into a jungle of double-talk and buckpassing.

One thing only will stop this madness and restore the integrity of our currency and the responsibility of government at all levels. The turn to the right is gaining momentum and added voices every day, all over the country. Joe Doakes, presently a "monkey on a string" for politicians of both parties, is finally getting wised up to the bitter truth that he, himself, will be the first to be destroyed by this Populist madness.

Unless this crazy spending is stopped by 1964, every tangible equity will be destroyed, with the exception of unencumbered land. Social security will be a sham and most of the worthy "common good" projects that have been established out of the experience of nearly 200 years under the thesis of liberty under law, will go down the drain.

And what a tragedy it is to see that legitimate labor and all it has gained in more than half a century of honest struggle, now committing "goodwill suicide" because of radical mis-leadership. Examples are the dock strike, and the newspaper strikes in New York and Cleveland.

The real cause of this growing turn to the right is the destructive labor monopoly in huge industries.

The country has got to get back to God and WORK in 1964.

Adventure Treat Coming Feb. 2, 3

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Veterans Memorial Hall is the location, Feb. 2 and 3 are the dates, and another Wally Taber outdoor adventure show is the attraction. The Franklin County Allied Conservation Clubs is again sponsoring an exciting and educational color film showing that will appeal to both adults and youngsters.

If this sounds like a publicity blurb, you are right. For after hearing Earl Schaeffer's enthusiastic plans for keeping local clubs organized again, you can not help but give this worthwhile group a boost. We did it last year this time, and we're glad to do it again. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students. A 25-cent discount is allowed on tickets bought in advance at any leading sporting goods store.

The program this year will not feature Taber, but one of his experienced associates, Ebb Warren. Two films will be narrated by Warren — "Pacific Paradise" and "New Zealand Safari." On Saturday the program begins at 8 p.m., and the Sunday showing is a matinee starting at 2:30 p.m.

Ebb Warren resides in Michigan four months a year. The rest of the time he's traveling to remote places of the earth shooting film of hunting and fishing trips, and then showing it. He seems to have the sportsman's ideal job.

Let him tell you about the films to be seen here: "I can show you what must be the greatest fly fishing in the world from a New Zealand lake — 8 to 12 pounders are common. New Zealand's trout fishing is fabulous and much of its brood stock was developed from Michigan trout.

"Game is so thick the government employs hunters to keep the herds in check. There are no restrictions on foreign hunters and you can shoot what you wish. New Zealand has six species of deer, chamois, boar and elk. All of these are imported and there are no natural predators. Hunting is the only way to control them.

"Hawaii will surprise you. Even people who have been there find it hard to believe the island has pheasant hunting just as good as South Dakota, and boasts many other species of game. There's a lot more to Hawaii than just the beaches and hotels."

Asked what about the Taber program that appeals so much to sportsmen, Warren responded: "It gives people a chance to put themselves in our boots for an evening. They may never get a chance to actually go to New Zealand but they can escape there for an evening and see some spectacular fishing and scenery."

Warren doesn't believe that the world is so small that he will ever run out of places to film. His greatest ambition is to hunt Kashmir, a beautiful mountainous state claimed by both India and Pakistan.

Don't forget, Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 2 and 3 — the Franklin County clubs will appreciate it. See you there.

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

'Corngrowers, Lend Me Your Ears!'

Who would have guessed that corn has an ear for music?

Apparently nobody — at least not until farmer George E. Smith of Normal, Ill., shucked traditional corn growing methods and piped music into his fields.

McPeek

Smith, obviously a man attuned to progress, mounted loudspeakers on poles in his cornfields and from mid-May until mid-October harvest he piped music from a record player in his barn to the tassel-dancing cornstalks.

Night and day he kept the music turning and the corn grew tall. The tempers of some of his less musically inclined neighbors also grew tall, but any concern Smith may have had to retain a good-neighbor policy went up the silo when one of his hybrids (perhaps excited by Beethoven's "Eroica," as a wag in the New Yorker said) produced three times as many bushels of corn per acre as did the musically uncultivated hybrids in neighboring fields.

Despite the fact that University of Illinois agriculture experts stated "there is no known genetic, biological or psychological reason to believe that sounds can affect plants," agronomist Smith hopes to continue his experiments.

Assuming music does stimulate corn growth, the problem would seem to be to determine which music is the most efficient. Inasmuch as there are many hybrids and varities of corn, it also would seem plausible that different forms of music would bring various reactions from each type of corn.

From this non-scientific corner, it appears only logical that popcorn may best be stimulated by recordings of the Boston Pops Orchestra; sweet corn by the mellifluous sighings of Doris Day or Dinah Shore; roasting corn by the torrid lamentations of Lena Horne or Abby Lane; and hog corn by the rock-and-rollings of Chubby Checkers or the jazzings of Fats Domino.

Perhaps if more farmers were to pitch in, the answers could be found sooner. An ideal testing ground would be around Groveport and Canal Winchester, one of the richest corn producing areas in Franklin County. For more than 100 years, Groveport and Canal Winchester farmers have vied to see who could grow more corn per acre.

Not only is it possible that those areas could gain new honors, it could become known as the hibridelity, earsophonic music center of Ohio.

And all in the name of science!

BEST NOT SAID: You can't tell a drunk anything — it goes in one beer and out the other.

COMPOUNDING A CRIME: You can't soothe a coward — it goes in one fear and out the other.

WALLER WINS—The Tigers' Ed Waller leaps high to "can" a fast break field goal attempt against Central Friday despite a frantic defensive effort by the Pirates' Ray Revels. The Tigers caught Central napping with a sizzling start that set the pace for the win that vaulted them into sole possession of the City circuit's top spot.

AND THEN THERE WAS ONE

East Clouts Central; Eastmoor Wins Pair

East's jet-powered Tigers cleared the last obstacle to their dominance of the City League cage race Friday afternoon with a more-than-convincing 75-54 plaster job on a strong Central quintet.

The Bengals turned a game, which was pre-rated as a toss-up, into a rout with a frightening demonstration of precision fast-break basketball, closing out the first eight minutes with a secure 13-point lead.

THE PIRATES regained their composure in the second period but it didn't slow East, who upped their margin by four more points by intermission.

If the Tigers' hot shooting wasn't enough to discourage Central, East's control of the boards certainly got the point across to the 1,100-plus spectators that the fourth-rated Tigers weren't to be tamed.

Statistically, four Bengals finished in the double figures with Ed Waller's 19 markers showing the way. Ken Fowlkes (18), Bob Calloway (15) and Avery Godfrey (11) helped suppliment the Tigers wide margin.

EAST HAD A bit more difficulty the following evening, coming up with a fourth-period point-splurge to bypass Portsmouth, 55-47.

The Tigers entered the final stanza trailing 41-39 but made up the difference and then some, notching their 11th win in 12 tries this season. Waller and Godfrey sparked the East offense with 18 and 17 points, respectively.

EAST'S DOMINANCE of the schoolboy cage headlines over the weekend shadowed two wins by Eastmoor's rebounding Warriors — a 62-55 victory over North Friday and a 61-48 decision over Hartley the following evening.

The Warriors chilled the Polar Bears at a the foul line where a seven-point advantage made all the difference. Eastmoor got good scoring balance as Steve Howell, Nick Geldis and Ron Golden each hit for 13 points.

The Warriors broke from a persistent flock of Hartley Hawks Saturday, opening up in the final period to pull away. Steve Howell dropped in 25 points to keynote the Eastmoor scoring while Tom Schlager and Jack Diamond split Hartley's scoring honors with 11 markers each.

THE HAWKS weren't much more successful Friday evening in their Central Catholic League outing, falling behind after intermission to drop a 63-56 verdict to Springfield Central Catholic.

The Hawks, paced by Randy Rodich's 21 points, led 28-25, at intermission but couldn't match Springfield's shooting in the second half.

ALSO IN the Central Catholic League, St. Charles was forced to yield a portion of its league leadership to Watterson as the Carolians were edged, 41-40, by Newark Catholic.

The Cards, led by Dick Ferris and Mick Bauman (17 and 11 points,) respectively, trailed most of the game except for periods in the second half when they managed to rally and stay close with the Newark quintet.

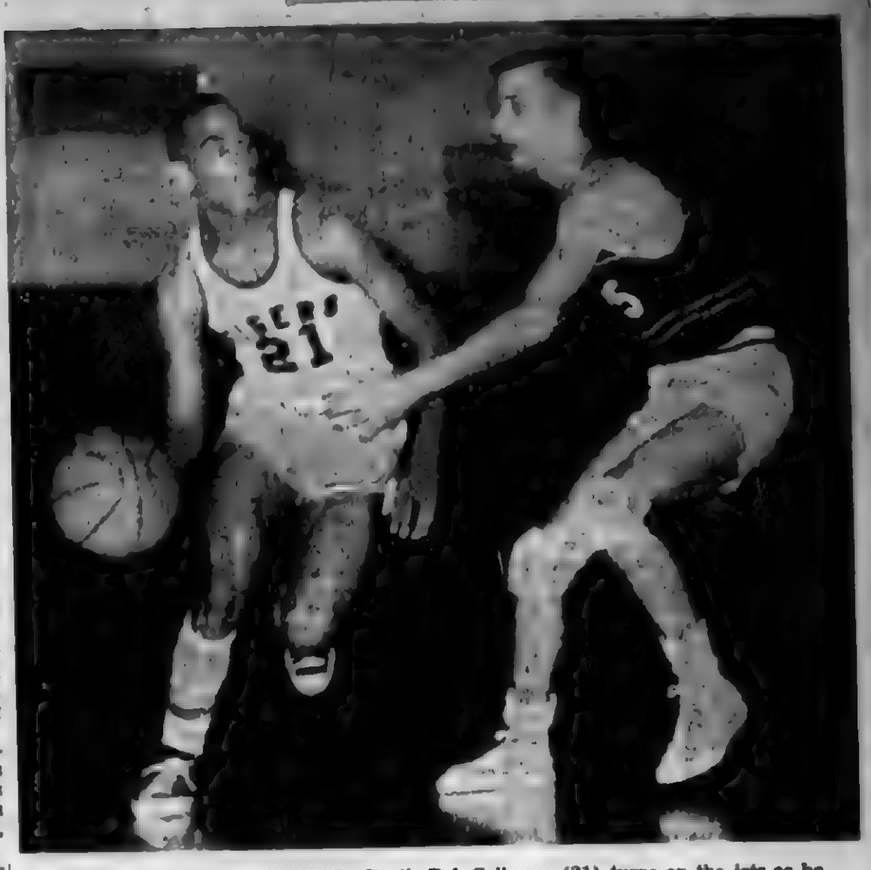
WEST'S COWBOYS put on a sizzling shooting exhibition after intermission to clout Walnut Ridge, 81-58. The Scotties, who trailed by 12 at halftime, were outscored, 24-11, in the third period as West pulled out to a commanding lead.

Walnut Ridge got double-figure scoring from three cagers as John McQuaid (14), Ron Dawson (13) and Jim Pyles (12) hit with accuracy.

ACADEMY'S VIKINGS came up with a fantastic 70 per cent shooting accuracy from the field Friday evening to snap Dublin's seven-game win streak with a 55-47 upset win.

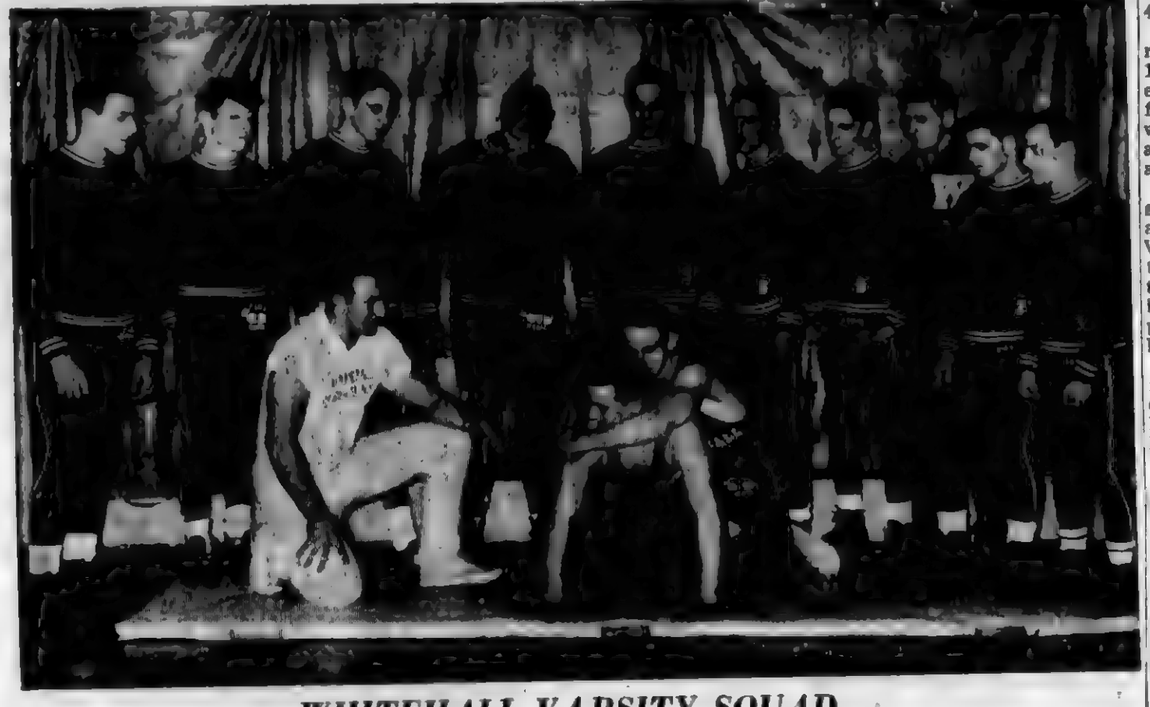
The Vikings, who never trailed, had their margin cut to four points entering the final stanza but never let the Shamrocks get any closer. Ken Holzman and Ed Laws split scoring honors for the Vikings with 15 points each.

BEXLEY'S LIONS plowed through a pair of weekend contests, finishing on the short end of the score both evenings — 50-45 to Mt. Vernon and 70-40 to league-leader Urbana.



The Lions appeared to have ant upset brewing Friday against the Jackets but their one-point halftime margin quickly dwindled as Mt. Vernon surged ahead to stay in the third period. Jim Hoyer's 19 points sparked the Lion offense.

It was much the same story Saturday night as Bexley battled Urbana on near-even terms for most of the first half, only to have the Climbers run away after intermission. Jeff Schmidt rung in 15 points to top Lion scorers.



WHITEHALL SAW A six-point first-period margin melt away Friday as Delaware rambled on to a 44-41 CBL.

The Rams scrapped right up to the final buzzer but were never quite able to close the gap against the Hayes five. Sam Maxwell's 13 were best for Whitehall.

Arlington stayed well ahead of the Rams the following night, running off to a 75-44 win. Maxwell duplicated his point total against the Bears to top Ram scorers. The double loss dropped Whitehall to a 1-13 mark this season.

CALLOWAY COMING—East's Bob Calloway (21) turns on the jets as he sails around Central's Dave Roberts and in for a field goal attempt Friday afternoon against the Pirate's. Calloway's 15 points helped the state-ranked Tigers to a big 75-54 win over Central in a City League showdown match.

THIS 13-MAN contingent composes the varsity wrestling squad at Whitehall this season. Ram coach Vince Gonino (kneeling, left) puts two of his grapplers through their paces as the rest of his squad looks over the hold. Standing, left to right, are: Dennis Burnheimer (156 pound). captain Al Rosenblum (122 pound), Mike Schmidt (167 pound), John Peck (heavyweight), Mike Fitzkiel (175 pound), Lanny Vogel (140 pound), Randy Catalina (129 pound), manager Mark Lee, Larry Pauley (114 pound) and Steve Heisel (105 pound). Locked in combat are Don Alton (135 pound, on top) and Bill Waters (147 pound, on bottom).

BOWLING SEEMS to be much more fun when the family does it. This picture could probably be sub-titled "Will the real 'Mother Margaret' please stand up." That's Margaret Hosier in the center—the mother of Mary Loomis (left) and Lois Hanawalt. The gals roll in the Main Lane Ladies League at Main Lanes Bowling Alley on E. Main-st and in the Twi-Lighters loop at Graceland.

Cold? Try Hot Stove Diet Of Encyclopedia, Trades, Tax Deduction

Our desk has been swamped during the past few weeks with continued advertising requests, urging our investment in a particular set of sports encyclopedias.

"In writing any type of sports material you'll find these volumes as indispensable as your typewriter . . . facts that never seem to be at hand when you need them in a hurry . . . if you're simply tired of thumbing through unwieldy files" . . . etc., etc., etc.

THAT'S THE trouble with people nowadays," we heard ourselves telling a colleague. Nobody figures anything out for themselves anymore. They look it up in a book."

Given an unlimited amount of paper, pencils and time, it was the contention of an old fourth-grade teacher that ANYTHING could be solved. With the mercury outside frozen at -11 degrees, we figured we had the time.

Let's see now. Trades are often used as a barometer for figuring out the results of the approaching pennant races. There've been 81 players traded since the end of the '62 season.

WEY NOT USE that as a basis for being the first in the neighborhood for scientifically and statistically figuring out the final lineup of teams in the '63 pennant races?

(A) Total up all the batting averages of the players departing from a club and those of players arriving. (B) Subtract to see if the team gained or lost batting punch in the trade. (C) Total wins and losses of departing and arriving pitchers.

(D) Figure how many wins or losses a team had acquired by comparing pitching records. Eg. Pitcher X is acquired by team Y. Pitcher X won nine and lost six; pitcher A is traded away with a 6-20 mark. Therefore, team Y is better by 17 games since X won three more than he lost and A lost 14 more games than he won.

(E) FIGURING pitching and hitting as virtually equal in determining success afield, we arrived at these final AL and NL standings, strictly on the basis of trade improvements (or vice versa):

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	Batting	Pitching
St. Louis	Plus .322	Plus 24
New York	Plus .219	Plus 17
Houston	Plus .083	Plus 10
Chicago	Plus .256	Plus 2
Philadelphia	Minus .092	Plus 2
San Francisco	Minus .218	Minus 9
Pittsburgh	Plus .311	Minus 21
Cincinnati	Minus .497	Minus 2
Los Angeles	Minus .193	Minus 17
Milwaukee	Minus .612	Minus 9

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	Batting	Pitching
Baltimore	Plus .677	Plus 12
Boston	Minus .006	Plus 9
Chicago	Plus .141	Minus 3
Kansas City	Plus.000	Plus 1
Minnesota	Plus .000	Plus 8
Los Angeles	Minus .006	Minus 1
New York	Minus.270	Plus 8
Washington	Minus .006	Minus 6
Cleveland	Minus .260	Minus 4
Detroit	Plus .214	Minus 13

HOWEVER, TWO hours, two-thousand figures and 20 shortened pencils later, we realized we didn't have the statistics on: (1) how many players collected their BA and W-L records in the minors; (2) how many players were selected on the basis of their fielding or 'long ball' potential and (3) how many of the players would spend 99 per cent of the season riding the bench.

But where can we get information like that we wondered? "With over 2500 fact-filled pages at your fingertips you'll have no problems in comparing won-lost records . . . noting the past performances . . . etc.

Our application for the encyclopedias is currently in the hands of the postal department. Besides, who ever heard of the Yankees finishing in seventh place?

WHILE WE'RE on the subject of baseball (the thought of sunshine and 80 degree temperatures is so warming these days,' here's some good news for all you income tax evaders out there!

Entertaining business associates at a baseball game continues to qualify as a proper deduction so better stockpile those diamond ducats.

The provisions of Section 274 of the 1962 Revtnue Act (applicable to the national pastime) reads, "Deductibility of cost of baseball tickets, used for purposes directly related to business, follows the same standards as used in the past."

BASEBALL TICKETS may be deducted as (1) entertainment expense, (2) business gifts, not exceeding $25 per individual per year ard (3) recreational expenses for employes.

Helping to improve the strains of "take the office staff out to the ballgame" are two additional tips that 'treatment of the season tickets as a series of separate items is advantageous to the purchaser' and 'receipt as proof of payment is not required.'

What these two statements mean in simple language is that you should spread the wealth around and don't worry about crawling around under the grandstand for that ticket stub Miss Jones so thoughtlessly discarded.

You must admit that it warms the heart to see our nation's two most popular pastimes — baseball and income tax finagling—working so unselfishly together.

Records Fall As Vikings Lose, 48-47

Records continued to fall faster than the white stuff outside as Academy's swimming Vikings dropped a tight 48-47 meet to Fremont Ross Saturday.

Fremont came from behind to win the final event — the 200-yard free relay — after Hugh Westwater had given the Vikings a lead, setting a new pool record (1:07.7) in the 100-yard breast stroke.

HENRY RICHTER, apparently dissatisfied with the record he set the week before, established a new mark in the 100-yard butterfly (1:00.5) and splashed his way to a new 200-yard freestyle record (2:04.6) four events earlier.

The other pool record was broken by Dennis Miller, covering the 200-vard individual medley in 2:20.

Bexley also suffered an aquatic defeat over the weekend, dropping a 53-45 decision to Greenfield McClain as the winners copped seven of 11 first-place finishes.

Wrestling Wrapup

Area matmen grappled their way through another week of wrestling activity but success proved difficult to attain for most squads.

East piled up the most impressive victory with a 26-9 decision over a tough Bexley team. It was the Tigers 10th win in 11 tries this season.

Highlight of the match was a battle of the unbeatens which saw East's Jack Hamler decision the Lions' Rick Mauger in the 165-pound division.

WORTHINGTON COPPED the last five divisional matches to remain unbeaten with a 24-9 verdict over Whitehall while Walnut Ridge and the Ohio Blind School battled to an 18-18 standoff.

Watterson compiled a total of 103 points Saturday to win the first-ever Catholic High Tourney at DeSales. Hartley's Hawks finished in the runner-up spot with 97 points while DeSales and Ready followed with 55 and 41 points, respectively.

The Eagles' Doug Chapin, a 145-pounder, was named as the tourney's most outstanding wrestler.

ELSEWHERE AROUND the area, Franklin Heights ran into trouble in Dayton, dropping a 24-17 decision to Kettering Friday. The hosts copped the final two matches to gain their winning margin.

Checking around the area for wrestling action this week, we find Whitehall hosting state power East Lake North Friday at 7:30 with another match set for Tuesday at 4 p.m. at University.

Grove City faces once-beaten Pleasant View Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Panthers' den. F-H's Falcons have two meets scheduled — Saturday against unbeaten Worthington and Tuesday at Hilliard.

Central's scheduled meet last Friday at Groveport was canceled due to poor weather conditions.

Probably the keynoter as far as wrestling activity goes is Worthington's Invitational on Saturday. Participating with the host Cardinals will be Franklin Heights, the defending champ, Whitehall, Circleville, Arlington, Martins Ferry, Toledo Devilbiss and Sandusky.

Preliminary matches are set to get underway at 12:30 p.m. with finals beginning at 7:30 p.m.

In other matches Tuesday, East nailed down its 10th mat win of the season with a 36-10 verdict over Bishop Hartley. The Tigers' Roger Young (122), Bill Evans (127) and Jack Hamler (167) maintained their undefeated status.

Weekly Bowling Like A Family Reunion For This Sporty Trio

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

When a trio of area gals unload their bowling equipment each Friday night at Main Lanes it takes on strong overtones of a family reunion.

Bowling interest, sparked eight years ago by Margaret Hosier and ignited in her daughters (Mary Loomis and Lois Hanawalt), runs high at Main Lanes and is heightened somewhat by the distilling on "inter-family competition."

Daughter Mary resides with her mother at 162 W. North Broadway while Mrs. Hanawalt lives in Sunbury and makes the weekly journey to Columbus to roll with the family in the strong Main Lanes Ladies' League.

But family interest doesn't stop with merely bowling. This trio believes in keeping it in the family and they all hold officer positions in the league.

Mary is president of the league. Mrs. Hosier—a grandmother incidently — is captain and Lois serves as secretary.

The gals have trophy proof of their prowess, too. They bowled two years ago in a national tournament in Buffalo and have won four team trophies with their participation on the Anderson Construction team.

"It's a game of concentration," Mary commented. "We all take it seriously even though we bowl because we enjoy it. Naturally, we usually compete against each other."

Margaret, who pointed out the game was "frustrating . . . like golf," dispelled the old theory about bowling being good for the figure. "Sure, it's good exercise, she said. But as far as trimming the figure is concerned, I don't think it helps."

Her statement rather belies that — she could probably pass for a college co-ed.

The bowling family thinks women should be "neat dressers" when engaging in the sport and shunned the theory that sweaters and slacks are in vogue around the alleys.

"And," they all opined, "if a girl wants to excel in the sport she has to be more than a casual bowler." Practice, that's the key word and it typifies these girls who bowl at least twice a week in competition.

They also practice in the Twi-Lighters League at Graceland.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Convene

Plans for a semi-annual convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, to be held February 22 to 24 in Columbus, have been announced by presiding ministers of Columbus area congregations.

"Right Kind of Ministers" will be the theme of the convention. Delegates will be drawn from central Ohio communities comprising Ohio Circuit 4.

It was at a convention in 1931 at Columbus that the name "Jehovah's Witnesses" was adopted for the group, and they are now designated this in 189 different lands around the world.

Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, N.Y., will sponsor the event and will send principal Speakers. Main address will be February 24 on the subject, "Who Will Win the Struggle for World Supremacy?"

Legion Will Hold 'Back To God' Service Sunday

American Legion Post 430 will hold its annual "Back To God" service at the Calvin United Presbyterian Church Sunday, Feb. 3.

The Legion sets aside the first Sunday in February for this service in the belief that our country will be strong if our people will return to the religious principles upon which our country was founded.

This precept is outlined in a five-point program: (1) raise our hearts and minds to God in individual daily prayer; (2) encourage the placement of Bibles in every home; (3) family Bible-reading as a part of everyday life; (4) emphasize religious training of children, and (5) encourage weekly public worship of God.

John H. Woehrle, district commander, will introduce the Legion and Rev. Harrison A. Greunler will speak on "The fate of America depends on the faith of America."

Page Overseas

Army PFC Denver Page, Jr., whose wife, Arclissia, lives at 2921 E. Sixth-av, is with the 24th Infantry Division in a month-long winter field training exercise in Germany.

Page, a forward observer in Co. C of the division's 34th Infantry, entered the Army in October, 1959.

The 20-year-old soldier, son of Mrs. Earnestine M. Dunlay, Sharples, W. Va., attended Sharples High School.

sions for getting the wife from the house on time and, in all, lessens much of the worry."

This program of "familiarity" certainly breeds "contentment" as many of the mothers — on an end - of - the - course evaluation sheet — comment they "knew what to expect and what to do about it."

At the open house in Feb., as with all of the class, expectant parents listen while experienced parents and authorities tell of the many aspects of childbirth.

Subjects included are labor, delivery, emotional changes, diet, relaxing techniques, types of anesthesia, diapers, infant care and, of course, the costs of having a baby.

There are also question and answer periods and most of the classes are conducted in a small, intimate discussion manner.

The open house, too, will serve as an introductory session to the ten weekly classes conducted under the association's auspices in two sections of the city.

East Columbus classes are instructed by Mrs. Ruth Niekirk, R.N., M.S.N., and assistant professor of obstetrical nursing at Capital University.

Classes in the North Side are instructed by Mrs. Joan Birtcher, R.N., M.N., and former obstetrical nursing instructor at Ohio State University.

One of the highlights of the instruction is a section on relaxation which has proven to be a vital part of pregnancy. However, the relaxing techniques prove to be just as valuable for Dad, too, and cut down his cigarette intake during hospital waits.

"Sometimes," Mrs. Kohler grinned, "the fathers take this relaxing thing too seriously. We occasionally have them fall asleep on us."

How can "veteran" parents be aided by the instruction? "Everyone can use refresher courses," Mrs. Kohler theorized. "The mother is taught to actively participate in birth because they'll occasionally forget what they have to do. This is how the refresher courses play an important role."

Besides Mrs. Kohler, other officers in the association are Vice-President Phyllis Hebner, Secretary, Carolyn Smith and Treasurer, Martha Istevan.

Membership isn't confined to the Columbus area, Mrs. Kohler said. Expectant parents as far away as 60-miles journey here to take advantage of the instruction.

Of course, the association still can't guarantee a boy or girl but, one thing's sure, it can certainly make Pop's morning sickness a little less violent.

Dear friends,

Often we are asked, "Whom shall we see about the preparation of the grave?" "Do you arrange for the clergyman?" "Can you notify the musicians?"

All these details are a part of our service. The family is relieved of as much concern as possible in making funeral arrangements. We know this means much to those whom we serve.

Respectfully,

Arthur B. Leach

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH ... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Even when you know the proper way to climb with skis and the way up becomes easier, it still exerts you. However, the way is made even less of an effort when you think of the rewarding ride down.

The reward of an eternal life with God is easier still because it is a gift.

"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Attend church ... learn more of this wonderful gift.

Dream To Aid Children With Exceptions Materializes

By BETTY DAFT

The modern, bright brick building on the corner of Souder and State-st is a dream-come-true for baffled educators and distraught parents . . . and a lifeline for the children most often misunderstood and neglected.

Here, children with exceptions find assistance and understanding, and an opportunity to build happy, well-adjusted and productive futures.

The rapid development of the Diocesan Child Guidance Center is matched only by the faith of its founder and director, Sr. Francois, SND.

Under her inspired leadership the center, opened in 1953 in third-floor quarters in the Diocesan office building, 246 E. Town-st, soon needed enlarged quarters, and moved to 1000 Bryden-rd. Finally, in the fall of 1961, it occupied the new, specially designed and equipped building across from Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Children of all ages, of all races and religions with exceptions ranging from speech and hearing defects, and emotional disturbance to an unusually high mentality, are helped here.

In their efforts to solve the increasingly complex problems of young people, from "Why Johnny can't read," to "Why Janey has lost contact with reality," parents and teachers are turning more and more to the center for help.

Sr. Francois and her expertly-trained staff study the uniqueness of each child's case through exhaustive physical and psychological testing, and recommend a course of training or treatment.

Children are treated on an out-patient plan. Very nominal fees are charged to those who can afford them, but none are refused because they cannot pay.

Careful, thorough physical examinations are given each child to determine his speech, hearing and seeing capabilities. Psychological testing follows. Finally, after consultations with the child and his parents, a remedial program is planned.

Babies are also given exhaustive physical and psychological testings at the center before being placed for adoption.

Sr. Francois, her name synonymous with the Child Guidance Center to Columbus educators, is the bridge between troubled children and their parents, and the highly specialized services at the center.

Her personal interest in each child and his needs, mirrored in her cheerful, friendly, informal manner, is reassuring to all who seek her help.

Of the center, Sr. Francois says, "With our heads in the clouds and our feet on the ground, we have dreamed this dream." Her faith that the dream would be matched with a million dollars and be materialized in the new Child Guidance Center never wavered.

"My hope," she continued, "is that we will be able to take care of all children with exceptions — the exceptionally bright children who will be brilliant leaders of tomorrow, the mentally retarded, the palsied, the deaf and the blind children.

"And," she said wonderingly, "just imagine — until this year we never charged. All our services were free to anyone who needed them. But it costs more to operate this building; our bills are so high.

"The best is so expensive and, of course," she added emphatically, "nothing but the best will do for our children."

There is surely no skimping on the quality of education in the center's staff. Ph.D. degrees and impressive records of training and practical experience are the rule.

Sr. Francois herself was a long time readying for her unique role at the center. Her career in the classroom covers many years of experience in academies of Notre Dame, from intermediate grades through high school levels.

She was, for a while, a member of the faculty of the University of Dayton, and supervisor of Notre Dame academies and high schools.

Her wealth of knowledge of children and their ways was gained through many years.

Her success she attributes to a deep reverence for the human personality and unshaken trust in God for guidance in caring for His children.

108.7 Acres ObtainedBy Park Board

More than 51 per cent of the land earmarked by the Metropolitan Park Board for the site of Chestnut Ridge Park, near Canal Winchester, has been acquired, Director Walter Tucker revealed this week.

The original maps indicated the board had marked off 205-plus acres for the naturalist park, and almost 109 acres have been purchased, he said.

It is possible, he added, that ultimately more acreage than planned will be purchased since some land owners have expressed the desire to sell more of their land than the board had expected to buy.

Tucker believes it will take a couple more years because some transactions proceed slowly, and the board cannot buy beyond the funds available at any one time.

"Much of this extra land will be used as a 'buffer' zone," he explained. "Such an area is usually reforested and serves as a screen between the park and abutting properties for mutual protection," the director went on.

Tucker refused to even speculate on how many years would elapse before the park would actually be developed, implying it was a long, long way off.

"Other areas are slated before Chestnut Ridge," he pointed out.

However, he stressed that the grounds already purchased are taken care of, mowed and are regularly patrolled.

Tucker reiterated that the park, which eventually will be developed, will not be a city-type park.

It will be designed primarily for those who enjoy the study of nature, hiking and beautiful scenery.

Confronted with the rumor it would include tennis courts and a ball park, he vehemently denied it.

"If we wanted to build a tennis court we certainly wouldn't pick the ridge of a hill like Chestnut!" he laughed.

Asked whether violation of park regulations is often a problem, he averred there is a "minimum of violations and delinquency" and "no misdemeanors or moral crimes."

Even the problem of litterbugs is not serious, the director said, attributing it to the belief that "cleanliness begets cleanliness" and that everyone hesitates to be the first to mess up the grounds.

Further explaining the difference between community parks designed for varied recreation and the metropolitan parks Tucker emphasized the latter are wildlife sanctuaries, places of retreat from the hustle and bustle of modern day living and afford the opportunity for the study of wild plant and animal life.

Discussing the educational use of parks, he stated that annually 8,000 fifth grade students from the public schools of Columbus are introduced to nature study by the teacher-naturalist, George Jenny, who daily conducts classes in the parks. Jenny is retained by the board of education.

The volunteer groups, such as Girl Scouts and YMCA, use the areas and assist in the maintenance and development of the grounds.

Asked about the fact that last year, when plans for the park were announced, a rather vigorous opposition had sprung up, Tucker, perhaps optimistically, said the dissention "has died down."

"There has been no controversy on the price of land we have bought," he said, "and our relations with the sellers has been very friendly."

Though empowered by law to start condemnation proceedings to acquire land the owner does not care to sell, the director stated that never in the history of the board has such a step been taken.

"Experience in other areas shows the use of land for park purposes enhances land values of adjacent and near-by property," he said.

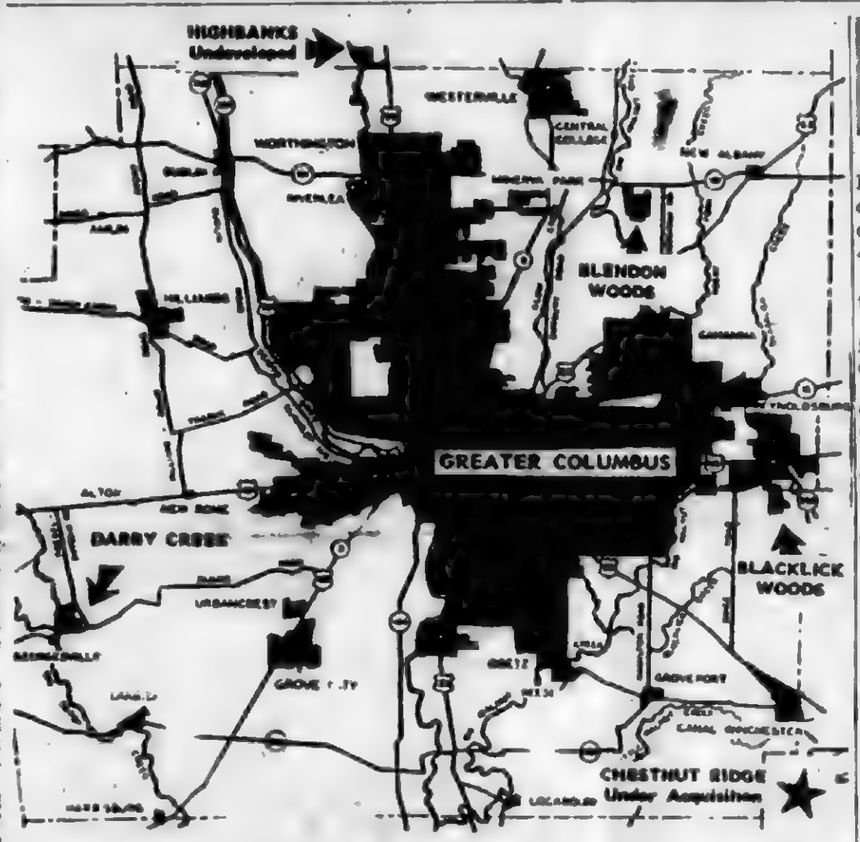
He mentioned that such land gives more protection to other property holders than zoning, as a park once located remains just that, always while zoning ordinances can be repealed or amended.

Conversation with several of those who had actively opposed the development showed that opinions on the matter are still sharply divided.

One definite change in attitude was apparent, though. Even thonse who feel the presence of the park would be detrimental to the community are no longer trying to do anything about it.

They believe they have no legal recourse except to abide by the law which permits the board to acquire land and use it for park purposes.

There does seem to be a definite resentment that residents of the area did not have more voice in the matter.



Park affairs are administered by a three-member board, appointed by the probate judge to three-year terms.

These men, who must be freeholders, serve without pay.

Money for land development and acquisition comes from a .3-mill levy voted tax. Operating funds are derived from a .1-mill levy which the board has the privilege of levying on real tstate without voter approval.

Obviously a man who himself loves nature, Tucker told of the many times he has seen well dressed, mature men come to the parks, leave their automobiles and stroll through the woodlands for an hour.

"It is here that many of our businessmen leave their cares," he said. "Our trees thrive on the troubles left under their shade."

FORMING A RING on the outskirts of Greater Columbus are the five Metropolitan Parks which are either open or under acquisition. Blendon Woods, Darby Creek and Blacklick Woods were hosts to over a half million persons from the area last year. High Banks and Chestnut Ridge where land is now being purchased, are not open to the public.

table in Mrs. Bowling's walls, much to the dismay of Mrs. Bowling's dog.

Since the day of the frozen water pipe was the same as the losing of the cat, Mrs. Bowling called Mrs. Deal.

Saturday Jan. 26, Mrs. Deal, thinking perhaps she had at last found the lost tabby, arrived at the Bowlings'. Using catnip and liver morsels, Mrs. Deal enticed a cat from a 2½-foot high and 18-inch wide space that had been sealed but was still an access to pipes within the wall.

Unfortunately, the cat was not the lost one.

Mrs. Deal, who also happens to be a member of the Cat Welfare Association which specializes in finding homes for stray cats, took the orphan home. She also told Mrs. Bowling of the group.

Of course, Mrs. Bowling was happy to have the cat out of her wall. But her dog was as restless as ever. Tuesday, Jan. 29, she spied another cat peeking out of the open space. Mrs. Bowling could not get this cat out either.

Remembering the Cat Welfare Association, she called for help. Mrs. Deal was assigned the project since the cat was in her area.

So, once again, with high hopes, Mrs. Deal returned to the Bowlings' to rescue what she hoped might turn out to be her own lost cat.

It took two hours, plenty of catnip and liver, but finally the feline waif appeared. This one was also a stranger, but it was taken home to Livingston-av to join its more comfortable companion.

Now Mrs. Bowling is happy, Mrs. Bowling's dog is happy and so are two cats which found a hole in a house and a house in a wall and a home on Livingston-av.

But Mrs. Deal?

If anyone should see a gray and black striped, long haired, tiger male cat with a pink collar, the number to call is 235-9110.

'Music Man' Production Is Scheduled For Feb. 15, 16

"Music Man" will be presented Feb. 15 and 16, 8 p.m., in the school auditorium. Paul Morris and William Barr are directing the production with the help of the music department.

The main characters include Mike Kapson as Harold; Bobbie Shaw as Marion, and Dave Henderson as Marcellus. Jody Rosenfield as Amaryllis and Mike Gussler as Winthrop are students from Johnson Park in the cast.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the cast for $1. They will also be on sale at the door.

"Facts on Fashion and Wardrobe Planning" was the theme for the Jan. 26 fashion show in Lazarus Assembly Center. Modeling for Eastmoor was Sally Seckel, a member of the Lazarus High School Board.

Monday, Jan. 28, was the first day of the new semester. Report cards were distributed.

The mid-term teachers' conference was held at Eastmoor Jan. 25. The teachers met to discuss various teaching problems.

But tonight I'm warm with thoughts of spring as I leaf through this beautiful book. I'm reading about "X-15" marigolds, atom tomatoes, Thumbelina zinnias and Golden Midget sweet corn.

Ferry-Morse seeds are not strangers in my life. I remember seeing them in HMCP Cox's Country Store at Cox's Landing, W. Va., back about the time I was a fourth grader in a one-room school. And they had "old time winters" then, too!

Humane Society Picks Jackman As President

Dr. J. W. Jackman, 124 S. Washington-av, a veterinarian, has been re-elected president of the Humane Society of the City of Columbus.

Also re-elected were: John H. Otto and A. J. Merrick, vice presidents; Max H. Gumble, treasurer, and Thomas C. Justice, assistant secretary-treasurer, and Ralph Wilkins, secretary.

Water Projects Get Federal Aid

Three local flood control projects were included in the appropriation of $40 million earmarked for Ohio rivers and harbors projects.

The local issues are: Big Darby Creek reservoir, $226,000; Deer Creek reservoir, $216,000 and Paint Creek reservoir, $150,000.

Columbus flood control projects were not included although they have been okayed by the U. S. Engineers Corps and Congress, making them eligible for funds.

Juvenile Admits Stealing Auto

Kenneth A. Breckenridge, 16, of 3955 E. Fulton-st, was arrested Jan. 22 in a stolen car, Whitehall Patrolman John Clark reported.

The boy confessed in a Juvenile Court hearing he stole the car and later stole a set of license tags to put on the auto, Clark revealed.

The boy faces further Juvenile Court action.

Three other boys who were with Breckenridge at the time of the arrest were reprimanded and released. Clark reported Breckenridge said the others were unaware the vehicle was stolen.

tail gathering.

Wild animals as pets? Yes, say thousands of suburbanites who have penguins in their wading pools, nine-foot boa constrictors in their front halls, and ocelots purring on their laps. You'll read how a wild animal can change your life at home — plus a word of warning from the curator of mammals at the world-famous Bronx Zoo.

Sweaters and hats are fashionably bulky — and fast to knit — in luscious shades of frothy mohair. Suburbia Today presents four designs that are just right for your spring wardrobe.

You can grow anything from a dwarf annual to a lemon tree in a container, says Garden Editor John Brigner. In "A Garden in Pots," he tells how to choose your container and how to begin with a brave show of annuals.

Food Editor Melanie De Proft has planned "Desserts with Elegance" — including celestial rice dessert with its own maraschino cherry sauce, vanilla soufflé and chocolate dessert amandine. With this month's recipes, you'll save the best for last.

Cartoonists are at it again in this issue! "Suburbia — Any Day!" takes a playful poke at "To Market, To Market" with some comments on the current crop of supermarket shoppers . . . and, of course, trading stamps.

And, finally, the news department, "Getting Around," hopscotches from Massachusetts to California with reports of a man who lost his sports car in a snow drift . . . and a lady who walks six miles to do her volunteer work.

Capital—

has been assigned to individuals.

Over 100 volunteer workers will take part in the drive. Together they will approach some 2,000 prospective donors.

A brochure, entitled "The University On Main Street" has been sent out by Capital to explain its 10-year expansion program campaign.

The booklet explains that Capital plans to include a new administration building, a women's gymnasium, an additional classroom building and several other propects in its future.

The expansion program is divided into two phases. Phase I is for Jan. 1, 1962 to Dec. 31, 1964 and includes $3,650 worth of building plans.

Phase II will run from Jan. 1, 1964 to Dec. 21, 1971, and includes $6,350 in new building and remodeling projects.

Dr. Yochum pointed out that such growth is necessary to meet enrollment increases expected within the next 37 years.

By 1970 enrollment is expected to increase to about 2,100. Present enrollment is 1,300.

Campaign workers figure the university's alumni (about 7,000) should provide at least $1 million. Approximately one-fourth of the alumni live in Franklin County.

Local constituents, friends of the Greater Columbus area, business and industrial firms, civic minded individuals and groups should provide another $2 million.

The remainder, about $2 million, would come from other sources — philanthropic individuals and foundations.

"The people's vote of confidence and generous support will be a sound investment in Capital," Dr. Yochum added. "A Capital Investment."

Open Those Valentines With Tact

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Without proper instruction, some gals can be in for trouble with a capital "T" this Valentine's Day.

And, "T" stands for "tact" and this is where the trouble lies.

You probably think that it's a mere task accepting a Valentine from an admirer. "Oh, sure," you reason. "Another Valentine . . . ho hum." Actually, the fine art of accepting Valentines is the most important of all virtues.

Throughout the years, gals have had to exercise said tact with the finese of a Cleopatra when opening the blushing-message — bearing envelope. And, times haven't changed much as of this year.

History points out that there are three basic types of Valentine openers. First is known as the "Rip and Reader." This one, as her name may imply, simply runs her index finger swifty under the glued flap with a resounding "Rip-p-p-p!"

VALENTINE PAGES INSIDE

Needless to say, this type is often frowned on by the opposite sex which usually prefers a bit more reverence in opening the package that took him so much nerve and brain-racking to conjure up.

Which brings us to our second form of card accepters. This is the most popular and most frequently used method of all. It's called the "Sonofagun-You-Shouldn't Have" approach.

Caution is needed in applying this one, however. If the guy doing the giving is a joker with a message of love something like "Roses are reddish, Violets are bluish; There's plenty of goils so who needs youish" type then he's not going to cotton to this blushing bride bit.

However, a girl really on her toes can foil this joker at his own game simply by putting the emphasis on the "Sonofagun" phrase so that it rings with sarcasm. He'll get a big kick out of that.

The third and final basic Valentine opener is commonly known as the "Let's-Hope-This - Is - All - In - Fun-Buster - Because - I - Think-You're - A - Square" type.

This can be the most dangerous approach of all, obviously, since the possibility of stepping on feelings already honed sensitive by the spirit of the season is very great.

The consensus of opinfon is that this final category be used as little as possible. Even if you think the guy's a clod, it's only proper and fitting that you accept his gift with a smile, flutter your fake eyelashes at him for not less than 20 seconds before going on your not-so-merry way.

Which brings up another point. The rules for Valen-

Mayor Nix Holds Back Rezoning

A proposal Tuesday night to construct Whitehall's largest apartment complex received strong protest from the city's mayor, Walter B. Moling.

Moling, who said he didn't know if he was speaking "as a mayor, or as chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission or as a taxpayer," leveled his protest at James Maxwell, attorney for Bernard Ruben, who is planning to develop the land.

In other action:

- Council approved four rezoning requests.
- The post of garage mechanic was established with a salary of $5,200 despite claims it is contrary to Civil Service requirements.

NOT IN BAG(SHAW)

The apartment complex, to be known as the Bagshaw Plaza and constructed at a cost of $1.4 million, is planned to be built on a 10-acre tract at Poth-rd and N. Yearling-rd.

Mayor Moling, after hearing the proposal, denounced the project by saying that ". . . I have worked continuously on this land — hoping to develop it into an industrial area."

The mayor said he "got it annexed for industry and plans to eventually develop it."

Maxwell pointed out that "any development is better than (1) a low-grade commercial operation such as a paint company, or (2) just letting the land lie there since its vacancy doesn't do much to help the tax duplicate."

Councilman Raymond Shipley asked the mayor if any attempts were being made to "entice industry" into the area and the mayor replied that he has "talked to some but they've evidently received better offers in other cities."

The mayor also said he had discussed the matter with the Chamber of Commerce but, as yet, hadn't advertised the land in any trade magazines.

Bagshaw Plaza would contain 210 apartments or five 42-family buildings. Included in the layout is a playground and picnic area.

Councilmen Kenneth McIntosh and Darrell Todd said they were both "leary" of the project since it would be bounded on three sides by industry.

The matter was tabled until

First Alumni Group Set At Whitehall

If you're a Whitehall-Yearling High School graduate and have ever had the feeling of not being wanted, you can rejoice in the fact that you are now . . . wanted, that is.

For the first time ever, Whitehall school officials are taking preliminary steps to form an alumni association and are asking that all Whitehall graduates—1958 through 1962—report [illegible]n writing.

the move was announ[illegible] week by Robert Addison, alumni advisor, and [illegible]s Poe, senior class advisor. They are requesting that Whitehall grads forward a letter with the following information:

Name, address, occupation, telephone number and a listing of any and all graduate frends that you may have similar information about. Women should give maiden name, if married.)

Send them to either Poe or Addison at the school, 675 Yearling-rd.

Thert is a note of urgency to the request since the class of 1958 is expected to have a five-year reunion this year.

WHITEHALL PRINCIPAL, Austin Peel (seated) is shown checking over the graduate roster which is to be brought up to date through the formation of an alumni association there. Standing, from left, are alumni advisor Robert Addison and senior advisor James Poe.

IF CAPITAL UNIVERSITY "Decade of Decision" fund raisers fill their pocketbooks as well as they did their stomachs Monday night in the Troutman Dining Hall on Capital's campus, all should go well for that university's $10,000,000 expansion program. This photo shows the some 135 committee workers who'll solicit industry, individuals and commercial operations (until April 1) for funds. $244,000 has already been promised.

Capital Fund Drive Is $tarted; $244,000 In

The disappointment of Governor Rhodes' failure to appear at Capital University's "Decade of Decision" fund drive dinner Monday night was partially compensated for by a financial report from Harrison M. Sayre.

Actually, the governor was there in spirit as his previously prepared speech was read by Commerce Director Warren H Chase whereas Sayre's report was there in dollar signs and that made just as much "cents" to the fund men.

Sayre, chairman of the committee for advance and major gifts, reported that 15 gifts, totaling $224,000, were already in. Approximately $75,000 of that is in cash.

Chase, opening up his impromptu appearance in the Troutman Dining Hall on Capital's campus with a few stories of his own, told the diners of Gov. Rhodes' "go forth with vigor" approach to the fund-raising project.

The speech cited the need for independent college expansion in order to take some of the expected enrollment load off of state-supported schools.

"Never before has schooling been so important," the speech read, "and there's no question as to the important role of independent colleges in our scheme of things.

Jaycee's Outstanding Young Man Is Active Community Member

ROBERT LAZARUS, JR.

Being named "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" by the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce should be reason for celebrating but, as for this year's selection, the community worker is just too busy.

Selected from 10 finalists, East Sider Robert Lazarus, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the basement store of the F&R Lazarus Co., is one of the most active members of his community and Columbus in general.

His efforts toward betterment of this city prompted the selection.

In presenting the award to Lazarus, Walter E. Bartlett, vice-president and general manager of WLW-C and the recipient of the honor last year, said, "Columbus is a far better place for all of us to live, because it counts Mr. Lazarus as one of its residents."

Lazarus, who is 35 and lives at 2094 Parkhill-dr, is a member of the board of trustees of the United Community Council, was treasurer for 1961, has served on the advisory committee, and was chairman of the affiliation committee.

He is president of the Columbus Urban League and has been active with the Children's Mental Health Center, the Planned Parenthood Association and Jewish Family Service. He is on the Board of the Columbus Jets, the Columbus Town Meeting and the Columbus Symphony. He is married and has four children.

160 YEARS AGO . . .

Labor-Saving Appliances Popular With Homemakers

Manufacturers were attempting to make housekeeping chores — particularly in the kitchen — less arduous for mother even in the early 19th century.

The Ohio State Museum here has opened a kitchenware exhibit from collections of the Ohio Historical Society to show the extent of the labor-saving attempts.

The 'wares, modern appliances of their era, were designed to take the drudgery out of corn shelling, ironing clothes, pitting cherries, stuffing sausages, and the three-time daily cooking chores.

Today, many of the items turned out in that "iron era" linger on in the home, forming decorator pieces, the coffee grinders turned into lamps or flower holders, and the trivets gracing walls.

The modern-day housewife has a variety of pressing irons, and there was no shortage of varieties in 1825 either.

The hand pressing irons of that day vary from one that is self-contained in that it was heated by alcohol carried in a small reservoir, and those heated on the cook stove. The irons were changed as they cooled.

Fluting irons, odd creations much like scrub boards, were used to crimp milady's collars and cuffs. Others look much like old style clothes' wringers.

All items were manufactured to be utilized either on wood, coal or gas-fired stoves, and include waffle irons, kettles, ladles and other wrought iron wares.

Also in the appliance category are apple parers and corers, cornshellers, an early style pencil sharpener, and cherry stoners.

The exhibit is on the first floor of the Ohio State Museum, High-st at 15th-av. Museum hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, and 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays and holidays. Admission is free.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Food Marketing Costs Remaining Stable

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, bananas, small grapefruit, canned apple sauce.

Vegetables — Cabbage, potatoes, yams, carrots, onions, frozen lima beans.

Meats — Fryers, chuck roasts, Boston butts, hams, bacon.

For the first time in more than 10 years, food shoppers can't complain about "rising marketing costs." The cost of getting food from the farmer to you did not increase during 1962, according to U.S. Department of Agricultural economists.

Mrs. Franks

The retail cost and the farm value of foods in a typical market basket did, however, rise slightly, the economists report.

Last year the estimated retail cost of the market basket foods was $1,064 compared with $1,060 in 1961. The farm value of these foods increased from $404 to $408. But note, that the farm-retail spread (the much-complained-about marketing costs) stood at $656 for the past two years.

The market basket — used by U.S.D.A.'s Economic Research Service to compare food costs — contain the average annual quantities of farm food products purchased per wage-earner or clerical working family in 1952.

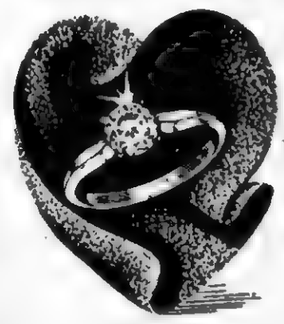
Canned And Frozen Vegetables Can Lower Your Food Bill

Families have always used more processed vegetables during January, February and March than other months of the year. This winter, in view of the current prices and quality of some fresh vegetables you may want to consider even greater usage of frozen vegetables.

Supplies of canned vegetables into mid-1963 are expected to be substantially larger than a year ago and for the recent 10-year average. In many areas during 1961-62, vegetable growers had bumper crops. Some items which you'll likely see featured due to large supplies include: corn, snap beans and tomato products.

Higher prices on citrus juices have resulted in accelerated shipping of tomato juice. Catsup, chili sauce and tomato paste are also in heavy supply. You're wise to carefully compare the costs of the 12-ounce vs. the 14-ounce bottles of catsup before buying in quantity — there's a much larger pack of the 12-ounce size, making it the size likely to be a bargain.

Total supplies of frozen vegetables are expected to be slightly smaller this year than last, but many major items are still in heavy supply. Corn, peas, lima beans and French fries are likely to be especially good buys from the frozen food chest. You might watch frozen asparagus too; while stocks are down from last year, new packaging will begin in about three months.



Shop the food ads before you shop the store.

National Beauty Salon Week Salutes Women's Beauty

Special Beauty Tribute Set For Feb. 10-16

A special salute to the beauty of women in the United States will be made Feb. 10 through 16 during National Beauty Salon Week.

The week has been so-named in order that richly deserved honors can be given well-groomed American women who have been called, "the most precious and inspiring assets in the nation."

As one female beauty expert described NBSW, "This is the time for all of us to recognize the great strides made by the beauty profession which brings the finest beauty care to American women."

The slogan for this year's program is, "There's Magic For You in a New Hairdo."

Cosmetologists from coast to coast will conduct special programs to highlight the "beauty magic" their special services bring to community and individual welfare throughout the year.

As part of the program, in more than 1,300 cities, experts will provide beauty care to persons confined to hospitals. This service has been lauded by members of the medical profession for the beneficial results it has had on the morale of patients.

Other public services to be rendered by cosmetologists are personal appearances at fashion shows, hair style displays, and lectures and demonstrations before women's groups.

TO OUR ADOPTED DAUGHTER

Oh, mommy's precious Valentine—Daddy's too!
You're home with us at last.
And all our love sings to you
From childless years now past.

Oh, blue-eyed Valentine of mine—and Daddy's too!
You're home with us to stay.
And all our joy springs to you
From lonely hearts, now gay.

My sweet small Valentine—Daddy's too!
You'll feel at home with us, we pray.
And all our hope lives with you.
No empty arms this Valentine's day!

WAR I WIDOWS

World War I Widows will hold a potluck dinner meet Wednesday, Feb. 13, 6:30 p.m. at the Veterans Memorial Building, Room 208.

'Belle' Style' To Be New Spring Rage

These two coiffures show two different and distinctive lines in the romantic "Belle" hair fashions designed for spring and summer.

The "Easy Elegance" coiffure is designed in the "down" line, especially for the free and easy look in many spring couture collections, as well as for the long and fluid lines for evening.

It has the understated quality of simple elegance with lovelocks curved at the temples, and a graceful swing of waves hugging the head, framing the face.

A regal sweep of rising wave curls at the crown and overthrown waves and lovelocks at the sides distinguish the "Magic Belle" coiffure for the "up" line of new hair fashions to give harmony with rising waist lines and Empire influences in clothing.

Both require professional hair shaping and permanent waving to give the hair its ease of care and soft lustre, as well as its convertibility from the "down" line into an "up" line.

The new coiffures will be featured during National Beauty Salon Week, Feb. 10-16.

From Home

By Jo Ann Barrick
Reynoldsburg

The boy stood on the hill,
Sad and grim was he.
This boy was a soldier,
He was lonely, you see.

He remembered a long time ago,
When he was a very small boy
When everything was filled
With happiness and joy.

The soldier had a girl,
But she was far away.
He thought of the happy times
When they were carefree and gay.

He remembered a special day,
A year ago or two.
He gave his girl a Valentine,
It said, "I love you."

This wasn't a fancy card,
Didn't cost a lot,
The most important thing,
Was the message that it brought.

As he thought of happy times,
A tear ran down his cheek.
He hadn't heard from the folks at home
For, I guess, about a week.

Just then someone called his name.
He turned around to see.
The fellow had a letter
The soldier asked, "For me?"

He hurriedly opened the letter,
A smile came to his face.
It was a Valentine,
Covered with frills and lace.

The soldier was so happy,
He was feeling fine,
Because on the card was written,
"Will you be my Valentine?"

Mothers Know

By Virginia Nichols Nelson
713 Pleasant Ridge

Many years ago,
I saw him run to me.
Quickly through the snow,
From school at half-past three.

"I made this just for you!"
He shouted forth in joy,
"I hope you like it too."
(From such a tiny boy.)

The heart was smeared with paste,
Its lacy frill askew,
The words crayoned in haste,
But clearly, "I love you".

I think all mothers know,
Why each spring-cleaning day,
I cannot bear to throw
This Valentine away.

Dec. 27, 1832, John Calhoun became the first vice president of the U.S. to resign.

Eastmoor Senior Wins Pageant Title

An Eastmoor High School student was named winner of the America's Junior Miss Pageant held Saturday at Whetstone Recreation Center.

The local contest was sponsored by Noni Charm School. Finalists will compete in Mobile, Ala., for scholarships totaling more than $20,000.

Whitehall, Hartley Targets For Civil Air Patrol 'Beef Up' Drive

Whitehall and Hartley high schools were targets of a recruiting drive this week to enlarge the new Civil Air Patrol Squadron in this area.

Lieutenant Harlan E. Horne and his staff visited both schools with a special "facts and films" program to acquaint interested students with the CAP Cadet Program.

The Civil Air Patrol Cadet Program offers high school boys and girls a complex aviation education program supplemented with orientation flights, drill, and camping trips, plus various related tours and field trips.

The advanced cadet will take part in search and rescue missions and a week-long summer encampment program at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton with hundreds of fellow cadets from all over Ohio.

Cadets that complete the aviation education program get to compete for the coveted activities of Civil Air Patrol such as the International Air Cadet Exchange that sends many cadets abroad for a month to one of more than 20 participating countries; or the Jet Orientation Course held annually in Texas that offers the cadet an advanced course in jet flying concluded with five hours of flight in a modern jet trainer aircraft.

Working closely with the Cadet Program are the adult members of Civil Air Patrol who come from all walks of life to serve as administrators, communicators, pilots, and instructors in the fastest growing youth organization in the nation.

Whitehall's CAP Squadron will be accepting new members, both cadet and adult, until Mar. 1. Additional information can be obtained at their regular weekly meetings each Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Holy Spirit Church on Broad-st at Yearling-rd.

For pre-registration, parents should call the Jewish Center, BE. 1-2731. There is no admission charge to participate in the study.

White Hall House To Be Removed For Apartments

The original White Hall farmhouse, loated at Maplewood-av and E. Main-st, will be razed for an 84-unit apartment project.

Namesake for the city of over 20,000 residents, the building was named "Ye Olde White Hall Tavern" by Robert Brotherton who purchased the building from the original owner in 1838.

The name was made one word when Abraham Doney bought the property in 1869.

The territory became the village of Whitehall in 1948.

Mayor Walter B. Moling hopes to use scrap lumber from the structure to make gavels for the Whitehall City Council and other groups to maintain a part of the original city history.

Stage Band Festival Is Saturday

Buddy Baker, of Indiana University, will be the guest soloist and clinician for the event. Baker is a former member of the Stan Kenton Band, a faculty member at Indiana University and a staff member of the National Stage Band Camps.

There is no admisson charge and all interested students, teachers, and parents are invited to attend the affair starting at 9 a.m.

Prose And Rhymes — Loving Lines About Valentines

VERSE VEXES VAGABOND LOVER

HAIG MENENDIAN, 1782 E. Main-st, always thought writing flowery poetry was a cinch until he decided to create his own Valentine. Haig's fiance, Loretta Gasparian, lives in Asbury Park, N.J., and the courtship has been a long-distance affair. He is shown here trying to find the words for his home-made Valentine. Haig and Loretta plan a spring wedding unless the lovely lass changes her mind after receiving the make-shift verse.

My Only

By William Driscoll
[illegible] Parklawn-blvd

I love you, dear, with all my heart.
I've told you this right from the start.
And thru the years up to this time,
You've been my only Valentine.

I love you more than I can say,
And this is what I always pray —
That you, sweetheart, true love of mine,
Will always be my Valentine.

Although I feel like this all year,
And always strive to show you, dear,
It's nice to have this special time,
To ask you to be my Valentine.

I hope you will accept my plea,
And just a look will let you see
That your consent to be just mine,
Makes my heart beat three-quarter time.

So with this message of my love,
That surely was designed above.
I give this longing heart of mine,
To you, my sweetheart Valentine.

Legend

By Agnes Smith
1135 S. Kellner-rd

Long ago in the days of old
There's a legend, we've been told.
All the birds would choose a mate,
Build a nest and set the date.

Every year or so they say,
The second month, the fourteenth day,
Our feathered friends in flight above,
This day would always find a love.

So Cupid skips down through the years,
Each time this special date appears.
With bow and arrow, little darts,
He takes aim and pierces hearts.

Messages of, "I love you,
Won't you say you love me, too?"
Or "I'll be yours if you'll be mine,
Won't you be my Valentine?"

Funny, crazy, it may souund,
But love does make the world go round.

To An Enemy

By Alex Zosserman
By Alex Bosserman

I come no more to make you frown;
Nor act no more like a circus clown;
But to greet you with my purest love;
Like the purest light from the stars above.
I ask your friendship; Do not laugh at me.
For love may be taller than the tallest tree.
Great forces of nature push oak at the bough.
Yet, love can't be moved: neither never nor now!

Where yourself may be found, I do not know;
In the brook? In the forest? Or in the snow?
In beauty? In music? Or in the sea?
If only you'd give your key to me.

I'd shelter it far and I'd shelt it near;
I'd protect it always to keep, my dear.
The world I'd give; and the world I'd take;
To know what you and I could make.

May you be guided in your thought,
On what this note may mean, and what it may not,
For if you, yourself, don't accept my plea,
I'll always be waiting, till you're ready for me.

A Valentine

By Joan Litzinger
1075 Lilley-av

Only a paper of little worth
To express what is felt, but not been said.
A heart-shaped image gives love its birth and warm thoughts glow as the verse is read.

These words are mere symbols for a thought—
They cannot know what they say or do.

They say what I fear that I ought not—
They speak what I feel for you.

Love Things

By Susan Mynark
2639 Tudor-rd

A day for pink and red and white,
For frilly cards addressed just right.
Cherubs sweet with cute round faces,
Appear in unexpected places.
Sonnets, verses, riddles, rhymes,
Golden bells and tinkling chimes.
Pounds of candy good to eat,
Chocolates, carmels, rich and sweet.
To these and pure love, consecrated,
Valentines is dedicated.

Dems Have Most At Post As Primary Race Deadline Finalizes All Filings

Franklin County political candidates have made it a dead-heat for the filing deadline as various races through-out the city take on pari-mutual appearances for the May primary.

Final filing time was 4 p.m. Wednesday. Heaviest filings have come from the Democratic camp while Republicans are relying heavily on incumbents.

In the face of mayor incumbent W. Ralston Westlake has received the Republican endorsement for another term. He will be opposed by former Columbus Mayor M. E. (Jack) Sensenbrenner, a Democrat, who served two years of an unexpired term, as mayor, and was re-elected to a full term from 1956 to 1960.

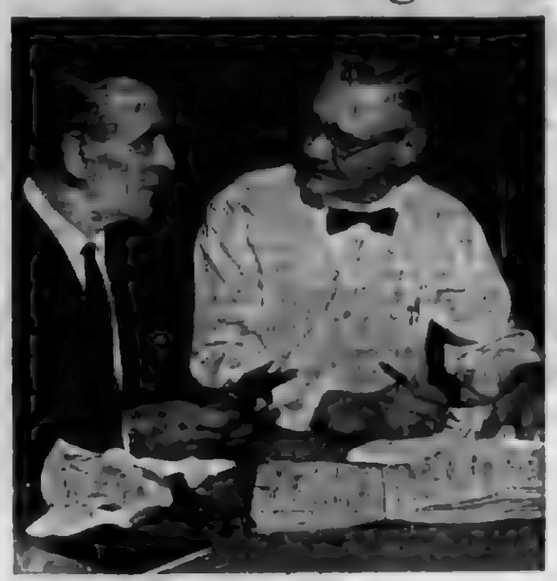
A West Side businessman is a possible candidate in the race for mayor. He's John E. Bricker, 33, assistant vice-president of John Getreu and Son, Inc. He will seek one of the two nominations in the non-partisan primary.

Besides the mayor race, other candidates from the individual parties include:

REPUBLICAN

COUNCIL—Harvey H. Alston, 1893 Greenway South, former chief inspector under police chief George Scholer; Golda Mae Edmonston, 59 W. Dominion-pl, current city councilwoman; Ronald E. DeVore, 329 S. Terrace-av, current city councilman and Ronald A. Sedgwick, 58 Orchard-ln, current city councilman.

JUDGESHIP — Russell Leach, 1437 Severn-rd, former city councilman and Dean Strausbaugh, 1675 Roxberry-rd, now serving as a judge.



CLERK OF COURTS—Ted Hysell, 385 Garden-rd, incumbent.

DEMOCRATIC

COUNCIL — William P. Hoermle, Sr., current lone Democrat councilman; Ronald Tuggle, 4689 Dundee-av, official of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Russell E. Jones, 1757 Franklin-av, former city councilman; Morrie J. Murphy, 5397 Ivyhurst-dr. D. Portman, 80 S. Chesterfield, a broker; Roland T. Gilbert, 1737 Niagara, an attorney; Carl Thompson, 2240 Ontario, a North American employe; Daniel Specht, 2531 Summit, a dentist and Joseph J. Murphy, 5397 Ivyhurst-dr.

CITY ATTORNEY — Dr. Frederick Rose, 434 Canyon-dr, former permit chief for the state liquor department. (He will oppose write-in candidate John C. Young who replaced Russell Leach).

JUDGESHIP — Richard L. Brennan, 45 E. Lane-av, an attorney Robert D. Holmes, 500 Shelby-bl, S.

"SENSENBRENNER'S the name—and I want to run for mayor." This was the scene at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Franklin County Court House Annex as M. E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner filed as candidate for mayor of Columbus. Thus began a renewal of the 1959 race for mayor between Sensenbrenner and W. Ralston Westlake, both Hilltoppers. Westlake filed Tuesday morning, a day before the deadline. Seen here accepting Sensenbrenner's petition of 5,600 signatures, and the filing fee, is Harold Holtzworth, 831 Montrose-av, clerk of the Board of Elections.

J. Brockmeyer In Thailand

John D. Brockmeyer, hospital corpsman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Brockmeyer, 1119 Barnett-rd, is serving aboard the attack transport USS George Clymer, which was part of the combined United States-Thailand forces engaged in Exercise Jungle Drum II during January.

The exercise, involving 13 ships of both navies and Marines from both countries, was the largest assault ever staged on the Asian mainland by forces of the South East Asia Treaty Organization.

Bexley Adults To Hear Speech On Civil Defense

The Bexley Adult Education group, which meets weekly in Bexley High School, has invited Russell E. Pennell, Sr., director of the Columbus and Franklin County Civil Defense, to be its guest instructor Monday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m.

A Bit Of Everything Set For Spicer Concert

Traditional English ballads, American folk songs, Shakespeare and Gilbert and Sullivan are all the ingredients for the program recipe to be supplied by singer Earle Spicer Tuesday, Feb. 12, at Mees Hall on the Capital University campus.

Among his arrangements, Spicer will include renditions of "The Rich Old Woman," "Barbara Allen," "The Erie Canal," and "When I Was A Lad."

Spicer

The baritone balladeer has appeared in over 1200 performances at more than 450 colleges and has never wanted from lack of acclaim.

His programs combine instruction with entertainment while he accompanies himself at the piano with brief informal comments. He uses highly entertaining material such as a Shakespeare "quiz" and parodies on Gilbert and Sullivan songs pertaining to college life.

Spicer, born in Nova Scotia, studied at London and New York colleges and has been guest soloist with symphony orchestras and oratorio societies here and abroad.

For three years he was "Radio's Fuller Brush Man" with Donald Voorhees and his orchestra and was also "The Story Singer" on NBC.

His folk singing started as a hobby, but at the suggestion of music critics he decided to specialize in the singing of ballads and folk songs.

Ticket information concerning his concert lecture series appearance may be obtained by writing the Office of Public Information, Capital University, Bexley 9.

Dick Golden Thanks Friends For 'Warm-Heartedness'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was submitted by Dick Golden, a former Bexley High School student who, in 1962, received a severe injury while participating with the school's wrestling team. His letter, printed here, is to serve as a "thank you" to friends who aided him during his ordeal.)

Due to the fact that it is most difficult to get in touch with each indivdual or the 1962 graduating class of Bexley High School, I wish to express my deepest gratitude, through the Eastern Review, for helping to make my Christmas a happy and most comfortable one with a surprise gift of a beautiful contour lounge chair. This chair enables me to be up a greater percent of my time, whereas before, I was in bed most of the day.

Your loyalty to me since my accident, Jan. 18, 1962, as fellow classmates has been most remarkable and impressive. I feel it a real honor to have been able to graduate with a class of such devotion.

I also wish to express my appreciation to Bexley High School, as a whole, for your deep concern and kind interest. Had it not been for your moral support and hard pushing, I assure you it would have been more difficult for me. And last, but certainly not least, a big "THANK YOU" to Dr. Clark Pritchett and his Bexley Citizens Committee for their personal interest and warm kindness shown me in many ways.

My warmest regards to all,
Dick Golden

In March, he became commander of the overseas segment of the 121st Wing, known as the 7121st Tactical Wing, at Etain Air Base, France. He remained in this post until the activated Air Guardsmen returned to Ohio last August.

Sportsmen Hunt On Public Area During Season

Sportsmen from 33 counties hunted during the month-long season on the Franklin-Pickaway public area, according to the Ohio Division of Wildlife. During its second year of operation the numbers of game animals taken were: 452 pheasants (released), 40 rabbits, 22 quail and 24 native pheasants.

A total of 2,123 hunting permits were issued.

Located just south of Columbus, this leased public hunting area is useful in relieving pressure from private land, said Virgil Scott, district game management supervisor for the division.

"While a number of counties were represented, 77 percent of the hunters were from Franklin County," he commented.

The area was in operation from Nov. 15 to Dec. 15. Free permits were issued for the total time, giving a fairly exact figure on the game harvest. Ninty-five percent of the hunters reported back to the checking station.

Queen Juliana ended 347 years of Dutch rule by signing an act Dec. 27, 1949, transferring sovereignity to the newly formed United States of Indonesia.

TV Discussion For Corn Growers Set

A thirty-minute television discussion of a topic of major interest to every corn farmer - farm management - will be presented on station WBS-TV February 9 at 1:30 p.m.

The special program is the second in a series of farm seminars designed to acquaint corn growers with the latest efficient practices being followed by successful growers, and recommended by agricultural authorities.

The main discussion will center on how proper farm management is the key to increased income.

The harvested crop is only one of the farmer's resources. Along with seed, he must also consider his soil, labor, equipment and capital investment; and all of these must be coordinated throughout the year so that a profitable operation is the result.

Showing how this can be most efficiently achieved will be the aim of the panel program.

The participants will take management out of its stereotyped picture as "just bookkeeping" and translate it into a vital and essential procedure.

Suburban is a national regular common carrier. It's certificate of public convenience authorizes direct service in the six-state area of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia, and interline accomodations to 41 other states, Washington, D. C., and Canada.

MOLING AND MANSFIELD
. . . Or, Body Guarding Made Easy

DOWN, BOY!

Like To Be A Body Guard For Jayne Mansfield? He Was!

By JERRY WOLFROM

When lovely Jayne Mansfield needs a body guard on her visits to Ohio, her agents pick up the phone and dial 237-7433 on Columbus East Side.

They talk to a man named Richard Moling who operates one of the most successful private-eye enterprises in this part of th country and are assured that the star will be safe from exuberant autograph seekers, among other things.

To Moling, president of Moling and Associates, 2487 E. Main-st, it's all in a day's work.

His detective bureau has insured the safety of many of the world's famous personalities during their public appearance jaunts through the Buckeye state.

Moling's staff has served as body guards for such notables as Les Paul and Mary Ford and other TV stars. Most recently, they served as guards for members of the Cleveland Browns football team even though these hulking athletes would be the last persons expected to need protection.

Moling, who also serves as general manager of the rapidly expanding investigation and guard service, coordinates projects to guarantee the safety of personalities throughout the state.

Moling, with a staff of about 100, has broken the organization into two districts — the Northern Ohio district and the Southern Ohio District.

The president is a 15-year veteran in investigation work and has attended a number of schools, clinics, and seminars on criminal investigation.

Several of the Moling staff are experienced in polygraph (lie detection) work, and have aided law enforcement agencies in solving several Ohio murder cases.

Recently the agency was responsible for the guarding of the famous Woolco diamonds ($2 million) when they were exhibited in Columbus. In addition, Moling's men regularly are employed by the U.S. Trotting Association during Ohio State Fair Week.

"We often serve on fire check projects all over the state," Moling said.

Moling is past president of the Ohio Association of Private Detective Agencies and currently serves as safety director of Whitehall. He is also a member of the Council of International Investigators.

His wife, Jean, is secretary-treasurer of the firm.

Extent of the 1959 flood in Columbus is shown on a new map produced by cooperative efforts of the Ohio Division of Water and the U. S. Geological Survey.

Areas flooded in 1959 are indicated in light blue on a topographic map, including the Scioto River, Olentangy River and Alum Creek. The map, is officially called "Hydrologic Investigations Atlas HA-52."

An introduction states that greater floods are possible, but that the flood of Jan., 1959, on the Scioto was the greatest since 1913, and on Alum Creek the greatest since 1924. Heights on the Olentangy River were several feet lower than in 1913, due to protection afforded by Delaware Dam.

C. V. Longquist, chief of the Division of Water, said the maps can help local authorities prevent improper land development in floodway areas, restrict uses hazardous to health and welfare and encourage adequate channel clearance and maintenance.

The map is available for 75 cents from the Division of Water, 1562 W. First-av.

Police Tighten Area Regulations

Police Chief George Scholer has announced increased enforcement of laws concerning speed and changing lanes unsafely from 7 to 10 a.m. on Broad-st, from Harding to Weyant.

He also announced increased enforcement of laws concerning stop signs and red lights from 4 to 9 p.m. on Livingston-av, from College to James.

Police reports listed a traffic fatality at Livingston and Cassingham on Jan. 25.

Libertarian Exponent To Speak At Exposition

Leonard E. Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, Inc., will be the kick-off speaker for the Fourth Biennial Electrical Manufacturers Exposition, Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Leonard E. Read

Read will speak at the kick-off luncheon prior to the opening of the three-day show in Veterans Memorial Building.

An out-spoken exponent for Libertarian Government, Read will speak on the subject of "The Essence of Americanism." Exponding on the "American Miracle," he states it is economic in this sense: "If an individual has the right to his life, it follows that he has a right to sustain his life —the sustenance of life being nothing more nor less than the fruits of one's own labor."

Read began his early education in economics at the age of eight when his father started him milking cows on the farm. He says, "I learned the relationship between hard work and a quart of milk. All else in economics is but embellishment on this primary lesson."

Thomas Jander Is Reassigned

Second Lieut. Thomas R. Jander is being reassigned to Biggs AFB, Tex., following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course for transportation officers at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

Lieut. Jander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jander of 3134 Saxon-ct, received training in transportation of personnel, supplies and equipment by highway, rail, water and pipeline in both the United States and overseas.

The lieutenant received a B.S. degree from Ohio State University where he was a member of Phi Kappa Theta. He entered the Air Force in June 1962.

A doctor put his obese patient on a diet, then said: "Follow this diet and, in a couple of months, I want to see three-quarters of you back here for a check-up."

'Little Miss Heart' To Greet Public At Fund Kick-Off

Patti Ann Cope, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cope, 199 Little Flower-in, Whitehall, will be introduced to Franklin County residents as "Little Miss Heart" at kick-off ceremonies for the 1963 Heart Fund Campaign in Franklin County Thursday, Feb. 7, at 12:15 p.m. on the Statehouse grounds.

"Little Miss Heart" will greet Heart Fund volunteers and the general public on the west steps of the capitol building.

Patti underwent open heart surgery for an inborn heart defect when she was only two years and nine months old—the youngest local girl ever to have had an open heart operation performed here.

Others participating in the noonday ceremonies will be Woody Hayes, head football coach, Ohio State University, general chairman for the campaign; Dr. James V. Warren, president of the American Heart Association, several heart surgery patients; and campaign officials.

Featured will be the 93-voice freshman choir of Jones Junior High School, Upper Arlington, directed by Ray Vermilya.

Receipts received during Heart Month (February) support the activities of the Central Ohio Heart Association and its fight against heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure, inborn heart defects, and rheumatic fever.

"Little Miss Heart" was operated on at Children's Hospital by Howard D. Sirak, M.D., for a ventricular septal defect (hole between the lower chambers of the heart). In the course of regular check-ups, the pediatrician noted a heart murmer which led to further diagnosis.

Open heart surgery, which mends faulty hearts, is accomplished with the aid of the heart-lung pump, developed by heart-fund supported research.

LITTLE MISS HEART will be introduced to Franklin County residents during kick-off ceremonies for the 1963 Heart Fund Campaign at the Ohio Statehouse, Sunday, Feb. 17, at 12:15 p.m. The charming little lady, seven-year-old Patti Cope of 199 Little Flower-in, Whitehall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cope. Patti is shown above, center, with her big sister Marsha, 13, left and her mother Mrs. Frank Cope. Patti attends Aetna Road School. Brother Ricky, 11, not shown, is also a student there.

Eagles Slate District Meet

M. L. Huston, state trustee from Canton, will deliver the principal address at the 12th district meeting and initiation of new members by Columbus Aerie 297 Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 10.

The Aerie's Ritual and Drill team will assist in the initiation. All Eagles are cordially invited to attend the district meeting and initiation.

Refreshments and dancing will follow the meeting.

'Village' Aims To Please Anglers

A UNIQUE BUSINESS that has grown in popularity with a lot of fishermen is that of the Rowe Brothers Ice Fishing Village at North Bay, Ontario. Pictured here is the entrance to the village, a collection of individual fishermen's huts on the very thick ice of Lake Nipissing, seven miles off shore near the Manitou Islands. Large pike, pickerel and white fish abound in the area and many fishermen who have found great delight in that section during the summer are now finding ice fishing and the hospitality of the Rowe Brothers an equally interesting experience. Transportation to the spot is provided by the specially-built Snowmobile. Lodging is available in nearby Lakeshore Drive motels. Even refreshments, in the form of fried fish, soup and hot coffee are available to the fishermen while he tries to lure the big ones through a hole in the ice.

TYPICAL ice fishing cottage and the Rowe Brothers Snowmobile. Information regarding this fishing spot and rates is available by contacting Loren Rowe, 276 Lakeshore, North Bay, Ontario.

Admit Attorney To Supreme Court Practice

Joseph J. Murphy, Columbus attorney, was admited to practice before the Supreme Court of The United States Thursday, Jan. 31.

Murphy, who resides with his family at 5397 Ivyhurst-dr, Pine Hills subdivision, was sponsored for admission by former Governor Michael V. DiSalle and James R. Burchfield, Columbus attorneys. Solicitor General Cox of Washington D. C. made the oral motion at the Bar while Murphy's wife, Virginia watched.

In the wide arena of the world, failure and success are not accidents as we so frequently suppose but the strictest justice. If you do your fair day's work, you are certain to get your fair day's wage in praise or pudding, whichever happens to suit your taste.—A. Smith

Scouts Build Strong Nation

As the Boy Scouts of America marks its 53rd anniversary during Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13, it is timely to look into the "Fit For Tomorrow" program which was launched last fall as a continuing activity.

The President's Council On Youth Physical Fitness reported last year that about half of this nation's young people would probably fail a simple physical test. The council asked that youth be given more opportunities to develop the kind of fitness they need.

Dr. W. W. Bauer, health education director of the American Medical Association, feels that the Boy Scouts, "have been working quietly and effectively toward youth fitness a long time before the present interest in fitness started."

A scout's promise to "keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight" — one of the aims of scouting — is said to be a good definition of personal fitness.

Cub Scouts learn the "why" of fitness activities when they work on feats of skill and health achievements. They learn to get along with others in their den and pack program features. All-around fitness is developed through inter-troop Boy Scout events such as camporees where boys compete against and visit with others.

Personal fitness is one of the six basic Explorer experience areas. The fitness emphasis comes into play through canoe trips, mountaineering, water sports and swimming meets. Bowling, golf, tennis and other sports that last a lifetime are natural Explorer unit activities.

The 19,557 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Central Ohio Council keep an active interest in this project. They are doing their part in "building a stronger America" through building strong men. We believe they will succeed.

Another Way To Share . . .

It is worthy to note the effort again being extended by the six thousand Camp Fire Girls of Greater Columbus in behalf of the patients of the Columbus State Hospital.

In making life more meaningful for patients, the Camp Fire Girls in their community services project for February, called the "Friendship Walk," will be collecting books, records, sewing materials and cosmetics.

It is our hope that residents of this county will respond and "share their wealth with mental health, the Camp Fire way" by contributing those items they may have around the house gathering dust. Donors are asked to call the Camp Fire Girls office at HI. 3-9713 or the Franklin County Mental Health Association at CA. 8-4344 for pick-up service.

The Door Of The Sheepfold Offers Salvation

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out. And when he putteth forth his own sheep, he goeth before them, and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice. And a stranger they will not follow, but will flee from him; for they know not the voice of strangers.

Elder Fry

"This parable spake Jesus unto them, but they understood not what things they were which He spake unto them. Then said Jesus unto them again, 'Verily, verily, I say unto you, I am the door of the sheepfold. All that ever came before Me who testified not of Me are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them. I am the door; by Me if any man enter in he shall be saved, and shall go in and out and find pasture." John 10:1-9.

The rugged beauty of the Highlands of Scotland have a special attraction for me. The endless stone fences winding their way over the hills to disappear beyond the horizon lend a sense of mystery to this fascinating scene.

One day my attention was drawn to sheep grazing quietly in the valley. Above them on the hillside were small enclosures which my traveling companion informed me were sheepfolds. With interest I noted these enclosures had no gate or door.

My thoughts turned to the parable of the Good Shepherd as told by Jesus. "I am the door of the sheepfold . . . I am the Good Shepherd . . . the shepherd giveth his life for the sheep." This parable immediately became more beautiful and meaningful. At night all of the sheep of the flocks are gathered into the fold, and the shepherd lies down across the opening of the sheepfold. No sheep can pass out, or any wild beast enter without the knowledge of the shepherd. Truly the shepherd is the door of the sheepfold.

I noted further there was no roof over the enclosure to protect the sheep from the elements. So it is with us in life. To be within the fold of the Good Shepherd does not protect one from all of the difficult experiences of life, but as He permits the lilies to grow in the fields, and notes the sparrow's fall, so He knows of our trials and sufferings and stands near when we call. One develops strength of character as he overcomes temptations and the storms of trial and difficulty.

Christians believe the Good Shepherd lives, and whatever He has done for people in the past He can do today. "I am the Good Shepherd" is spoken in the present tense. He is still the Good Shepherd in 1963.

Today as you go about your tasks, and meet the problems and perplexities which are common to all men, may the confidence and assurance of faith come to you as they are expressed in the 23rd Psalm. There are words to live by:

"The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul. He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

It is way past time for someone who is interested in the truth to get up on his "hind legs" and sound off, but good, about the present day idiocy of "putting everyone on the shelf" at age 45 to 50. If there ever was a cockeyed phobia now poisoning the minds of supposedly smart top management of business, it is the idea that no one is a capable or "safe employe" after age 50.

Look at the record of men like Henry Ford and the Wright Brothers who just got started after 40. I travel constantly in my professional work and meet many amazing men and women at age 75 and older who are still very much on the job and doing far better work than any green man or woman can possibly do — all because they have been on the job long enough to know what they are about.

Everytime some so-called executive throws out a good set of brains or skills, just because of age, it costs money. Any personnel director who refuses to hire anyone for a new job at any age over 35 is just plumb crazy. Old and experienced experts still working up to age 85 on important, high-rated, skilled responsibilities, are still a far better investment than many youngsters, no matter how many diplomas they have.

To many young women are strictly husband hunting, and too many young men are scheming out a way to "meet and marry the boss' daughter," as the late and great Prof. Rogers said many years ago.

Any company that does careless hiring has no one to blame except its own personnel executives. Men and women who are in good health and whose records over the years are clean are most often the "better bargains."

Our Complacency Is Shattered Again

Just as our Defense Department's propaganda about the "relatively insignificant devastation" America would suffer in event of a nuclear war, plus the tremendous boost in national morale that came when we called Khrushchev's bluff on Cuba, had begun to lull me into complacency (I had even begun to think in terms of a possible normal future for my children), what happens?

Mao Tse-tung stokes up the flames in his great Red dragon.

McPeek

Like many people, until recently I hadn't paid much more attention to Mao's fumings than had the Russians. I was much more concerned about the long-range threat of Red China's mushrooming population.

I had figured that Mao's earlier rantings were designed to goad Russia into a nuclear war with America that would have left the Western world, including the Soviet Union, a helpless prey for eventual Chinese domination and provide the necessary additional lands to absorb the rapidly proliferating Chinese.

But the Russians made it clear, or so it seemed to me, that they weren't about to be duped into paving the bloody way for a worldwide chain of Chinese laundries.

Even Anastas Mikoyan, No. 1 trouble-shooter for Khrushchev, a few years ago tried to tell us this, I believe, when he confided that he saw Russia's future linked much closer to America, rather than with China.

But since the Cuba episode and subsequent softening of Russia's attitude, Mao's blasts of anger and challenge to Moscow's leadership of world communism have taken on the frenzied urgency of an old man who thinks he may not live long enough to see his cherished nightmare materialize.

Who among us doesn't shudder when the undisputed leader of more than an estimated 700 million fanatical followers spits out views such as:

"History has not witnessed a single example of peaceful transition from capitalism to socialism. Those who no longer distinguish between just and unjust wars have lapsed into the position of bourgeois pacifism. A war would inevitably end in the destruction of imperialism and the victory of socialism."

Earlier he was quoted, I forgot the exact words, as saying that he believed a few million Chinese lives would be a small price to pay for a communist victory.

And, as if that isn't terrifying enough, our government now tells us that Red China will develop atomic bombs within "a year or two," which probably means our government is trying to soften us for the shock that will come when the Chinese explode a test A-bomb within the very near future.

What worries me is what may happen when a man who not only is not appalled by war, but is downright anxious to create one, will do when he gets his claws on a couple of A-bombs.

It would be nice if someone could figure out how to shut China's big Red Mao—permanently.

Says Motion Pictures Adequately Policed

To The Editor:

The recent article in the columns of your newspapers entitled "Smut Movies Dirtying Theater Screens Here" was, I felt, shocking.

The article left the strong inference that all motion picture theaters are guilty of the offense described by the writer. Quotations taken out of context carried implications never intended by the persons quoted. Indeed, the reference to 16 mm. film eliminated, in practically all cases, the commercial motion picture theater. Another inaccuracy — the reference to acetate film — also eliminates all motion picture theaters. There is documented evidence from the Eastman Kodak Company to the effect that no flammable acetate film has been produced since 1946.

The author of the article quite properly may express his outrage at obscene motion pictures. The smoker movie, just like printed smut, is indefensible. Obscenity is a clearly-defined violation of law in Ohio. Convictions are a matter of record. To allege or leave the clear impression, however, that "local" theaters are "peddling miles and miles of smut" is, it seems to me, an irresponsible statement. All but a tiny fraction of the people involved in the production, distribution and exhibition of motion pictures are hard-working, dedicated people. The Columbus Movie Review Board, which was implemented by an ordinance of the City Council, has done a creditable job in investigating complaints. In cases of law violation they have acted effectively.

It is entirely possible that the author has seen or has known of a motion picture that offended him personally. This is inescapable since no two people that read a book or attend a movie are likely to have the same opinion. But, as you know, the First and 14th Amendments of the Constitution are designed to protect all media of the public press not only because opinions differ but in order to produce such differences.

Finally, the suggestion in the article that youth is the primary target is not in accordance with the facts when you consider that theater owners of their own volition bar the admission of juveniles and adolescent youths when the film content is adult in nature.

The publication of the article was particularly amazing in view of your reputation for accurate reporting and in the light of your long-standing opposition to censorship. We know that you share our view that governmental dictation of the content of movies is not proper and will never be successful. However, the inaccurate inferences left by this article cannot help but be of assistance to those who would impose their personal taste upon all people.

In closing let me repeat that the duly constituted authority, the Columbus Movie Review Board and the courts are doing an adequate job in protecting the public against the unlawful showing of obscene movies. The cooperation of all phases of the industry is forthcoming in legitimate endeavors along this line. Let's have no censorship except censorship at the box office. This is the American way of the right of selection.

TWO BIRTHDAYS

In February we remember the birthdays of our two greatest Americans. The one was father of our country, the other its savior.

George Washington sacrificed the ease and comfort of his plantation home at Mount Vernon to lead the ragged farmers, tradesmen and mechanics of the Continental Army against the disciplined ranks of the British. After hard-won victory he went home, but again yielded to the call of his countrymen and became our first President.

Abraham Lincoln was truly a man of the people, not an aristocrat as was Washington. He was the poor man's poor man, but had acquired enough for comfort by the time the people chose him for the White House.

Washington's problem was to build and launch a government fit to serve a nation destined to grow into what we have now, although none in his time could foresee entirely all of its greatness. As architect of military victory, he had to change hats to direct his able and dedicated helpers in building the structure of peace.

Lincoln's task was to preserve the national unity threatened by honest but misguided men who believed in state sovereignty over national. At first slavery was a secondary issue, with emancipation an incidental but inevitable result of Union victory.

Neither Washington nor Lincoln was a sophisticated intellectual. We could even say, perhaps, that neither was a genius in our sense of the word. But both knew and did their work, each in his time and place. Without them, would we have become the people we are today? Something to think about.

It says here . . .

When we need a man, he always appears.

Objects To 'Testing'

What sweetness exists in this world seems the development of innate springs of humanity, largely the province of the very young.

How much this quality of sweetness is damaged by injections of vitriol at the hands of the bitterly mature, is another matter.

The scope of the "testing" craze has now spread to the point of encroachment upon the time of student and teacher alike. The practice of entrusting the test material to the student leader is a twist in the direction of a junior spy system, a devious way of side-stepping the issue regarding responsibility for carrying on an unpopular program.

The currently illuminating discussions, regarding the controversial psychological "testing" practices in many of our schools, should be expanded to include those tests handed out in classes purporting to be English, French, or other classes, organized for the purpose of instruction.

Now that "comic-books" have been enlisted in the campaign to indoctrinate our younger generation in the benefits to be discovered in socialism, it seems only a matter of training for service is required of our children.

The relationship between parent and child is undergoing a shameful battering, it is about time we realize the truth of the warning voiced by J. Edgar Hoover: "Communist Target, Youth."

Time To Rewrite Law

The general public has been so busy chasing the almighty dollar, working night and day, and often both husband and wife work two or more jobs a day, so they demanded that merchants stay open an extra day each week (The Sabbath). If they believe the Word of God, they should be in the House of God on that day and not in a grocery store, drug store, hardware store, carry out, etc.

I agree with the harassed city and county officials (the present law, due to the above conditions is not only un-workable but can not honestly be enforced impartially. It must be completely rewritten by the Legislature and the bugs taken out of it by bringing it up to date with 1963 conditions.

Here are some musts: They should specify that if a merchant now observes some other day as the sabbath, he must close on what he now generally accepts as the sabbath. If he carries items prohibited by the new law (for sale on Sunday) he must close on the sabbath, no matter what day he considers it to fall on.

The new law must be positive in language and nothing left to the imagination of those interpreting it. They have shown by the mess they made of interpreting the old law, that they can't be trusted to an honest interpretation of any law. Let's demand that they re-write the present law in its entirety now!

Cites Volunteer Aid

The patients and staff of Columbus State Hospital wish to express appreciation for the part played by many friends in relation to our Christmas Party and Gift program. The Volunteer Service Council of Columbus State Hospital received wholehearted support in providing, for patients, many of the experiences traditionally associated with Christmas.

Special thanks go to the Franklin County Mental Health Association which undertook this project in your county. The chairman of the Christmas Committee was Mrs. Robert J. Nekervis, 4308 Lawnviewdr. Many other groups and individuals also gave support and personal effort.

Not only did groups of patients benefit by this concern on the part of citizens, but many received individual attention. All of this contributes to earlier recovery and return to normal life for many now hospitalized.

This expression of goodwill at Christmas, and in many ways throughout the year, is of lasting value.

Old Trap Shooters Never Die - They Just Fire Away

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

According to the traditional joke, two golfers are standing in snow knee-deep on a tall Indian, and one says to the other, "I'm afraid, Clyde, this is our last round for the season." Trap shooters, I learned last week, go one step further and keep on shooting all winter, come snow and cold weather.

Talking to some shooters last Wednesday night at the El Rancho Gun Club, New Rome, one asked me not to publish any names for fear they would bring a padded truck around and round them all up. His ears and nose were bright red at the time from just finishing up a shoot of 25 birds at 16 yards. The temperature was creeping down toward zero. Frankly, it's not a sport for everyone.

But for real trap shooting enthusiasts it is fun, and here are some local shooters who stick at it all winter: Bob Bohannan, 2294 Onandaga-dr; Gene Stanton, 1355 Greenleaf-rd; Cris Brown, 635 Rome-Hilliard-rd; A. L. Wing, 1656 Brown-rd; Bob Logan, Galloway; Stan Hoover, 106 Morning-dr; Ralph Carruthers, 111 N. Kellner-rd; Al Kiefer, 3706 Brandon-st, and Herb Webb, 1608 Weber-rd.

The El Rancho is well suited for winter shooting if you must participate in this form of insanity. The clubhouse has a roaring fire in the fireplace to welcome shooters back inside. Picture windows permit observers to watch the shooting and still keep warm. In about two and one-half years of operation, weather conditions have stopped shooting on only two Wednesday nights. Shooters have come out several times when the temperature was well below zero.

Carl Walker, who manages the club with his brother-in-law, Myron Gifford, says that the coldest job is not shooting but that of the score keeping. "The shooters move around some," he claims, "the scorekeeper just sits on his chair and absorbs the elements." They take turns at this chore to keep from having any frostbite casualties.

Does rain stop the shooting? (Golfers have at least been known to seek shelter during a rain.) No, not usually. They shoot from the clubhouse porch if necessary.

The shooting club takes the place of the hot-stove league that used to gather in country stores. Around the fire, the talk is of hunting and shooting. The Saturday before I was there, a big red fox trotted across the trap range. This started an impromptu fox hunt, with trap guns and shells. Needless to say, the fox escaped but the strange safari will provide conversation for the rest of the winter.

A haven for those who like to shoot and those who just like to talk about shooting, the El Rancho is open on weekends in addition to Wednesday evenings. The shooting starts at noon on Saturday and Sunday and lasts until dusk. Lights are used only on Wednesdays. Nonmembers may shoot.

Concentration Of Gamebirds Seen

During the recent Arctic weather snap, a youngster phoned to ask if the cold and snow would kill all wildlife. I told him that hard winters take their toll, but that in areas of good habitat — with plenty of food and cover — broodstock would survive. The next day brought a thaw and made an honest man of your columnist. Going west on Trabue-rd, just west of Wilson, I saw 28 pheasants and 16 quail out in a stubble field eating. They appeared to be hungry, and paid no attention to me as I pulled off the road to watch. Cars and trucks buzzed by, and yet they fed in the snow. Come spring, some would still be there to continue nature's age-old cycle.

Wallpaper Valentines Fondly Remembered

By Fran Thomas
1480 S. High-st

This will date me, I know, but I can't talk to anyone very long without mentioning my grandchildren, so I might just as well talk about the old wallpaper Valentines I have made and received.

They have been things of joy, or sorrow, of surprise, and now of anticipation.

I wept many a tear because I couldn't afford "boughten" paper hearts when I was a child. I envied the boys and girls who could afford to buy one for each "kid" in the class.

I certainly didn't believe my mother when she said "Something made by your own hands shows just as much love as anything you can buy if you give it to someone you really want to have it."

In high school I absolutely refused to give a Valentine unless I could afford the fancy ones suitable for Bill, Paul or whoever my Valentine was on the 14th of that particular February. For a few years after high school I was much too grown-up, or so I thought, and too sophisticated to worry about Valentine messages.

Later still, the day began to bring new meanings. I started to bake heart-shaped cakes for my family, with so much love in my heart that I'd never think of buying something someone else had made.

After a few more years I began to understand what Mom had meant in her reasoning; my kindergarten-age boy and girl began bringing home grubby, grimy little hearts they had made with crooked, printed "I Love You, Mommy."

Then there was one year Gene surprised me with a hamster. He'd been wanting one for weeks.

When they were a little older, my children took the same dim view of home-made Valentines I had had at their age. I told them what my mother had told me and now I know how very true it was. But I understood when they insisted on buying them, and it gave me great satisfaction to buy one for each "kid" in their respective grade.

My Valentines during those years were my children's happy chatter and the noise "Sis" made when Gene tried to see who the "nickle one" was for.

They're grown now, and I receive and send sophisticated Valentines—flowers, candand such. I'm waiting, though, because I know what is in store for my children in a year or two, and am eagerly anticipating grimy, lopsided hearts with crooked printing—"I Love You Grandma."

Program Is Announced For Adult Education

Director Harry Wolford announced that registration for the second term of the Reynoldsburg adult education program will open Monday, Feb. 11, in the high school.

Two important policy changes have been made for this session. This year, classes will meet on both Tuesday and Thursday nights; and it is now possible to register by mail.

In the past, classes were held one night only and the students were required to appear in person for registration. Since classes will meet two nights per week, it will be possible for a student to carry two different courses since many have expressed the desire to do so.

An extensive program will be offered this term to meet the requests and desires of those enrolling, Wolford pointed out.

Expanded from the first term, the program will offer driver education, rapid reading, beginning and advanced shorthand, beginning and advanced typing, art, bookkeeping, German, business English, woodworking, arc welding, introduction to algebra, introduction to American history, beginning sewing, first aid and introduction to mechanical drawing.

Wolford said classes are scheduled to open Tuesday, Feb. 26, in the high school, 6699 Livingston-av. Classes will meet from 7:30 p.m. until 9 p.m

Registration will be held from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, Feb. 11, through March 11 Registration periods will also be held from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m., Friday, Feb. 15, and from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., Saturday, Feb 16.

Those wishing to register by mail should call the high school and request a program brochure and registration form.

While registration will continue until March 11, Wolford said it should be noted that classes open Feb. 26. To avoid starting late every stu-

STUDENTS TO LEARN OF SMOKING, CANCER

Columbus high school student leaders will learn the relationship of smoking to lung cancer at a workshop slated for Friday, Feb. 22, at Central High School.

Alternative In Feed Grain Program Told By Economist

Participation in the 1963 Feed Grain Program depends on diversion from the feed grain base acreage, according to Dr. Wallace Barr, OSU extension economist.

The alternatives for diversions are:

(1) A minimum of 20 per cent of the feed grain base must be diverted to conserving use to participate.

(2) Above 20 per cent and up to 40 per cent (or 25 acres, which ever is larger) of the acreage base may be diverted.

(3) On small farms where the feed grain base is 25 acres or less the entire acreage may be diverted.

Farmers participating are eligible for direct payments, loans, and diversion payment, according to Dr. Barr.

The direct payment of 18 cents a bushel for corn, 29 cents a hundredweight for grain sorghum and 14 cents a bushel for barley apply to the normal production of acreages of feed grain planted for harvest.

All participating farms receive this payment, whether fed, sold or placed under loan.

Price support loans and purchase agreements in the U.S. will average as follows:

Corn, $1.07 a bushel ($1.12 in Ohio); grain sorghum, $1.71 a hundredweight; barley, 82 cents a bushel; oats, 65 cents a bushel, and rye, $1.07 a bushel.

Minstrel Will Hold Practice

Practice for Minstrel Memories are in full swing. The big show will be held Mar. 29 and 30, Apr. 3, 5 and 6.

The dance lines are set and the first ollo tryouts will be held in the junior high school auditorium at 4 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 10. The second tryouts date for ollo acts will be Feb. 24. Because only a limited number of acts can be used, those interested in participating in the variety half of the show are urged to be present Feb. 10.

The minstrel chorus is still open so all those who enjoy singing are invited to join. Next practices will be held in the French Run School at 8 p.m., Friday, Feb. 8, and Tuesday, Feb. 12.

As in the past 10 years, proceeds from the show will be given to the schools.

Arthur B. Leach and Son Funeral Home

2134 E. MAIN AT FAIRVIEW COLUMBUS, OHIO

ESTABLISHED 1908

Dear friends,

In the absence of pre-arrangement, the next of kin alone has the right to choose the funeral director and to decide the funeral arrangements.

No one should attempt to influence or usurp this right of choice.

Advice should be given only when asked, as the selection of a funeral director is a very personal matter.

Respectfully,

Arthur B. Leach

February 14

By Natalie Lougeman
843 S. Roosevelt-av

A day of the year
Is given
To romancing . . .
When hearts
Are exchanged
With young . . .
And old . . .

Give not I
My heart
To you . . .
But here
My love,
In My life.

Love

By Natalie Lougeman
843 S. Roosevelt-av

Love,
Whips 'round us
And sometimes stings.

Love, can be expressed
By a kiss, a caress
Or a look.

Love,
Like an ointment,
Salves our wounds
And sinks into Our hearts.

However we feel it,
No one is ever
Devoid
Of love.

Inflation

By Margaret Johnson Reynoldsburg

Inflation is so hard on Love.
They quote a price, what I got, it's above.
No little tokens, no dinner out, no date.
It's only on Pay Day that I rate.

Cupid's arrow nearly missed
The owner of the Lips I kissed.
I didn't send The Valentine,
The Postal Clerk said, "That's a dime."

This coming spring I'll sure not miss,
We'll take walks, I'll steal a kiss.
Won't worry about prices soaring,
My true love, I'll be adoring!

Needest Thee?

By Sue Maule McAbee
2186 E. Main-st

Who needest thee?
Thou loving,
Cheerful,
Understanding,
Kind,
Marvelous
Man?

Who needest thee?
To be cheered in sorrow,
Understood in trials,
Helped in troubles?
To love,
Be loved by,
Give a radiant,
Warm,
Tender
Glow to?
Who needest thee? . . .
Why . . . me!

Simple Things

By Sandra Ziegler Hilliard

Simple things like honey,
Come by an easy way.
Sought - after things like money,
Take a longer day.

For you I haven't honey,
Nor money or such.
But what it is, I think you'll like,
And like it very much.

It's just a hand-made poem,
Which I consider fine,
To give you such a thing as this,
That's called a Valentine.

REZONE REVIEW

Four zoning issues were smiled on favorably by the lawmakers, however, all of them involved rezoning.

They included:

• Rezoning of property at 1207 to 4211 E. Broad-st from general commercial-department-office.

• Rezoning of two lots in the 4000 block of E. Broad-st from residential to commercial-apartment-office.

• Rezoning of a tract on the east side of Hamilton-rd at Etna-rd in front of Swimland from general commercial to commercial - apartment - office.

• Rezoning of 4176 Rickenbacker-av from residential to apartment house classification to permit a day nursery operation.

MECHANICALLY MINDED

At the prodding of Service Director Robert Mickey, council approved the creation of a garage mechanic post and set his salary at $5,200.

Discussion arose over the ordinance after Solicitor Paul Haytcher commented that "sooner or later we'll be called down for not being on Civil Service. We should pay heed to the fact that this position should be filled by Civil Service," Haytcher said.

Mickey, on the other hand, said he had "talked to some state examiners" and reported that they "don't feel Civil Service is necessary for this position."

The ordinance also read that the mechanic would be "on duty on 24-hour call" which Mickey cited as ". . . a little toomuch to expect for $5,200 a year."

The words "on duty" were stricken from the ordinance.

At the close of the meeting, Councilman Shipley commented that "this is the largest crowd we've ever had in the new council chambers" and it was noted that the some 25 persons owned that distinction.

Most of the spectators, however, were political candidates watching operations with an obvious eye to the future.

My Neighbor

By Stella Lemley Shane
Rocky River, O.

It gave me the warmest feeling
As I looked across the lawn,
In the dusk of early twilight
And saw your lights come on.
Although I could not see you
I knew that you were there,
Busy about your kitchen—
Or in your favorite chair.
I sat there in the twilight
No longer feeling blue—
I wonder if my lighted window
Ever did the same for you?

Capital—

proposal for good business . . . not just another appeal program.

"Independent colleges must become stronger to help absorb enrollment. Within a decade enrollment in Ohio will double. If students are forced to attend state schools, our taxes will rise. The state schools don't want this to happen, either.

"Most outspoken advocate of this thinking is President Novice Fawcett of Ohio State University. He's a graduate of a church-related college and he'll be the first to say that the inedpendent schools must meet the enrollment challenge."

Just how critical will this "challenge" be? According to Rhodes' figures, the average enrollment of students in state schools in other states is 80 per cent. In Ohio, the figure is 48 per cent but, he claims, it will rise to 80 per cent "in 20 years."

How is Capital University planning to meet the challenge? A $10,000,000 fund drive for a building expansion program, according to that school's president, Dr. Harold Yochum.

The first phase of the campaign calls for $3,650,000 to be raised by Dec. 31, 1964. Second phase goal is collection of $6,350,000 by Dec. 31, 1971.

Besides the governor's speech (he's reportedly bedridden with a cold), campaign advisory council leaders introduced their various committee workers.

The drive is broken down into three categories for solicitation: (1) Industrial, (2) commercial and (3) Individual.

Open—

tine acceptance, of course, can be relaxed considerably when opening ones sent through the mail. However, have a word of praise ready when you meet the bashful bundle on the street or at the office.

Now, here's a list of some "don'ts" ruled out by our panel of experts, when it comes to opening Valentines:

• Don't tear the card in little pieces right in front of his saddened eyes.

• Don't fall all over yourself thanking him. Danger here is he might think you were really desperate for his card and that you seldom get other ones.

• Don't say, "Land sakes! I got one like this from Poopsie just the other day."

Armed with this advanced preparation, you'll be the hit of any Valentine gathering. It's even better than knowing how to play the piano.

My Valentine

By Wilma Shane McMunn
Dublin, Ohio

I'm sending a Valentine card today
To the one whom I love all year through,
Because you are thoughtful in your gentle way;
Most of all, just because I love you.
As the years come and go I will always be yours—
And I hope you will always be mine.
For I'll love you in sunshine,
in rain, all through life—
And I want you for my Valentine.

a little BIG NOW

We all get a thrill out of seeing our children put on our hats or shoes. Obviously they don't fit now, but some day he, or she will grow to fit them. At the same time imagine that they are trying on our lives. Would they fit? . . . or do you live the type of life that you would want them to grow to. Live a life of worship of the Lord.

"Thou wilt shew me the path of life: in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore."

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

FOWLKES FOOTWORK—The Tigers' Ken Fowlkes does a bit of fancy footwork as he manipulates his way around a South defender en route to a field goal attempt against the Bulldogs Friday evening. Referee Dave Savely keeps a sharp eye on the action at the right.

East's tenacious Tigers continued their mastery of both City League and non-loop opponents over the weekend as the state-ranked quintet throttled South, 70-54, and Dayton Roosevelt, 94-44.

In the Central Buckeye department, Bexley's Lions scratched past Delaware, 47-41, while Worthington's second-half point explosion turned back Whitehall, 60-44.

ST. CHARLES lost its second straight CCL contest and the Cardinal's share of the loop's top spot in a 64-45 setback at Springfield Central Catholic. Hartley breezed past DeSales, 76-54, in another Catholic League match.

Two other City League rivals of East—Eastmoor and Walnut Ridge—didn't fare as well as the Tigers over the weekend as the Warriors were edged, 47-42, by Linden and the Scotties were outdistanced by Miami Trace, 48-34.

Brookhaven edged Academy, 33-28, in a low-scoring hardwood battle and Hartley was defeated by Mansfield St. Peter, 97-57, to complete the area's weekend action.

SOUTH STAYED close with East for one period Friday evening until the Tigers opened the throttle on their fast break in the second quarter. East rolled off to an 18-point intermission lead and the Bulldogs could muster no serious challenge after that point.

Four Tigers hit the double-figure scoring column with Ed Waller showing the way with 15 points.

Dayton Roosevelt never really got started against the Tigers the following evening, scoring only two points in the first quarter and trailed by a solid 50 points entering the final stanza.

East mentor, Bob Hart, cleared the bench during the course of the rout as 14 players saw action. Waller's 21 points was high for the win-

BEXLEY EXCHANGED baskets with Delaware until midway in final period when Jeff Schmidt hit for eight consecutive points to give the Lions their winning margin.

Schmidt's 17 markers paced the winners attack but Jim Hoyer also hit in the twin-figures with 12 points for the Lions.

WHITEHALL FELL victim to a Worthington point splurge in the final two periods as the Rams dropped their 41th consecutive loop game.

Sam Maxwell and Jeff Robinson paced the Ram scoring with 12 points apiece.

Springfield jumped off to a 10-point first period lead and St. Charles was never quite able to make up the difference as the Catholic quintet stayed out in front of the Carolians all the way.

The Springfield quintet held high-scoring Dick Ferris to 10 points while Joe VanBalen topped in 11 more to lead St. Charles scoring.

HARTLEY HAD little difficulty in disposing of DeSales. The Hawks were never in danger of losing their lead after hopping off to a 25-13 advantage in the initial period. Jack Diamond and Randy Rodich were the top point-getters for the winning Hawks with 20 and 18 markers, respectively.

The Hawks didn't enjoy the same success Saturday evening as Hartley became Mansfield St. Peter's 15th straight cage victim this season. The winners increased their margin from 10 points to 26 in a single period, breaking the game wide open before halftime.

Rodich and Diamond reversed their high-point position of the previous evening — the former collecting 18 markers, the latter dropping in 17.

EASTMOOR CHALLENGED Linden Panthers for the lead all the way to the final buzzer but the McKinley quintet managed to stay one jump ahead of the Warriors to pile up the win.

Paul Naumoff and Steve Howell hit the double figures for the losing Eastmoor team, collecting 13 and 11 points.

MIAMI TRACE put the "freeze" on Walnut Ridge's determined fourth-period comeback attempt Saturday night to down the Scotties. Walnut Ridge caught fire after intermission to cut down Trace's seemingly comfortable lead.

But Miami pulled a stall that ate up nearly half of the final period. The winners scored only two points in the last stanza but the Highlanders were able to go only one better in the last eight minutes. Ken Evan's 11 points paced the Scot offense.

Brookhaven overcame a 15-14 halftime lead by Academy to outscore the Vikings in a point-stingy contest Friday. Ken Holzman provided the losers with most of their scoring punch with 13 points.

ANOTHER FULL slate of cage activity is on tap for the weekend. Friday night finds West (8-5) at East (13-1), Central (9-2) at Eastmoor (6-5), Walnut Ridge (1-12) at Whetstone (6-7), Urbana (14-1) at Whitehall (1-14), Grandview (6-8) at Bexley (4-10), Canal Winchester (9-6) at Academy (4-11), Hartley (5-11) at Newark Catholic (9-5) and Watterson (12-2) at St. Charles (9-6) in the battle that should decide the Central Catholic title.

Only Eastmoor continues cage action into Saturday evening—the Warriors traveling to Athens.

WALK LIKE A (REBOUNDER) MAN—East's Ed Waller (55) clears the area around the South basket of all competition as he hauls in a rebound Friday night on the Bulldog court. The Tigers' Ken Fawlkes (center) start to move out on the fast break while South's Paul Pate (left) moves in to challenge Waller's possession of the roundball. East put the bite on the Bulldogs, 70-54, to retain the Tigers' pole position atop the City League heap.

ROBERTS 'GO-GETTER'

RAY SCHICK, athletic director at Whitehall High School, presents Ram tackle Roger Roberts (left) a bronzed football shoe to commemorate Roberts' selection as "the most deserving boy in the Whitehall football program" for the '62 season. The 'Go' Trophy was presented to the school by John Boggs, owner of Lynn's Drug Store on Yearling-rd. The award is presented to a senior who has been selected by the football coaching staff for excellence in sportsmanship, leadership and performance.

Come On Fellows— Call Off The Feud For Valentines Day

Pro football, apparently unwilling to be elbowed out of the sports headlines by competing basketball news, hung onto its share of the spotlight last week as bed-ridden Jim Taylor reopened some old wounds by taking another verbose punch at that fuzzied visage of the New York Giants—Mr. Sam Huff.

Sam, never one to slink away from a rebuttal, replied in so many words that his public image was being unduly tainted by Taylor's unkind oratory.

IN PRE-TELEVISION days, this kind of feud was usually endearing to the heart, reputation and wallet of a well-known sporting figure. Established stars like Babe Ruth, Jim Thorpe and Battling Siki supplemented box office appeal with their varied off-the-field antics.

But not so today in a world where now every second baseman is clean-shaven, all NBA guards wear only the finest swim suits and every pro-football end engages in the Vitalis 60-second workout.

The competition for that gleaming TV commercial smile has become about as fierce as preserving that starting spot afield.

IMAGINE THEN the "fading image" problem confronting Sam Huff each time Taylor tags him as some kind of a "dirty old man."

Mr. Huff, all milk and sugar, currently is involved in a cute little breakfast food commercial that depicts him as that nice veteran pro fooball player next door who probably would not even kick tires on a used car lot.

Taylor, who as far as we know isn't involved in any "image" commercials, simply doesn't have the problem so the feud probably isn't cutting down his trips to the bank.

Maybe the whole idea is rather trite but then what American mother would want her pint-sized litle leaguer stuffing down the same "Sugar Wheats" that "some dirty old man" eats to sustain his rough-house tactics on the gridiron.

BUB WAIT A minute, this week shouldn't be cluttered up with feuds and the like. In keeping with the spirit of the season (Valentine's Day), we would like to dedicate the following humble offering to those unsung bench warmers who really make the game tick.

They're the only sporting link we could find to help commemorate this particular edition. Our only other association with Valentine's Day was some action that took place in a Chicago garage a few years back but we guess that was rather one-sided and certainly not very sporting.

HERE GOES:

When sports wags set their minds to words
To sound the praise of warriors brave,
We wonder how they can neglect
The gals the guys enslave.

For where, we ask, in this fair land,
Where ever sports are played,
Is there a lack of female fervor
That never dims or fades?

For fame can flee and glory die
On diamond, field or court.
But there's one that's always waiting
With loving, stout support.

Whether mom or wife or girl friend,
You'll find she's always there
When games are won or games are lost,
To give or take a share.

Dinners are reheated,
To dances always late.
She keeps her temper and her poise,
And just accepts her fate.

Who's there for every brooding coach
To lend attentive ear.
Or after that black Friday night,
To quiet "benching" fear.

Enduring smoky, replay meetings
Providing ego shove,
Enduring locker room aroma,
Believe me, men—THAT'S LOVE!

Main, Kennys Deadlocked In Center Loop

Main Auto Parts defeated a hard fighting Duratile team with a 51-49 overtime win to remain undefeated in league play.

The score was tied 45 all at the end of regulation time. Main led all through the game until the fourth quarter when Duratile scored 19 points to knot the contest.

The three-minute overtime saw Bob Swedlow hit two field goals for the Mainmen. The overtime period ended as a Duratile shot bounced on the rim and fell out.

Kenny's Loan had no trouble with an undermanned Ontario team as they scored a resounding 87 to 34 win.

Bill Mackin again led the Loan men with 27 points. Sandy Solomon and Stan Robins chipped in with 20 points each in the rout.

Howard Banchefsky led with six field goals for 12 points.

Bonnie Builders, led by Herb Gradner's 16 points, ran over Raybo Vending with a 64-39 win. Preston Gurwin hit for 15 points in the Bonnie attack.

Vikings, Lions Nab Swim Wins

Academy's record-breaking swimmers traveled to Cincinnati Saturday but the journey was well worth the effort as the Vikings splashed to an impressive 63-32 victory over Cincy Princeton.

Henry Richter chopped off time on his school butterfly mark for the third straight week, finishing in :59.7. Academy's Dennis Miller paced the Viking tankmen to the win, taking first-place honors in both the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard freestyle events.

JEFF McCLELLAND swam for two of Bexley's seven first-place finishes Saturday to pace the Lions to a 52-43 win over Ashland High.

McClelland's victories came in the 400 and 100 yard freestyle events.

Smiling Cupid

By Marina Pica
De Sales High School

Take some ribbon, preferably pink
And a pen with the brightest red ink
Take a smiling Cupid and his bow,
Pierce a heart with an arrow.

Find some lace, delicate and white
Then tender words lovingly write;
Tell her of roses, perfume, and wine.
Kiss and seal the Valentine.

"I shall never be old enough," said Lincoln on many occasions, "to speak without embarrassment when I have nothing to say."

Government Works With High Schools

It's serious business on a large scale but area high school students are rising to the occasion while performing valuable tasks for this country's government, besides reaping benefits for themselves.

Much of the thanks goes to the Defense Construction Supply Center located in the West Side of Columbus.

The center has hired part-time high schoolers under the Federal Cooperative Office Education program in a kind of pilot project that is expected to have far-reaching significance in the future.

The office education course is a terminal one during the senior year in Ohio public schools.

It emphasizes the individual skills, knowledges, and attitudes in the stenographic, clerical, and bookkeeping areas. The student goes to school half of the time and works on the job the other half with teacher - employer supervision.

The teacher coordinates the out-of-school work with the in-school classwork to enable the student to become a qualified efficient office employe.

The student must be 16, of good personal qualities, and must have developed marketable office skills prior to entry into the COE Program.

The student is paid for his work in the office and is placed in a training program which will permit him to work in the various areas of the office or sections of the industrial or Government operation. He receives additional business education in the school.

The supply center, which initiated the program early this fall, is the first Federal agency in Ohio to cooperate with local Franklin County high schools in the training program designed to graduate office workers already adjusted to the business world.

The role of the center is to provide the training in an atmosphere that encourages students who do not plan to go to college to make a career of government service in a chosen skill.

Under the program, senior high school students are given temporary appointments limited to 700 hours (afternoons and early evening after successfully completing a civil service examination.

Next spring, prior to completion of the temporary appointment, they will be given the opportunity to compete in a regular Civil Service examination for a competitive appointment in their field.

Those with higher grades will be offered career conditional appointments at the center.

Students who are now participating in the DSCS program are:

WHITEHALL—Karen Rayburn and Sandy Shaefer (both Card Punch operators) and Charles Page (EAM operator).
GROVE CITY — Paul J. Beaumont (EAM operator).
HAMILTON TWP — Marvin L. Notter (EAM operator).
CENTRAL — Kenneth Shaggs (EAM operator), [illegible]stein, Delores Miller and Betcarolyn Francis, Ruth Holty Jane Young (all typists).

THE NAME'S THE SAME

Will The Real Chris Please Stand Up?

By JERRY WOLFROM

Contrary to popular belief, our beloved Columbus isn't the only place to live. Not by a long shot!

It may come as a shock to many, but there are a lot of other nice places. Most of them are more exciting than Columbus, O., and many even bear the same name.

For example, what's wrong with Columbus, Ind.? The cost of living certainly must be lower there—it's real close to Economy.

People trying to lose weight and regain their long-lost slim figures should like Columbus, Ga., a city conveniently situated near Tailbottom; and Columbus, Mont., is only about 85 miles southeast of Square Butte.

Adventurers who prefer to live dangerously would enjoy the thrill of residing near Columbus, Ky., just a short missile ride from Moscow. Then there's Columbus, N.D., within easy rifle range of Havana.

Tee totalers will love Columbus, Miss. It's near Reform.

Those who occasionally over-imbide should move to Columbus, Kan., a short shot from Bourbon. And of course, Columbus City and Columbus Junction, Ia., are not far from What Cheer!

For would-be politicians, there's Columbus, Neb., near Kennedy, and Columbus, Tex., less than 50 miles from Nixon.

Animals lovers should investigate Columbus, N.J. It's quite close to Colt's Neck—a grand place to horse around. Then too, there's Columbus, N.M., near Coyote—always a dog house, try Columbus howling place on Saturday night.

If you're the man of the man of the house and frequently find yourself in the Grove, O. It's a brandy place to live because it's within easy driving distance of St. Bernard.

Columbus, Wisc., is nice for unfortunate people with dandruff because it's not far from Embarrass. And if the hair problem gets out of hand, Tomahawk is only a short distance away.

I do not recommend Columbus Grove, Mich., however. That town is usually colder than Hell—a hamlet some 80 miles to the northwest.

But heck, when you think about it, good old Columbus, O. is a fun place to live, too. Where else can you be neighbors to towns with funny names like Hilliard, Grove City, Reynoldsburg, Groveport and Ashville?

O Valentine

O, Valentine, sweet Valentine
What does he mean to say?
Does the greeting on your face

What does the red heart mean?
Does it express that thought
Of every love-born teen?

O, Valentine, my Valentine!
I would tell him I feel the [illegible]
But alas, I do not know him

Special

By Linda Cusin
De Sales High School

When Cupid shot his little bow
That fateful day so long ago,
He put this world in such a trance
That he left it filled with gay romance.

He spread his love both far and wide
And left each boy a blushing bride,
Then stayed just long enough to see
His magic power spread by three.

Then off he went—but to return
Just once a year that each might learn
"This world was made that all might live
And learn that love was meant to give."
And so we have this day of fun
When love is sent to everyone
And to this day he gave his sign
For love is Cupid's Valentine.

I believe that this is the largest ranch home in Whitehall. There are about 2,200 square feet of living space on one floor; one of the three bedrooms is 16x34 feet and the living room is 15x30 feet and carpeted with parquet floors plus a 16x15 library off one side of the living room. Huge kitchen has eating space and there is also a dining room. Two full baths. Outside there is a lot just a little under an acre with many tall trees. Very convenient location close to Town and Country and bus. Price is unbelievably low and far less than reproduction cost. Call me and I'll be glad to show it to you.

BLAC

Hocus Pocus, Fish Bones Choked Us As Magicians Took Over Columbus

By JOHN AUBLE JR.

Keeping with the time honored tradition of the world of magic, this story was not written. It was produced, conjured-up or prestidigitated.

The bunny-pullers were in town last week, carrying on their 32nd annual Magi-Fest in the Neil House, and nothing was sacred with the slight-of-hand artists.

Even the chamber maids, busy going from room to room, were halted on occasion—to have eggs or silk handkerchiefs pulled from their ears.

Even this story came close to being written from memory since a local magician, Gus Neussle, snatched this reporter's notes, tore them into little pieces and then produced them intact once agan.

Neussle, 71, is one of the old-time convention highlights. He's an Ohio State physics professor, retired, and now devotes most of his time entertaining with hocus pocus. He was the 1962 Columbus Magic Award winner for the best magical effect.

This was the story with most of those attending. Magic, it seems, started out as a part-time hobby and later developed into a full-time venture.

What do magicians do when surrounded by other magicians? Perhaps "Satan," a Philadelphia resident, summed it up best. He explained "they come to see what the other fellows have and then try to steal it."

Columbus resident Donald Tanner was chairman of this year's convention and produced a talent-filled "Headliner Show" at the Masonic Temple Auditorium Saturday night.

One of the high spots of the convention was the magical mastery of Everett Duncan, 135 E. Main-st, Hilliard. Duncan, former Youngstowner, has become one of the better-known wand wavers in the Columbus area and continued to delight the crowd this year.

But magic is no longer a male profession. The gals are invading the industry fast as Pittsburgh's Sue Schmitt will testify. She's a 17-year old who goes under the stage name of "Su-Jay—Maid of Magic" and she certainly was.

She's the daughter of the immediate past international president and has a 12-year-old brother, Dave, who's taking the magic trail, too.

Candy and Alexis Krumm are two other examples. Alexis, 18, a student at Ohio Wesleyan, helps her Dad, Robert, while Candy (12) is working into the act with the finesse of a seasoned veteran. The Krumms are Virginia residents.

Let's not overlook the fact that feminine Dell-O-Dell, now deceased, ranked among the greatst magicians in the world, the gals pointed out.

The female foolers admitted they were seeking new material for their acts, as are the men. Acually, they commented practically all the "new" tricks are just improvements of old-time classics.

The linking rings, card tricks and producing devices remain the same even though these talented people develop tricks that take on a new appearance.

Appearing to be the "newest of the new" was a man named Karrell Fox, a Detroit resident, who performed with three others Saturday afternoon at what's called "close-up magic."

The other magicians sit around a table while Fox performs right under their noses. The experts watched open-mouthed.

Next year's convention, according to Tanner, has been scheduled for Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. That is, of course, unless someone found a way last week to make the Neil House disappear.

"Can My Velvet Dress Be Drycleaned?"

—Mrs. R. T. J.

Dear Mrs. R.T.J.:

Yes, velvets are definitely drycleanable. However, some of the new novelty velvets which leaped to popularity this season need special care.

Some velvets are treated with a silicone finish. Some two-toned and others have many colors contrasting with white or black backgrounds. There is a rayon Lyons-type velvet which has a special finish for resiliency. There are some novelty velvets with designs on a moired background. You can see that these velvets require special care when you wear them as well as when they are drycleaned. Your professional drycleaner will give your velvets the cleaning care they should have.

By the way, Mrs. R. T. J., you know what a nuisance lint is on your velvets. You will welcome this lint hint if you have to remove lint at home and do not have any of the many lint removers at hand. Wrap a small piece of adhesive tape, sticky side out, around a wooden block. Brush the surface of your velvet lightly and, presto—no lint! Of course, always placing your velvet garment in a garment bag will protect it from lint, too.

Enjoy your velvets, Mrs. R. T. J., assured that your drycleaner can clean them perfectly for you.

Feed Grain Program Has PriceSupport

Growers who take part in the 1963 feed grain program will receive a price-support payment in addition to the diversion payment, according to Carl W. Schacht, chairman.

Such growers will also qualify for regular price-support loans or purchase assessments on their 1963 corn, grain sorghum, and barley crops.

The price-support program, the chairman explains, is a new feature of the feed grain program for 1963. (A similar payment is also available under the 1963 wheat stabilization program.) It is a payment which will be made on the "established" normal production of the acreage planted to the three feed grains in 1963. The same rates will apply throughout the country; they will not vary by counties as the regular loan rates do.

Rates for the price-support payments have been established at 18 cents per bushel for corn, 16 cents per bushel (29 cents per hundredweight) for grain Sorghum, and 14 cents per bushel for barley.

For each farm, the farm bases for all three grains will be combined into one feed grain base. And the rate used in determining the price-support payment—like the diversion payment rate—for a particular farm will depend on the kind of feed grain taken out of production.

Mr. Schacht pointed out that the price-support payment really serves as income insurance; it will be made to growers who divert at least the minimum 20 percent of the farm's feed grain base into a conservation use. Even if the planted crop is destroyed by natural conditions, or even if part of the feed grain is fed to the animals on the farm, the price-support payment will be made just the same.

Unlike last year's feed grain program, the regular loan or purchase agreement will be available to 1963 program participants on the farm's entire 1963 production of corn, grain sorghum, and barley—it will not be restricted to the normal production of the feed grain acreage.

The signup under he 1963 feed grain program is now under way in the ASCS county office. Chairman Schacht urges growers not to wait until the last few days of the signup period to file applications to participants. The signup ends Mar. 22.

Church Group In Movie Clean-Up 'Crusade'

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A church-affiliated group of young people, going under the name of "Crusaders," is making a big attempt this month to show the movie industry what the public wants in films.

The "Crusaders," 18-26-year olds from Broad Street Methodist Church, are entering into the challenge for a movie "clean-up" in their long-range efforts to learn to live better lives.

"We are not trying to clean up the movie industry as such," said Mrs. David Skeen, wife of the Broad-st church pastor. "This, at any rate, is not our long-range view.

"We're trying to teach youth to live better Christian lives and smut movies are just one thing that we feel a necessity to do something about."

In this direction, the "Crusaders" have bought out the New Main Theater, on E. Main-st, and are selling tickets for a movie entitled "Whistle Down The Wind," a suspense thriller starring English actress Haley Mills.

The movie is not religious in nature. It is certainly not a classic in movie-making BUT it is, as these young people see it, the type of film that the public wants and are thus setting it up as an example.

Much has been said in the Hartley Newspapers about the sex and violence that has been dirtying theater screens across the country. The "Crusaders" are taking the same view.

What makes this effort particularly significant is the fact that this is the first ime a church group has ever endorsed a film and actively participated in promoting it.

Perhaps Student Chairman David Conlin summed it up best by saying, "If we encourage better pictures, we'll get better ones."

The "Crusaders," who have obviously given much thought and consideration to this precedent-setting venture, emphasized the fact that they are "not condemning films" but, rather, "just crusading for better motion pictur

This group is, make no mistake, not making any move[illegible] the industry . . . an industry which is as much of an American tradition as apple pie.

"This movie we're endorsing," according to student leader David Sullivan, "is being singled out as an example to the movie industry of the type of film the public is demanding."

Of main concern to these workers are movies to attend on dates. Usually, groups of this type are concerned with the corruption of the moral standards of youngsters.

"Naturally, we hope to have children some day and we take the long-range view," commented Sharon Noftz. "But, right now, we're concerned with films suitable for kids of our age to see when dating."

They said there are "very few" movies suitable to attend on dates. The boys mentioned the fact that "some girls take a dim view of a boys' character if he takes her

Advertising Paid Off

Coca Cola men of this area were guests of their company at a big wing-ding Saturday at North High School and it brings to mind that this little item that you can buy in some places for less than a dime today is sold in 119 countries around the globe, the most widely distributed article in the world.

And it all came about through constant advertising. Back from the time the first bottle was produced, that name has appeared time and time again in newspapers, magazines and any way it could be advertised.

President of the company, Dick Renspie, speaking here Saturday, points out that the business climate is extremely healthy. He points out that the original 13 colonies made up the first common market and that tax barriers between states did not work.

'Cottage Is More Important Than Pool' — Council Prexy

The caretaker's cottage on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds, a long-time thorn in the side of swimming pool promoters in Bexley, caused another delay Tuesday night during council which met in regular session without regular attendance.

The attendance problem is getting to be regular, however, with at least two members absent during many of the sessions making it impossible to take any legislative steps.

Action is necessary now to decide where the Bexley Civic Improvement Association (BCIA) will be directed to move the cottage and a special meeting has been set for Feb. 20 to act on the matter.

The cottage question was brought up again Tuesday by Council President C. J. Kurtz and received strong support from Bexley Mayor William A. Schneider.

Kurtz has been concerned about the cottage since the early stages of the pool planning and even went so far Tuesday night as to exclaim that "the caretaker's cottage is more important than the pool."

Peter Haines, board member with the BCIA, said the association "didn't mind" what action was taken on the cottage but that some action "must be taken soon" in order to start digging Mar. 1.

Haines pointed out that the council shares "the responsibility to Bexley residents" to get the pool started since the solons gave approval to the project last month. "If we don't start by Mar. 1, we won't have it ready for next summer," Haines explained.

It would take an extra $5,000 to move the cottage to another location.

Main arguments forwarded by Kurtz concerned the possibilities that noise from the pool would be a disturbance to the Jeffrey Mansion caretaker.

"We're not trying to shy away from our obligations to the cottage," Haines added. "Naturally, we'd rather put our money into the pool than into moving the house but if we have to move it, we will. We just want to get started, that's all."

It was also pointed out that the BCIA has received a $57,000 loan commitment from the Huntington National Bank for construction.

In other action, council:

- Approved plans by Bexley High School to stage an annual all-night party at Jeffrey Mansion June 6. The action came following a request from Bexley resident, Dr. Clark Pritchard.
- Heard a letter from St. Catharine School officials protesting a change of two stop signs on Gould-rd which would make that street a through street without stops at Dale and Bryden-rd. The officials based their letter on "the safety of students walking along the street."
- Heard a letter from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. informing that there would be no change in gas rates for the city for the month of March.

ROBBIE REVIEW FINDS IL LEGAL TRAFFIC MARKING

BEXLEY HAS posted 20 miles per hour zone signs through its business district on E. Main-st and, according to the State Code, business districts must be 25 miles per hour, points out Robbie Review, the Hartley Newspapers traffic expert. Robert Conner, assistant traffic engineer for the state, said that the motor vehicle laws are specific on this point. According to Conner's records, Bexley never applied for special permission to change the speed limit. He said a speeder could probably beat a ticket because of the state law but added that Bexley police probably charged speeders with "reckless operation" when caught.

Students Will Be Expelled If Caught 'Glue Sniffing' Warns School Director

The tragic death of one young boy last Friday, and another early Wednesday, focused public attention on the menacing fad of "fume sniffing," practiced by some city school children.

Sheldon Higgins, 13, of 402 S. Ogden-av, is the first local fatality from the dangerous practice of sniffing fumes for "kicks," and 15-year-old Donald Ellis, 311 S. Ogden-av, is the second.

The two Westmoor Junior High students had poured gasoline into a coffee pot on a stove, and were sniffing the fumes when an explosion occurred.

Airplane glue sniffing, started on the West Coast, has moved across the country, and has become a fad for some local juvenile groups, particularly in the last month. The effects of inhaling the fumes are described as "giddy, intoxicating."

City school, health and juvenile authorities, warning parents of the fad's potential danger, urge firm measures.

Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, reviewed the problem with all city school principals at a meeting yesterday.

He issued firm orders stating that any pupil inhaling fumes in school buildings or on school playgrounds, would be immediately suspended.

Dr. Francis W. Eberly, medical director of the Teenage Clinic, Children's Hospital, described the effects of inhaling airplane glue fumes as "a real and potential danger, causing damage to kidneys, bone marrow and liver."

He further pointed out that a child who appeared perfectly healthy, but had a weakness of the heart or lungs or a chronic liver ailment, would be especially susceptible to serious effects.

"One boy treated at the hospital, after sniffing glue, had a breakdown of red blood

Traffic Light Is Suggested For East Area

An East Side area was singled out Monday night at Columbus City Council meeting for the installation of a traffic light.

Councilman William P. Hoermle suggested a signal be installed on Livingston-av, somewhere between Kenwick and College-avs.

He said a pedestrian was killed in the area after alighting from a bus.

In other action affecting East Siders, council:

- Rezoned a 1.4-acre tract on the east side of Elaine-rd, 392 feet south of Livingston-av, for 10 four-family apartment units.
- Appropriated $200,000 to buy additional properties needed for the South and East Innerbelts and the East Freeway.
- Authorized $130,000 for payment to Alden E. Stilson and Associates for engineering work on the East Freeway.

Hearing Mar. 1 For Rezoning For New Pool

A public hearing will be held Friday, Mar. 1, by the Board of Zoning Adjustment, to act on a request by the Livingston Development Co. to rezone an East Side area for a private, club-type swimming pool.

The hearing, slated for room 219, City Hall, will begin at 2 p.m.

The pool will be for the residents of Yorkshire, an Ernest J. Fritsche Development west of Noe-Bixby-rd, across from York-in North. The area is currently zoned as rural residential.

AMBITIOUS LAD

He May Entertain At Parties For Kennedy's Children

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If there's ever a contest to pick "Mr. Ambition of 1963," an 11-year-old East Columbus lad will certainly be in the running.

His name is Les Stellman and his most recent ambition concerns the President of the United States. You seldom get more ambitious than that.

Actually, to be specific, it concerns the President's children — John, Jr. and Caroline. How does young Stellman fit into the picture? Although just beyond the "child" age himself, he entertains at birthday parties for children from three to seven years of age.

He calls himself "Allegro, The Musical Clown," which is appropriate considering the fact that he's rather accomplished at playing 12 instruments — from the piano to the flutophone.

Last month, young Stellman, 3019 Templeton-rd, wrote to Mrs. Kennedy and asked if he could perform for her children's birthday party.

The reply correspondence — direct from the White House — had strong indications that he was definitely being "considered" for the occasion.

Make no mistake, this lad does some mighty high-leveled entertaining. In fact, he goes so far as to call it "culture."

He summed it up this way:

"I believe that children don't have enough culture in their lives. I bring it right into their homes with my

"Can My Velvet Dress Be Drycleaned?"

Dear Mrs. R.T.J.:

Yes, velvets are definitely drycleanable. However, some of the new novelty velvets which leaped to popularity this season need special care.

Some velvets are treated with a silicone finish. Some two-toned and others have many colors contrasting with white or black backgrounds. Church Group In Movie Clean-Up 'Crusade'

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A church-affiliated group of young people, going under the name of "Crusaders," is making a big attempt this month to show the movie industry what the public wants in films.

The "Crusaders," 18-28-year olds from Broad Street Methodist Church, are entering into the challenge for a movie "clean-up" in their long-range efforts to learn to live better lives.

"We are not trying to clean up the movie industry as such," said Mrs. David Skeen, wife of the Broad-st church pastor. "This, at any rate, is not our long-range view.

"We're trying to teach youth to live better Christian lives and smut movies are just one thing that we feel a necessity to do something about."

In this direction, the "Crusaders" have bought out the New Main Theater, on E. Main-st, and are selling tickets for a movie entitled "Whistle Down The Wind," a suspense thriller starring English actress Haley Mills.

The movie is not religious in nature. It is decidedly not a classic in movie-making but it is, as these young people see it, the type of film that the public wants and are thus setting it up as an example.

Much has been said in the Hartley Newspapers about the sex and violence that has been dirtying theater screens across the country. The "Crusaders" are taking the same view.

What makes this effort particularly significant is the fact that this is the first time a church group has ever endorsed a film and actively participated in promoting it.

Perhaps Student Chairman David Conlin summed it up best by saying, "If we encourage better pictures, we'll get better ones."

The "Crusaders," who have obviously given much thought and consideration to this precedent-setting venture, emphasized the fact that they are "not condemning films" but, rather, "just crusading for better motion pictures."

This group is, make no mistake, not making any move[illegible] down the industry . . . an industry which is as much of an American tradition as apple pie.

"This movie we're endorsing," according to student leader David Sullivan, "is being singled out as an example to the movie industry of the type of film the public is demanding."

Of main concern to these workers are movies to attend on dates. Usually, groups of this type are concerned with the corruption of the moral standards of youngsters.

"Naturally, we hope to have children some day and we take the long-range view," commented Sharon Noftz. "But, right now, we're concerned with films suitable for kids of our age to see when dating."

They said there are "very few" movies suitable to attend on dates. The boys mentioned the fact that "some girls take a dim view of a boys' character if he takes her

'Cottage Is More Important Than Pool'—Council Prexy

The caretaker's cottage on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds, a long-time thorn in the side of swimming pool promoters in Bexley, caused another delay Tuesday night during council which met in regular session without regular attendance.

The attendance problem is getting to be regular, however, with at least two members absent during many of the sessions making it impossible to take any legislative steps.

Action is necessary now to decide where the Bexley Civic Improvement Association (BCIA) will be directed to move the cottage and a special meeting has been set for Feb. 20 to act on the matter.

The cottage question was brought up again Tuesday by Council President C. J. Kurtz and received strong support from Bexley Mayor William A. Schneider.

Kurtz has been concerned about the cottage since the early stages of the pool planning and even went so far Tuesday night as to exclaim that "the caretaker's cottage is more important than the pool."

Peter Haines, board member with the BCIA, said the association "didn't mind" what action was taken on the cottage but that some action "must be taken soon" in order to start digging Mar. 1.

Haines pointed out that the council shares "the responsibility to Bexley residents" to get the pool started since the solons gave approval to the project last month. "If we don't start by Mar. 1, we won't have it ready for next summer," Haines explained.

It would take an extra $5,000 to move the cottage to another location.

Main arguments forwarded by Kurtz concerned the possibilities that noise from the pool would be a disturbance to the Jeffrey Mansion caretaker.

"We're not trying to shy away from our obligations to the cottage," Haines added. "Naturally, we'd rather put our money into the pool than into moving the house but if we have to move it, we will. We just want to get started, that's all."

It was also pointed out that the BCIA has received a $57,000 loan commitment from the Huntington National Bank for construction.

In other action, council:

- Approved plans by Bexley High School to stage an annual all-night party at Jeffrey Mansion June 6. The action came following a request from Bexley resident, Dr. Clark Pritchard.
- Heard a letter from St. Catharine School officials protesting a change of two stop signs on Gould-rd which would make that street a through street without stops at Dale and Bryden-rd. The officials based their letter on "the safety of students walking along the street."
- Heard a letter from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. informing that there would be no change in gas rates for the city for the month of March.

ROBBIE REVIEW FINDS IL LEGAL TRAFFIC MARKING

BEXLEY HAS posted 20 miles per hour zone signs through its business district on E. Main-st and, according to the State Code, business districts must be 25 miles per hour, points out Robbie Review, the Hartley Newspapers traffic expert. Robert Conner, assistant traffic engineer for the state, said that the motor vehicle laws are specific on this point. According to Conner's records, Bexley never applied for special permission to change the speed limit. He said a speeder could probably beat a ticket because of the state law but added that Bexley police probably charged speeders with "reckless operation" when caught.

Students Will Be Expelled If Caught 'Glue Sniffing' Warns School Director

The tragic death of one young boy last Friday, and another early Wednesday, focused public attention on the menacing fad of "fume sniffing," practiced by some city school children.

Sheldon Higgins, 13, of 402 S. Ogden-av, is the first local fatality from the dangerous practice of sniffing fumes for "kicks," and 15-year-old Donald Ellis, 311 S. Ogden-av, is the second.

The two Westmoor Junior High students had poured gasoline into a coffee pot on a stove, and were sniffing the fumes when an explosion occurred.

Airplane glue sniffing, started on the West Coast, has moved across the country, and has become a fad for some local juvenile groups, particularly in the last month. The effects of inhaling the fumes are described as "giddy, intoxicating."

City school, health and juvenile authorities, warning parents of the fad's potential danger, urge firm measures.

Dr. Harold Eibling, superintendent of Columbus Public Schools, reviewed the problem with all city school principals at a meeting yesterday.

He issued firm orders stating that any pupil inhaling fumes in school buildings or on school playgrounds, would be immediately suspended.

Dr. Francis W. Eberly, medical director of the Teenage Clinic, Children's Hospital, described the effects of inhaling airplane glue fumes as "a real and potential danger, causing damage to kidneys, bone marrow and liver."

He further pointed out that a child who appeared perfectly healthy, but had a weakness of the heart or lungs or a chronic liver ailment, would be especially susceptible to serious effects.

"One boy treated at the hospital, after sniffing glue, had a breakdown of red blood

BEFORE YOU READ THIS, DIAL CA. 1-1911

A complete entertainment guide is as close as your telephone, thanks to efforts, this week, by the Arts Council of Columbus.

This group, organized last July, has arranged for a recorded announcement to be played for phone callers giving a rundown of activities on any given evening in the Columbus area.

The answering device plays a recorded message giving dates, times and locations of the most important events in the area. The number is CA. 1-1911.

Mrs. Jane Dolby is the smooth voice you'll hear at the other end of the line. She makes up the recordings daily and they're turned on after 4 p.m. weekdays and all day Saturday and Sunday.

The telephone service was installed as an adjunct to the Arts Council's calendar of events published three times yearly and distributed to Columbus residents.

Charter members of the Arts Council include: Capital University, Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, Columbus Symphony Orchestra, Dowtown Area Committee, Junior League of Columbus, Ohio State University, Prestige Concerts and the Symphony Club of Central Ohio.

Traffic Light Is Suggested For East Area

An East Side area was singled out Monday night at Columbus City Council meeting for the installation of a traffic light.

Councilman William P. Hoermle suggested a signal be installed on Livingston-av, somewhere between Kenwick and College-avs.

He said a pedestrian was killed in the area after alighting from a bus.

In other action affecting East Siders, council:

- Rezoned a 1.4-acre tract on the east side of Elaine-rd, 392 feet south of Livingston-av, for 10 four-family apartment units.
- Appropriated $200,000 to buy additional properties needed for the South and East Innerbelts and the East Freeway.
- Authorized $130,000 for payment to Alden E. Stilson and Associates for engineering work on the East Freeway.

Hearing Mar. 1 For Rezoning For New Pool

A public hearing will be held Friday, Mar. 1, by the Board of Zoning Adjustment, to act on a request by the Livingston Development Co. to rezone an East Side area for a private, club-type swimming pool.

The hearing, slated for room 219, City Hall, will begin at 2 p.m.

The pool will be for the residents of Yorkshire, an Ernest J. Fritsche Development west of Noe-Bixby-rd, across from York-ln North. The area is currently zoned as rural residential.

Notes and Nubbins:

When the kids in a Hilliard neighborhood got to comparing notes, their mothers had to get together and adopt a uniform price schedule for the Good Fairy who leaves coins under the pillow in exchange for extracted front teeth . . . The nearest thing to footprints on the sands of time some women will ever leave will be their spiked heel marks in the new kitchen linoleum floor . . . One of the good things that doesn't happen too often is to go to church and have the choirs' selection and the three hymns all turn out to be the good old numbers the congregation knows . . . With a daughter planning a September wedding I'd promise to vote for Kennedy next time if he'd put the expenses of such an event in his reformed tax bill.

Advertising Paid Off

Coca Cola men of this area were guests of their company at a big wing-ding Saturday at North High School and it brings to mind that this little item that you can buy in some places for less than a dime today is sold in 119 countries around the globe, the most widely distributed article in the world.

And it all came about through constant advertising. Back from the time the first bottle was produced, that name has appeared time and time again in newspapers, magazines and any way it could be advertised.

President of the company, Dick Renspie, speaking here Saturday, points out that the business climate is extremely healthy. He points out that the original 13 colonies made up the first common market and that tax barriers between states did not work.

AMBITIOUS LAD

He May Entertain At Parties For Kennedy's Children

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If there's ever a contest to pick "Mr. Ambition of 1963," an 11-year-old East Columbus lad will certainly be in the running.

His name is Les Stellman and his most recent ambition concerns the President of the United States. You seldom get more ambitious than that.

Actually, to be specific, it concerns the President's children — John, Jr. and Caroline. How does young Stellman fit into the picture? Although just beyond the "child" age himself, he entertains at birthday parties for children from three to seven years of age.

He calls himself "Allegro, The Musical Clown," which is appropriate considering the fact that he's rather accomplished at playing 12 instruments — from the piano to the flutophone.

Last month, young Stellman, 3019 Templeton-rd, wrote to Mrs. Kennedy and asked if he could perform for her children's birthday party.

The reply correspondence — direct from the White House — had strong indications that he was definitely being "considered" for the occasion.

Make no mistake, this lad does some mighty high-leveled entertaining. In fact, he goes so far as to call it "culture."

He summed it up this way:

"I believe that children don't have enough culture in their lives. I bring it right into their homes with my 10 through 14, as most frequently practicing the fad.

The injurious element in airplane glue, he said, is the organic solvents—benzene and xylene usually, and added that some manufacturers had added an unpleasant smell to the product to discourage the practice.

The concern police juvenile officers have shown for the problem was expressed by Sgt. Richard Griffith, who pointed out that the fad was being practiced throughout the country, and cited efforts being used to control it.

And nationally, Sgt. Griffith mentioned the efforts of hobby associations to have the formula changed by manufacturers, eliminating the injurious element.

But individually, for each child, in each home, control of the practice must be the concern of parents. They should impress upon their children the appalling, potential danger of such "kicks."

WELCOME WAGON

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

BY ANNE MALAY

Former W-Y High Student Tells Of Peace Corps Life

Mike Clatte, a 1958 Whitehall-Yearling graduate, is now a Peace Corps teacher in Asmara, Eritrea, in Ethiopia. He is presently teaching English to 105 seventh and eighth graders.

Mike entered the Peace Corps training program last July. He is now serving as an English teacher at Islamic Benevolent Middle School in Ethiopia. This middle school is similar to our junior high schoool. This school contains 250 children in grades five through eight. These children are generally from poor families but have an eagerness to learn, according to Mike.

During the holidays Mike wrote a letter to the WYHS Student Council describing his work problems.

He wrote that he badly needed books, magazines, and dictionaries. He feels "the more exposed the students are to the English language, the easier the teaching task."

WYHS student body is conducting a campaign to collect these teaching aids.

The goal for the WYHS drive is 120 dictionaries. WYHS students are hopeful that their project will help Mike in his teaching.

Mike teaches Monday through Thursday and on Saturday. Friday there is no school because it is the Muslim holy day. His students speak four languages—Arabic, Tigrinya, Ambaric and English.

On Monday, Feb. 4 each homeroom nominated a candidate for prince and princess of the sweetheart dance. Underclass boys and girls with the most votes represented their classes on the sweetheart court. The senior boy and girl receiving the most votes reigned as sweetheart king and queen. Results were announced at the Sweetheart Dance, Feb. 8. Pam Parker and Dave Millington were named as the royal couple.

Attendants were: Vicki Shipman and Alan Winner from the senior class; Patty Eader and Bill Landis from the junior class; Diane Willmeth and Don Gale; and Rhonda Hopkins and Tom Barton.

Three WYHS juniors attended an interview with Abigail Van Buren held Friday, Feb. 8 in the ballroom of the Nell House. These three girls, Margart Leeseburg, Anne Malay, and Kathy Trees, found their speaker to be both interesting and enjoyable.

"Dear Abby", a slim and attractive woman, spoke to approximately 200 high schoolers concerning teenage problems.

She discussed such things as smoking, drinking, dating, religion, marriage and family relations.

Catholic Parents Receive Booklet

A colorful, illustrated booklet, "You and Your Child," is being distributed this week to all adult parishioners attending Sunday Mass in the Catholic churches of the area.

It is the sixth booklet in the adult education program for vocations sponsored by Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann, and directed by Msgr. Paul J. O'Dea, director of vocations.

The series covers every aspect of the vocations problem and is directed to parents whom, it is felt, have power to encourage or discourage vocations among Catholic young people to the priesthood or religious life.

There is an old saying that the blood of martyrs is the seed of the church.

The exercise, involving 13 ships of both navies and marines from both countries, was the largest assault ever staged on the Asian mainland by forces of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Jungle Drum was staged to provide training for both countries in jungle fighting. Amphibious landing tactics, dispersal techniques and aerial amphibious assault were stressed throughout the exercise.

Two forces clashed in the mock exercise, near Sattahip, Thailand.

Hints Announced For Emergency School Closing

Officials of the Reynoldsburg Local School District have announced the proper procedures and practices to be observed by all concerned, when it becomes necessary to close schools because of emergency reasons.

Executive head Robert P. Heischman will be responsible for making the final decision on closing any schools. This decision will be made after consultation with various responsible and key personnel in the school system.

Heischman will notify area radio and television stations when a decision is made to close schools. The stations will be notified so announcements of emergency closings can be made to the public by 7 a.m. Whenever possible, announcements will be made the night before a closing.

Parents and students must always assume that school will be held each day, unless it has been announced that schools will be closed.

All parents are urged not to call teachers, principals or the executive head to ask if schools will be open.

Committee Drops Exchange Move

Councilman Richard J. Daugherty, heading a special committee from city council, announced in Monday nights council meeting that efforts to persuade the Ohio Bell Telephone Company to move the newly planned "Reynoldsburg exchange" into the city, have been abandoned.

Daugherty's reason listed in his statement dropping the issue, were generally the same as those reported in the Jan. 31 issue of the Record.

This information was printed following conferences with officials of the telephone company. At that time officials stated it would have to be a pretty convincing arguement to persuade the company to change it's planning.

The officials also pointed out that figures, as quoted by solicitor George W. Ankney Jr., for tax income were also much less than estimated.

ONE WHO WILL MAKE IT

"CAN'T YOU SEE I have two feet of my own?" objected Delmas Lockhart to a cab driver who started to carry him into the cab for a trip to the Treatment Center of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children recently. As the 1963 Easter Seal child in this area, Delmas represents all crippled children served by the sale of seals from Mar. 7 to Apr. 14. Delmas, who was born with cerebral palsy, is now six and is learning the joy of doing things for himself. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmas Lockhart, Sr., 1812 Stetson-rd.

Soap Box Derby Plans Announced

Columbus boys will have the opportunity this summer to take part in the biggest Soap Box Derby yet, the 1963 running of the famous All-American coasting classic.

An official race franchise has been awarded to Columbus by All-American Soap Box Derby headquarters in Detroit.

For the second year the race, which will determine the city's representative in the national championship, will be sponsored by the Columbus Jaycees, local Chevrolet dealers and WLW-C. The race will be held July 13.

At stake for the young pilots of their small, self-built, gravity propelled racers will be $30,000 in college scholarship awards.

The Soap Box Derby is open to all school boys 11 through 15 years of age, inclusive. Any boy of qualified age living in the Greater Columbus area may enter the local race by registering with a parent or guardian. Youngsters will receive a free copy of the 1963 Soap Box Derby rule book and a brochure explaining the program.

Among prizes to be awarded the local champ are a $500 savings bond, a championship trophy and an all-expense paid trip to Akron to take part in the All-American.

Complete details of the 1963 race, including the site and schedule of clinics and other preliminary events, will be announced later.

Teen Death Deplorable

Some of Columbus' best known people gathered at Gladden Community House, Monday night just as they do once every year to hear annual reports . . . traditionally happy ones.

It could have been that way this year — except for last Saturday night. A 17-year-old boy died in the street that night in front of the settlement house. The boy was stabbed. This "West Side Story" took place not in gang-infested New York, but in Columbus, Ohio.

The homicide was a tragic ending to a Valentine dance. It seemed to be a spontaneous thing — some youths from the other side of town began mingling on the dance floor. Then came a challenge; a dispute and an order to leave. Suddenly "automobilized" youth appeared from everywhere. So did police. But before the crowd could be dispersed a swift knife slashed down a life.

The hard working personnel at Gladden House deserve the greatest sympathy and understanding in this crisis. Their determined efforts to "do something nice" for boys and girls growing up in a chore-free, too-often — Godless existence is commendable. They certainly didn't deserve the death-black headlines that swept across Page 1 of the Sunday paper.

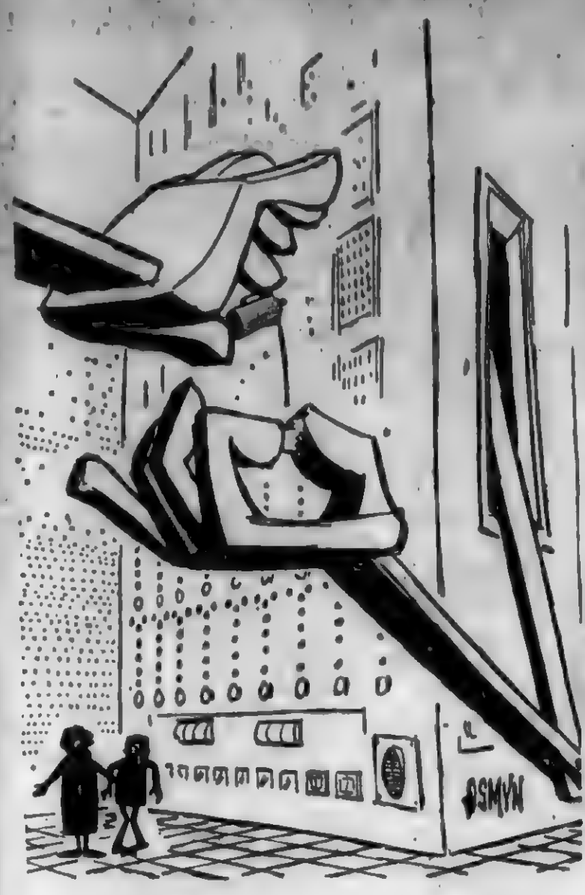
Our long and close association with Gladden's trained social workers has made us familiar with their careful, conscientious planning. They seldom publicize a teen dance loudly, hoping to keep trouble-seeking outsiders out. Chaperones are firm and effective. But Saturday night was too much. The heart and spirit of St. Valentine was punctured, bled and died.

We hope the tragedy will not discourage the gallant people of Gladden in their good works. And while we're hoping, let's insist that: parents must keep their youngsters from trouble-hunting migrations across town; organized youth gangs must never get a start in our area; and especially that Feb. 9's West Side story must never be repeated!

Public Won't Buy Criticism

A woman we know says she's always shopped her community merchants before she made any large purchases for her home or family. But she vows she's ready to reconsider the wisdom of this — and the reason may surprise some of our small business friends.

"It's not because the local businessman can't equal the downtown boys in value and price — they can. It's the occasional bad taste of their sales technique that's driving me away," she frowned.



It seems that twice recently she had to listen to her "frenzied neighborhood dealer" (the term is hers) devote most of his sales pitch to what is wrong with his competitor's product, instead of giving the plusses of his own merchandise. "I came out of one neighborhood store reeling with the faults of the competitor's brand, but without a single substantial reason why the product I'd just seen should be the one I buy," she said.

In another instance our distressed damsel relates," "I fidgited for 20 minutes while the local man figured how a downtown store was probably trying to cheat me on a custom home furnishings estimate. I'd much rather have heard more about why he thought his store could do a top-notch job for me."

No doubt comparison shopping is important to the small retailer. But he should expend his own energy, not the customer's, exploring it.

It's time to "accentuate the positive" in sales tactics. Bombarding the consumer with derogatory data about the competition won't eliminate anything — unless it's that customer's faith in the integrity of her neighborhood retailer.

"It Always Forgets the Sugar!"

Variety . . . by L. F. Howell

VALENTINE

This is the time when hearts entwine,
When your love and mine I hope combine,
So I'll be yours if you'll be mine,
Remembering Saint Valentine.

Perhaps we should not destroy too many of our illusions, for the pleasant ones help us live more enjoyably. But here are some facts about St. Valentine's Day, according to the Encyclopedia Brittanica.

According to legend, probably based on historical facts, there were two saints named Valentine. One was a Roman priest who suffered martyrdom during the persecutions of the Emperor Claudius (A.D. 41-54). He was buried on the Flaminian Way.

The other was a bishop of Interamna (Terni), martyred also in Rome, and whose relics were also translated to Rome.

It is possible that these two stories spring from the same original account, referring to only one person.

St. Valentine's Day as a lovers' festival, the choice of a valentine, and the modern development of sending valentine cards — all this actually has nothing to do with any saints' lives. These customs rather seem to be connected with the pagan Roman festival of the Lupercalia, which took place about the middle of February, or with the early spring season in general.

The origin of St. Valentine's Day customs is less important than their observance. Expressions of love, serious or not, may help balance the scales against too much hatred.

It says here. . . .
A love note outweighs a curse.

Decisions Should Please God, Overrule Self

Genesis 13: 8-13: And Abraham said to Lot, "Let there be no strife between you and me,—if you take the left hand I will go to the right, or if you take the right hand then I will go to the left." Lot lifted up his eyes and saw that the Jordan valley was well watered everywhere like the garden of the Lord, — and Lot chose for himself all the Jordan valley—.

Decisions! They must be made every day, and life is the result of those decisions.

Today's problems grow out of yesterday's decisions. Lot's decision was one of greed for wealth, regardless of his family's exposure to idolatry, immorality, and all types of evil. Abram's decision on the other hand was the way of peace, allowing God to direct his pathway and life.

Rev. Lindemuth

Robert Louis Stevenson said, "Every man sooner or later sits down to a banquet of consequence." The wise man therefore tries to foresee the consequence of his actions. He looks beyond the present. Life is like a stick — you cannot pick up one end without picking up the other end as well. If a man is selfish in his thoughts and motives, a smog already dims his view of the real purpose of life and of the end result. He cannot see beyond himself and the earthly smog stifles his spiritual life.

Each of us has stood at one time or another on some high peak and with awe looked off into the distance and has seen things never seen before — from Mt. Pleasant, Clingman's Dome, Lookout Mountain, Harney Peak, Pike's Peak. It is the unselfish soul, the Christian who is able to climb to the top of a mount of transfiguration and there see beyond himself for the first time. He begins to see others, they mean something to him, it is a new dawn, a new day. He is even able to see tomorrow, the future, and a new generation. He sees his purpose in life in relation to others and to God.

The Christian must ask himself these questions, "Is the way I choose pleasing to God? Do I live for Jesus or for myself alone? The things I choose, the things I do, what effect do they have on my fellowman, my family, my community, and my country? What will my choice, my action mean to the coming generation?"

To refuse to open our eyes and see the end results is deadly. "Where there is no vision the people perish." Anyone who looks only at his own feet is sure to stumble. It is the projected and perfected vision that will reveal the end result. Yet even in this our day there are those in positions of power, prominence, and responsibility who have eyes and do not see — ears have they and do not hear the warning rumblings of the effects of their selfish bad choices.

May more and more of the leaders of our great country unselfishly look beyond at the end results upon society, and be led to make right decisions, "a choice pleasing to God."

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Speaking Of Grim Fiery Tales . . .

RELAX! RELAX!

Everywhere we turn, some self-styled expert in the art of staying loose is exhorting us to relax. Newspapers and magazines swamp us with advice on how to relax — usually written by some fellow who in a previous edition authored a piece such as "How to Entertain Ulcers at Dinner."

McPeek

Okay, so I want to relax. I read all the articles. I heed the advice with grateful tears. I slump about the house with the rigidity of a piece of spaghetti. I smile warmly when I read about DeGaulle ripping h . . . out of European unity. I roll gleefully on the floor when my spouse scorches the collar of my best shirt.

I chuckle when I read an article describing the theoretical devastation a 50-megaton hydrogen bomb would wreak on Cleveland. I roar delightedly when my boss shucks off last-minute extra work on me. I scoff humorously when I read about the continued build-up of Communist arms in Cuba. I grin idiotically when the kids punch pencil holes in the vinyl seats of the breakfast set. I give friendly waves to the highway cowboy who curses me for my stupidity in stopping for a stop sign.

It works. I have no more tension than a marshmallow lying in the sun. I'm calm, peaceful, relaxed, and totally lovable. My wife, my kids, my boss, one and all they adore me for my new-found passivity.

So what happens? Some jerk kid over in Japan props up a $20 homemade telescope in his backyard and discovers a new comet.

That does it! I'm a quaking mass of frazzled nerve ends, racked with fears. What great evil will beset us?

Since antiquity the discovery of a comet has portended death, plague, pestilence, famine, war.

Listen to the skeptics: "What's this nut wailing about?"

So what about Julius Caesar? A new comet zipped across the skies just as Julie's buddies and enemies put their plumed helmets together and plotted his demise.

Yeah, and not too many years later, what about Emperor Vespasian and the comet that heralded his death? Vespasian, a bullheaded Roman, maintained that the comet had some other significance since it had a "hairy tail" and he was bald, but how come he went ahead and kicked off . . . later?

And we don't have to go back to the Roman Empire to see some of the nasty things that happened on the tail of comets. America, especially New England, has had many unhappy cometary experiences.

In 1652 a comet appeared just at the moment the Rev. John Cotton, the "Patriarch of New England" and a founder of Congregationalism in America, fell ill, and it disappeared at his death.

Only 10 years later, the wicked inhabitants of Boston were warned by a new comet to quit horsing around and abstain from "voluptuousness and abuse of good creatures by licentiousness in drinking and fashions in apparel."

Well right off the good Bostonians stepped up their witch and book burning activities. Some years later they tired of burning witches (you see one burn, you've seen them all) and concentrated on burning books, possibly because there were fewer complaints from survivors than those voiced by relatives of witches . . . and possibly because there were few book readers in Boston then.

What with the advent of stricter fire safety laws, even book burning lost much of its appeal. But some diehards, reluctant to give up their fun, switched to banning books, which has continued as one of the city's favorite hobbies.

So there, skeptics. How can you be so blind as to mock the peril posed by this new comet?

Let's not forget that although the comet was first sighted by 19-year-old Kaoru Ikeya in Japan, it happened just as the 88th Congress was getting under way.

And if there's one thing a new Congress doesn't need, it's some stupid omen flitting around over their heads.

Black Panther? Naw, It's Just February

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Well, I've resisted it for as long as possible, but it apparently is time to comment on the furred monsters roaming these parts.

For several weeks a "black panther" has been reported from several locations in Pickaway, Madison and Union counties. Some strange tracks "big as a man's hand" were sighted on the snow at Hoover Reservoir.

What with the international situation the way it is, spring a good two months off and income tax time to boot, it just seems like too much to worry ourselves about imminent attack from a mysterious beast. Yet, our ancestors worried about such things, for good reason, and perhaps we have inherited a liking for a good story. In any event, it's that time of year — a couple of years or so ago it was a "bear" in western Franklin County. Oddly enough it was February when it was "seen" if my memory is accurate.

This is all great fun for me, for I was brought up on such stories over in Muskingum County. This is real "bear story country" and everyone joins into the game every few years. Posses are formed and airplanes search from the sky. A good bear hunt is better than the county fair, and no one's enthusiasm is ever dampened because a bear has never been shot, or even seen.

So I listen with interest about every detail of the black panther. What could be more exciting? Even non-sportsmen perk up their ears when you start talking about a black panther. If you can speak knowledgeably about black panthers, you are in demand today. But don't rest in your popularity, for soon it will be spring, fish will be hitting and golf courses will open. The black panther will disappear with the last of the snow, only to be reincarnated next February as a wolf, bear or something worse.

Fun is fun, but what are the facts? The only thing to expect in nature is the unexpected, so there could be a black panther. But, since such critters are not native to this part of the world, it would have had to escape from somewhere. These are very valuable animals, and no zoo, circus or traveling medicine show would "lose" one without reporting it. So as far as I'm concerned there is no black panther running loose in Central Ohio. The same goes for large, monstrous snakes. Yes, pythons and boa constrictors make good February stories too, and I'm not joking when I say that I've heard them.

What, then, makes the tracks in the snow? Several things. Men make some of them for jokes. A Delaware County man told me he knows two fellows who took a bear's paw they brought back from Canada, and made bear tracks in the mud along Whetstone Creek. Fortunately, it was not bear season — no one knows what would have happened had this occurred in February.

Mainly, what people see are dog tracks. There are some awfully big dogs around, and these seem to be the ones that run loose. Three-inch dog tracks are common. Now here is the important part, on a thawing day the margins of these tracks will melt before anything else. This enlarges the tracks, and when conditions are just right tracks can be doubled in size and still retain their character.

Marlin Perkins, of television's "Wild Kingdom" (N.B.C.—Sunday), explained the abominable snowman from Tibet in this manner. Rabbit tracks thaw and enlarge, the four footprints melting into a single outline roughly in the shape of a man's foot. Thus each set of four rabbit tracks become a single snowman's footprint. Each jump of the rabbit is a snowman's step.

This is the classic example of how reliable and honest men have seen something that was not there, for it has puzzled explorers and scientists for generations. The explanation is almost too simple to be accepted, and it probably won't be for it is always February in Tibet, they say.

Public Invited To Writer's Meeting

The public, and particularly sportsmen, are invited to attend sessions of the annual meeting of the Outdoor Writers of Ohio, Inc., at Olentangy Inn, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 15 and 16.

A banquet Saturday evening will feature guest speaker, Mike Hudoba, Washington editor of Sports Afield. Tickets should be purchased in advance. Also on the program will be Dean Jauchius, administrative assistant to Gov. James Rhodes; Dr. Charles A. Dambach, director, Natural Resources Institute, Ohio State University; Gordon Kuster, outdoor editor and photographer; Erwin A. Bauer, free-lance writer and photographer, and others.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Snobs are always such interesting people. There are so many kinds that limited space makes it impossible to catalogue them.

There are three kinds that give civilized people a very definite pain in a very definite place. First of all, money snobs who would be nobodies if they did not have money. Secondly, intellectual snobs who have been to school all of their lives but have no practical experience with life and how to get along with other people.

Thirdly, and always most obnoxious are those who suffer so terribly from an over-conditioned inferiority complex. Their total lack of priceless "inner illumination" is so noticeable to the astute and truly cultured that the wise old Emersonian comment still weighs a ton — "what you are speaks so loudly, I can't hear a thing you say."

Truly civilized adults who have both means and breeding through family lines and who have "learned how to live the good life," are rarely snobs or bores. Such delightful individuals have a profound and sincere respect for the genuine proprieties of life.

Intellectual snobs who have nothing but a trunk full of diplomas and half the letters in the alphabet after their names are simply annoying to real doers.

I do not mean to belittle any genuine achievement in life by anyone. Roses still bloom and flourish in dung hills, but they were born with what it takes to get out of any unfriendly environment and get into the real sunshine of opportunity and everlasting self-improvement.

So, rich or poor, eighth grade or Ph.D., all astute observers of human behavior are those who can sort the slobs from the saints and exercise the God-given right to associate with kindred spirits and minds and souls.

Wise old Dr. Thorndyke said it best in what has now become known as Thorndyke's Law, namely, "no man begins to become somebody until he has learned how to respect people who are somebody by breeding, education and above all else, Christian humility or soul health."

The ukulele, harmonica and organ are just three other instruments he has to his credit.

to see some of the films being shown in today's theaters."

With this thought in mind, the film endorsement has been planned for Valentine's Day — a usual time for movie dating.

"We have an immediate challenge and an ultimate goal before us," Mrs. Skeen added, "Our goal is to live to the fullest potential of youth in God and our challenge is to 'crusade' for clean movies by sponsoring one."

The older-youth-sponsored film will be shown at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Tickets, available at the door or through members of the Crusaders' Class (Broad-st Methodist Church, Broad and Washington) are $1.25 for adults and 50-cents for children.

Proceeds from the ticket sale will be used for a "Vision Project" whereby the class will support an "adventure in camping and Christian witnessing to enrich our own and other lives for Christ in summer of 1963," Mrs. Skeen concluded.

The group hopes to send members to Puerto Rico to exploit the movie idea there along with other Christian principles.

Joel Slavens, Barbara Smith Chosen Royal Duo At Dance

Seniors Joel Slaven and Barbara Smith reigned as king and queen of hearts at the annual Valentine dance last Friday night. Candidates had been chosen earlier by each class and the king and queen were chosen at the dance. It was sponsored by the "Torch," the Bexley High School student newspaper.

Tryouts for the band parents' show will be held Friday after school in the high school music room. Any local individual or group is eligible to try out. Participants should see Mr. Woodford Zimmerman, band director, or Mr. C. Robert Myers, choir director, at the high school.

Bexley's "B" debate team placed first at the Cardington High School debate tournament Feb. 2. Linda Schneider, Bob Schwartz, Marc Stern, and Robbie Solomon defeated Grove City, Olentangy Newark, Mifflin and Delaware high schools.

Bexley students have started Senior First Aid Course conducted by the local chapter of the American Red Cross. Junior David Schaffter represented Bexley at a meeting of the Red Cross District Council at St. Anthony's Hospital.

Winners of the dance contest held at noon in the student lounge were Pam Finke and Woody Woodward. The contest was under the direction of Missy Hefferman.

Caroyln Stegmiller, junior, was Bexley's delegate to the Governor's Youth Safety Council Conference. She also attended a regional conference last month at Ohio State University where she served on the panel that directed the general discussion.

Caroyln Smith recently explained the Y-Teens city-wide service project, Links, over WBNS radio.

The Bexley High School dramatics club held a joint meeting with Arlington's drama group Feb. 7 after school. Program ideas were exchanged by the two clubs. Sophomore Tina Holmes was in charge of the program for Bexley.

Harriett Nalty and Doug Woodyard placed fourth and fifth respectively in the Franklin County TB Press Project. They were awarded medals for their articles on "TB and Respiratory Diseases."

CITY WRESTLNG MEET ACTION - LOOK, MA - JUST LIKE ON TV

THERE WAS plenty of action for high school wrestling fans who attended the second annual City League wrestling meet at Walnut Ridge last weekend. East's Tigers won the title but as these photos indicate — everybody got into the act. In the picture on the left, Eastmoor's John Packard (top) calls on all the muscle at his command as he attempts to get the left shoulder of Linden-McKinley's Terry West pinned down on the mat. Packard didn't get the pin but he blanked West, 10-0, in this 175-pound division qualifier Friday. In the center photo, Walnut Ridge's 138-pound entry, Don Pinkston (top) maneuvers for leverage as he attempts to roll Linden's Jim McDonald over on his back for the pin. Pinkston succeeded a few minutes later. On the right, East's Roger Young (right of picture) appears to be in trouble as Central's Charles Ivory pulls Young toward the mat. The 120-pound Tiger matman wasn't in trouble long, however, pinning Ivory in 2:23. Young nailed down his weight division title, decisioning Linden's Jim Hicks in the finals. Pinkston followed suit, downing Whetstone's Doug Byerly, while Packard lost out to Central's Willie Hoke in the semi-finals. (Photos by Jack Wittenmeier).

East Gains Title Tie; Warriors Upset Bucs

Basketball, version '62-'63, closes its books on league play as far as three area cage clubs are concerned with Academy, Hartley and St. Charles wrapping up loop action this weekend.

Bexley and Whitehall of the Central Buckeye circuit and the area's three City League entries — East, Eastmoor and Walnut Ridge wrap up their respective loop schedules next weekend.

EAST'S TIGERS, receiving an unexpected favor from Eastmoor, nailed down a share of the City crown Friday night, combining a 52-36 victory over West with the Warriors' 48-46 upset of second place Central.

The Cowboys managed to corral East's fast break Friday for one half, trailing only 20-19 at intermission. But the Tigers began to roll in the third period, cutting down on costly turnovers and riddling West's tight defense with some fancy outside shooting.

Mike Hammond keyed the East offense with 13 points while Bob Galloway and Ed Waller hit for 10 additional markers each.

EASTMOOR, EXHIBITING the brand of play that has improved the Warrior stock during the past few weeks, jumped out ahead of Central Friday night and then weathered a late Pirate uprising to finish on top.

The Warriors, paced by Steve Howell's 20 points, left the court at halftime with a 30-19 bulge. But the finish didn't come any too soon for the winners who saw two of Tom Fullove's 27 points pull the rebounding Bucs to within three points of victory with 25 seconds remaining. Nick Geldis backed up Howell's performance with 14 markers.

ACADEMY LED all the way in another area upset as the Vikings slipped past Canal Winchester, 32-31, Friday evening in County League action.

Ed Laws paced the Viking scoring with 12 points but John Larrimer came up with the big bucket, providing Academy with the winning margin in the last two minutes of play.

ST. CHARLES bowed out of the Central Catholic title picture Friday, bowing to Watterson, 51-46, before a turnaway crowd on the Card's court.

The Eagles, who were defeated earlier this season by the Carolians, turned the tables, beating St. Charles in the same manner that the Cards upended the Eagles — at the foul line.

The Cardinals sliced away Watterson's lead in the final stanza but the Eagles stalled the ball and then cashed in on fouls as St. Charles tried for possession.

Dick Ferris and Mick Baumann were the top Carolian point-makers with 17 and 14 markers, respectively.

JACK DI A MOND'S field goal with three seconds remaining gave Hartley a second chance at victory and the Hawks made it pay off with a 50-44 overtime victory over Newark Catholic.

The Hawks carried a four-point lead into the fourth period but Newark bounced back to take the lead in the final minute of play to set up Diamond's heroics.

Randy Rodich and Diamond topped Hawk scoring with 20 and 13 points.

EASTMOOR CAME close to duplicating its upset over Central against a strong Athens quintet Saturday evening. The Warriors bowed, 46-45, but not before they had taken their hosts right up to the final buzzer.

Athens, who notched its 15th win in 17 tries this season, led most of the way but couldn't break away from the relentless Warriors who got double-figure scoring from Steve Howell, Nick Geldis and Mike Andrew.

WALNUT RIDGE stayed within reach of Whetstone for one half Friday evening before the Braves went on the warpath in the third period to run away from the Scotties.

The Highlanders only trailed 27-15 at intermission but Whetstone outdueled W-R, 27-7, in a big third quarter to put the game out of reach.

BEXLEY BATTLED Grandview on even terms for three periods Friday before dropping a 64-54 CBL verdict to the Bobcats.

The Lions, paced by Jeff Schmidt's 20 markers, pulled within two points, 44-42, at the end of the third stanza but Grandview upped its margin shortly later.

URBANA WASTED little time Friday securing at least a share of the Central Buckeye laurels, running away from Whitehall, 98-27.

The Hillclimbers zipped off to a 13-point first-quarter advantage, increasing the margin to 36 before they took a breath at halftime.

SIX GAMES compose the Friday night cage schedule around the area. East (14-1) will be gunning for all the marbles in the City circuit at Walnut Ridge (1-13) while Eastmoor (7-6) stalks South's Bulldogs (5-10).

Other Friday contests find Whitehall (1-15) at Grandview, Bexley (4-11) at Arlington, St. Charles (9-7) at Hartley (6-11) and Academy (5-11) playing Rosary (4-11) at the Catholic Center (K of C).

A pair of Saturday evening affairs wrap up the weekend schedule as Reynoldsburg (6-9) entertains Walnut Ridge and St. Charles travels to the Catholic Center for a battle with Rosary.

Bill Mackin scored 13 field goals and one free throw for 27 points to lead Kenny's Loan to the first round championship in the Jewish Center's Adult Basketball League.

Norman Elg and Sandy Solomon with 15 and 14 points respectively helped contribute to the Loan men's 73-45 win over Main Auto Parts.

Kenny's led all the way and poured it on in the second half as they scored 38 points to Main's 19. Bob Swedlow led the Main Auto attack with 13 points.

RAYBO VENDING took their second victory of the round with a resounding 57-46 win over Ontario. Milt Lewin led Raybo's scoring with 20 points.

Raybo was in charge all the way but wrapped up the contest with 21 points in the last quarter.

Why Not Coloring Book About Sports Figures?

Next time you're out on the Woolworth or Kresge circuit looking for that 59 cent horsehide to keep Junior on the major league trail — take a gander at the biggest thing to hit the market since hula hoops put Davy Crockett out of business.

The latest fad is the coloring book craze and apparently everybody is trying to get into the act. About the only kind of coloring book we haven't seen around town is one marked "Sports."

ALTHOUGH OUR patent is still pending in Washington, we have confidence that maybe we'll be spending the spring in Florida with the Mickey Mantles and the Stan Musials.

So for those who fancy coloring books (and lots of people do), here's a new one for you. Crayons ready? Begin to color:

PAGE ONE — See the Big Ten basketball coach with the crew-cut? Color him worried. Color his All-American cagers gone. Color his team's long streak of home court victories shaky.

PAGE FOUR — Here's a chunky professional golfer. Color his pockets green and bulging. Color him disgusted because he had to work a whole six days to earn nine G's.

PAGE FIVE — Ready for the Big Ten football coach? Color him outspoken. Black out all the officials around him. Take your scissors out and clip off the coaches' sleeves.

PAGE SIX — See the major league slugging king? Color him frustrated. Color his strike zone bigger and his batting average smaller. Color the pitcher on the mound happier than he's been for many a season. Color the umpire's eyes as weak as ever.

PAGE SEVEN COME ELEVEN — Work diligently on this series of professional football players. Color them controversial. Color the NFL investigators tailing them behind billboards and bushes, scribbling away in notebooks.

PAGE 13 — Here's an ex-All-American cager. Color moss growing on his basketball shoes. Color him anxious—his fans patient — and local sportswriters hopeful of getting the news break this time.

PAGE 14 — Look at the local baseball stadium. Color the seats empty. Draw in the club's general manager up on the roof, looking towards Pittsburgh.

PAGE 15 — Here's the International League's scheduling committee. Color them confused and unsure of who's really playing in the league this season.

PAGE 17 — See the Hartley Sports Editor? Color him all out of ideas, crayons and pages. Color him looking for a new job when all the libel suits start rolling in.

WRESTLING WRAPUP

Viking Tankers Dunk Marion Y

Academy dbunked the Marion YMCA swimming team Saturday in the Viking pool, 61-34, as Henry Richter and Dennis Miller set new pool marks but shared the spotlight with a pair of freshman tankers.

Richter again lowered his butterfly mark to :59.0 and Miller snapped his record in the individual medley, finishing in 2:17.4.

But two new names were added to the Vikings' long list of top-flight swimming performers as Bill Aschinger completed the backstroke in 1:09.8 to snap the old freshman record for that event and George Trautman topped the field in the 400-yd. freestyle event.

Academy swept to victory in eight of the 11 events to nail down the win.

Vikings Scare Bucks

Academy came closer than most County League entries have this season to toppling University from the unbeaten ranks Tuesday night as the Vikings fell short of registering an upset over the Bucklings, 35-27.

University never trailed after overcoming an 8-7 Academy lead early in the second period but the Vikings called on a stingy zone defense to stay within striking range of the Little Bucks until late in the final stanza.

Academy held high-scoring John Howard to four field goals as Ken Holzman paced the Viking offense with nine markers.

Dad's steady influence is needed for . . .

LIFE'S OBSTACLES

We can easily see physical obstacles such as logs, boulders, and many other things that may be too difficult for our children to handle, but things that are not physical are not always so obvious. A young child needs help from his parents in spiritual matters too. The church can be an influence on children's lives, but when you, a parent, are taking part in church worship, you can be an even greater influence. Give your children, the leaders of the future, a hand now when they need it most. Take them to church regularly . . . and you too, will have a fuller and better life.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny: the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

I believe that this is the largest ranch home in Whitehall. There are about 3,200 square feet of living space on one floor; one of the three bedrooms is 16x24 feet and the living room is 15x30 feet and carpeted with parquet floors plus a 14x15 library off one side of the living room. Huge kitchen has eating space and there is also a dining room. Two full baths. Outside there is a lot just a little under an acre with many tall trees. Very convenient location close to Town and Country and bus. Price is unbelievably low and far less than reproduction cost Call me and I'll be glad to show it to you.

GROUND RULES

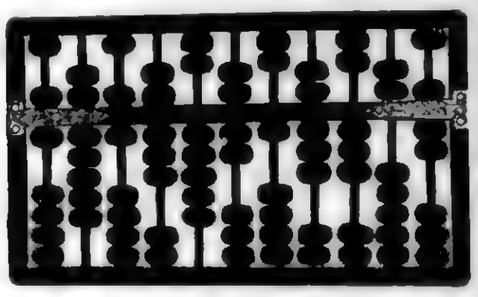
HERMAN JOHNSON

Now that ground hog day is over and we have the promise of only six weeks or less of winter, prune apple and pear trees now. Repair lawn mowers, spraying equipment and sharpen pruning tools. Order fruit trees. Dwarf fruit trees would be more desirable on a small lot. You can plant about three dwarf trees in the area that would be occupied by one standard tree. They are much easier to care for, too. In setting up your spring lawn and garden program, if you find you don't have proper tools, remember WE RENT.

If you enjoy growing or displaying plants and flowers, check with the man of the house. He may have an old fluorescent light fixture either at home or at the office that you can use just by adding Gro-Lux tubes. When germinating your seeds in flats, place your Gro-Lux lamps 12 to 18 inches above top of plant. Don't forget, a lot of plants are similar to people, they should have warm feet and a cool head.

Now that everyone is considering a physical fitness program, you won't have to walk 5C miles like the marines, if you set up your own lawn and garden program. This will keep you trim right in the brim of that pretty sun bonnet.



If you were sick, you would see your family doctor. If you were taking up golf, you would see a pro. If your lawn is sick, CALL US. We have trained consultants, free service, and the right remedies.

It's easy in and easy out — with our new traffic signal, WE DELIVER.

'IT'S LIKE COMMITTING SUICIDE'

Beware Of Hike Fad, Warns County Health Commissioner

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Dr. Robert Evans, Franklin County health commissioner, spoke out this week against the current hiking fad—even calling it "asinine."

As Dr. Evans sees it, "unless you're in shape for this physical activity, you're trying to commit suicide."

As near as can be determined, the "hiking hysteria" had its bright beginnings in Washington, DC., through some encouragement by President Kennedy.

It has spread across the country with the gusto of the "Twist" and is causing additional woes to feet not yet healed from doing that dance craze.

Greater Columbus residents have latched onto the fad and they're the ones who have Dr. Evans a little worried.

"These people should be aware of their own personal health," said the good doctor.

He's undoubtedly referring to the recent burst of interest in walking being done by folks unprepared to perform spectacular feats with their feet.

"Let's not make a mistake here," the doctor added. "Walking is good exercise but, let's not overdo it. We need more exercise but not this 'duration' type."

Dr. Evans feels there are probably people who could sit around their house and set fire to their fingertips, too, but this doesn't prove much except that they can take it.

The doctor actually has his doubts as to whether or not this "hiking hysteria" is really physical fitness or not. The feeling is strong that it can best be described as a publicity stunt.

He admits he enjoys a brisk walk occasionally, himself. "But not," he added hastily, "when I can get in an automobile."

Meantime, the walking fad continues in the Greater Columbus area.

Radio Station WTVN has been plugging a locally based oil company's offer to furnish the gasoline for a return trip by any 50-mile hikers — providing they do it in 20 hours or less and providing they register first.

They've already made good on their offer for Curtis Carter, 62 Hoffman-st, who hoofed it to Zanesville last weekend in 18½ hours.

HARTLEY NEWSPAPERS Sports Editor Jack Wittemeier takes a look at the hike fad inside this week's issue.

Two foot-blistered former Marines on the Hilltop took the 50-mile trip to Delaware and back and, when asked if they'd do it again, replied with a firm "No."

They are John W. Kelley, 32, of 3045 Palmetto-st, and George Motil, 27, of 2729 Sullivant-av. "Don't try it unless you're trained and know you're in good shape," they said.

J. Richard Lawwill, superintendent of Parks and Forestry, says he enjoys a walk "nearly every day" around Franklin Park. He goes about a quarter of a mile.

He reports that there's a track around Franklin that's a mile in length and says its open to anyone who might want to try 50 laps.

"I don't think I'd try it — even on a bicycle," he smiled, with vig-ah.

Capital Official To Speak

Dr. Frank H. Bretz, vice-president for academic affairs at Capital University, will be one of the speakers at a dinner tonight (Thursday) that will kick-off a campaign for the Independent College Alumni Associates.

Over 500 volunteers will make personal contact with alumni of 16 colleges in the campaign and will lay plans at this dinner to be held at the Nationwide Insurance Co., 246 N. High-st.

Besides Dr. Bretz, the other speaker will be Earle Sanford, a senior at Ohio Wesleyan University.

During the two-week drive, the volunteers will solicit over 4,000 alumni in the Columbus area. Each college contacts its own alumni and receives the full amount they contribute.

General chairman of the Columbus campaign is Forest R. Lambaer, a Nationwide Insurance Co. executive.

Columbus is one of nine major Ohio cities in which the ICAA is conducting joint personal solicitation alumni fund drives.

Participating in the Columbus campaign are 16 out of the 25-member private colleges: Antioch, Baldwin-Wallace, Bluffton, Capital, University of Dayton, Defiance, Findlay, Heidelberg, Hiram, Mount Union, Ohio Wesleyan, St. Mary's of the Springs, Wilmington, Wittenberg and Wooster.

Whitehall Band Plans Free Concert

The Whitehall High Senior Band will offer a free concert Friday, Mar. 8, in the school auditorium.

According to band director Warren Wesler, the concert will feature "rather light, easy to listen to music . . . considerably different than any given in the past."

The idea of the concert began with the band members who are doing the work involved in the presentation.

This will be the only free evening performance by the high school band this year. The program is open to the public.

2nd Baby Born On Valentine's Day To Family

For the second time, a baby was born to the Robert Todd Fitzsimmons family, 594 Enfield-rd, on Valentine's Day.

St. Ann's Hospital reported the new son is the second Valentine baby for the family, which now numbers seven boys and five girls — all born at St. Ann's.

The 12 children, born during the past 12 years, includes one set of twins.

Street Construction Projects Lead '63 Improvement List

BIG DAY FOR WHITEHALL GIRL SCOUT TROOP

THURSDAY, Feb. 14 (Valentine's Day), was a big day in the lives of these Girl Scouts from Whitehall Troop 509. It marked the third year of organization as celebrated with a birthday cake held in the photograph by Mrs. Robert Altemus, troop leader, 4185 Virginia-cl. The same day, in other photo, the girls were presented with a flag by Mrs. Sheila Mayes, 4189 Virginia-cl East, on behalf of B'nai B'rith Candlelight Chapel 888.

Street construction projects costing nearly $23,000,000 to relieve East Side traffic congestion are earmarked for 1963 construction in the city's 1963 capital improvements program approved this week by City Council.

The street construction program for the East Side represents more than one-third of the city's entire 1963 capital improvements budget, according to figures released by Mayor Westlake.

Of the total, $20,000,000 will go toward construction of the East Freeway from the Innerbelt to a point on the west bank of Alum Creek south of Livingston-av. Another $200,000 will go for engineering plans for the remainder of the East Freeway.

Altogether, residents of the eastern, northeastern and southeastern sections of the city will benefit from more than a dozen projects costing more than an estimated $27,000,000, Mayor Westlake said.

In addition to streets, these projects include sewers costing $2,750,000; parks costing $558,500, and urban renewal projects at Children's Hospital costing an estimated $233,353.

Besides the East Freeway, the street construction program for the eastern area includes:

Improvement of College-av from Hadden-rd to Petzinger-rd, $400,000; relocation of Hamilton-av from Mount Vernon-av to Grove-st, $80,000; widening and building sidewalks on Courtright-rd from Livingston-av to Deshler-av, $157,000; construction of a four-lane pavement on Hamilton-rd from the East Freeway to Whitehall, $871,000 and widening of Stelzer-rd to four lanes from Seventh-av to Agler-rd, $1,300,000.

A portion of the Alum Creek main trunk sanitary sewer from Johnstown-rd to Morse-rd heads the sewer construction program. This project will cost an estimated $1,900,000.

Another big sewer project will be the Big Walnut main trunk sanitary from Broad-st to Rocky Fork in Gahanna. This will cost an estimated $1,600,000 and eventually eliminate the necessity for the Gahanna sewage treatment plant.

Construction of the controversial Bliss Run storm drainage project in Berwick also is scheduled at a cost of $250,000.

New Post Office To Open

THIS IS the ultra-modern Livingston Station Post Office to open Saturday at 3850 E. Livingston-av.

Postmaster Allen M. Rowe announced that the new Livingston Station, 3850 E. Livingston-av, will be open for business Saturday, Feb. 23.

Postal patrons residing in postal zone 27 will now do business in the new facility that has a bank-type service counter, modern lighting and year around air conditioning.

Off-street parking is provided. The architectual design of the building makes it a proud addition to the community and the Columbus Post Office.

Homer C. Shears, superintendent, Charles N. Freeman, assistant-superintendent, two window clerks and twenty letter carriers will serve 8,570 residential and 165 business delivery points in zone 27.

The area served is bound by East Main-st, but not including E. Main-st and the north; Lockbourne, to the south;

Whitehall Council Pondering Project

Attorney James Maxwell, Jr., no stranger to Whitehall City Council with re-zoning pleas, brought his biggest-ever before the solons Tuesday night and received another non-committal reply.

At a session of council two weeks ago, Maxwell introduced a $1.4-million apartment house project, Bagshaw Plaza, proposed for a tract of land on Poth-rd.

This was put off until Tuesday night's meeting when the ordinance was given a first reading. This project would've been Whitehall's largest such complex.

Maxwell outdid himself this week, however, when he proposed a $5-million apartment project for a 16-acre tract north of E. Main-st at Lamby-ln and Washburton-av.

This project would include single, twin and four-family dwellings totaling 254 units, compared to Bagshaw's 210 apartments.

Again this latest request was tabled until area residents could be given a chance to express their opinion.

In other action, Council turned down a request for a zoning change for a 168-unit apartment project on E. Broad-st, north of English Village. The request was for 320-square feet efficiency dwellings.

This was nixed because the living space wasn't enough in keeping with the city's new Apartment-Office classification ordinance passed Tuesday night.

The new classification set minimum living space for apartments of this variety at 500-square feet.

Crime Crackdown Needed, But Won't Come

A Hartley Headliner Report

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

A startling increase in major crimes in Columbus calls for a law enforcement crackdown—a crackdown that can't be made by the Columbus Police Department.

This was the sad but inevitable conclusion drawn this week by Police Chief George Scholer who went so far as to say that the increased crime rate has him "worried to death."

Actually, the progressive increase in some crimes has worried Scholer ever since his appointment to chief nine years ago. It doesn't take much imagination to picture the chief as a chess player who can, at present, merely move his men around the city rather than concentrate on any particular area.

"All I can do is analyze the various areas of the city and, if I find a high crime rate, shift more men into the area. This, however, leaves another section without adequate enforcement."

"In other words," he continued, "a major crackdown on crimes cannot be made with our current staff."

Just how critical is the crime problem? Check these statistics:

There were 1286 auto thefts in 1961. For 1962, 1651 have been reported. This is an increase of 28.4 per cent.

In comparison, murder has increased 60.9 per cent, rape 10 per cent and burglarly 6.2 per cent.

The alarming increase in murders doesn't really concern Scholer as much as burglarly and auto theft increases. The chief pointed out that "Columbus, over the years, has experienced a low homicide rate. An upsurge in one year doesn't concern me — this will drop. But, we can't overlook the fact that burglary has been going up continuously and auto thefts have increased 180 per cent in the last 10 years."

Why? What factors have caused an upsurge in crime? The men close to the problem have part of the answers.

For example, Lt. Wayne Morgan of the homicide and robbery squad points out the reason is "population explosion." He added: "It's simple enough . . . the more people in a city, the more homicides you'll experience."

Lt. James Woods of the burglarly and larceny squads feels the same way. "We've been annexing territory for some time. Things previously handled by the county are being done by us, now." Besides population, Lt. Woods attributes part of the increase to his theory that Columbus is "a dumping ground for state parolees."

"Sure, population is a factor," said Scholer. "But let's not forget that the population has been increasing right along and yet we've never had an upsurge as great as we experienced last year."

The chief said that, speaking proportionately, the crime rate has increased faster than the population rate in all crimes in the city during the last 10 years.

As far as the dumping ground theory, Scholer says it "may be true," but added he'd rather not "make a wild

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Cherry Treats Now Bargain-Priced

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Apples, grapefruit, rhubarb, canned red cherries.

Vegetables — Potatoes, carrots, yellow onions, frozen French fries, canned corn.

Meat and Poultry — Beef "specials," hams, chicken, frozen fish.

Other — Frozen cherry pies, tomato products, tuna fish.

Thinking of baking a cherry pie for your family on Washington's birthday? Cherry pie, of course, is only the beginning when it comes to cherry desserts and other "goodies" you can make using cherries.

Whatever your choice of cherry treats, this is the week to serve them at bargain prices. Because of the good cherry crop last summer, both canned and frozen red tart cherries, as well as cherry products, are abundant and will be highlighted in food markets for the national holiday.

Mrs. Franks

If you're looking for canned cherries, you'll find the one pound (No. 303) can is now the most popular consumer size for red tart cherries, the kind usually preferred for pies and other baking. They are packed in water, in light syrup or in heavy syrup. The intended use will determine the style pack to buy.

For a well-filled nine-inch pie, you'll need two No. 303 cans (four cups).

ounce or 20 ounce cans and they are usually red

You'll find frozen cherries sold in either 16 ounce or 20 ounce and they are usually tart cherries, packed in sugar. Two 16 ounce cans four cups) is about right for a nine-inch pie.

Cherry pie filling now out sells canned cherries, so the grocers say. This product comes in No. 2 cans only, contains red tart cherries and other ingredients for a cherry pie.

All you need to do is to empty the contents of the can into an unbaked pie crust and bake. If you like a well-filled pie, use a seven or eight-inch pan for one can. If making a good pie crust is your problem, nine-inch frozen pie crusts (two per package) are available from the frozen food chest in some stores.

Frozen cherry pies are outstanding values in many stores this week. Available in sizes ranging from an individual serving to a 24-ounce family size, these pies are ready to pop into the oven and bake — a joy to the busy homemaker or inexperienced baker.

However, if you choose to bake your own — and use frozen cherries — do you have trouble getting a filling that's neither "runny" nor "overthick?" Home economists at Cornell University have been test-baking frozen red cherry pies with various kinds and amounts of thickeners, and say, for:

CHERRY PIES THAT DON'T RUN

- Use one quart frozen cherries for a well-filled eight or nine-inch pie. (Two 16-ounce cans).
- Mix 2½ tablespoons of minute tapioca with 1½ tablespoons of cornstarch.
- Sugar to taste. Remember, some sugar was added when the cherries were frozen — so don't add too much.

Thaw the cherries only until most of the free ice has disappeared. Drain off the juice and add it to the thickener and sugar mixed together. Heat rapidly until thickened. Put drained cherries into unbaked pie shell, pour the thickened juice over the cherries, and add latticed top crust.

Bake at 400 degrees for 35 minutes or until the top crust is light brown. Put the pie on the lowest shelf of the oven to get a brown undercrust.

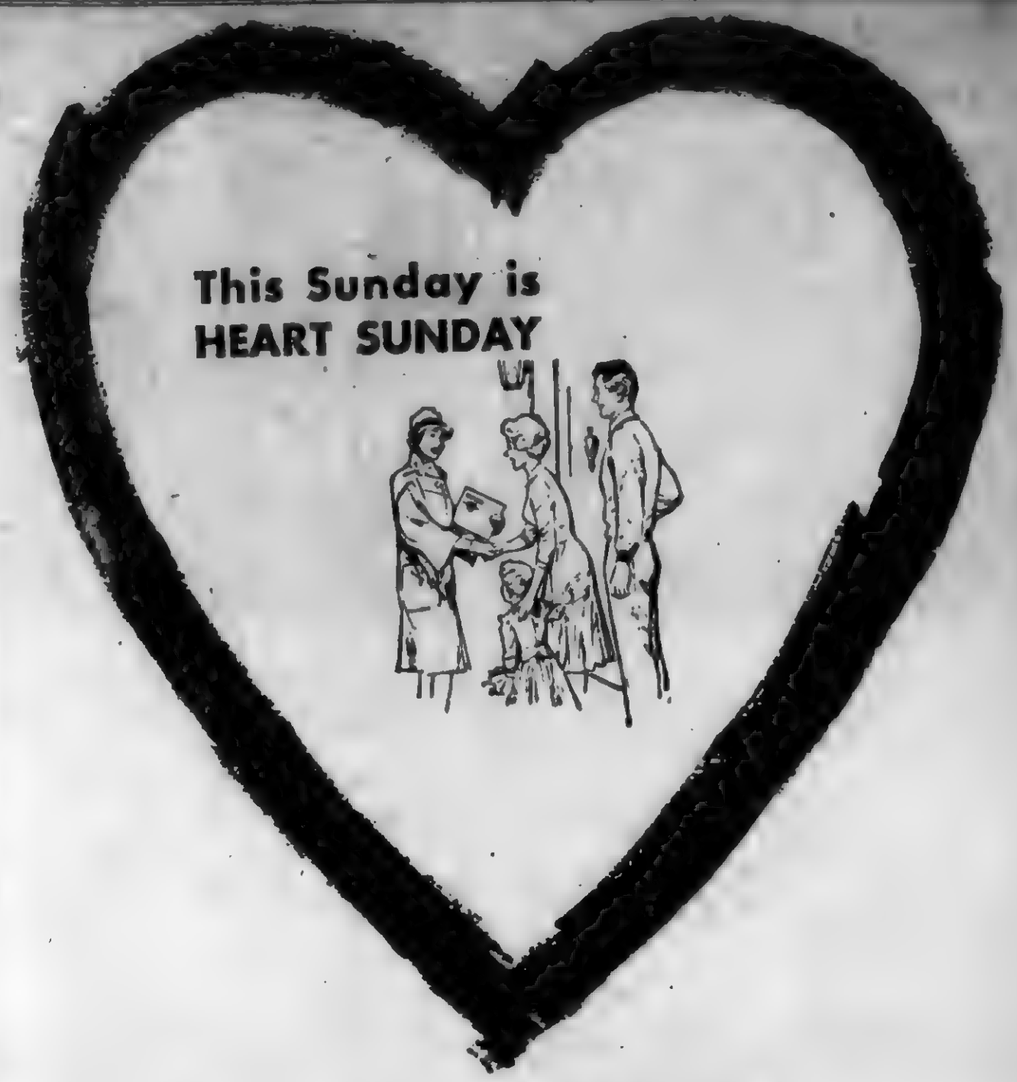
Dec. 28, 1763, New York claimed territory west of the Connecticut River, including what now is the state of Vermont.



"Stretch forth thine hand..." And the withered arm that stretched forth toward Him was made whole.

Today, the hands of Protestants reach forth...with help...to their brothers in countries over seas.

And doctors in many lands, supported by your Church, reach for the stretched arm of the sick child ...and quickly the child receives a life saving serum or anti-biotic.

This Sunday, March 24th, stretch forth your hand...to help. Give and give generously during One Great Hour of Sharing.

More will live, the more you give

Welcome your Heart Fund volunteer.

The heart you save may be your own.

Your Heart Fund dollars will buy lives.

They will be used to fight heart and circulatory disease, the killer that will take the lives of more people this year—your friends and neighbors, possibly a member of your family—than all other causes of death combined.

Your Heart Fund dollars will buy hope.

Today, most heart victims recover. Three of four return to work. Yet, heart and blood vessel diseases will kill one of every two Americans alive today . . . unless research makes the "break-through" that will slow or stop the nation's No. 1 killer.

Your Heart Fund dollars are your best insurance.

WEIGHTLESS WONDER
Doubtless, you've had that familar Beauty Salon rinse treatment. Bleached or tinted hair was "weighted down," feels like a lotion over your hair. It's a favorite of ours for many heads. But not ALL tresses bloomed from that creamy and dulled by it. Curls came out, girls complained! We couldn't recommend it for some of those who needed extra hair-benefits most. Then along came a new rinse with built-in bounce! (We cheered. So will you!)
GOOD NEWS FOR WAVE-WATCHERS
You know what happens, toward the end of your permanent. Sets seem to melt away as soon as your head hits fresh air! That's where our new rinse shines first, and fastest. Your hair holds a "do" with new body. Waves respond to your comb, stay longer and look younger. The rinse is the reason! Then there's that youthful gleam — a whole dream - full of it from the moment you sight the mirror. But it won't fade away with this NEW way of rinsing. The sheen goes on shining till the next shampoo!
THE CLEAR SOLUTION
Maybe this is the answer to your hair problems . . . why don't you whip in soon, and see! Young heads like its control, older heads like it's life and luster. And all the "normal" heads like its clear, buoyant control! Ask about our special rinses. They cost just pennies, bring such proud results. It's that shining "extra step" that makes hair styles from our salon so noticeably nicer.

"Can My Foam Rubber-Lined Car Coat Be Drycleaned?"

— Mrs. U. N. V.

Dear Mrs. U. N. V.

Yes, it can be drycleaned. However, it does require special care. Textile manufacturers, to please you and provide a warm interlining for car coats, raincoats, ski-wear and jackets for all the family, have either laminated or fused a sheet of foam to knitted fabrics or quilted it to the fabric in the same manner as a fabric bat to make a lining. This gives you warmth with less weight and bulk.

These foam interlinings have other advantages, too. The foam will not permit bacteria and fungi to grow in it. It has no odor and does not retain an odor to which it is exposed. It won't bunch or mat or shrink or stretch; is perspiration-proof, non-allergic and non-toxic.

With all these advantages foam interlinings are certain to grow in popularity and you'll find them in many more garments as time goes on.

Somethings the foam lining is hidden, sometimes it is exposed. It is well to know that the foam lining is there, however, and to instruct your drycleaner when he cleans your garment. Quilted foam linings drycleen satisfactorily, but when the foam is laminated to the fabric it is necessary to use extra care in cleaning.

Your professional drycleaner has special skills in handling combinations of fabrics and synthetic agents. Trust your garments to his care.

SHAMPOO SENSE

As for how frequently to shampoo . . . as often as necessary. Dermatologists say you can't harm hair by keeping it clean and healthy any more than you can harm your body with a daily shower.

Select the shampoo that will best service your type of hair. Finger-tip cushions should be used to massage the scalp as the lather is worked up and thorough rinsing is a "must".

Play it safe and have a professional shampoo. In this way you can be sure of the right shampoo plus thorough rinsing. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus, BE. 5-5474, Town and Country Shopping Center.

statement."

There are other factors, too.

For instance, Scholer sees juvenile delinquency as the biggest contributor. He pointed out that 75 to 85 per cent of the auto thefts in this city are committed by persons under 18 years of age.

Perhaps the darkest cloud in the gloomy crime picture is Scholer's statement that "from indications now, the upper trend in crime is going to continue in this city."

One of the big answers, of course, is manpower. City Council has given approval to 24 new policemen but this still falls short of the national average.

"I've stressed this situation continuously to city fathers, the news media, radio and TV, said Scholer. "People say it's a 'sad situation' but that's the end of it. No one assists us in getting more money or more manpower. Maybe some day my plea will reach the right source."

Columbus is now second in population in the state. Comparing the Capitol City with Cincinnai, Scholer showed that the city has 300 more policemen than does Columbus.

"Regardless of statistics," Scholer said, "Columbus is the cleanest city I know of for its size and compared even with smaller cities. It's a healthy atmosphere to live in, despite what the statistics show."

Perhaps. But figures don't usually lie. And they do, in fact, frighten.

ment of Berwick Park as a major park for the southeast Columbus area has been budgeted for a total of $498,000. Also in the park budget are $45,500 for further land acquisition and development of Walnut Ridge, and $15,000 for two toilet shelters at Franklin Park.

The $233,353 for urban renewal projects at Children's Hospital includes $95,200 for sidewalk improvements, $39,543 for street lighting, $45,945 for storm and sanitary sewers, $7,935 for water lines, and $44,730 for the medical center mall.

Biggest additional items listed in the overall program for this year were the $14,000,000 south leg of the innerbelt, and a $2,000,000 allocation for the start of construction of the new $15 million Southerly Sewage Treatment Plant.

Another item of general interest is the relocation of 17th-av from Stelzer-rd to the terminal loop at Port Columbus with the construction of a new dual two-lane roadway at a cost of $581,200.

Also budgeted for 1963 are a $12,230,000 continuation of the city's big sewer construction program; $1,077,785 for the acquisition and development of new parks and improvements to existing ones, and $675,000 for widening and cleaning of the Scioto River channel from Greenlawn-av to below the Sewage Treatment Plant as part of an overall flood protection program.

The city's share of the cost of these projects will be financed by various types of bond issues and in no case will involve any increase in taxes, the mayor pointed out.

Reynoldsburg to the east and South James-rd to the west.

Window service hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

The new facility is part of the Post Office Department's unique commerical leasing plan, Rowe explained.

Under this program, investment financing is used to obtain needed facilities which remain under private ownership, pay local taxes to the community, and are leased to the Federal Government.

At the same time, the need for large outlays of money from the Federal Treasury for construction is eliminated.

"I DON'T SEE ANYTHING"

THERE IS ONLY ONE WAY TO SEE THROUGH A CAMERA

Did you ever try to look through a camera from the front side? Yes, most of us have... out of curiosity... but we would not even consider trying to take a picture in such a manner. There are many though, who go through life never giving themselves a chance to really see God. In order to see God, one must look at him through faith. Attend church regularly, seek God where others can help direct you in your search for God.

"So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Halt Import Of Red-Built Goods Here--Nationally Too

The question of purchasing goods manufactured in Communist or Communist-bloc nations has spread to Central Ohio. The movement started several months ago in the East when consumers discovered they had unwittingly purchased an item manufactured behind the Iron Curtain.

Many of these distraught buyers, joined by anti-Communist groups, formed committees and "raided" the guilty stores by placing little printed cards on each item suspected of being a Communist import. This, in turn, led to boycotts and near riots at several respected business institutions in a large metropolitan area of the East.

Now the same situation is beginning in Central Ohio. Columbus City Council has asked that an ordinance be prepared making it the law of the city to compel all merchandisers displaying items from a Communist country to also display a large sign proclaiming the source of said merchandise.

One councilman even proposed a fine of $500 be tacked onto the ordinance to punish any violators.

It might in some instances, but the problem goes much deeper than the local level. It goes back to a Federal government that allows trade with nations who have avowed to bury us.

Whether the consumer purchases the goods from the individual merchant or not, may eventually have an effect on future purchases by the merchant. But in the meantime tons of Communist manufactured goods already have been purchased, with the blessing of the U.S. Government, and are on the shelves of department and variety stores across the nation.

If a successful boycott of questionable products is pulled off, the one affected will be the individual merchant and not the Communist manufacturers . . . they've already been paid for their product.

So it would seem the wise move for those objecting to these goods would be a letter to their representative in Congress. Enough pressure by interested voters and the wheels of government begin to turn.

Protest marches and boycotts need not take place if enough interested citizens will take the time to tell their congressmen how they feel on this subject. Thus, the wheels of American democracy will turn in an orderly fashion as they were intended.

A Steadily Retreating Foe . . .

The Heart Fund gift you make this month (Feb. 24 is Heart Sunday) is a gift for health.

Thousands of people who receive medical care now survive heart and blood disorders that were considered hopeless only 20 years ago. Knowledge uncovered through research has made this possible.

Still, heart disease is the nation's No. 1 killer. When people talk about "heart disease" they usually mean heart attack. Heart attack, however, is only one of the many different forms of heart and circulatory disease. The other major ones include stroke, rheumatic heart disease, inborn heart defects, high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, heart failure, and even varicose veins.

Together these diseases cause in excess of 925,000 deaths a year in the United States, which is more than 54 per cent of the nation's death total from all causes. In Ohio, heart diseases accounted for 56 per cent of all deaths in the state in 1961.

Despite the many battles won thus far in the fight against these diseases, the war is far from over. There are still great gaps in our knowledge. Chief research targets now are the discovery of the now-unknown causes of atherosclerosis, high blood pressure and rheumatic fever.

In the past year, the Central Ohio Heart Association awarded $151,864 for research, bringing its total investment in local research since 1950 to over $1,300,000. Nationally, more than $75,000,000 Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into research since 1949, year of the first campaign.

When you give to the Heart Fund you are adding strength to the forces aligned to achieve the retreat of this enemy of mankind.

Must End Service

To The Editor:

The Sertoma Cilub of Columbus regrets to announce that effective Mar. 1, its Youth Employment Service (YES) office is being discontinued.

The necessity has arisen whereby both a new office location and a new secretary-manager would have to be obtained and these facts bring to light the long-known truth that our current operation is not what it should be to properly serve the youth on its rolls.

The Sertoma Club is proud of the fact that its Youth Employment Service office in the past three years has interviewed and counseled more than 5,600 teenagers and has found part-time jobs for more than 2,000 of them.

We take this opportunity to express our appreciation and gratitude to the school authorities, guidance counselors, news media, and the many businesses who have contributed to the successful operation of this project.

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

It is no great wonder or deep mystery today why millions of perfectly fine and decent citizens are going cuckoo. Since TV came along, the hucksters have seduced this country into acceptance of more plain bunkum than anyone ever saw or heard before in his whole lifetime.

We are living most of every 24 hours on a constant deluge of blah-blah. Blah about beer, blah about cigarettes, blah about hair goo, BO, carburetor dirt, dry skin, hands with the soft touch - - add infinitum, ad nauseum.

The hucksters are giving headaches to so many that their business is actually booming just treating those who swallow all of this moronic drivel. If people would just get their own lives organized with real professional health care via their own private family doctor, they would not need to swill down so much worthless junk — some of which actually can be dangerous.

If people would learn how to eat, how to think and keep the kinks out of their muscles and joints, this idiotic patent medicine racket would not be able to buy millions of dollars worth of TV time, just to purvey so-called entertainment.

The whole thing comes down to an amazing fielder's choice that all of us can make every day in this land. What a marvelous thing it would be if more people were soundly educated to the point that they had a constant watchman at the gate of their own mental health and stability.

But, so long as the adult-infants of physical maturity, continue to resist and even violently reject anything that really makes good sense, we will see the hucksters wax fatter and fatter and the country become goofier and goofier. Unless general education rescues this land m[illegible] from "panic," we will see this bunk engulf most of us into our own built-in destruction.

Boat Buyers Have Their Pick

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROB COCHRAN

Why do firemen wear red suspenders? What's black and white and red all over? Why do people go boating?

While you must attend primary school to keep up on the latest answers to the first two questions, the third should be obvious to everyone who keeps an eye on the outdoors. People go boating because it's fun. (The new answers to the old riddles are: (1) It's in the uniform regulations, and (2) A chocolate sundae with catsup.)

What kind of boating fun do people have?

According to a research study by the Outboard Boating Club of America, boats are used for a wide variety of on-the-water recreational pursuits. Fishing leads the list, with some 70 per cent of new outboard motor purchasers saying they were going fishing.

There is a lot of overlapping, of course, for modern boats are suitable for a number of sports. Forty-six per cent said they would "go cruising." Water skiing attracted a response from 37 per cent, six per cent say hunting and seven per cent listed other activities.

The versatility of boating has probably been the main reason for its tremendous growth in recent years. At this time of year it's easy to conjure up an attractive summer day, with fishing in the morning, water skiing in the afternoon, a cruise in the evening while you prospect a shoreline for a good duck hunting location come fall. This leads to a lot of boat and motor sales, and is not entirely fantasy. Such a day comes true for many boaters every summer. But all boats are not suited for all purposes.

Fishing has been the number one reason for purchasing boating equipment for years, and fisherman demand led to the creation of the first sputtering outboard and its continued development year after year. Sport fishing experts estimate that at least 50 per cent of the nation's 35 million anglers use boats regularly.

This leads to the obvious question, what makes an ideal fishing boat? I can not tell you, for it depends on where you fish, what kind of fishing you do and how much you have to spend. The canoe is an ideal fishing craft for many, while others make Lake Erie their personal fishing pond with 18, 20-foot and larger cruisers. No boat is perfect for all purposes, and you should decide in advance your main use and key your buying to it.

Luckily, it is a buyers' market in the boat business today. Not that they are inexpensive, far from it, but there are more choices than ever. Looking at boats, will make car-buying seem easy. Not only is there great variety in sizes and styling, but you also have to decide about construction materials and power.

In my notion, these last two factors have kept the boat pot bubbling in recent years. A wooden boat of lapstrake construction was acknowledged for many years as the best there was. Fiberglass and aluminum were slow to compete, until manufacturers got the idea of moulding in lapstrakes and similar grooves. Along with this trend was a movement to deeper "V" hulls and away from the flatter, pounding type of craft. This has been a significant development.

At the same time power has undergone great changes. The outboards have been getting steadily larger and more powerful. And then came the inboard-outboard. For a couple of years only two types of inboard-outboards were available, but now the choice of units and horsepower is almost astonishing.

It is a lot easier to answer why people go boating, than it is how to have the most boating fun. It all depends on you.

One Man's Opinion by Jerry Wolfrom

Youth Spouts Alarming Views

It is indeed a paradox that the recent stabbing on Columbus' West Side is being viewed by local citizens with mixed emotions. It therefore came as rather a shock to us to learn that some teenaged factions in the city are willing to condone the killing by labeling it justifiable.

A Hartley Newspapers' staff member this week had occasion to give a 17-year-old youth a ride as he was hitch hiking west in the 600 block of W. Broad-st.

Wolfrom

Immediately after getting into the car, the youth began talking about the Gladden House incident. The boy identified himself as an East Sider who had quit school but was unemployed. He also admitted being "in the vicinity" of the stabbing that Friday night.

Spouting a rather lengthy tirade of paraphrased misinformation, the youth said ("X"), the alleged killer, should get a medal for what he did. "As far as we're concerned, he is a hero."

He further exclaimed that the odds were 20-1 against "X" whose car was smashed up. "We think the West Side bunch was pretty chicken to gang up on him like that." The boy refused to identify "we."

Our reporter asked him if he felt a 20-year-old father had a good reason for being at the Gladden House. "Certainly," was the reply. "He's a good guy — he was doing some of his buddies a favor. Anyway, it's a free country."

Apparently this vein of thought roused a certain amount of patriotism in the youth because he said if "X" were prosecuted, the country might as well sell out to the Russians.

"There ain't no justice here anymore," he stated flatly. "Everyone is against kids and when one of us defends ourselves, they throw the book at us."

As the youth got out of the car in the Hilltop area, his parting remarks were, "There's gonna be plenty of trouble between the East and West sides. We got a gang that won't hold still if they do anything to "X." We know about a West Side gang that is coming over to our side of town to get revenge. We're ready for them."

There are many who will shrug off the thinking of the unidentified boy as "kid's stuff." However, if there is any truth whatsoever in his hint of further gang warfare—if he might indeed be reflecting the thinking of a large part of our high school students, then a serious problem is facing all of us.

We, here in Columbus, have been rather fortunate that juvenile rumbles are few and far between. We can only hope that something will be done to prevent any kind of East-West revenge battle that might easily result in more spilled blood.

We Can Have Spiritual Feast Or Famine

The season of Lent is approaching once again. The question often arises as to how we may better observe this penitential season in our every-day living.

There are those who believe fasting in its variety of self-denial forms is the best way to observe this season which also vividly points up the obedience of Christ to His Father's will. Luther has stated the evangelical position as regards fasting when he said, "Fasting and bodily preparation (to receive the sacrament of the Lord's Supper) are indeed a good external discipline; but he is truly worthy and well prepared who believes these words, 'Given and shed for you, for the remission of sins.'"

Rev. Mann

Lent is a time of preparing even as every day of every week should be a time of preparation to be ready to meet our Lord, as we meet Him in the sacrament and in the proclaimed Word. Since obedience, submission of Christ's will to the will of His Father was Christ's "food" (John 4:34), we as followers of His ought to reflect a similar hunger.

What kind of hunger do we reflect in our living example? Too often our lives reflect the take-all-give-nothing attitude. In a very real sense with this attitude we are actually experiencing a spiritual famine. Our stomachs may be overloaded but — much like the sailor on a raft in the middle of the ocean surrounded by water, yet without sufficient water to assuage his burning thirst — we become "living" starving examples of people without God who is all around us but in whom we have not placed our trust.

What is your life like? Are the monotony of everyday living and the tensions of home life, world conditions, causing you to feel that something is missing from your daily diet? If this is so, Lent is a fine time for you to examine your present life and see if the food, the sustenance you are missing in your present diet can't be received through the sustenance of faith in Jesus Christ.

Your food and mine ought to be to do the will of our Father in Heaven. This is the only feast in which our hunger can be truly satisfied.

CRISES

Apparently the President of the United States and other leaders believe we are living in a time more perilous than any others in our history. Perhaps they are right, considering the terrible weapons in the hands of our obvious enemies.

But there have been other times of great danger in this land when even the stoutest heart saw little hope in a gloomy picture.

One time was when George Washington and his few faithful troops suffered at Valley Forge, ill clad and ill fed, while the less patriotic, some rich, some poor, lived amicably beside British troops in Philadelphia, doing much to hurt the cause of freedom.

Civil War buffs need not be reminded of situations that existed a century ago. In the first big conflict at Bull Run the Federals were driven back in panic to D.C. Had the Confederates followed, we could well have lost the nation's capital.

Another gloomy time was the deep winter, 1862-1863. Lee's invasion of the North had been turned temporarily in a costly conflict at Sharpsburg. Grant had dealt the Confederates a grievous blow at Shiloh, but at great cost to himself and to his men in blood and supplies. Vicksburg and Gettysburg had not yet been won.

Many Northern newspapers favored the South editorially. Even the staunch McCormick, of Chicago, despaired of victory and would have settled for a divided nation.

Actually, because of Northern strength, the Southern cause was doomed, but it was to take much doing to seal it. National danger is not a stranger.

It says here. . . .

It takes a hard wedge to split a tough log.

TOURNEY PLAY OPENS

East Five Rules City; Rams, Scots Winners

Walnut Ridge, winless in City League competition this season, battled East, the state's fifth-ranked quintet, on even terms for 16 minutes Friday evening before the Tigers found their offense in the second half to wrap up the CL cage title with a 66-44 win over Jackie Moore's scrambling Scotties.

The Tigers, saddled with only a single loss in 16 outings this season, jumped off to a six-point first-period advantage but the Highlanders battled back to cut the margin to two at intermission.

BUT THAT WAS as close as W-R got the rest of the evening as East opened up its fast-break attack midway through the third period to vault into a comfortable lead.

John McQuaid topped all scorers with 13 markers for the Scots as Mike Hammond drilled home 12 points to pace the Tiger attack.

Walnut Ridge raced off to a 14-3 advantage over Reynoldsburg the following evening but the Scotties had to stave off a last-period Raider rally to win, 45-41.

McQuaid keyed the W-R offense again against Reynoldsburg with 21 markers.

WHITEHALL CALLED on a second-half comeback to snap a 12-game losing streak at the expense of Grandview, 54-46.

The Rams, down by four at the halftime break, found their shooting-eye in the third period and forged ahead, never again relinquishing the lead.

Howie Bailey and Sam Maxwell put the punch in the Ram offense with 15 and 16 points, respectively.

HARTLEY PROVED that an earlier season win over St. Charles was no fluke Friday evening by downing the Cards, 55-52, in an overtime session.

The Hawks got a team effort in stopping the Carolians in the Central Catholic League finale for both clubs. Jack Diamond sent the game into an extra frame by sinking a jumper in the last quarter minute of play.

Steve Burman and Mark Lang provided Hartley with its overtime points. St. Charles led by nine points at intermission.

Dick Ferris paced all scorers by canning 25 points for the Cards while Diamond dropped in 18 for the winning Hawks. Burman and Randy Rodich also contributed 12 markers each to the Hartley cause.

ST. CHARLES was more successful the following evening, snapping a loss streak with an 81-57 verdict over Rosary.

The Crusaders battled the Cards on an even keel in the early going but the Carolians got their fast-break attack in gear and finally overpowered the shorter Rosary quintet.

Mick Baumann and Ferris hit for 24 points each to pace St. Charles while Ed Roehrenbeck's 17 was best for Rosary.

SOUTH'S UP-AND-DOWN Bulldogs were up Friday evening and Eastmoor paid the price in a 72-52 setback.

The Warriors trailed by only five at intermission but the Rebs pulled out to a safe margin in the final two periods. Steve Howell's 18 points topped Eastmoor scoring while teammate Paul Naumoff chipped in with 12 [illegible].

BEXLEY MISSED Arlington at the post in a CBL battle Friday evening and the Golden Bears never looked back, adding up a 74-45 verdict over the Lions.

Arlington leaped off to a commanding 24-6 margin after one period and Bexley spent the rest of the evening attempting to close the gap. Jim Hoyer's 10 points was tops for the losing Lions.

ACADEMY WAS unable to cope with a big fourth period by Rosary Friday as the Vikings suffered a 59-51 setback at the hands of the Crusaders.

Academy held onto a slight margin for three periods but Rosary outscored the Viking cagers, 19-10, in the last frame to record the victory.

Ken Holzman popped in 18 for the Vikings, two less than Rosary's Jim Groce, who topped all scorers.

THE AREA'S three City League entries turn in their final loop games tonight as tournament play takes over the sporting spotlight.

Whetstone (7-7) is at East (15-1); West is at Eastmoor (7-7) and Walnut Ridge (2-14) is at Aquinas (8-9).

All other teams jump onto the tourney merry-go-round this weekend w aAtidmech this weekend with Academy (5-12) leading the way with an "A" date with Delaware St. Mary's (18-0) Friday at 7 p.m. in Otterbein's gym at Westerville.

Weekend action is wrapped up Saturday evening with three games in the "AA" class at Grandview. Bexley (4-12) faces Marion-Franklin (2-14) at 1:30 p.m.; Grove City (15-2) battles Whitehall (2-15) at 3 p.m. and Mt. Gilead crosses swords with Eastmoor at 7 p.m.

Raybo Upends Kennys, 51-43, In Center Loop

First round winner, Kenny's Loan, suffered its first defeat of the season as Raybo Vending tagged them with a 51 to 43 loss last week.

Mark Toplosky's 13 field goals and two foul shots for 28 points paced the Vender's attack.

The loan men led at halftime, 23-18, but a fortress defense by Rabo limited Kenny's to only one free throw in the third quarter. Stan Robins was high scorer for Kenny's with 17 points.

MAIN AUTO PARTS, began a new winning streak by stopping Bonnie Builders, 76-71.

Bonnie led 39-29 at the half but a 27-point Main third quarter erased the deficit.

Sandy Pollock hit for 11 field goals and two free throws to lead Main Auto with 24 points. Dick Eschelman was the big gun for Bonnie with 22 points.

ONTARIO, with Bob Grad back in action, defeated Duratile 57-24. Bill Mackin of Duratile led all scorers with 29 points.

The score was tied 11 all at the end of the first quarter. Duratile led at the half by a 24-21 margin. The score was again tied 36 all at the three quarter mark. Ontario exploded for 21 points in the last frame to ice the contest.

Now The 50 Mile Hike Where Will It All End?

Up until last week, we had considered it fortunate to be living in a country with a sports-minded President as the nation's pace-setter.

After all, no matter what kind of politics you profess, you'll have to admit that after eight years on the golf course, water skiing was a refreshing change of pace. We even brushed up on our touch football when that jumped back into style.

WE GUESS WE should have seen the handwriting on the wall, though, when this whole physical fitness program came to the fore. After all, we mused, how could we expect the youngsters to get away from the TV set, if we didn't set some kind of example?

The situps and leg lifts weren't so bad and we considered ourselves as American as the next guy until a friend of ours began loudmouthing that the real patriots had stepped up the ladder to weightlifting.

So now, three nights a week, we lock ourselves in the basement and huff and puff until everything but the walls break out in a fatigued sweat.

OK — BUT what's all this jazz about a 50 mile hike? Until last week, 50 miles was no more or less than a round-trip ticket to the Circleville Pumpkin Show. But now, you aren't keeping up with the Jones' (or the Kennedys) unless you break out the keds and pick 'em up and 'em down on the asphalt.

Maybe we're just being cynical, but don't say you didn't hear it here first when you read about President Kennedy throwing the first pitch of the '63 season right through the Griffith Park scoreboard.

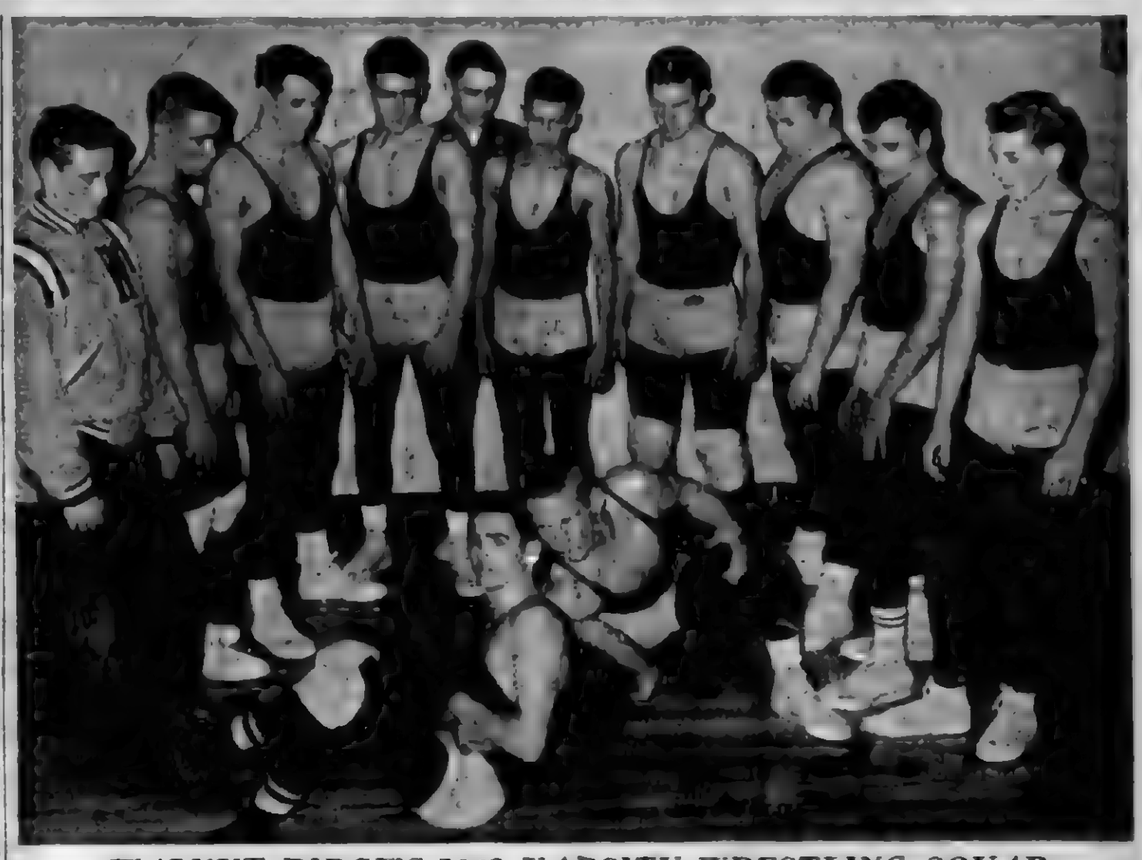
ON THE BRIGHTER side of the sports picture (and we do mean BRIGHTER), Chuck Finley, owner of the American League Athletics, has a brand new color scheme to help fill up the seats in the Kansas City ballyard this summer.

Finley, who apparently is going to get into the Hall of Fame one way or the other, went whole-hog in breaking the old AL axiom of white and grey uniforms by ordering green and gold play suits for his players.

We should have seen this one coming when Gabe Paul borrowed the old "cut 'em off at the shoulders" Cincinnati style of diamond togs for his Indians this upcoming season.

SUN GLASSES OUGHT to replace bicarbonate of soda as the top seller at the stadium but whether the A's can do better for the new green and gold than they have done for the 'ole white and blue remains to be seen.

Finley, who obviously is convinced that Bill Veeck's old format still has some mileage, had his fans in mind when he suggested some varied pastels for the base umpires —possibly remembering that black makes a pretty poor target—especially at night games.



REMEMBER DOC Cary Middlecoff, the dentist who decided hitting golf balls was more profitable than pulling teeth? We remember the doctor because he was our first golfing champion a few years back.

Nothing seems to come quicker or depart faster than fame on the field of sport. Dr. Cary, who rode the top for two short years, collected a little better than 36 bucks for his efforts in the late Phoenix Tournament — barely enough to cover his shoeshine bill.

THANK YOU DEPT. — This corner was very much pleased last week with the announcement that the West Franklin Lions Club will be carrying the ball next year at the Rural-Urban News All-Star Football Banquet by renewing the presentation of the Scholar-Athlete Award.

The award, which takes into account the winner's classroom and leadership abilities, as well as his prowess on the field, will be one of four presentations made by area service clubs in conjunction with the banquet.

The Lions will present two trophies — one going to the individual's school and the other to the honored scholar-athlete.

Vikings, Cards Get Dunked In Swim Meets

Canton McKinley smashed two pool records enroute to a triangular swimming meet victory Saturday over runner-up Arlington and host Academy.

Canton compiled 68 points as compared with the Golden Bears' 60 and the Vikings' 40. Henry (record a week) Richter sliced time off the 50-yard free style mark for the Vikings.

IN OTHER area swimming action, Greenfield McClain wrapped up an undefeated tank season with a 57-36 win over St. Charles.

Television Is Reaching An All-Time High In Content

What's to be said about television today?

"Watch it," that's what.

Program caliber is reaching toward an all-time high and all factors seem to indicate that it doesn't show signs of stopping.

There's some very good reasons for this, too. Leading the list is the fact that the nation's top writers are finding television an interesting outlet.

Besides this, technical advances are providing better lighting, more realistic sets and improved camera work.

Add to this the fact that some of the great producers and directors of our day are turning their talents to TV and it's easy to see why the industry is moving ahead faster than William Tecumseh Sherman — and, perhaps, with more power.

Realism on Climb

Realism, of course, is becoming the key for most television drama. And, with this drive for realism comes another problem—namely, good taste.

Prostitution, alcoholism, narcotics, illegitimate pregnancy and abortions are just a few of the very real things in our world today. Sensitive subjects? Sure. But, they're being woven into dramatic offerings every week with great skill.

It is undoubtedly safe to assume that many eyebrows are being raised over presentations of these types. But much more good is being derived from them.

Let me cite an example:

Early in November, the National Broadcasting Company prepared an "Eleventh Hour" episode. It was the story of a 15-year-old girl in the emotional crisis of an illegitimate pregnancy and it posed, among other possible solutions, the question of abortion.

Accepted Well

Robert Sarnoff, president of NBC, reports that some stations across the country asked to view the show on closed circuit first. All but one decided to carry it—including Columbus' WLW-C, TV 4.

The very next morning, schools, churches and PTA groups telephoned NBC affiliates and asked for prints of the film to show to teenagers and parents.

In Davenport, Iowa, for instance—not very far, incidently, from the community that killed the show for airing there—a station received a letter from a Methodist minister seeking to borrow a print for high school classes and parent meetings.

An identical request came from a Roman Catholic high school in North Carolina.

Now, what does this all mean?

It means, basically, that realistic subjects are being handled expertly. Responsible and effective treatment are being used in dramas of this type with astounding results.

Well Distributed

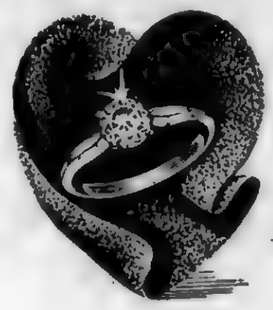
No particular network has a monopoly on these fine works.

And, you can bet your sweet life that you'll see more. Right this minute top talents in this country are working on drama with themes of civil rights, intolerence, and juvenile delinquency and expectant mother's fear of childbirth.

Add to this list programs about adjustment of a young girl and her family to the knowledge that she is fatally ill or the problem of whether to get married while in college and you'll be coming close to what to expect from your 21-inch tube in the very near future.

More power—and much credit—to these men who are working under the gloom of such phrases as "vast wasteland."

Suburban Topic To Be Televised



"Suburban Viewpoint" will probe the pros and cons of the controversial West North Broadway extension, Thursday, Feb. 21, at 7:30 p.m. on WOSU-TV Channel 34.

At the close of the program, Congressman John M. Ashbrook, 17th District U. S. Representative, will express his views about suburban problems in general.

Boy Scout News

CARL JAPIKSE
BE 1-3647

Over the past few weeks most of the packs, troops, and posts in the White Oaks District have been observing Boy Scout Week in one way or another.

In the Cub Scout program, February is the time of the year when blue and gold dinners are held. These dinners are the highlight of the Cubbing year. Packs having blue and gold dinners were 9, 68, 71, 103, 107, 124, 126, 145, 166, 195, 220, 270, 274, 277, 279, 280, 286, 287, 288, 335, 362, 367, 369, 370, 373, 420, 421, 422, and 424.

Most of the Boy Scout troops put on window displays, which were recognized in the last issue. Those that weren't mentioned were Pack 166 displaying crafts, at Kroger's; Troop 278 demonstrating scout activities, at Economy Loan; and Troop 135, which camped out on the lawn of the Brookwood Presbyterian Church, their sponsor.

The troops also held father and son banquets, usually with a court of honor afterwards. Those troops staging father and son banquets were 107, 195, 234, 277, 288, 369, 373, and 422. Posts which held affairs were 195, 234, and 288.

On Scout Sunday, most of the scouts went to various churches of their choice. They were Packs 103, 107, 145, 195, 274, 277, 279, 288, 335, 367, 369, 421, 422, 424, and 373. Troops, 68, 107, 135, 195, 234, 274, 277, 278, 288, 335, 367, 369, 372, 373, 379, 422, and 166. Posts, 195, 234, 288, 335, and 369.

Post 369 was presented a charter for next year by Tom Currier at a court of honor recently. The charter was received by the Men's Club of Reformation Lutheran Church, the sponsoring institution. Inducted into the post were Dave Radar and Doug Stoltz.

From Here And There

When it comes to people who say, "There ought to be a law . . ." we are reminded of Uncle Doc Ross' reference to Henry Thorndike's law: "No man begins to be somebody until he has learned how to respect folks who ARE somebody." But it must be remembered that the somebody should be legitimate and genuine.

One of the nicest things that can happen to a business man is to have a check handed to him personally, rather than receive it through the mail.

Diamond Anniversary

There are acres of diamonds at the Main Federal branches these days as they celebrate their 75th anniversary.

Tuesday noon they spread cheer among members of the news fraternity by passing out diamonds to each one present. But one of the diamonds is real and that is our problem to determine which one.

Anyway, just the mere fact of staying in business for 75 years is worthy of note, according to Prexy Harold Esper. And he is right! A doff of the topper to the Main Federal organization.

Watch next week's papers for an announcement of interest and maybe you will have diamonds too!

East Sider Victim Of Silent Killer

Coroner Robert A. Evans ruled that the death Thursday of a 52-year-old East Side man, William Franklin Denser of 826 Wellington-bl, was caused by carbon monoxide poison.

Denser was found dead in his car Thursday night by his son-in-law, Thomas Woodward, 1539 Burlington-av, after several attempts to reach the deceased by phone during the day.

Police said the garage door was closed and the ignition was turned on in the car, although the battery was dead.

Denser, a world War II veteran, has been employed for the past 10 years at the Columbus General Depot.

His survivors include two daughters and a son, all married.

The get-togethers are held in the film room of the Bexley Library for children 5 to 10-years-old.

Bexley Resident Is Brotherhood Award Selection

Bexley resident Herbert Wise, 132 N. Cassingham, a Columbus advertising executive, was the recipient of the annual Brotherhood Week award Wednesday evening in the First Community Church at Upper Arlington.

Wise, vice-president of Byer & Bowman advertising agency, is president of the Big Brothers Association, the Temple Beth Israel, founder of the Jaycees in Columbus and chairman of the South-East district of the Boy Scouts.

KEEPING IN TOUCH WITH GRADS

THESE SENIORS at Whitehall High make up a new committee designed to work on the school's first Alumni Association roster. They are, from left, Anita Bulmer, Ingrid Paulson and Shirley Whetzel. Each year, according to alumni advisor, Robert Addison, the senior class will elect a committee to keep track of former graduates. The 1958 class — first group to be graduated from Whitehall — is planning a reunion this year.

PROGRESS REPORT:

The face of the city is ever-changing as bulldozers make way for modern, multi-million dollar expressway systems. An up-to-date progress report reveals the following:

Work is proceeding on the Fort Hayes Interchange, Parsons Expressway, Parsons Interchange and Fulton Expressway.

The Parsons Expressway is to be completed in 1964, from the Fort Hayes Interchange to the Parsons Interchange.

The Fort Hayes Interchange is to be completed and opened to traffic in October. Much of the excavation work on the south portion of this system has been finished and pavement construction is expected to start in a few weeks.

About 30 structures remain to be razed for the Fulton Expressway. This system will parallel Fulton-st, which is to become an access street.

If financial arrangements can be made in time, construction bids on the Fulton Expressway will be taken this Spring, and it may be ready in late 1964 by taking advantage of two construction seasons.

STUDENT COUNCIL SETS FIRST 'WORKSHOP'

Despite Protest, Bexley Solons Uphold Pool

Bexley City Council unanimously stood beside the Bexley Civic Association in its efforts to build a swimming pool on the Jeffrey Mansion grounds despite strong protests from area residents Tuesday night.

Trying to stop the pool construction, residents (mainly living in a "Sessions Village" area and around the Jeffrey Mansion grounds) hired the services of George Chamblin, attorney, who charged Tuesday that council's lease was illegal since the land cannot be released from its exclusive role as a city park to a private concern.

Council voted against rescinding the lease and, instead, amended the legal description of the lease, giving the association the go ahead to obtain construction bids on plans and specifications.

Chamblin cited a release and waiver signed by heirs to Jeffrey Mansion referring to a 1943 deed to the city covering four lots, not the 33-acre tract deeded to Bexley in 1941. The pool is slated to be built on the 33-acre tract.

James Pohlman, attorney for pool supporters, said he "didn't know" if the matter would be taken to court by the residents. He said the association is offering to sit down with the Sessions Village group and "explain to them the proposed operation of the pool and see if there can't be some middle ground reached as to the type of operation agreeable to both sides."

The offer has been communicated to Chamblin, Pohlman added, and there is a chance that a meeting will be held early next week.

"It's questionable whether or not the residents can obtain what they want through negotiations," Pohlman commented, and added that City Solicitor Howard C. Park was "in agreement as to the opinion that the lease entered into with the city and the association is perfectly valid and legal."

SMOKING IS TARGET OF STUDENTS
. . . Habit Made Easy For Youngsters

AT CONFERENCE
Students Seeking Stricter Smoking Sale Supervision

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

At an age when most youngsters are trying to scrape together 30 cents for a package of cigarettes, more than 500 Central Ohio students Friday were discussing ways to abolish "the habit."

Mostly non-smokers, they put their heads together to discuss smoking and shouted at the top of their nicotine-free lungs for stricter enforcement of the smoking laws.

The youths — seventh-through-senior-high-aged —were all part of a "Student Conference on Smoking" sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Central High School.

Law enforcement was the most frequently talked about topic during the 18 individual sessions; the students wondered why "anyone" could buy cigarettes.

The law is supposed to prohibit the sale of tobacco to minors, but the students felt that the law wasn't being enforced strictly enough by law officials.

"It used to be that a youngster needed a note from home to buy cigarettes," one pretty blonde exclaimed. "Now, anyone can buy them, and I've seen some pretty young kids make purchases."

The majority obviously felt that the smoking habit was starting at a too early age. They concerned themselves, however, with smoking as a whole and gasped a bit when told of its dangers by health officials.

During a preliminary warm-up session in the auditorium, Dr. George Morrice, Jr., of the Central Ohio Heart Association, and Dr. Charles Meckstroth of the thoracic surgery department of Ohio State, briefed the youths on some scientific data concerning smoking.

Dr. Morrice termed smoking a "demonstration of self-destruction," while Dr. Meckstroth added that "one million school children in the United States today will die of lung cancer before they're 70 years old."

The students took the information seriously — perhaps, frightened by the staggering statistics shown in regards to smoking and death.

One of the main points under fire was that of cigarette advertising. Reports showed that agencies spend $140 million a year "to get you kids to smoke." Dr. Meckstroth commented, "They're not after your money," he continued, "but, your life."

Some of the comments during the sessions went like this:

• One boy pointed out that he sees his parents,

EASTERN KIWANIS TO SELL LICENSE TAGS

Eastern Kiwanis Club—for the first time—will conduct a license tag sale Mar. 1 to 30 at the Goodyear Service Store, 917 S. Hamilton-rd (across from Great Eastern Shopping Center), according to Don Callander, chairman.

Hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mar. 1 through 22 and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mar. 25 to 30.

All proceeds are returned to the community in Kiwanis "goodwill" works.

'Suburbia' Will Come Next Week

Paying subscribers will discover warm and encouraging words from Alexander King, famous author of "I Should Have Kissed Her More," in the March issue of Suburbia Today coming with the next edition of the Eastern Review.

King, who never vacuumed a rug in his life, has come up with an answer for the housework blues—in a letter written more than a century ago by Jane Welsh Carlyle, wife of Thomas Carlyle. Read it, "and on days when life is uncongenial, remember her idea."

You'll also read the fascinating report, "Look What They're Doing With Trading Stamps!" Churches and charities and even whole towns are collecting them for special orders that range from a new fire pumper for North Lawrence, O. to an Olympic-size swimming pool in Lagomarsing, Calif.

Arnold Price brings his artichoke plants out of winter mulch for the third year running. And this month, with his mouth watering, he brings you a humorous "progress" report on his frustrating "Life Among the Artichokes" as he cultivates his favorite vegetable in his own suburban backyard—planting, transplanting, nursing, coddling—everything so far, except eating.

"Take It Slow and Easy" with a cruise on a freighter or a cargo liner will be one of many other interesting articles that will appear in the March issue.

Are Settlement Houses Slipping?

A Hartley Headliner Report

BY JOHN AUBLE JR.

A noted social worker warned that settlement houses in this city will "slip away" if workers fail to make a more vigorous effort to concern themselves with community problems.

Richard M. Kelly, executive director of both the Catholic Youth Service Bureau and the Catholic Child Guidance Clinic in Cleveland, brought his plea to the annual meeting of St. Stephen's Community House in the far South Side Tuesday night.

He cited a belief that both community and settlement houses had once found a "niche" in the community that eventually turned into a "groove" and that is now becoming a "rut".

The 44-year-old native Bostonian urged volunteer social workers to "engage in the task of having a stronger effect on community life."

According to Kelly, settlement houses are faced with a "great challenge" to work on the basic and clear community projects. "If the problems aren't clear, it's the settlement's job to clarify them," he added.

Kelly also mentioned:

"The pace of human need continues to gather momentum. The 1960's are a period of challenges unequaled in the history of social endeavor. The pace of social change is gathering momentum. It's also confusing and conflicting.

"We've lived through depression and war and can count the physical, mental and moral casualties. Things have changed now and we've become eminently successful.

although the 'profits' are the 'incomes' have decided".

"We now have a feeling of success that's more apparent than real. It's hard to realize

THE PERMANENT PROBLEM
Questions . . . we get hundreds of questions . . .and nine-tenths of them concern permanent waves. Can't answer them all in one column, of course. We'll just tackle some of the most-asked ones here. If we miss your query, don't hesitate to phone, or stop in and ask in person. That's better really, then we can examine your hair and give you a truly personal answer. We're famous for our fine professional waves . . . and we love "permanent talk!"
WON'T A WAVE DRY HAIR?
Not the right permanent, Pet! If your locks look like straw, we may suggest a few conditioning treatments prior to permanent-time. This pre-conditions your hair, guarantees extra prettiness. Or we may choose a special oil-wave that lets the thirsty hair-strands drink in extra benefits as they shape. If your hair is always extra-dray, we'll take special precautions in your regular beauty appointments. Then your hair will gleam like the next dream girl's!
DAMNABLE DAMAGE
So . . . you "rolled your own" and now you're sorry? Take heart, dear-heart, we're used to repairing bathroom-sink slinkers! We won't promise a new permanent right away. (There's lotion in that hair, even if it's rope-straight.) But we can trim and style it to do the best concealments. With proper conditioning, it won't take to long to lead you up to the right wave. (But wouldn't it be easier to start with it? All you need do is phone BE. 1-4100 or BE. 1-6828.)
FROM UNDER THE DRYER:
The really sensible girl is too sensible to look that way.

Whitehall School Board approved expenditures of $7,193 for the addition of three storage rooms to the Etna Road School.

$800,000 Simulators Train EB-47 Crews

Any emergency except structural failure and gravity forces can be demonstrated on the two EB-47 Simulators at Lockbourne AFB.

The $800,000 training devices are scheduled 13 hours each, per day, according to Maj. Donald R. Feltley who is in charge of the Simulator program. Each EB-47 pilot and co-pilot must spend two and one-half hours on emergency procedures plus one-half hour each of briefing and debriefing a quarter plus eight hours of instruction annually. Co-pilots who are undergoing preparation to become aircraft commanders are also required to spend a 26-hour period in the trainer.

The EB-47 is a converted Boeing six-engine jet bomber with a cruising speed of 600 m.p.h. The mission of the wing is to jam enemy radar with electronic counter-measures.

Although Gen. James Doolittle had experimented with instrumental link trainers as early as the late 30's, the B-47 which was developed after World War II was the first craft designed with tandem seats for the pilot and co-pilot which precluded an instructor riding beside the pilot during training. Thus it became necessary for the Simulator to be used for instructional purposes.

Now Simulators are designed simultaneously with each new type craft manufactured. Each is an exact replica of the cockpit of the bomber with all instruments, and the hydraulic and electrical systems.

First Lt. Gordon Clovis, co-pilot, is in control of these systems as well as air refueling which Maj. Feltley classifies as the most important function toward maintaining safety of the craft. The two 20MM cannons, the only armament of the converted bomber which originally carried over 20,000 pounds payload, are also Clovis' responsibility as well as shooting the sextant for celestial navigation for the navigator, the third member of the crew.

Crew On "Alert"

The crew which is on alert is never separated except when a crew member remains with the ship or in the crew's alert car in preference to accompanying the others to training sessions, meals or other occasions.

Living in the Alert Building, or "mole hole" as it is known, the crew can be airborne in less than 10 minutes from sounding of the alert.

This speed is possible in spite of the usual hour and one-half check out required before take-off, as the 171 check points necessary before starting the engine are already covered in a plane on alert status.

Dog Warden Has Homeless Animals Also

Jack Chapman, 8097 E. Broad-st, recently appointed dog warden for Reynoldsburg, passes along a word of advice to all parents who have given their child a dog.

The majority of dogs are owned for companionship. Too often a dog is given to a child as a plaything without proper supervision of its treatment. In romping with a dog there is a point where playing ceases and teasing begins. Any rough play that causes a dog to begin snarling, snapping, yapping or pulling at clothes is teasing and irritating to the dog and will most likely cause it to acquire a nasty disposition.

Never slap a pup in the face or push him about so roughly that he becomes extremely excited and frustrated. This is abuse and torment and whether he runs off, tail between his legs, or fights back, it is certainly bad for the dog.

On Sunday, Mar. 17, at the Junior Fair Building, there will be an Associated Specialties Show of the Columbus All-breed Training Club, The Columbus Collie Club and the Heart of Ohio Great Dane Club.

Chapman said that he has a small female puppy, mostly wire-hair; a part beagle, very young male; and a part basset male. All are looking for a home this week. He invites anyone who is interesid to look them over.

Nothing Like A 50-Mile Hike — On Conveyor Belt

Don't look now, but the movie industry has latched onto President Kennedy's physical fitness program and if this latest muscle-building exploit can't be called a publicity stunt I'll turn in my dumbbells.

Bud Rosenthal, publicity man for Columbia Pictures in New York, informs that Winsted, Conn., is —in a roundabout way—making it easy for 50-mile hikers.

If the idea was tried in Columbus, merchants would scream at the top of their lungs—to say nothing about the bottoms of their feet.

Here's the plan.

On Mar. 13, cash will be outlawed in Winsted by a decree of the town fathers and the 10,000 inhabitants will have to do all business on credit.

The outlawing of cash for a day is in "honor" (Rosenthal writes) of the Danny Kaye, Columbia Pictures comedy "The Man From The Diners' Club" that will have its world premiere in Winsted on Mar. 13.

What about the physical fitness bit? Here's how that works:

Merchants and local officials in this small Yankee city will "turn in" any residents attempting to spend money on that day. A treadmill will be set up on the town hall green where violators will hike out their 50-mile walk sentences on an endless conveyor-type belt.

Whew!

Weak-kneed offenders and money spenders won't have to worry if they get caught using currency, Rosenthal assures. They will have the alternative of setting out their sentence confined in a pair of wooden stocks, those pillars of old New England justice with their holes for confining legs and arms of minor offenders.

"Anyone who attempts to pay cash for so much as a lima bean or even a limousine, may find himself sentenced to join the latest national fad and take a walk, like the Marines of Teddy Roosevelt's day," concludes promotion-minded Rosenthal.

Sounds more like an answer to Sunday sales law woes in Ohio, doesn't it?

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

BY ANNE MALAY

WYHS Varsity Basketball team played another team composed of school faculty members Thursday evening, Feb. 21.

Ten French students, under the leadership of Mrs. Klippert, French instructor, went to the annual French Banquet Thursday, Feb. 21. The banquet, which was for all French students of the Columbus area, was held in the Ohio Union main ballroom.

After the dinner students sang a selection of quaint French tunes and also enjoyed a series of three French movies. The banquet served as a good chance to get acquainted and make friends with teenagers from neighboring schools.

Last week was the final one for juniors to pay their $1.00 for the National Merit Scholarship tests to be given Mar. 5.

Students were excused from school Friday, Feb. 22.

older brothers and sisters smoke and figures it's all right for him to indulge.

• A young gal suggested they do away with cigarette machines that are easily accessible to the "school crowd."

• Young people groups (DeMolay, church gatherings, etc.) shouldn't permit smoking at meetings, one lad volunteered.

• Parents shouldn't "lay down the law" on smoking or drinking, said one girl who confessed she believed in "reverse psychology."

• Smoking forums should be conducted at schools so that all students are aware of the dangers, said one discussion leader who pointed out that it's always the "goody-goodies" who frequent special functions such as this one.

• The far-reaching effects of smoking, such as forest fires, was pointed out by another discussion leader.

Most interesting perhaps, of the discussions were carried on by seventh graders — youngsters who maintained that they wished they had been told about smoking dangers earlier.

Faculty advisors of the affair were Mrs. Jean Porter of Groveport Schools, Mrs. Lillian Bernhagen of the Worthington district and M. D. Sheasley of the Columbus Public Schools.

Student committee leaders were Mike McCoy (University), Ruth Hollingsworth (Franklin Heights), William Johannes (West), Janice Hale (Champion Junior), Cheri Papier (Bexley) and George Morris (Bishop Ready).

Joey Nichols Appearing At Magic Lamp

Joey Nichols

Veteran entertainer Joey Nichols is currently appearing at the piano bar at The Magic Lamp, 3323 E. Broad-st.

Nichols, a native New Englander, has made his home in Columbus for the past 10 years. After studying music at the New England Conservatory in Boston, he worked at Little Johnnies, The Click Club and Ciro's in Philadelphia.

Later he played at the Village Barn and Little Ernie's in New York City. He also was popular with the downtown New York cafe society.

Slipping—

that we're faced with the problems of the 1930's".

"An article in the 'New Yorker' pointed out that there are 50 million Americans in poverty or serious trouble. The poor have slipped out of our experience and consciousness. The middle class never did like poverty, so, to the people living in the suburbs, those 50 million are invisible.

"In reality, we have an economic depression that curls our hair. But, it's hidden and concealed. We have to adjust our eyes, intelligence, emotions and wallets. It's because most of us never had it so good, and we feel good about it."

Three of these "hidden and concealed" problems Kelly talked about are (1) family education, (2) youth counseling, and (3) a program for slow learners. In all three areas, as Kelly sees it, community houses can serve a real need.

The Boston College graduate took a slight slap at Gov. Rhodes, firing of state workers — specifically in the field of mental health.

"Some 3000 mental health workers were fired in this state," he exclaimed. "Actually, we should be hiring 3000 more and this now makes 6000 jobs that need to be filled in this field."

Kelly talked a bit about finances and likened them, now, to bikini that "only covers the barest essentials."

As Kelly points out, "what is important is that we cannot leave the problem to the people who reject the need and are unwilling to pay the bill for it."

LICENSE SUSPENDED

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control suspended the permit issued to Ciro's, 2894 E. Main-st, for delinquent payment of sales tax assessments. The suspension begins at noon Mar. 4 and continues until payment, the department said.

Dr. Charles Ziegler, 84, 69 N. Remington-rd, Bexley, was in fair condition in St. Anthony Hospital Tuesday with a fractured pelvis and internal injuries suffered in a two-car collision in Rt. 40 eight miles east of Reynoldsburg Monday.

Two Columbus men were also injured in the accident. Ervin C. Babbert, 29, 3403 Deshler-av, and Melvin H. Anthony, 44, 1512 Cunard-rd, were released after treatment at St. Anthony's.

Ohio highway patrolmen said Zeigler was pulling out of a driveway when his car was hit broadside by Babbert's eastbound car. The doctor was cited with failure to yield the right of way, patrolmen said.

High Accident Locations Listed

The Columbus Police Department selective enforcement bulletin for the first 15 days of February cites two high auto accident locations in the Hilltop Record area.

Columbus Police Chief George Scholer listed the Sandusky-Spring Interchange as a particularly dangerous area and called special attention to the peak traffic hours from 3 to 7 p.m. The chief desired stricter enforcement of left of center violations and speed traffic laws.

Chief Scholer also noted a section of Sullivant-av from Wayne to Binns as a high accident location and called for a more concentrated enforcement of failure to yield right-of-way from private drive violators and speed laws. He listed the hours of 4 to 9 p.m. as peak traffic hours needing special attention.

One fatal traffic accident occurred in the Hilltop area, according to Chief Scholer. The driver of a car was killed when he failed to yield to a stop sign at the intersection of Mound and Chestershire. This was the 12th fatal traffic accident of the year in Columbus.

Eagles Will Have 'Feed'

The "5 Club" Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, will serve a roast beef dinner, (with trimmings), Sunday, Mar. 5, from 5 to 8 p.m. following the 2 p.m. monthly "5 Club" meeting.

St. David's Day Dinner Planned

The annual St. David's Day Banquet will be held this year on Friday, Mar. 1 at 6:30 p.m. at the Ohio Union, (South Terrace Room) at Ohio State University.

This dinner has been a traditional affair for the Welsh people of Columbus and Central Ohio. This year the St. David's Day committee has secured Rev. John R. Owen, minister of the Welsh Presbyterian Church in Detroit, Mich. as speaker.

Rev. Owen served as minister of the Welsh Church in Coventry, England from 1950 to 1956. Since 1956, he has served the Welsh Church in Detroit. He writes a Welsh column, "Letter from America," to the Welsh publication, "Y Cymro."

Norman Crabtree will sing several Welsh numbers and will direct a hymn sing following the dinner.

A Gracie Allen type of American girl made a trip to the Orient. When she came home she was telling her girl friend how much she enjoyed riding in rickshaws. She added: "Believe it or not, in Hong Kong, they have horses that look just like men."

Graham Road Appeals For Speakers

In addition to the teachers meetings that are held at Graham Road School each month to discuss problems on a system-wide basis, they also hold a staff meeting for teachers each Thursday. These meetings usually center around their particular school or their children and the areas of interest within for discussion.

The Graham Road officials would like to have outside speakers come to talk to their staff during these meetings. If any of the parents would have anyone in mind who would come to help the school in this manner, please call and let them know about it.

These speakers do not have to be in the school business. Anyone who can give some additional insight into the community, neighboring industry, etc., would be welcome.

The first jobs will include widening of Courtright-rd from Livingston-av south to Deshler-av; widening of Cleveland on the west side between Briarwood and Abeldeen-avs and construction of about 4000 feet of curbs and gutters on various streets.

Cost of the projects is about $200,000.

GROUND RULES

by

HERMAN JOHNSON

Every home that has flowering shrubs in the landscaping can have flowers to brighten the home in winter. Just prune the shrubs, bring branches indoors and keep them in water. You'll have spring blossoms within days.

Some plants that are easily forced into bloom are forsythia, spiraea, beauty bush, bush honeysuckle, Weigela, quince and pussy willow.

Many fruit trees also make excellent winter flowers. Use both the fruit bearing and flowering varieties of apple, crabapple, pear, plum, peach and cherry.

For best results, cut branches on a day when the outdoor temperature is above freezing. Throw away the scraggly stems, the long spindly ones and the old thick woody stems that you prune out. Save the choice branches with many fat blossom buds. Leaf buds on many plants are smaller than the blossom buds.

Plunge the cut stems into pails of cold water and keep them in a cool place that is dimly lighted until the buds swell and start to break open. Plants easy to force to bloom, like forsythia, can be brought in, watered, and set anywhere. Buds slow to open are best kept moist and cool until they open. They will never open in a warm, dry room.

To make sure stems of plants continue to soak up water, crush the bottom ends with hammer or mallet before you set them in water.

As soon as buds have broken open, bring them up to full light. You can move sprays to a cooler room each night to make them last much longer. If you keep your house very warm in cool weather and you have plenty of cut branches in reserve, keep some of them in a cool basement, breeze way or garage.

Dont forget the birds.

It's easy in, easy out with our new trffic signal.

Eastmoor High School's Warriors' Spear-It

By PATTI NEMS

David Praver, a junior, has been selected as the 1963 Boys' State delegate from Eastmoor High School. David is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Praver, 285 S. Harding-rd.

Boys' State is sponsored annually by the American Legion. David will be representing the Bexley Post.

The Boys' State session, which convenes annually for a nine-day period on the campus of Ohio University at Athens, will feature outstanding speakers and practical experience in the functions of American government.

For the next three weeks Eastmoor students will be selecting the courses they plan on taking next year. If the students or parents have any questions about certain subjects or classes they should contact the homeroom teacher or call the school and make an appointment with a guidance counselor.

With approximately 25 more subscription to the PTA magazine, the Eastmoor Chapter could gain recognition as an honor subscriber. This would mean additional support for scholarship funds as well as an award for our local unit. The national magazine is $1.50 and the Ohio magazine is 50 cents. Your subscription payment would be most helpful and may be sent to the school office. The PTA will be given equal credit for either subscription.

The instrumental and vocal music departments presented an informal recital of solos, ists and ensembles in the school auditorium last Tuesday, Feb. 26.

On Wednesday, Feb. 20, the Red Cross and Y Teens had a joint club meeting with a panel discussion on "How A Girl Should Act." The panel included Mrs. Rosemary Seckel, Mr. Al Foose, Mike Mirvis, Carolyn Hawkins, John Rosemond, Peggy Cullman, and Elaine Bush as moderator.

Last Friday night the Y-Teens sponsored their annual "Cherry Blossom Ball." The king and queen, selected by the student body, were Dave Morris and Carol Kimmel.

Money you can't lose

Travelers used to wear money belts and carry a gun.

Now they carry Travelers Cheques. Much neater and safer. If your Travelers Cheques are ever misplaced or stolen, they are immediately replaced or your money is refunded.

Last year, 9½ million people who didn't know about Travelers Cheques lost an average of $75 each, more than $700,000,000.

Shocking, isn't it? Particularly when Travelers Cheques, "unlosable money", are available in $10, $20, $50 and $100 denominations for only $1 per $100.

Lazarus President Predicts A Good Year For Business

"The forecast on which we have based our business plans for spring through late fall is very encouraging." These were the words of Charles Y. Lazarus, president of the F. and R. Lazarus Company, during a press meeting in the Southern Hotel, Feb. 20.

Discussing the company's first branch store, Lazarus West, the department store executive stated he is glad to report the convenience store, established for customers in the vicinity of Lincoln Village and the Hilltop, has done very well since its August opening. He added that the new facility has caused little or no drain-off from the downtown Lazarus store.

Other stores of this same type will be constructed in the near future, according to Lazarus. "We will be accepting bids for the Northland store (Karl and Morse-rd region) about Apr. 1," he told the press gathering, and added that the new facility should be ready for an August 1964 opening.

Almost a year ago the firm revealed its intentions of building a third branch in the Southeast section of the county.

The president of one of Columbus' most successful businesses told the group that Lazarus West had taught his organization a great deal as a pilot operation.

"We have been constantly experimenting by adding price lines and different levels of goods, so there has been considerable change in the stores' goods and services during the first six months of operations. This period of education is valuable because we have such an aggressive branch store program planned for the next several years," he said.

Expanding on the theme of an encouraging business year prospect, Lazarus explained that researchers found that Central Ohio has a little better employment picture than the rest of the nation as a whole in approaching full employment. This, he said, was a key factor in the retail business.

He added that a conservative forecast for 1963 retail business shows at least a three per cent gain over the high levels reached in 1962 in the Central Ohio area.

Heart Fund Still Accepts Contributions

Families who were either not at home or who were not visited by a volunteer on Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, still have an opportunity to join the 1963 fight against heart and blood vessel diseases, according to Heart Sunday chairman, Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger, 4554 Starret-rd.

Contributions may be mailed to the Heart Fund in the not-at-home envelopes or in plain envelopes addressed to Heart, 145 N. High-st, Columbus 15, she said.

"This is a cause in which we all have a personal stake," Mrs. Schellenger said, "for heart diseases can strike anywhere, any time. No adult, no child is immune. This number one killer claims the lives of more local residents — and those of neighbors across the country—than all other causes of death combined."

Wheat Loan Maturity Date Extended One Day

Loans on 1962 crops of wheat will mature Apr. 1 this year, Carl W. Schacht, chairman, Franklin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, has announced. Since the normal maturity date of Mar. 31 occurs on Sunday this year, the date is automatically extended through the following day.

This means that growers who have wheat under loan may redeem their crop at any time through Apr. 1 by paying off the loan and incidental charges. Holders of purchase agreements should notify the ASCS county office during the 30-day period prior to Apr. 1 if they intend to deliver.

THREE R'S EXPANDED AT WHITEHALL

'Jobbing' Popular With Students . . .

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Each day at noon, one-third of Whitehall High School's senior class put on their coats and leave the building. They don't return until the next day.

Playing hookey? Quite the contrary. These 60 some students are all part of a program pioneered in Central Ohio at Whitehall in 1958 and going stronger than ever today.

The program is so successful, in fact, that several other area school districts have caught onto the trend and are viewing the project as a definite aid to school drop-outs.

Whitehall conducts three programs—all going under the general heading of "saleable skills." In other words, students spend the morning hours in the classroom with regular high school studies and then take to industry in the afternoon for valuable on-the-job training.

The three programs, and their Whitehall faculty co-ordinators, include:

Diversified Cooperative Training (William Shipe), Distributive Education (William Ruth) and Cooperative Office Education (Robert Addison).

To summarize the individual programs briefly, Shipe's plan (with 19 students enrolled) is designed to give students trade training before graduation.

Ruth's job, with a class of 25 students, is to train people for careers in retailing, wholesaling and service establishments. Addison, who has 16 students enrolled, prepares the students for vocational competence in the office occupations.

Naturally, all the credit doesn't go to these three men. It also takes employers to make things work. Jobbers work closely with these faculty members, not only in placement but in grading and evaluating the individual performances of each student who, in fact, get three high school credits for the effort.

The program, in turn, aids the employer in that it offers such benefits as reducing the personnel turnover, supplements training programs already established and, needless to say, builds good public relations.

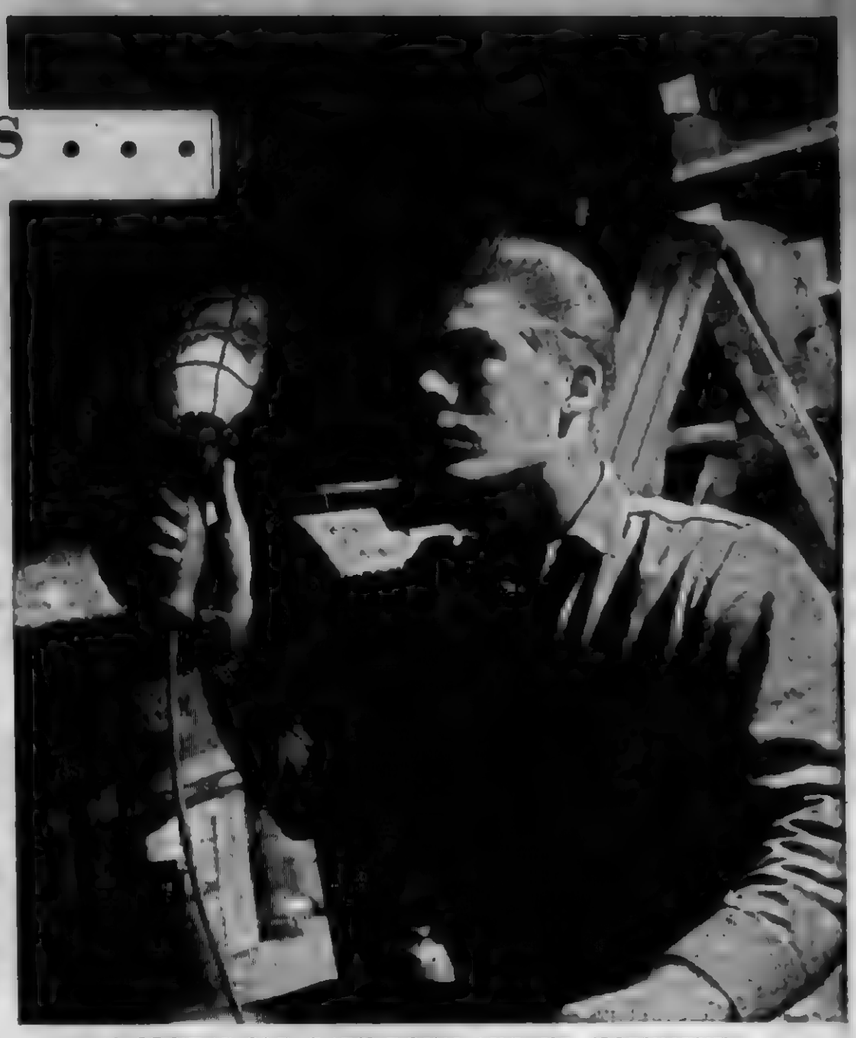
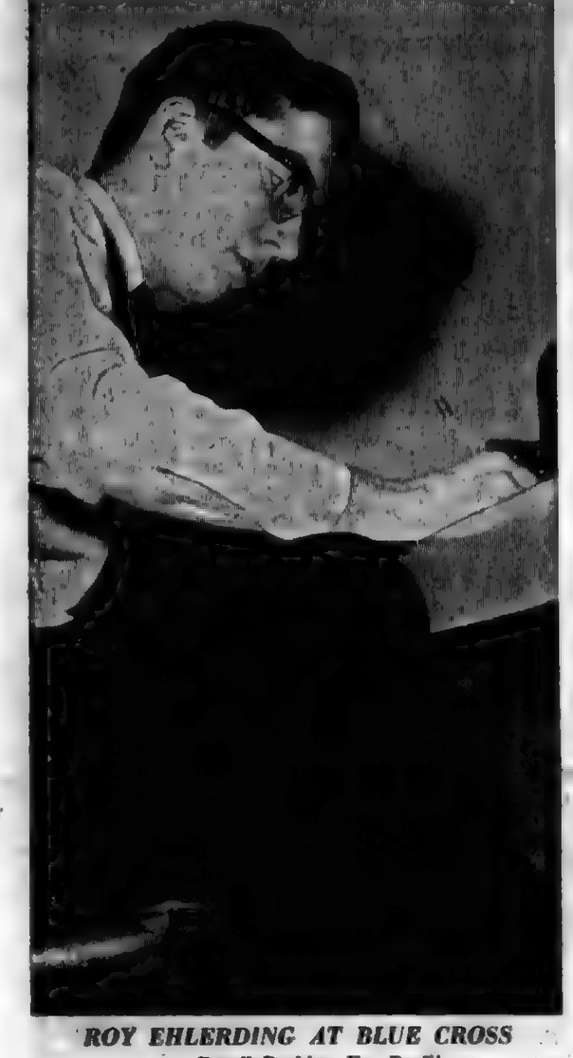
Students at Whitehall participating in one of these "saleable skills" programs can, and usually do, go on to college after graduation. On-the-job training doesn't hinder a student's chances for further education.

It does, however, serve in aiding the student to do part-time work to help finance college training, among other things. Or, if a student decides he wants to stay on the job, that's fine, too.



Perhaps, above all else, these programs are becoming more and more recognized as an answer to high school drop-out problems. Students who have trouble in classroom work can find school more enjoyable knowing that they are getting a chance, at the same time, to learn valuable skills that can be used after graduation.

Carrying on successful programs like these isn't a simple matter. It's the result of cooperation by the school, the employer, the supervisors on-the-job, the parent and the student.



Each has a definite responsibility and, as Whitehall High officials will testify, they are being fulfilled in grand, sparkling, championship style.

Is Test System Wise?

The question of psychological testing of school children currently rests in a state of remission; unresolved, after having generated more heat than light during initial clashes of opposing forces.

We offer our thoughts during this comparatively "cool" period in the hope that they will be absorbed by those seeking a reasonable resolution of the problem, rather than to be consumed by the fire of controversy.

The local controversy centers on the test prepared by Science Research Associates, and administered to eighth grade students in Whitehall; the general question of psychological testing of school children is the subject of no less than three bills introduced in Congress, and aimed at curbing present practices.

We discuss the Whitehall controversy, with our views applying to the general question of youth inventory testing.

All side issues to the contrary, the Whitehall question is: Should parental consent be obtained prior to testing, and after parents have been apprised of the test content?

It is most unfortunate that the prime issue — merit of testing and methods — is clouded by irrelevant questions. It is just as foolish of test method opponents to "wonder out loud" if the whole business is "Communist inspired," as it is for proponents to equate their opposition with "book-burners," "right wing," or "left wing" groups.

We can appreciate that boards of education cannot properly function without authority sufficient to determine policies, rules and regulations governing the education process for children entrusted to their care.

We can also see the danger of expediency that tends to deny a voice to the parent, who must assume the ultimate responsibility for the child, simply because he is not a member of the education fraternity.

Granted; that guidance programs in our school system constitute a necessary and worthwhile adjunct to total education. But, because we are old-fashioned enough to place great reliance on common sense, we submit that the following questions should be given prime consideration:

Why mass test? If students are performing adequately in school, is it then wise to "kick the lid off" repressed emotions?

Is parental consent eliminated as a test prerequisite because parents might object? If so, would these same parents be any more likely to cooperate after hearing negative results of a test they would not have approved in the first place?

Can corrective measures be undertaken and successfully achieved without the cooperation of parents?

We are reminded that Mark Twain once said that the trouble with people is not their ignorance, but their knowing so many things that "ain't so." Perhaps therein lies the answer to our problem.

Day Of Prayer Serves Need

Friday, Mar. 1, will mark the 77th observance of the World Day of Prayer, sponsored by United Church Women. Churches in 22,000 communities throughout the United States will be joined in prayer with church groups in 145 foreign countries.

The observance will include services in 26 churches in Franklin County, and will represent more than 20 Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

The theme of World Day of Prayer includes prayers for peace and the spread of Christian faith, and offerings for home and international missions and support of 12 Christian colleges for women throughout the world.

While significant as one day when many unite for a common spiritual good, the World Day of Prayer is a needed reminder that the Brotherhood of Man is a day-to-day, continuing process by which we attain the peace of mind that the world cannot give.

Teen Drivers Should Pay Own Auto Bills

To The Editor:

In all fairness to those Hilliard High students who may be paying in loss of car liberties for a deadly mistake of one of their fellow students, I have sought hard for reasons behind youthful speeding that may not be the fault of teenagers themselves.

I came up with two important problems that go farther than safety demonstrations, lectures, etc., which are fine as long as students are kept on a steady diet.

In the past ten years since my husband and I were graduated from Hilliard High School, there has been a decline in part-time job opportunities, and it is going to become worse. There was a time when a student could work to finance his car, gas, tires and insurance. One of my classmates was known to purchase gas 50 cents at a time, but he paid his own way.

Along with this job opportunity squeeze goes the cost-of-living squeeze, and it hurts students just as much as adults. Even the most industrious student cannot earn enough to make it worthwhile to keep his own car.

Speeding and disrespect for the property and lives of others often result when youths drive cars that are not their own. Only when a boy earns and pays for his own transportation costs will he begin to slow down and quit abusing a car. No amount of lecturing can replace the process of earning and paying that characterizes the life of responsible adults.

Granted, we need student education on safe driving. Behind that, parents can encourage the job-earning-paying process of driving, even if they can afford to do otherwise.

Parents who want to give the best economically and socially can better pay for clothes or hobbies, rather than provide devices with which youth can destroy themselves.

Cuts In Social Agencies 'Economy Of Grave'

To The Editor:

Long indifference and neglect broken by short blasts of get-tough punishment will not dent the problem of juvenile delinquency and violence.

The open tragic death of Richard Brown on a West Side street momentarily makes it impossible to ignore the sea of troubles in which hundreds of teenagers swim every day and night in Columbus.

The rest of the time we look away from the troubled waters. We don't want to pay for basic community services to maintain families and protect children. Witness the erosion of Child Welfare Board funds. We want to cut welfare, economize on education and bypass the staggering problems of youth unemployment.

The cry is economy. We want to save money and in the process we spend lives.

The death of Richard Brown is a senseless death. There have been other "near" deaths — deaths deflected in settlement houses, in homes and on the street — deaths, which were avoided because trained workers helped solve the turbulent problems of youth growing up in the violent world adults have patterned.

But many agencies in Columbus are short staffed and under budgeted. Services to youth and families have been crippled. This kind of economy is the economy of the grave. It will fill coffins and jails. It will not solve the problem.

This problem can only be attacked by careful and continual concern for the health, education and welfare of growing citizens. It requires a commitment from the community beyond that of retributive punishment. It requires a commitment to plan for youth services.

Pleads For Restraint

To The Editor:

Since reading your article (Youth Spouts Alarming Views, Feb. 21) I cannot help but answer. A student of 17 should be in school, not roaming the streets with nothing to do but get in trouble.

I have no children but I do a lot of work to help different organizations which help young people.

I think that was a terrible thing that happened Feb. 9 (at Gladden House.) The Tenth Commandment, given by our Lord, was broken.

Please, let us all stay in our own end of town and try to do some good for others. We don't want "revenge." I only hope all teenagers will let the law take care of things like this and will keep out of trouble.

A friend to all high school students,

CapitalExecutionFoe

The subject of the right of society to take a life was cause for much controversy during the past administration. However, as is always the case, matters of this nature fall in the realm of political footballs. All too often an issue is opposed just because the other party suggested it.

I know of no other issue this administration and legislative body better could consummate in its tenure of office than the abolishment of capital punishment.

Our Bible tells us, "Thou shalt not kill." There are no added words such as "except if a sin against society is committed."

The strong argument which once confronted the proponents of abolishing the taking of lives — that is to say that it gives criminals more freedom of committing crimes — has not proved worthy in any of the states which abolished capital punishment.

It would appear that once a mind was so confused as to actually commit a serious crime the thought of being put out of one's miseries would probably be more incentive for doing the crime. Knowing full well that you might spend years and years at the mercy of a prison administration has curtailed more crimes than not.

The present administration in years hence could look back as being members of one of the bold and courageous bodies of men if they would only take the initiative to once and for all abolish this outmoded social admonishment.

"Now I Know How the Cubans Feel When Castro Starts Talking!"

Leftovers . . . by John McPeek

Philosophy Is Put To Test

It's an interesting fact that man often is at his worst in a crowd — or by himself.

At least I thought it was interesting until I mentioned this to my wife, Virginia, who for the most part silently serves as my humble sounding board.

McPeek

I made the remark after I had read an article on the recently published "Crowds and Power," a sociological study by Elias Canetti, Bulgarian - born novelist.

Canetti centered his work on the effects produced or brought out in man when he becomes part of a crowd.

"Men join crowds to escape the restrictions of life," Canetti wrote. "Stepping out of everything which binds, encloses and burdens him is the real reason for the elation he feels in a crowd. When he returns to his house . . . he finds again, boundaries, burdens and strings."

Canetti's remarks caused me to realize that man also loses many of his qualities that are noble when he withdraws to himself and becomes totally divorced from his fellowman. I'm thinking of recluses and hermits — also egomaniacs who hold an office or position of supreme power.

Pleased with this information, I was anxious, as is my wont when I come across new ideas, to bounce them off my wife's ears to gain an outside reaction.

"You can whistle that tune again, Buster," she retorted when I threw my jumbled thoughts at her. "If ever I saw a supposedly respectable husband and father transformed into a slob by a crowd, it was you at the party last New Year's eve. If ever anyone became unbound, unenclosed and unburdened by a crowd, you were the one."

Suddenly aware that my humble sounding board was out of tune at the moment, I attempted to beat a hasty retreat.

Leaping before me, she spread-eagled herself in the doorway. "Now that you bring up the ugly subject," she snarled, "let's get it straight — come next New Year's Eve. If you again . . ."

I feinted to the right, darted under her left arm and dashed upstairs. Consequently, I missed the rest of her words except for something about "you'd be better off if you stick to Kool-Aid."

"And you're right about that withdrawing stuff, too," — she squawked up the stairway as I zipped into my room and pushed a chest against the door. "It shows that such a man is a coward, afraid to face life and wife."

Frightened, but determined to get in the last word, I bellowed through the keyhole:

"Nags and crones can bust my eardrums, but not if I stay up here." Then I sat down and cried.

If there's a moral in this story, please send it to my wife.

In a recent news story about a young boy who killed the other members in his family, the youth's teachers and schoolmates were at a loss to explain how he became a murderer.

"He was always in trouble, beating smaller children, torturing animals and assaulting his teachers," said one. "He certainly was not a model student like most teenage killers."

Goals Lead Us To Life's Satisfactions

Where are you headed? Do you know? Is your goal one that you have chosen, or is it one that others have imposed upon you? Are you one of those who have no life goals at all?

These are good questions to consider as the new year begins. For many years, I have been interested in the stress and strain of modern life. My investigations have convinced me that they are caused less by the number and speed of our activities than by the lack of satisfaction in them.

Folkman

Satisfactions are derived from the accomplishment of goals. This is called success. If one has no goals, he does not know when he has succeeded. Consequently, he cannot enjoy the feelings of success that make life worth living. Somehow or other, we can never escape the feeling of failure that follows any inadequacy in one or another of life's situations.

It is essentially unhappiness or lack of satisfaction in life that wears us down. An hour's play in an active sport is less tiring than an hour spent in calisthenics. The hour of play may require as much or more physical exertion, but its satisfactions diminish its fatigue.

One is doomed to failure feelings and robbed of success feelings if he lives without goals. Such a life is a meaningless exercise or exertion. To be meaningful, life must be directed toward goals of value and worth.

The highest goals and the most enduring are those set before us by religion. To be a better person tomorrow than I was yesterday, a better father, a better friend, a better citizen, a better worker, are the goals that can be reached almost every day; they can make living more successful almost every day than it was the day before.

Almost every day, practically every human being has an opportunity to be helpful to another. Almost every day, every human being has a chance to make the world just a little bit better for his having lived in it that day. Almost every day, every human being can live as the child of God, the Universal Father in heaven, and the brother of all mankind.

With such life goals, one need not succumb to the stress and strain of life. With such goals, one discovers that God is his helper. He finds sources of strength he never knew he had.

This is the beginning of a new year. This is a good time to think these things over. What are you doing with your life?

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Who ever expected to see the day when top-rated members of the President's cabinet would have to go on national radio and TV hookups and beg the American people to "believe the President" and stop talking about this insane Cuban fiasco?

For three days I heard more talk by all kinds of people about that astounding performance than on any other topic. These are heated expressions of disgust by individuals who rarely take the time or trouble to get "all hotted up" about anything related to national politics.

The whole Cuban affair has been a mess from the day of the Bay of Pigs debacle. It has gone from bad to worse, faster than any scandal I can remember since the oil scandal in the Harding administration. Those of us who would settle right now for another Teddy Roosevelt are indulging in wishful thinking even to hope for such real Americanism.

Paraphrasing George Gobel: "they just don't make them kind" anymore.

We do have men available who would straighten out that whole insane mess in 48 hours. Old General MacArthur for one.

If this so-called psychological poker game goes on, there can be but one result. Some mad man down there will completely blow his stack.

President Kennedy is smart enough to know the truth, but he has allowed the double-talk and dilly-dallying to go way beyond the line of no return.

The one thing that will bring this whole disgraceful mess to a head for this country, is to clean out now the State Dept. and the Supreme Court and get some men in power who have both guts and honest love for our way of life.

ACHIEVEMENT

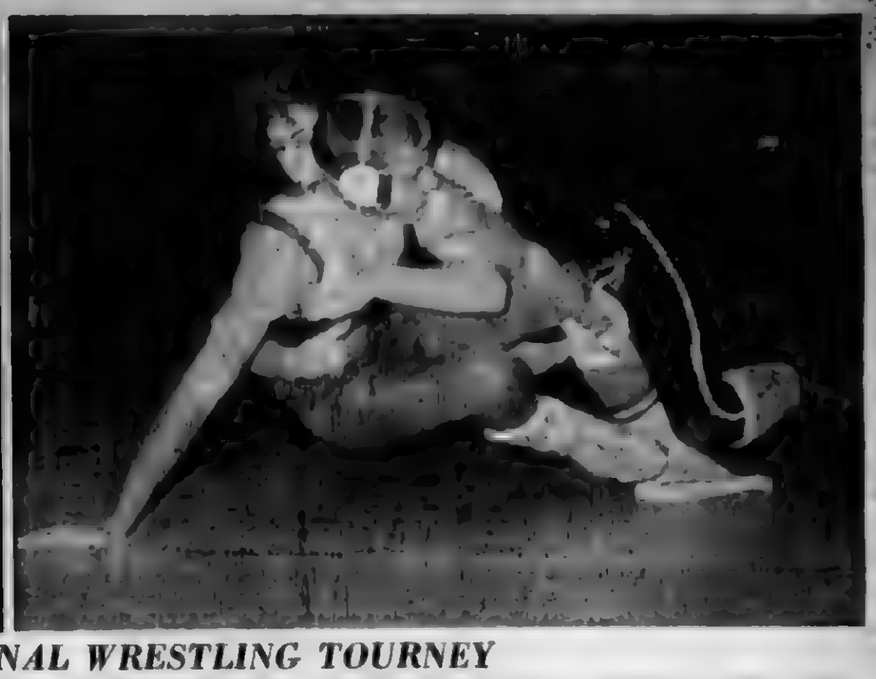
You think you've got troubles? So do we all. But others have had them, too. Let's just see what some have done about them.

An eight-year-old Kansas farm boy was so badly burned that the doctor said he would never walk again. But the boy had other ideas. After years of effort, he broke the indoor mile record in Madison Square Garden. His name was Glenn Cunningham.

Sir Walter Scott was lame. Lord Byron had a club foot. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a polio cripple, as was Johnny Weissmuller, the original Tarzan movie actor. He broke more swimming records than any other.

Cartoonist H. T. Webster lost the use of his right hand, but drew "Casper Milquetoast" and "When a Feller Needs a Friend" with his left.

Floyd Gibbons suffered many fractures and lost an eye on a torpedoed ship. But he became a famous war correspondent and radio personality.



Ludwig von Beethoven composed most of his great symphonies after he became deaf. Others who lost all or most of their hearing were Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Arthur Capper, Joseph C. Grew, Dr. Karl A. Menninger, Hiram Bingham, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Rupert Hughes, Stanley Baldwin, and Thomas A. Edison.

Samuel Untermyer, famous trial lawyer, had asthma. Woodrow Wilson and Pope Pius XII had murderous headaches. Martin Luther had gout. Charles Darwin suffered life-long pain. Arturo Toscanini was an arthritis victim. Robert Louis Stevenson had tuberculosis.

It says here . . . . . .
Don't give up the ship too soon,
It may not sink after all.

UPS, DOWNS AND AROUNDS OF WEEKEN D'S SECTIONAL WRESTLING TOURNEY

WITH 88 SLOTS for Friday's initial matches in the district wrestling tourney on the block, area matmen went up, down and around in an effort to gain a berth by finishing on top of sectional competition last weekend at Whitehall. There was action aplenty as the above photos indicate. On the left, Whitehall's Bill Zeiher adds a touch of the gridiron to the grappling scene by executing a perfect tackle on Hartley's Tim Wagner in this 133-pound match Friday evening. Wagner rallied from this dire situation to gain a close 5-4 decision in the qualifying round. Shall we dance could be the theme inspired by the center photo as Pleasant View's Ron Franks appears to be trying a square dance promenade out on Eastmoor's Bruce Beach. Actually the Warrior wrestler is attempting to escape from Frank's hold in this 127-pound event. Beach was successful in this effort but the P-V matman had the last word, pinning Bruce in 5:48. At the right, Whitehall grappler Randy Catalina drives Grove City's Danny Long to the mat in a scramble for position during their 127-pound match. Both wrestlers went the distance but Catalina got the nod in a 7-3 verdict. District competition is set for the Franklin Heights mats Friday. (Photos by Jack Wittenmeier)

WRESTLING WRAPUP

F-H Paces Qualifiers In District Mat Final

Defending district wrestling champion Franklin Heights moved into position for a repeat performance this weekend on the home mats by leading the qualifying field with nine entries as the sectional finals Saturday at Whitehall trimmed the field to 88.

The Falcons could find some stern competition, however, when the district finals get underway Friday as Worthington will send eight participants to the meet and East, Pleasant View and Hilliard each will contribute seven other grapplers to the field.

OTHER QUALIFYING schools were: Whitehall and Arlington, six each; West, five; Bexley, Grandview, Watterson, University, four each; Walnut Ridge and Circleville, three each; Groveport, Central and Linden, two each and Grove City, Eastmoor, Hartley, North and Westerville, one each.

P-V's John Holloway (112), Franklin Heights' Aziz Dere (120), Walnut Ridge's Don Pinkston (138) and Whitehall's Alan Rosenblum (120) —the area's four defending champs — all qualified for the finals with twin wins over the weekend.

HARTLEY SPORTS EDITOR

Sport Wags Looking For New Vocabulary

While copyreading our basketball wrapup accounts of area high school games the other afternoon, we noticed that we had fallen into a basic habit that hounds every sports writer sooner or later — the choice of words in reporting a sports event.

Even before the late Grantland Rice ever set his talented fingers to the typewriter, sportswriters had earned a rather unsavory reputation in their manipulation of the English language.

WAY BACK WHEN we can imagine a newspaper's sports department stuck back of some files out of the way grammatically-polished set who probably thought of the sports reporter as a necessary evil.

High school journalists were most likely steered away from the free-wheeling sports editor who had invented a "jargon" all his own that defied all the conventions of correct and accepted English.

It just wasn't safe to expose the aspiring journalist to that guy in the corner who produced words the likes of which might turn Noah Webster over in his grave.

WELL, TIMES have changed (fortunately) and the sportswriter of today has gained equal liberties and sometimes even is included on newspaper tours as long as he doesn't open his mouth.

However, the use of the language medium remains the same and doesn't appear to be moving toward any form of fine-polished finesse.

The difficulty lies in the games themselves. Take football for example. A halfback scores a touchdown. He either "sweeps around end," or "bursts over tackle" and sprints, streaks, gallops, drives or charges to the goal line, end zone, paydirt, TD-land, final stripe or a six-pointer.

A QUARTERBACK just doesn't throw a pass, he "takes to the airways," "arches an aerial," "goes to the overland route" or "pitches a strike."

Basketball isn't much better. A player never scores a basket. He "drops in, meshes, burns the nets, rings up, or pours in" a bucket, fielder, two-pointer or goal.

And how about baseball's home run? It isn't just hit. A batter "slugs, cracks, belts, bops, smacks, clubs or clouts" a homer, four-bagger or circuit wallop.

THE NOVICE MUST be thoroughly confused when sports writers interchange the lingo,d escribing how Bart Starr threw a 'home run ball' to Ron Kramer for a Green Bay touchdown."

Variety is more than the spice of life, it's the spice of sportswriting. But the day soon comes when the same old words keep popping up over and over and over again.

Maybe we need a whole new brand of words. What about it? Anybody out there got any new words or ways of describing a sports contest?

NEW WORDS SEEM to pop up on the market every day. Why not "new" sports words? We guess what we're asking is a concerted effort to bring the nation's sportswriters out from behind the files and into the light of respectability.

ACADEMY QUINTET WINNER

Warrior, Lion Fives Advance In AA Play

Three area quintets advanced along the tournament trail over the weekend while two others faltered and fell by the wayside.

Eastmoor and Bexley passed their opening AA tests with flying colors — the Warriors coming from behind to clip Mt. Gilead, 59-53, the Lions pulling away in the fourth period to eliminate Marion-Franklin, 57-44.

IN THE A competition, Academy raced off to a relatively easy 55-31 victory over Delaware St. Marys at Otterbein.

Walnut Ridge and Whitehall were not so fortunate in tourney play — the Scotties dropping a 45-39 verdict to Groveport and the Rams falling short of an upset over powerful Grove City, 51-44.

Eastmoor's Warriors refused to buckle under a Mt. Gilead lead that extended into the final period Saturday. Steve Howell's 22 points paced the winners attack. Mt. Gilead led by seven after one period but Eastmoor persisted in chipping away the losers margin until they wrapped up the win in the late stages of play.

BEXLEY AND Marion-Franklin exchanged leads for three periods until the Lions pulled out on top late in the final period. The Red Devils kept pace with Bexley until ace rebounder Steve Jackson fouled out late in the game.

Jeff Schmidt provided the scoring punch for the Lions with 17 points, including most of the difference in the final minutes. Jim Hoyer also contributed 14 markers to the winning cause.

Academy experienced little difficulty in defeating Delaware St. Marys Friday evening in A play. The Vikings rushed off to a 17-8 first-period lead and were in command the rest of the way. Ken Holzman's 15 was best for the winners.

WHITEHALL, COMING on like the proverbial gangbusters in the Rams last few games, threw quite a scare into top-rated Grove City for one half Saturday before bowing out of AA competition.

TO BE BUILT

The Mitco Construction Co., Inc., 3497 Livingston-av, has obtained a building permit for the construction of a one-story frame dwelling at 1625 Zettler-rd valued at $10,700. A second permit was issued for construction of a similar dwelling at 1647 Zettler-rd.

The Rams left the court at intermission with a 23-20 edge and the Greyhounds must have wondered what hit them. The effect didn't last too long, however, as G-C rams out shooting after halftime to move ahead by six at the third period break.

Sam Maxwell helped engineer Whitehall's upset try with 13 points while Bill Dildine and Rick Ford added 12 more markers each.

GROVEPORT OUTSCORED the Highlanders of Walnut Ridge, 14-6, in a big second stanza Saturday to pull away to victory.

The Scotties held a four-point early bulge but never saw the lead again after the Cruisers got their offense rolling in the second eight minutes.

Walnut Ridge, which finished with a 2-16 record, never were out of contention but couldn't seem to close the scoring gap as time ran out. John McQuaid and Ken Evans split scoring honors for the Scots with 10 points each.

THE AREA'S THREE City League clubs wrapped up their loop season earlier in the week. East finished a perfect CL slate with a hard-earned 67-53 win over Whetstone. Aquinas topped Walnut Ridge, 64-43, and West outdistanced Eastmoor, 64-50, to complete area play.

The Braves trailed East by a single marker entering the final period but the Tigers cut loose with their fast-break attack to pull out of danger. Ed Waller's 14 points was high for the winners.

The Terriers led all the way in their victory over the Scotties. John McQuaid's 20 points paced W-R with teammate Jim Pyles adding 14 additional markers.

West's 13-point second period provided the difference as the Cowboys upended the Warriors. Nick Geldis and Steve Howell led the Eastmoor assault with 17 and 16 markers, respectively.

ALL AREA qualifiers see action this weekend as the tournament action moves into its second week. In Friday play at the Coliseum, Bexley faces Grove City at 8 p.m. Over at Otterbein in the Class A competition, Academy battles St. Marys at 7 p.m.

A check of the Saturday slate finds Eastmoor playing Arlington (5 p.m.) and Hartley taking on Worthington (6:30 p.m.) at the Coliseum while East and St. Charles invade the Grandview court—the former facing Big Walnut at 1:30 p.m., the latter challenging Linden at 8:30.

Preparing for FLIGHT

The beautiful breezy skies turn our eyes upward to watch the flight of the kite and the soaring of the airplane. The pilot must prepare for his flight in order to remain aloft, to reach supersonic speeds, to soar to highest blue sky. In our lives, to prepare for the speed of our times, and to pave the way for soaring to the highest success in living, we need God's word as it is preached in His Church. Isaiah 41:31 reads, "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of his demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Rental Trend Explained By Hertz Official

"A few years ago people thought it was degrading to rent things. Now it's different. We think it is now considered fashionable to rent such items as tents, boats, hospital and electrical equipment, and party supplies."

That is how Kenneth Fowler, manager of Hertz Rent-All Servicenter, 325 E. Broad-st, described why his firm is in business. According to Fowler, smaller homes make it impossible for every homeowner to own a variety of things he uses only occasionally.

Fowler said Hertz' motto is, "We rent anything, almost." Company officials say Columbus is the most progressive city in Ohio and expect its local operation to top those in Dayton and Cincinnati.

According to Fowler, Hertz, with hundreds of items to rent, is the largest company of its kind in the area.

He added, "But we don't simply rent things — we also offer services. For example, all sick room equipment is delivered to the home by a nurse who sets it up and gives instructions on how to use it properly."

Promoted

Veline L. Barton, has been promoted to airman second class in the U. S. Air Force.

Airman Barton is assigned to the 3926th Operations Squadron serving in Morocco, as a communications center specialist.

A graduate of Columbus East High School, the airman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Haynes of 789 Berkely-rd.

PARTY CONSULTANT Renee Lipham, left, and Kenneth Fowler, manager of Hertz Rent-All Servicenter, are shown setting up a dinner party table for six. Mrs. Lipham helps customers plan parties and often goes to their homes to complete final arrangements. In addition, Hertz rents hospital, camping, electrical and exercise equipment. Fowler said that although the store offers hundreds of rental items, the list constantly is growing.

Plan Opening Of Radio-TV School

The opening of a school for radio and television talent has been announced by Bill and Jackie Ellis, who have a combined total of 35 years in the broadcasting field, according to a recent statement.

All facets of speech, speech therapy, commercial interpretation and appearance will be covered in the program, along with actual studio lab work and job placement after the course has been completed.

The Ellises said their teaching method has already been pre-tested and was successful in training three women with no prior broadcasting experience. All three became regular commercial talent on two Columbus television stations.

First classes in the school are scheduled for the near future. No previous broadcasting experience is required.
